Boro Board to Receive Bids on August 16 for Rea Avenue Extension

State Will Appropriate $44,000 for Road Connecting Hawthorne With North Haledon

TO PUSH BIG PROJECT THIS YEAR

Under a resolution adopted last night by the Borough Commissioners bids fro the extension of Rea avenue, which will establish an important connection between Hawthorne and North Haledon, will be received Wednesday evening, August 16.

Borough Engineer Miscinelle was authorized to advertise for the bids, and on the suggestion of Mayor Rhodes the motion was amended by the stipulation that the borough will be assured of the Highway appropriation. This appropriation, which the borough will receive, totals $44,000.

Two other definite steps looking to the extension of Rea avenue were taken by the board last night. On the motion of Commissioner Slouman Borough Attorney MacLeod will be instructed to have the deeds signed for the necessary right of way.

To Move House

On the suggestion of Mr. Slouman the board also decided to have the Commissioners of Assessment proceed with the necessary steps for the removal of a dwelling owned by George Hunter to make possible the laying out of the extension in accordance with the plans approved some time ago.

Mayor George F. Kearns and other officials of North Haledon attended last night's meeting. Explaining that North Haledon has already taken definite action on the big project, Mayor Kearns stated that he and his colleagues desired to learn if there would be any delay on the part of Hawthorne.

Definite Assurance

Commissioner Jowet then explained that while he is deeply interested in securing the improvement for Hawthorne, he

New Schedule In Press Plant

In accordance with the National Recovery Administration programs, the production department of the Hawthorne Press will not be open Saturdays. In the past, several customers have appreciated the service which made it possible to fill rush and unexpected orders for job printing on Saturday mornings.

All customers are urged to co-operate by placing the week-end rush orders for printing not later than noon on Friday of each week. Special attention to this matter will be just one of the little details in joining forces to make the prosperity drive a success.

WORK SPEEDED AT NEW SCHOOL; READY IN FALL

Second and Third Floors Nearly Completed; 100 Men on Job.

LOST TIME DUE TO WEATHER MADE UP

One hundred men are employed at the high school to insure its completion for the opening of the fall term. The second and third floors of the building are nearly finished, and the work on the first floor and auditorium is progressing rapidly.

The interior of the building is taking on a finished appearance. Many out of town contractors and others interested in the building have voiced approval of the workmanship.

A representative of Bontempo & D'Ammazio stated that due to bad weather conditions during the building of the school, sixty-five working days had been lost, but the work is far enough advanced at present to make up for the time lost.

Approval of the Board of Education has been given from time to time as the work has progressed through various stages. Grading about the building is also being done, and will be completed in a few weeks.

LOCAL YOUTH FATALLY HURT IN CAR CRASH

R. Pugsley's Auto Overturns Three Times After Collision

SWERVED MACHINE TO AVOID MISHAP

Death came almost instantly to Robert Pugsley, 18, of 82 Sylvester avenue, Hawthorne, as the result of an automobile accident Saturday at North Eighth street and Planten avenue, Prospect Park.

Pugsley was traveling east on North Eighth street. As he approached Planten avenue, he evidently saw a roadster driven by William Willengerr, of 35 Leon street, Paterson, starting across North Eighth street in a northerly direction. Pugsley swerved his car in an effort to avoid a collision, but the rear of his car collided with the left front fender and wheel of the roadster. Pugsley's car overturned three times and rolled fifty feet before stopping.

When removed from the wreckage Pugsley was bleeding profusely from the mouth. He was rushed to the Paterson General hospital, but was pronounced dead upon arrival. Jacob Willinger was arraigned on a technical charge of manslaughter.

Robert V. Pugsley was the son of Samuel G. and Anna Bankrats Pugsley, and step-son of William Erba. He was employed by W. J. Spoehtra, of Hawthorne. He and Peter Van Sleff, of 177 North Twelfth street, had just finished working on a job and Pugsley had taken Van Sleff to his home a few minutes before the accident.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning from his late home, 82 Sylvester avenue. A high mass of requiem was offered at St. Anthony's R. C. church by Rev. W. E. Thompson, and interment was in Calvary cemetery.

Watch for the Hay Wagon; Doughboys Find Horses

By way of changing the old song Bill O'Grady and Doughboy Meder Dhondt are gleefully singing these days "Yes, We Have Some Horses."

They wanted only one team of horses, but by dint of pressing search they have secured two teams.

Horses were needed for the old hay wagon, which will be used for "advance publicity" for the old fashioned barn dance to be held next Wednesday night by Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., at Blasberg's. Hitched to the old hay wagon, one team will paramblate through the streets Saturday night.

One Team in Reserve

Both teams were procured by Doughboy Dhont and a unique idea dawned on Bill O'Grady. Pointing out that the team selected for service might go hay wire because of the indignity of hauling an antique hay wagon, Bill suggested that the extra team be held in reserve.

Doughboy Dhondt has been busy looking up all the Hickerville laws and ordinances. At the dance he will serve as Hickville Justice of the Peace. His side kick will be Benjamin Gloueward, as chief constable. Six other Hickville constables will be announced. Louis Grassey will be warden of the Hoosgow.

Hickseville Atmosphere

Senior Vice Commander Gus Lutz, chairman of the barn dance committee, assisted by John Gibson, Jr., and Ralph St. Almond, spared no efforts so that all who attend will have a good time. Real county fair atmosphere will prevail by having hot dog and hot corn booths, "Ye Olde Cider Mill" and a bar where the 2.2 amber fluid will be dispensed.

GENEROUS GIFT OF J. E. HOGAN AIDS BUS FUND

Popular Democratic Leader Helps Make Stadium Trip Success

TICKET HOLDERS TO MEET FRIDAY

Another generous friend of the boys of Hawthorne has made a large donation to the fund to meet the cost of transportation to Yankee stadium Tuesday, August 8, when 250 youngsters from the borough will be privileged to attend a big league baseball game, the occasion being V. F. W. Day.

This large donation was made by James E. Hogan, president of the Hawthorne Democratic Club, and popular party leader. President Hogan has now become just as popular with the boys as he is with his fellow workers in the club.

William H. O'Grady, who secured and distributed 250 stadium tickets among the boys has urged contributions for the transportation fund.

Deeply grateful for the generous gift of Mr. Hogan on behalf of the boys, Mr. O'Grady today expressed the hope that other citizens would emulate the popular Democratic leader. Others who have contributed include Mayor Rhodes, who will provide two buses, Bill Olahon, fight pro-

Comments of approval were heard this week from residents of Vreeland avenue, for the repair work done on the roadway by the men of Commissioner Jowett's department. WILL INSTALL NEW ORGAN AT ST. ANTHONY'S

Father Thompsons Announcement of Gift Brings Joy

NAME OF DONOR IS NOT REVEALED

Father Thompson and the members of St. Anthony's church are overjoyed at the good news that a new organ will be purchased for the church, as the result of a substantial donation made by a friend. Announcement of the proposed purchase was made by Father Thompson at the masses on Sunday, and it came as a genuine surprise to the parishioners. Although the name of the donor cannot be revealed by Father Thompson, the members of the church are none the less thankful and have been enthusiastic in their expressions of appreciation.

