Cruel Jest

The American Medical Association points to certain grave flaws in the proposed bill to provide medical benefits to people under Social Security - flaws which should be given much more official and public consideration than seems to have been the case so far. First of all, there are millions of elderly people covered by Social Security who, it may be presumed, most urgently need aid. But the proposed bill would do nothing for them.

Moverover, as the AMA's spokesman sees it, the bill would 'favor the rich at the expense of the poor.'

Hospitalized patients would have to pay $10 a day to ward the charges for nine days, along with all non-hospital charges. But, to quote him again "Thouse of the seven detect that broad based taxes piled on top of property axes merely add to the total tax burden of the property owner. During spring baseball practice, Lou Burdette, star pitcher for the Milwaukee Braves, keeps a close eye on proceedings as his nine-year old son (center) and two young friends busily swap baseball trading cards cot from Post cereal packages. Maybe Lou is worried that young Lew (their names are spelled differently) will trade him off for another pitcher. With the beginning of the major league season, the cardboard league of baseball trading cards, perennially popular with millions of youngsters, also picks ap steam. Youngsters trade 'em, flip 'em odds-or-even, or toss 'em for distance to add to their collections. In youngsters' trading cir-cles, one card showing a star like Lou Burdette is worth several showing less well-known players. Late in the season, players on teams out in front gain added value.

At an American Association for Cancer Research meeting, scientists reported that 30 of 65 women afflicted with a rare cancer, called choriocarcinoma, are now free of evidence of the disease after treatment with the drug, Methotrevate. Several women, scientists say, have had no indication of recurrence for up to five years since treatment stopped.

Hack in 1939, American Cyandamid's Lederle Laboratories embarked on a research program to find effective anti-cancer drugs. It supported the search with $8 million of its own funds. Over the years thousands of chemical compounds were tested and studied and the search goes on. The work is painstaking, and, at times, discouraging. ### The Least We Can Do

A good many people are puzzled by certain of President Kennedy's avowed objectives. On the one hand, he has pledged his Administration to protect the integrity of the dollar-which certainly means the prevention of more inflation. On the other hand, he urges measures which would add substantially to government costs and throw the budget far out of balance.

These seeming contraditions will be argued in great detail as time wears on. But one thing seems absolutely tion are Bert Bertani, business evident-that this Administration, with its ambitious goals, needs to make an all-out effort to reduce costs wherever possible.

In application the formula must be modified to "Breed the best mare you have to the best stallion available." to which the Thoroughbred breeder, fingers crossed, adds the soto voce comment, "and hope for the best." C. V. Whitney, who in 1960 became the second Thoroughbred owner to win more than $1,000,000 in purses, added something of his own to the formula. In the early 1930's when C. V. Whitney took over the racing stable of his father Harry Payne Whitney, he led the owners list for four straight seasons. Then something happened and in 1941 his horses won only $37,870. Thumbnail Tale of a Topsy

Centralism in this country was born of terribly poor parents during the 30s.

Self-made, Centralism didn't get a chance to go Harvard, But in high school, observing classmates figured that Centralism--voted "Most Likely to Take Over" -- was some day going to deal, dole and domi-

Centralism first was called the New Deal. Time passed. Then the name was changed to the Fair Deal, and later to Liberalism.

Actually, Centralism isn't new-just a throwback to the all-powerful governments of other ages. Nor fair-for it discriminates among citizens and deprives them of many freedoms. Nor liberal in the historic sense-for the liberals originally were those who combatted oppressive and all-pervasive government.

Many members of both political parties have embraced Centralism-provided, of course, that they have command. Centralists advocate more government direction and control of the activities of people and bus iness; more spending and taxes; and the steady expansion of the size, power and cost of the Federal Centralism is at the height of power today. But there's a way to cool the octupus off, It's up to us as citizens and taxpayers to understand that Centralism is a perilous path for America—and to give determined support to state and local efforts to solve state and local problems.

Editorial...

Two Billion Dollar Stake

How would you feel if you read some morning it gency tax increases were to be levied against you and all other taxpayers to make up the loss? Your emotions would run the gamut from amused disbelief to suspicion

Of course, nothing as dramatic as the disappearance of $2 billion is likely to happen-not overnight that is. However, if the long-term program of public try should ever succeed, billions of dollars of tax revenue now paid by investor owned electric companies to all units of government, will be wiped off the books as clean as if the money had been removed from public treasuries in the night.

It is estimated that taxpaying electric companies will have a total tax bill of approximately $2.35 billion port schools and other essential services.

During 1960 investor owned electric companies paid 24.1 cents out of each dollar of revenue to the tax collectors. Customers of government-owned taxpayer-financed commercial power agencies "contributed" 1/2 cents out of each dollar of revenue. They are exempt from tax laws that apply to all private citizens and businesses. Every time a public power project displaces a taxpayer development a source of tay revenue vanishes—a nick in the $2 billion stake we all have as atxpayers in the investor-owner electric industry.

—OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day-

Entries for America's Triple Crown, the Kentucky Derby, Profileo's Preakness, and the Belmont Stakes, will close on February 15 and with no standout among the upcoming 3-year-olds it is likely that a record number will be named for all three races. Last year three colts divided the spoils, Venetian Way taking the Derby, Bally Ache gaining revenge and $121,090 in the Derby, Bally Ache gaining revenge and $121,090 in the Preakness and Celtic Ashromping to a victory worth $96,785 in the Belmont Stakes. There have been $6 runnings of the Kentucky Derby, $84 Preaknesses and the Belmont twill be run for the 93rd time this June, but only eight horses have won the Triple Crown filed hero, Whirlaway turned the trick that Charles Hatton, writing in the Daily Racing Form, dubbed it the Triple Crown. In 1950 Thoroughbred Racing Assault, 1946 and Citation, 1948, Twenty borses have won the spoils.
