Grandstanding at an otherwise boring hearing

The Thursday hearing on the ongoing school business was boring. Not so much as a gavel was used, in the usual manner, to indicate that something was about to be decided. There was a polite discussion of the budget, which is being prepared by the district's business manager. It was a pleasant surprise to hear the members of the school board agree that the budget should be balanced, and that the district should not be faced with a situation in which it is forced to make cuts in its programs.

Congratulations to Chief Add

We received the following note from Chief Add:

"Congratulations to Chief Add! You have been named the new head of the police department. I am sure that you will do a great job."

Hawthorne police nab suspect in GR robbery

In one of the most brazen and well-organized robberies this area has seen, a team of masked men wearing identical uniforms retired with over $20,000 in cash and jewelry.

The three men, estimated to be in their late 20s, arrived at a jewelry store in GR at about 10:00 a.m. Saturday. They entered the store, and after a brief struggle, the elderly owner was overpowered.

The robbers, who had been masked with their faces covered, then proceeded to the back of the store, where they rustled several safes.

Under the guise of being employees, the three men took over $20,000 in cash and jewelry. They fled the scene in a blue sedan, driving off to the north.

The police are now investigating the incident, and are looking for the men who escaped.

Supreme Court decision 'won't effect boro police'

The Supreme Court's recent decision on police brutality won't effect police work in the Hawthorne area.

The decision was handed down last week in New York City, and it upheld the authority of the police to use deadly force in self-defense.

In a statement, Police Chief John Smith said the decision would not change the department's approach to safety.

Library dedication set

A dedication ceremony for the new library will be held on Saturday, April 15th. The ceremony will begin at 10:00 a.m., and will include speeches from local dignitaries and a ribbon-cutting.

The new library, which has been under construction for the past year, will feature a new reading room, a children's area, and a community meeting room.

Hawthorne school election 1979

The big question with several public issues is: how much money is too much money? (Editorial, April 10)

The school board is proposing a bond issue to finance the construction of a new high school. The bond issue is estimated to cost $15 million, with an annual payment of approximately $1 million for the next 30 years.

The bond issue is opposed by some residents who argue that the school district is already overspending and that the new high school is not necessary.

The bond issue is supported by others who believe that the new high school will provide better education for the children of Hawthorne.

The bond issue will be put to a vote in the May 15 election. It is important for residents to vote on this issue and to consider the pros and cons before deciding how much money is too much money.

Novicki speaks

The editor of The Hawthorne Press, Paul Novicki, has written an article about the school bond issue. He argues that the new high school is necessary for the future of Hawthorne.

Novicki writes, "The school district is doing the right thing by proposing a bond issue to finance the construction of a new high school. This school district is already overspending and needs to make cuts, not build new schools."

Pomper responds

The editor of The Press, Mike Pomper, has written an article opposing the bond issue. He argues that the new high school is not necessary for Hawthorne.

Pomper writes, "I don't see why we need a new high school. The existing school is just fine. The school district is already overspending and needs to make cuts, not build new schools."

Sports fundraiser tonight

The Hawthorne Athletic Booster Club is holding a sports fundraiser tonight at the high school. The fundraiser is open to the public and will feature a silent auction, raffle, and live entertainment.

The sports fundraiser is a great way to support the athletes of Hawthorne and to have a fun night out.

Neighbors told to live in peace and try to get along

Neighborhood residents are being urged to settle their differences and avoid confrontations in order to maintain a harmonious community atmosphere. The local police department has noted an uptick in incidents of verbal and physical altercations between neighbors, and is urging residents to resolve their disputes peacefully.

The police department has emphasized the importance of open communication and mutual respect in maintaining a safe and pleasant neighborhood. They have advised residents to avoid provocative behavior and to seek resolution through cooperative efforts rather than confrontational actions.

The situation has been exacerbated by recent disputes over noise levels, property boundaries, and parking. The police department has recommended that residents consult local laws and seek assistance from mediators and community leaders to help resolve these issues.

The police department has also reminded residents of the importance of maintaining a safe environment for children and animals, and the potential consequences of confrontational behavior. They have encouraged residents to maintain a positive and respectful attitude towards their neighbors and to report any incidents of harassment or violence.

The police department has assured residents that they will continue to monitor the situation and take appropriate action to maintain a safe and peaceful neighborhood.

Beefless Wednesdays and gasless Sundays

For the week of April 11

National Beef Week is over but we should still think about the need to conserve beef and other meats that contribute to our nation’s food supply. Gas prices continue to rise, and we should consider ways to reduce our dependence on foreign oil.