In making the announcement, Father Thompson stated the donation was a substantial one and feeling that it was such a splendid opportunity, the organ will be purchased and the balance will be obtained in due time. The organ to be installed in the church is a duplicate of that now in St. Patrick's cathedral, but will not be so elaborate as to carvings and accessories.

About a month ago, the organ now in use in the church was taken to Newark to be used in the new unfinished cathedral in the consecration ceremonies of Bishop Duffy. Upon its return, the organ was pieced in one of the transepts of the church. Although there were many speculations over the move, not one of the church members realized the real reason for not returning it to the choir loft. Father Thompson kept the matter entirely to himself until the time came when he could announce the generous gift.

Announcement was also made of the arrival of the first shipment of marble for the altars. The altar rail will arrive from Italy on August 10, and other shipments will follow shortly after. When the altars and altar rail have been put in place and the organ installed, the church will be completed with the exception of a few stained glass windows and it is expected that these donations will be made soon.

FINGERPRINTING INFALLIBLE MEANS OF IDENTIFICATION

To most of us fingerprinting is an obscure mystery. We can't understand how it is that the tiny lines and swirls on one's thumbs and finger tips are absolutely individual, never changing in design and character from birth to death. But regardless of whether or not we understand the subject, the fact remains that it is an important part of criminal investigation, serving as a definite check on the identity of murderers, burglars, embezzlers, and other enemies of society.

In a recent interview, Mr. Harold Myers of the Harold A. Myers, Inc. Insurance Agency discussed this matter explaining how fingerprinting is an indirect means of defense against those underworld characters who are continually seeking to rob, steal or kill. Most city police departments now maintain fingerprint records in connection with the work of their detective bureaus. There is complete co-operation between local police authorities and the Government's Bureau of Investigation. Its Identification Division is recognized as possessing the largest source of criminal identifying data in existence.

The Bureau has the fingerprint records of more than two and a half million persons. To classify these records and make the required information instantly accessible there are more than 4,500,000 index cards on file. Additional cards are being received at the rate of 2,200 a week from the 5,800 contributing law enforcement agencies in the United States and abroad.

Mr. Myers stated that although most of this data directly concerns the police, any individual wishing, for example, to check the past record of a prospective employee may, by relaying his request for information through his local police, secure the services of the Government's Bureau of Investigation without charge.

The purely civil aspects of fingerprinting are also coming into increasing prominence. The Bureau's files are more and more consulted to establish the identity of persons whose real identity otherwise might be obscure. To further the accumulation of civil fingerprint records a temporary bureau has been set up at the Federal Building at the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago where any visitor to the Fair who wishes may have his fingerprints recorded. This special enterprise is under the auspices of the Department of Justice.

POSTER STRESSES DANGER OF BADLY WORN AUTO TIRES

Good tires as major elements in automobile safety equipment are emphasized in the fourth poster of the Street and Highway Safety Campaign now being conducted by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Harold G. Hoffman, in cooperation with nine major oil companies and the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. The poster will be displayed throughout August in 10,000 oil service stations as part of a movement to reduce traffic accidents in fourteen states and the District of Columbia.

Under the caption "Smooth Tires Spell Danger", the poster shows a man and a little girl, apparently his daughter, standing near the wreckage of a car which has crashed into a pole. It is evident that the accident was caused by smooth unsafe tires. Serious injury to the man and the girl seems to have been averted only by chance.

In announcing the new poster Commissioner Hoffman declared that tires should be inspected carefully at every opportunity. "They play an important part in safe automobile driving, and should be closely guarded", he said.

"Statistics show, according to the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, that 630 cars were in fatal accidents, and 6,350 in non-fatal accidents last year as a result of punctures or blowouts. 2,520 persons were killed and 84,040 injured in 68,930 miscellaneous accidents, many of which were due to poor tire equipment.

"Badly worn tires are a menace to highway safety. They are dangerous not only to the occupants of the vehicle on which they are used, but to others who might be spend August touring New England. or blow-out.

Economic conditions have caused many motorists to be a trifle careless in this respect. This is a hazardous practice and should be corrected."

"Major oil companies cooperating with the movement are: Richfield Oil Corporation, Standard Oil Company of New York, Inc., Gulf Refining Company, Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania, Colonial - Beacon - Oil - Company, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Warner Quinlan Company, Standard Oil Company of Louisiana, The Texas Company.

BOROUGH MAN HAS CLOSE CALL

James Risden Injured on Station Platform in Jersey City

That the "trio is doing nicely," might be said of Mr. and Mrs. James Risden and infant daughter, Julia Rose, of Parmelee avenue. Julia Rose arrived at the Paterson General hospital, Wednesday, while Mr. Risden is in St. Francis' hospital at Jersey City, suffering from several broken bones near his spine.

When he attempted to board a moving passenger train at the Jersey City terminal, he collided with another man who was attempting the same feat. Mr. Risden was thrown against a large battery box, which caused the bones to break. He was pulled away from the wheels of the car just in time to prevent it running over his body and escaped with a deep gash in his arm. He will be confined to the hospital for three weeks.

Mrs. Risden and her daughter are doing nicely Before her marriage, she was Miss Gertrude Basker, of the borough.

During her three weeks' vacation, Miss L. Kunz, of Tenth avenue, covered nearly 3,000 miles, traveling from Hawthorne to Nova Scotia, and from there to Asbury Park and back to Hawthorne.

According to a scientist, a mosquito will always bite a rabbit in preference to a human being.

X-RAY TO DETERMINE EXTENT OF INJURIES

An X-Ray picture was taken Saturday, to determine the extent of the injuries to Mrs. Arthur L. Bartsch's back, suffered in an accident when she was alighting from a bus at Goffle road and Lynack road, recently. Mrs. Bartsch is awaiting a report from her physician as to the results of the X-Ray.

BOROUGH MEN ELECTED AT BIG REUNION

Four Prominent V. F. W. Members Honored at Pompton Lakes

LOCAL AMBULANCE CHEERED IN PARADE

When the 114th Infantry reunion was held last Saturday at Pompton Lakes four prominent members of William B. Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., helped put the borough on the map by being elected to offices of the 114th Infantry Association and the Twenty-ninth Division Association.

Police Chief Ryan Vandervalk was elected first vice-president of the 114th Infantry Association. Past Commander Thomas Petty of Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., was chosen vice-president of Paterson Post, Twenty-ninth Division Association. Trustee John Fallon of Mawhinney Post was elected treasurer of the Paterson unit and Commander Charles F. Kenyon of Mawhinney Post was named sergeant at Arms. Congratulations are being extended all four because of the honors conferred upon them.

Ambulance a Hit

One of the features of the big parade which was held Saturday night at Pompton Lakes was the enthusiastic reception given the ambulance of Mawhinney Post. All along the line of march the veterans of Hawthorne were cheered because their desire for real service had found expression in providing an ambulance for their community.

By special request of the committee in charge of the reunion the Mawhinney Post ambulance was detailed at the scene of the reunion during Saturday and Sunday, as there are no ambulance facilities there. Four calls were answered by the ambulance when as many victims of the heat had to be taken to doctors' offices. In charge of the ambulance were Commander Kenyon, Past Commander Robert Rollo and William H. O'Grady, vice-president of the Mawhinney Memorial Home Association.

Large delegations of both Mawhinney Post and the American Legion Post, No. 199, of Hawthorne attended the reunion. Both outfits were cheered as they marched in the parade.

Claude Post, who was elected president of the Paterson Post, Twenty-ninth Division Association, had as his guests on Saturday night at his store in Butler, the members of Mawhinney Post and other old timers of the 114th Infantry. Here they were royally entertained, the visit was among the many pleasant features of the reunion.

After all, it often doesn't take much to please the modern girl. Take the 1933 bathing suit for example.

PISTOL RANGE WORK SPEEDED

Butts for Targets Nearly Completed on Disposal Plant Land

Rapid progress is being made on the new police pistol range, on the disposal plant grounds. Butts for the targets are nearly completed. They will be about 82 feet long and have ten targets, so that two teams of five men can shoot at the some time. The shooting will be done from a covered porch 32 feet long and 10 feet wide. In the center of the porch, there will be a reception room with an open fireplace.

Concrete for the foundation of the arsenal is being poured this week and soon the carpenter work will be started.

UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels.

It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced.

Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars.

But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost.

For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense.

We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change.

We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body—nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us.

Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed.

Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933.

In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak.

The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you.

By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable.

Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it.

The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF LARGE SUPPLY OF JERSEY PRODUCTS

The homemaker who is able to spend $10 a week to feed a family of five will find that she can achieve the always desirable "infinite variety" in her menus by taking advantage of the plentiful supply of New Jersey grown fruits and vegetables now on the market. As the season for many of these home-grown products reaches its height their prices become lower, points out Mrs. Evelyn S. Blake Passaic county home demonstration agent and their inclusion in the diet becomes an economy as well as a health measure.

"Use fresh fruits served in as simple a form as possible, as a substitute these warm days for the more hearty desserts that are so enjoyable during the winter," suggests Mrs. Evelyn S. Blake. "This is the season when the well being of even the healthiest of families can be given added impetus, for the quality of many of our fresh fruits and vegetables is at its best and their prices are temptingly low.

"Most homemakers recognize the importance of these products as a source of minerals and vitamins, but they sometimes overlook the fact that fruits and vegetables are also valuable as foods having analkaline reaction in the body. Almost all of them have an alkaline residue when digested, even though they may have an cold flavor. It is essential to maintain a balance between such acid formingfoods as bread, cereals, meat and eggs, and the alkaline forming group if the tissues and fluids of the body are to be kept in their normal, slightly alkaline state."

Recipes for Low Cost Menus

Peanut, Cheese and Parsley Sandwiches

1-3 pound American cheese, put through sieve, 3-4 cup fresh roasted peanuts, finely chopped, 1-3 cup parsley, finely chopped, whole wheat bread, butter.

Blend the cheese with the nuts and parsley. Spread on slices of buttered bread. Cover with another slice of buttered bread. Wrap in oil paper and store in ice box if not served as soon as made.

Huckleberry Float

1 cup berries, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon shortening, 1-2 cup of milk.

Pick over and wash the berries; but them in a small saucepan with half cup of water, and bring quickly to a boil. Add sugar and boil 5 minutes. Sift flour, baking powder and salt, mix in shortening very lightly and add milk slowly. Take a teaspoonful of the mixture at a time in floured hands and roll into balls. Place on floured pie tin, brush with cold milk and bake about 12 minutes in hot oven. While warm, break in half and butter each biscuit. Put them all in a dish and pour over them the berries. Serve hot with hard sauce.

Hard Sauce

1-3 cup butter, 1 cup brown, sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream the butter, add gradually the sugar, and then the flavoring a little at a time. Serve a small amount on a hot pudding. Keep in refrigerator if not used when made. Makes 12 servings.

Molded Cheese and Apricot Salad

1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons gelatin, 1-4 cup cold water, 1 1-2 cups apricot juice, 3-4 cup canned apricots, diced, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 green pepper, chopped, lettuce, mayonnaise.

Blend together cream cheese and paprika. Shape into balls and chill. Soak gelatin in cold water and dissovle in boiling apricot juice. Add diced apricots and lemon juice. Pour half this mixture into a mold and chill until firm. Arrange prepared cheese balls and chopped green pepper on the firm jelly. Add remaining jelly. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp lettuce. Garnish with mayonnaise. Serves eight.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

WE, as Americans, do not realize how fortunate we are to have all the peaches we can eat without straining our food budgets. Frequently in England they cost a shilling apiece.

This week ushers in the real peach season and it is the time to enjoy them in all the variety of ways in which they can be served: whole, sliced, in tarts or pies, shortcake, gelatin desserts and ice cream. The woman who likes to can her own peaches can also begin to do so either this week or next. Pickled whole peaches, like watermelon rind, are delicious. Use vinegar, sugar and a bag of whole pickling spice.

There is little difference in cost between good home made jellies and those you can buy. If you prefer to make your own, currants are here to open the jelly season and their season is short.

Here are the Quaker Maid Kitchen dinner menus.

Low Cost Dinner

Smoked Pork Shoulder
Mashed Potatoes
Buttered Cabbage

Chocolate Pudding
Whipped Evaporated Milk
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Very Special Dinner

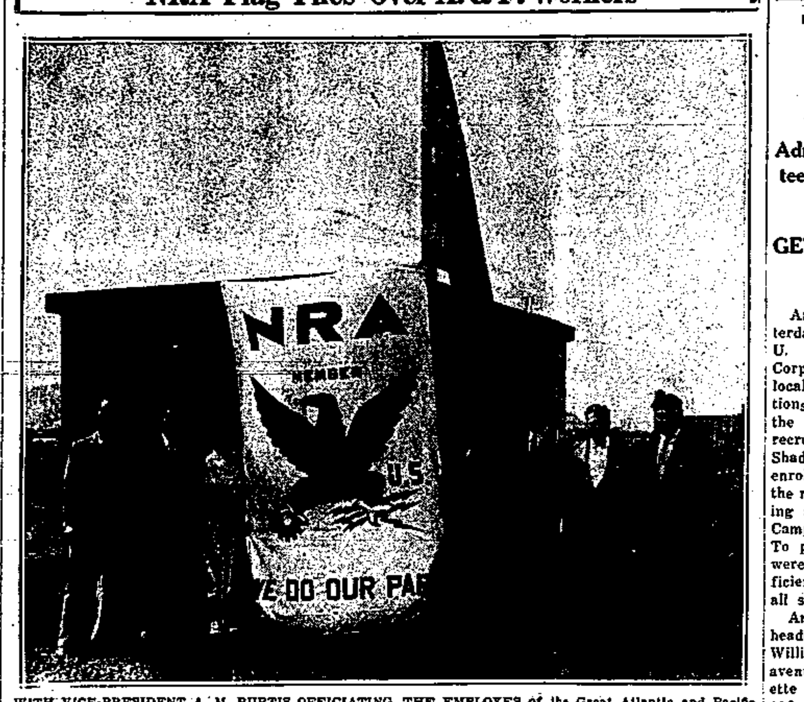
NRA Flag Flies Over A. & P. Workers



WITH VICE-PRESIDENT A. M. BURTIS OFFICIATING, THE EMPLOYES of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company raised a large NRA flag over the Paterson warehouse Tuesday, signifying that the 15,700 stores of the company will operate in co-operation with President Roosevelt's recovery plans.

The flag-raising ceremonies Tuesday were for the district served from the Paterson warehouse, which takes care of 350 stores located between Union City and Newburgh and from Port Jervis to Morristown.

All employes are now working under the operation of the code covering food retailers and the company has announced that despite changes in hours and wages they will still maintain the same price principles that have governed the business in the past.

Those shown in the picture are, reading from left to right: B. Griesing, grocery buyer; R. W. Burbank, sales manager; Miss J. Miggins, secretary to Mr. Burtis; W. H. Reilley, operating manager; A. M. Burtis, vice-president in charge of Paterson unit; B. R. Pikaart, assistant office manager, and F. A. Kreidel, assistant sales manager.

N. R. A.—NOW REAL AMERICANS! THAT'S DUTCHIE'S SLOGAN FOR RALLY UNDER BLUE EAGLE

N. R. A. — Now Real Americans.

Do your bit to put depression down for the full count. The President and the country's leaders have done theirs. Now, then, let's back them up and do our bit. The Blue Eagle or nothing in all your future business dealings.

Last Saturday the flying squadron and colors made a good showing at Pompton at the 114th Reunion. The Passaic Legion crowd made a fine showing. Bill Betts and the committee are to be complimented on the good showing they made.

Everybody is talking Chicago now and the National Convention August 5, 6 and 7. There are some wonderful offers of transportation. The Erie is giving a return trip, three meals each way, hotel for 3 days and etc., for $36. See Bill Tedford for the full list.

The State Convention is at Cape May, first week-end after Labor Day and there is a large crowd going down from the post. At our next meeting, August 10, we will pick three delegates and three alternates. Looks like competition here.

Chaplain Herbert Snider lost his mother on Saturday and was unable to take up the relief baskets. Commander Garehan and Al Strack went round and made the pick up. It was a rather small one, but welcome at that. One set of five chain stores had not received one item in their boxes. Come on, folks, we want to help these needy cases, but cannot do it all ourselves.

Dick Van Saun has sent 9 boys to Camp Altaha this week—they sure picked the right week for that camp.

Our meeting is next Thursday, the tenth, when we receive nominations for post officers to be elected at the September meeting. Only one meeting this month. Try and make it. I know it's hot, but it's your duty to get around and give us your support and backing, and weather should never halt duty.

Next County Meet is at Wanaque, August 15th.

DUTCHIE.

OBITUARIES

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Snider, age 69, who died Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Snider, 110 Post avenue, were held Monday afternoon from her late home, with Rev. T. J. Jackson, of Nyack, a life long friend, officiating. Interment was at Westwood.

She was loved by all who knew her and will be missed by a large circle of friends. She was a member of the German presbyterian church, and was a member of Pocahontas auxiliary, Order of Red Men. The members of Hawthorne post No. 199, American Legion, and their auxiliary, paid a visit to the home as a mark of respect for their comrade Herbert Snider, who is chaplain of the post.

Surviving is another son, William, of Newark; two daughters, Mrs. H. Metz, of New York City, and Mrs. G. Baglin, of Brooklyn, and four grandchildren.

Progressive Concerns Serving Borough Residents

PEOPLES BANK OF HAWTHORNE

Confidence and appreciation of the whole community reflect the soundness of the Peoples Bank of Hawthorne. Confidence in Hawthorne's only bank is felt by the residents of the borough because since its charter was obtained Peoples Bank has been managed by prominent men of recognized integrity, who have served as officers and directors.

Appreciation prevails because Peoples Bank has served the business men, builders, and home owners of the community in such a way as to bring all to realize that it is really the "Peoples Bank."

Organized in January, 1922, Peoples Bank launched its signally successful career on August 28, 1922, in its own building at Lafayette avenue and Garfield avenue.

For the bank to erect its own home before the first depositor had placed his deposit in the hands of the receiving teller, attracted attention and interest. Even in a much larger community, such a progressive step would have given evidence of the founders' determination to have Peoples Bank take its place at once as a permanent and important institution in Hawthorne.

It must be remembered that back in 1922 Hawthorne had a population of only 5,600, and while the banking building was in course of erection, corn fields were on all sides.

Right after that memorable day in August, 1922, when Hawthorne's first bank opened its doors to its depositors, the rapid development of the borough began to take definite shape. And Peoples Bank, from the very beginning, has had an important part in this development. Millions of dollars have been loaned by Peoples Bank to business establishments, builders, and home owners in Hawthorne. In no small degree has this important banking service made possible the development of Hawthorne during the past decade.

Steady growth of Peoples Bank has kept pace with the rapid development of Hawthorne. Resources of the bank now total $1,700,000, placing Hawthorne's financial institution among the strong and influential banks of this section of the state. The bank has 6,038 accounts, or approximately 500 more than the total number of men, women and children in the borough at the time the charter was obtained. Although this growth in resources and business is enormous, Peoples Bank has never solicited an account outside of Hawthorne.

Two visits by bank robbers failed to interrupt the steady and rapid growth of Peoples Bank. In November, 1930, the bank was robbed and in July, 1932, bold bandits were frustrated in their attempt to rob the bank. In the face of extreme peril the loyal members of the banking staff braved the flying bullets of the bandits and released the tear bombs which put the would-be robbers to flight. Not a single dollar was lost by the depositors of Peoples Bank as a result of these two visits by robbers.

One of the most momentous steps for the general good of the borough was taken last winter when Peoples Bank purchased the First National Bank of Hawthorne. This purchase was confirmed by the United States Treasury Department at the end of January and in February Peoples Bank moved to the larger building at Diamond Bridge and Lafayette avenues.

Business and citizens of the borough were benefited by this important step for the combined resources gave increased prestige to both the bank and community.

With the exception of a change in the office of president, due to the death of James Lappin, the present officers of Peoples Bank have been elected year after year, giving evidence of the stockholders' confidence in the ability of these men, who have so successfully directed the affairs of the bank.

Officers and directors of Peoples Bank are as follows:

President, Emil Roethell; vice-presidents, John P. Hudson, Leo T. Donohue and Jacob J. Sprich; cashier, Harry R. Dober; assistant cashier, James H. Dobler; counsel, John Grimshaw, Jr.; James E. Barker and Irvy T. Barker.

PIONEER MARKET

Joe Geary
Jim Sinnema

Back of these two names, so informally expressed in neat gold letters on the glass of a large show window at 206 Diamond Bridge avenue, is the most enviable reputation of the Pioneer Market.

Such an enviable place has been gained by the owners of Pioneer Market through the high standard of business methods which they have maintained and through the reliable and satisfactory service which has been enjoyed by all their customers since they started in business together.

Not only has quality been the slogan of Pioneer Market, but Mr. Geary and Mr. Sinnema have always endeavored to go a step further. The plan which they have followed out from the start is to offer their customers the very best that can be obtained in high class meats, fish and vegetables. They also carry in stock high grade canned goods. Another feature is the prompt delivery service.

JUST THINKIN'

by Charles S. Kinnison

Look Out for the Children

As on the crowded streets I roll,
I'll keep my car in close control.
There's risk enough in all events
To make me always drive with sense,
But certainly, no chance I'll take
When lives of children are at stake!

You never know what tykes will do.
They're just as apt to rush on through Across your path; as you draw near,
As they are apt to stop, in fear.
For playful feet don't understand
When Death, perhaps, is near at hand.

So, when I'm driving on a street
Where little folks I'm apt to meet,
Who dash across the streets in play—
I hope I'll drive in just the way
That I would drive if mine were there,

Parents and all others interested in the schools of the borough feel that the Board of Education merits high praise in the selection of Lemuel Johnson as principal of the Hawthorne High School.

Because of his most successful career as an educator, Mr. Johnson stands out prominently among the men who during recent years have been identified with improvements made in the training provided in public schools. For years Mr. Johnson has made a special study of high school problems and is now recognized as an authority.

Appointment of such a trained and experienced educator as head of the high school faculty, was one of the steps taken by the Board of Education to insure success for this most vital expansion of the borough's school system. Like every other appointment, selection of the principal was given careful consideration. In fact, the whole high school project has involved unstinting service on the part of the devoted citizens who have served on the present and previous school boards. This devoted service should be remembered as long as the magnificent high school stands as a monument to the enterprise and the vision of the residents of Hawthorne.

JUST THE THING FOR HOT WEATHER

Take a stroll along the stream that flows through the Goffle Brook Park property or visit the borough swimming pool on one of these torrid days. You will be impressed with the fact that the bathing facilities are just the thing.

Young and old, by the hundreds, indulge in the sport, made all the more enjoyable because the facilities are provided right here in town, eliminating the need of auto trips to lakes and rivers.

Who can measure the joys experienced by the youngsters of the borough, privileged to bathe at such convenient places? Who can appreciate their thrills on these hot days, when they plunge into the cooling water? Who can grasp what it means to the boys and girls to have such facilities for sport?

But just a word of caution seems necessary by way of taking cognizance of certain conditions, which in street parlance "may put a crimp in the sport." Nobody wants to take the role of a crusty Old Scrooge, but rights of residents in the vicinity of the park brook must be respected. If the yelling and shouting is kept up until all hours of the night, sleep is bound to be disturbed. Bathers, especially those who frequent the park brook at night, should remember to be a little reasonable. Remember what happened to the goose that laid the golden egg.

TALES BY THE TATTLER

Ladies and gentlemen—it certainly is hot—and I'm in no mood for typing this gossip—it's almost as bad as the southern states.

Mentioning the south reminds me about Mr. Johnson, the recently appointed principal of the Hawthorne High School. He was a principal down in the Carolinas.

As the Tattler mentioned before — he thought a dark horse would pop on the scene—well it's the best thing that could have happened—because no local hard feeling can be drawn.

Talking about a Johnson—reminds me—that another Johnson has been doing a good piece of work in Washington—Yes sir—Administrator Hugh Johnson deserves national acclaim for the strenuous work he has done.

If you don't think it's difficult—try to figure out your own schedule — it's not so easy — so how would you like to work on a nation?

Mayor Rhodes and the other Commissioners immediately urged every citizen in the boro to endorse the NRA—that's the spirit we are trying to get.

Unless we forget politics—and get ready for action — this program of our President's will fail —but any good American citizen will not let it falter.

TATTLER

V.F.W. America's "Old Guard" The Veterans of Foreign Wars

Wm. B. Mawhinney Post No. 1593, V. F. W.

BILL O'GRADY

Well, kids, the time is getting short now—so don't forget Tuesday, August 8th, the V. F. W. Boys Day at the Yankee Stadium —also don't forget the meeting of you lads tomorrow night (Friday) at St. Anthony's Hall on Diamond Bridge avenue.

While I'm talking about that ball game—I want to take time out—to ask you laddy-bucks to give three husky cheers for James E. Hogan, the good natured Democratic leader of our boro.

And here's the reason — last Sunday just as I was getting ready to go up to the 114 Infantry reunion at Pompton Lakes, my phone rang. Picking up the receiver, the voice of Mr. Hogan asked me if I would come over and get a donation for the buses to take you into New York.

"Boy" that was sweet music to my ears, and how I like that kind of music — so why don't you grown-up "boys" of the boro, call me up on the phone with a song like that?

Went up to the 114th Infantry reunion at Pompton Lakes, and had a swell time listening to those "Old Soldiers" swap tales of better days.

They had a wonderful parade at night, and our post had a large delegation in it. And it would do you folks of the boro a lot of good to see the hit the William B. Mawhinney V. F. W. ambulance made along the line of march.

"Well folks, you've heard a lot lately about President Roosevelt's "forgotten man"—we've got one of our own right in our Post. Somebody put a write-up in the paper and didn't mention the fact that Senior Vice Commander Gus Lutz is the chairman of the Barn Dance—How's that Gus???

If you don't want to miss the time of your life, get your tickets for the "Old Fashioned Barn Dance" the Mawhinney Post V. F. W. is running up at Blasberg's Wednesday, August 9th — the committee has gone to a lot of trouble to see that everybody will have a wonderful time.

"Hey Rubes" — we got our horses, so watch for us a couple of nights before the dance, when we start to Ballyhoo the "Old Fashion" part of the Barn Dance.

Best wishes to you Comrades—Ryan Vandervalk, Thomas Petty, Jahn Fallon, Charles F. Kenyon, for the honors bestowed upon you lads at the reunion Sunday. You sure did put the boro and the Vets on the map. (I'm sure if you look on another page of this paper, you will read what this is all about.)

The next meeting of the joint committee of Fire Co. No. 1 and Mawhinney Post V. F. W., on that Gala Field Day they are going to have Labor Day at Watchung Terrace, is to be held at the Mawhinney Memorial House, on Lafayette avenue, Friday night, August 4th, and are those boys full of "pep".

Past President Bertha Stewart and President Ruth Kenyon of the Ladies' Auxiliary, got into our meeting last week and asked the boys to get behind an outing they are going to have up in Oakland Sunday, August 27th, and as Texas Guinan would say, "Let's give the little girls a big hand".

Had a few complaints about the way I'm handling the publicity of the Post this past week, so I am going to take this opportunity to get something off my chest. If any of you birds think you can do a better job of it, I'm ready to hand you this pad and pencil — now I feel better—thanks.

And as the farmer said when he chopped off the turkey's head —"All good things have to come to an end".

"So long, folks"—will meet you at the "Round Towners" steak dinner tonight in Karl's on Garfield avenue.

Here you are, "Mac", it's all yours.

RECORD CROWD TO ATTEND BIG CELEBRATION

Sponsored by V. F. W. and Fire Co. No. 1 for Labor Day

SPECIAL EVENTS AT WATCHUNG TERRACE

Interest already manifested gives evidence that a record throng will be on hand Labor Day, September 4, when a gala celebration will be held under the joint auspices of Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., and Fire Company No. 1.

Not only are most of the residents of Hawthorne expected to turn out for the many events of the day, but reports received by the committees in charge show that firemen and veterans from all sections of the state will attend and participate in a number of contests. With a program that will crowd the day with special events, young and old are sure to be interested in the gala celebration.

Starting with a parade that is expected to be a record for Hawthorne, the celebration will be climaxed with one of the most elaborate displays of firewokrs in the history of the borough. Other events of the day will include contests for fire companies, a field meet for boys and girls and a fife, bugle and drum corps contest for Veterans.

For the staging of all these big events Watchung Terrace at Goffle road has been secured. After the parade is over, all who assemble at Watchung Terace will find that the firemen and veterans have provided not only the special program of events but booths where refreshments will be sold. In this way parents and children need not leave the scene of the celebration until the last pyrotechnic display announces "Good Night."

Several V. F. W. fife and drum corps have already announced that they will participate in the contest.

Tickets for the Labor Day celebration will be ready for distribution early next week. A meeting of the joint committee in charge of arrangements will be held Friday night at the Mawhinney Memorial Home on Lafayette avenue. Assistant Chief Adrian Meyers of Fire Company No. 1, is general chairman of the joint committee.

LIGHTS OF NEW MOTOR CARS PROVIDED WITH THREE BEAMS

By Harold G. Hoffman
State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles

Many of the new motor cars finding their way into service these days are fitted with headlighting systems that represent the illuminating engineer's conviction of considerable progress in solving one of our most difficult problems. With this estimate of the asymetric headlighting system, motor vehicle and traffic officials are strongly impelled to agree.

One of the most interesting aspects of the system, which provides three stages of illumination is the nomenclature it brings into being. The Illuminating Engineering Society has standardized this nomenclature, or terminology, and motorists would do well to learn it and incorporate it in their driving practices.

As mentioned, the latest headlighting system provides three beams. Each of these derives its name from the function it performs.

There is for example the clear road beam. Its function is to reach far out ahead of the car to provide adequate light for the highest reasonable pace at which night-time traffic moves. The clear road beam functions perfectly in this particular respect. but, as it name clearly indicates it is not to be used when the road ahead reveals the presence of another car.

The beam that fulfills the function of getting the two, or more, vehicles safely past each other is known as the meeting beam. Again we have a case of the designation clearly denoting the particular office the beam is to perform.

The third among this trio of light beams simply is designated as the lower beam. It is designed to meet lighting requirements when the car is being driven in heavy traffic on streets or highways which are lighted.

TESTIMONIAL EVENT TONIGHT

Many Friends Will Honor Capt. Henion; Had to Limit Tickets

All reservations have been taken for the testimonial dinner to be held tonight in honor of Captain Leslie Henion. Many persons were refused tickets due to the limited space at the restaurant.

William Vandenberg, chairman of the committee, regretted that accommodations could not be provided for the many persons who had to be refused.

RETURN TO FIND HOME ENTERED

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Sargent, and family, of Vreeland avenue, returned from an enjoyable vacation at Cleveland, only to have their memory of their pleasant trip spoiled by learning that someone had broken into their home during their absence. They are making a check-up to learn just what is missing.

KING BALBO

From Italy's sunny clime they came
The pride of their whole nation
Four and twenty flying ships
In marvelous formation.

For Balbo their brave leader
Over land, sea and air.
For the panorama of the sky
Plaudits! everywhere.

Bravo! Balbo! we salute you
And others of your kind.
The world needs men of courage
Clean of heart and mind.

Our kind regards to Mussolini
When next you meet again.
Tell him that Americans
Like brave flying men!

A safe return to you and those
Who of peril have their share
As on wings of valor you fly back
Balbo! King of the air!

VETERAN COSTS COULD BE MET BY INCOME TAX

Bill With Teeth Urged By Congressman To Stop Large Deficits

VETERAN BENEFITS INDORSED BY V. F. W.

Funds for proper care of all disabled veterans and their dependents can easily be secured by the federal government thru an effective income tax bill, declares Congressman Jed Johnson, of Oklahoma, in advocating veteran benefits endorsed by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the U. S.

"If it is only a question of getting the money then I respectfully suggest that Congress might pass a real income tax bill with teeth in it," says Congressman Johnson.

"If the Mellons, the Mills, the Mitchells and the Morgans and other tax evadors and war profiteers will pay their just share of income taxes there will be no deficits in the federal terasury.

"If the Wall Street crowd, with its cloated bond holders and those with tax exempt securities could be brought to justice there would be an unprecedented surplus in the treasury. All our disabled battle scarred veterans could be treated humanely. Widows, orphans, and aged dependents of our disabled veterans could be adequately cared for by this government and there would be sufficient over supply of money in the treasury to pay every veteran in the United States of America his bonus in cash"—Station W. Mr. and Mrs. Duryea to Leave for Chicago in Near Future

After a pleasant trip to Maine, Misses Alice and Anna Duryea, of Goffle Hill road, have returned. During the trip, the young women were often compelled to sit near a fire and wear sweaters to keep warm in the evenings.

Within a few days, Mr. and Mrs. John Duryea will leave for Chicago to visit the Century of Progress exposition, in celebration of their fortieth wedding anniversary. They will make a comparison of the present fair with that of forty years ago, which they visited on their honeymoon trip. They will be accompanied on the trip by their daughters.

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Duryea entertained Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbeck, of Ramsey, at dinner.

Mrs. Harry Lang and Mrs. E. J. Dotter, of Third avenue, have been envied by neighbors during the past week, when for the first time their snake plants bloomed. The flowering shoot comes up from the root of the plant and grows as tall as the plant, bearing small white flowers along the entire length of the stem.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

ONE of the less known members of the melon family is the honeydew with its cool, green flesh. It is always sweet when ripe and this year the great majority of honeydews are vine-ripened and so especially delicious. They are also moderate in price. One melon will serve from four to eight persons according to size.

Of the accompaniments which add so much to the ordinary meal, chili sauce and olives are particularly appetizing in summer. Use chili sauce with cold cuts or jellied as a salad.

Peaches are even more plentiful than they were a week ago. If you wish to peel them quickly, pour boiling water over them for just a minute.

The Quaker Maid Kitchen suggests three timely and practical menus for this Sunday's dinner.

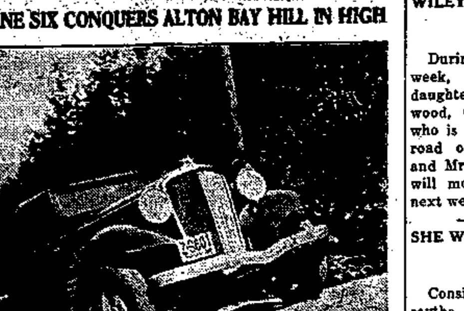
TERRAPLANE SIX CONQUERS ALTON BAY HILL IN HIGH



Al Miller driving stock Terraplane Six up Alton Bay, N. H. hill under official A. A. A. observation. This was the first time this hill had ever been climbed in high gear.

One more hill previously unconquered has fallen to the Terraplane. At Alton Bay, N. H., at the foot of Lake Winnepesaukee is a hill which has a reputation throughout the entire state of New Hampshire as one which has never been negotiated by any car in high gear. Hundreds of attempts had been made for the past ten years, but the feat had never been accomplished until natives hearing of the Mt. Washington climb invited Chet and Al Miller to make the attempt while in the neighborhood.

Taking with them Bill Taylor, the A. A. A. observer who accompanied the cars on the Mt. Washington climbs, the Miller boys drove to Alton Bay and looked over the hill. Official records will show that not only did Al Miller make the climb in high gear in the Terraplane Six, but he did not even bother to unload some 400 pounds of baggage carried in the rear deck of the car, but made it on the first attempt with Mr. Taylor seated by his side.

Following the official run with Mr. Taylor, Al Miller made the ascent in high gear eleven more times accompnaied by residents of Atlon Bay who could scarcely believe that this hill which had so long defied the best efforts of cars of all price classes could be so readily climbed by even the smaller of the two Terraplanes.

For the Eight the feat was so easy that it was possible to start the car in high gear at the bottom and make the ascent. The hill is located at the foot of Lake Winnepesaukee and is three-quarters of a mile long with a grade which reaches a maximum of approximately 22 per cent. It has a dirt road and one severe bend, a twisting turn at the bottom which makes it impossible to get much of a start. After that it is a straight climb to the top.

BORO FIREMAN EXPERIENCES DUCKING WHILE ON MOTOR TRIP

A liesurely trip to the southern tip of New Jersey was enjoyed by Fred Marston, chief clerk at the North Hawthorne terminal, and H. Hanson, relief agent on the N. Y. S. & W. R. R. The two men slept in the car and cooked their own meals enroute.

Stopping in a lane at Easton, to spend the night the men were awakened early the next morning by church bells, to learn that they had parked in a private roadway to the church. The two men hastily gathered up their blankets and departed. While still in Easton, they pulled up to the curb to do a bit of shopping before enjoying breakfast. It was found that the doors had been locked with the keys inside the car.

Mr. Marston thought he could easily get the keys by getting underneath the car and lifting the floor boards. As he lay on his back in the gutter, he received an unexpected six-inch stream of water over his entire body. The car was parked on a slight incline, a short distance below a fire headquarters. One of the men at the headquarters had opened up a hydrant to wash out the gutter and the stream had quickly reached the spot where Mr. Marston was busily engaged. As he is a member of fire company No. 1, Mr. Marston took the ducking good naturedly and told the Easton fireman what a pal he was.

While in South Jersey, the couple stopped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Schaefer, parents of Mrs. Edwin Oettel, of Bamford avenue, who formerly resided here.

'Telephone Farm' in New Jersey Yields Valuable Crop of Scientific Knowledge

Observations and Experiments Made on 100-Acre Tract Near Chester Have Added Much to Knowledge of Engineers Who Develop Communication System

There is a "telephone farm" in New Jersey.

Or, more accurately, it is known as the Bell Telephone Laboratories Chester Field Laboratory, situated on Highway 24 between Mendham and Chester, and it is one of the most interesting if not the most spectacular of the eight Bell Laboratories experimental stations in New Jersey, comprising more than 1,000 acres, which make this state one of the foremost sections in the world for developments in communication.

A ceaseless caravan of motor records passes the little white building with the Bell System fire which marks the Chester experimental farm. And from the car windows eyes peer curiously at the maze of wire and cable on pygmy poles and giant poles, running crazily for a few hundred feet to disappear over the brow of the hill.

Here is one of the greatest concentrations of telephone lines in the state. But none of them goes anywhere!

All of the pole lines have been built for experimental purposes, and discoveries made have been of incalculable value in the development of modern telephonic communication.

Covers 100 Acres

The grounds of the station cover about 100 acres, and this particular spot was chosen in New Jersey because it specializes in weather of an unusually violent nature. High winds are the rule, and a dead calm is the signal to put a red mark on the calendar.

There are miles of aerial cables, suspended on numerous pole lines which parallel each other, and for two years these cables have been busy answering the problem as to the relative merits of antimony-lead sheath cable, now standard throughout the Bell System, and calcium-lead sheathing. The sheath is the metal covering which protects the tiny wires from the elements.

For purposes of experiment, various sheath thicknesses are used to determine which offers the best, and at the same time the most economical protection to the wires. The cables are filled with gas, kept at a steady pressure, and alarms are arranged to spread the word if gas pressure declines to an extent which indicates a break somewhere in the lead sheathing. Effects of weather itself on the sheathing, as well as constant rubbing of metal rings, wood and other foreign substances are studied.

One of the problems connected with these experiments has been the effects of swaying caused by high wind. Because of the importance of obtaining accurate data on this point, one section of the cable has been constantly swayed by means of a motor, the cable swinging through as arc of eight or ten inches, this simulating a wind condition comparable to a forty-mile gale.

Wind sway on open wire lines is also under observation, though in this case the study is being made with the wind itself acting as the villain. At regular intervals a motion picture camera records the swaying of the wires on film specially prepared for that purpose. The object of this study is primarily to aid in the prevention of crosses in open wire lines during high winds.

Much could be written of the tests on open wire spacing. The value of close spacing of the wires in a pair lies chiefly in the fact that the closer the two wires can be run together without actually touching, the greater number of carrier channels will be possible per pair, and the less will be the effect of cross talk. Closer spacing also allows for the placing of more wires on poles, and can result in the saving of many thousands of dollars throughout the Bell System.

Other studies are being made of experiments being carried on at the laboratories farm daily in the constant battle of science to learn new methods of doing a better job more cheaply.

LONDON NEWSPAPERS HEAR EARTHQUAKE BY 'PHONE

Most of the newspapers in London made use of transatlantic telephone service for direct interviews with Californians at the time of the earthquake in Southern California early in March. One paper, the Evening Standard, carried a graphic description of actually hearing the sounds of the shocks over the telephone.

building at Rea avenue and Goffle road. The chief expects that this will be taken care of soon.

In view of extremely dry weather, the chief felt that there may be brush fires in the fall, and asked that two dozen fire brooms be ordered. He also requested the borough commissioners to furnish new fire hydrant maps.

Judging of the essays written by the boys who held fire department offices during junior week marked the meeting. Johns Walton, Jr., Phillip Peternick, Matthew Hoek and Arthur Regnier acted as Judges. Rudolph Kellmann, of 911 Lafayette avenue, was declared the winner. He is an eighth grade pupil of Roosevelt school. Others who sent in their essays were Cornelius De Young, Edward Robertson, Charles Diamond and Joseph Duffy. Rudolph will be presented with a gold chief's badge.

AMBULANCE MAKES LONG FUTILE RUN

After a longtrip to Port Chester, N. Y., on the Connecticut border line, the V. F. W. ambulance returned to the borough without the patient. At 6:20 o'clock Friday morning a call was received from Fort Chester, to bring a man, aged eighty-two, to St. Joseph's hospital. He had suffered a paralytic stroke.

Arriving at the man's home, it was learned that the patient had suffered another stroke and it was thought best to have him remain. Officers Kenyon and Rollo were in charge.

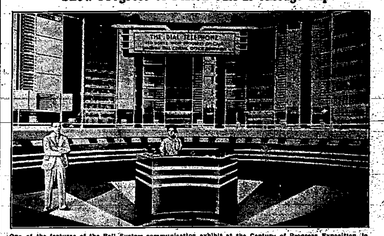
Animated Display With Lights Flashing as Guides Show Progress of Dialed Call at Chicago Exposition



One of the features of the Bell System communication exhibit at the Century of Progress Exposition, in Chicago, is the exhibit, shown above, of dial equipment typical of that required to complete a call from a subscriber in one central office area to a subscriber who is connected to another central office. Lights attached to the equipment trace the progress of calls through the system in response to dialing. In addition to one call which is automatically put through each half minute there are three dial telephones for visitors who wish to trace calls which they dial themselves. Three telephones may be called; these are on the right of the attendant's desk. This display is in the Communications building where there are numerous exhibits of telephone equipment, teletypewriters, and some related demonstrations of a scientific nature.

wanted definite assurance that the necessary funds would be obtainable through the state appropriation. Mr. Jowett told how he had been advised through a letter from Major W. G. Sloan of the State Highway Department that provisions had not been made for the appropriation in a revised program.

Characterizing this communication as a "negative report" Mayor Rhodes pointed out that while he wanted every precaution exercised, he felt confident that Commissioner Heuman is thoroughly familiar with the Highway Commission, with which he is connected.

State Favors Plan

Commissioner Heuman declared that many documents are available to prove that the state favors the improvement, and he offered to take Mr. Jowett and Mr. Minconello to Trenton today to eliminate any doubt as to the state appropriation.

Mayor Kearns declared that in all the dealings on state road matters, officials of North Haledon had never found Mr. Heuman to go back on his word.

Commissioner Heuman gave his personal assurance that the state funds would not be held up, adding that the state is actually pushing the two communities to go ahead with the work. Mayor Rhodes then advanced the suggestion that the engineers get together to confirm the action by the state.

Mutual Advantages

Mayor Kearns announced that North Haledon is looking forward to the Rea avenue extension, because a desire to send the children of that borough to the Hawthorne High School.

That there would be mutual advantages for both boroughs was pointed out by Mayor Rhodes. North Haledon, he stated, would be convenient to not only the high school but the railroad stations in this borough. Hawthorne, he added would be benefited because North Haledon residents would be attracted by the advantages of shopping here.

Mayor Rhodes commended Mayor Kearns for his deep interest in the project and for the friendly spirit of cooperation. That he would make every effort to further this co-operation and to support every movement for the benefit of the neighboring borough, was the assurance of Mayor Rhodes.

Indorsement of the Rea avenue extension was given in a letter from the Rotary Club. On the suggestion of Mayor Rhodes a copy of the letter will be sent officials of North Haledon.

Jerry A. Faber, representing the Rotary Club, told how the new road would bring shoppers to local stores. He suggest that on the opening of the new road a special celebration be held.

TWO CARS COLLIDE AT BORO CORNER

Investigating an accident at Lafayette and Diamond Bridge avenues, Sunday, Officer Rollo learned that it involved a car driven by Fred Gikelles, of Paterson, which struck a Schneider, owned by Mrs. Robert Goede, of Pompton, and driven by Miss Betty G. Schneider, of Washington, D. C. No damage was done to the cars.

V. F. W. BOYS' DAY AT STADIUM PROVES HOWLING SUCCESS FOR 261 LUCKY LADS FROM BOROUGH

Members of Mawhinney Post Heroes of Juvenile Fans During Day of Thrills and Joys—Bill O'Grady Leader of Record Breaking Group

FAILURE OF BABE RUTH TO KNOCK OUT HOMER ONLY DARK CLOUD OF DAY

"Holy Cow! This is better than heaven."

With this expression of elation on the lads from Hawthorne summed up the sentiments of the borough boys, 261 strong, as they piled into the Schenectady Stadium Tuesday afternoon.

Needless to say the long-to-be remembered day was crowded with joys and delights and new experiences that, thrilled the hearts of juvenile fans, whose cup of pleasure ran over when they were privileged to witness the game between the Yankees and the Washingtons.

Through the efforts of William H. O'Grady, vice president of the Mawhinney Memorial Home Association, tickets were secured and distributed for the game at the Stadium. Every last detail had been attended to by Mr. O'Grady and a corps of his comrades in Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., so that when the red letter day arrived everything went off like clock work. There was not a single accident nor anything else to mar the day, without a doubt the greatest day in this summer's vacation for practically all of its youngsters.

Last Minute Details

That there were many details to be handled can be imagined, when it is realized that over two per cent. of Hawthorne's population, was moved from the home to the stadium. Even when the buses were about to start many details had to be attended to; chief among them was providing for wistful-eyed youngsters.

PLAYFIELD ON PARK LAND IS RECOMMENDED

County Commission Sends Letter To Borough Health Board

AWAIT ANALYSIS OF BROOK WATER

That a properly supervised and equipped playground might be established on the property of the Goffle Brook Park was proposed in a letter received at the meeting of the Board of Health Monday night from Frederick W. Loede of the Passaic County Park Commission.

His communication was with reference to analysis of Goffle brook, Mr. Loede pointing out that the public enjoyed the sport although there seemed to be no supervision. He wished to know if the health board would co-operate in the playground proposition by allowing bathing.

Dr. Minconello, health inspector, informed the health commissioners that several specimens of the brook water had been sent to the laboratory for analysis and that report of such tests had not been received.

President Verbeeckmoes of the Board of Health advised that no definite action be taken until the report had been received from the state board.

'Bicycle Built for Two' Made by Borough Lads

It mimicry of these grave fabrics is turning back to the styles of the gay nineties, who ernest the rising generation resort to the methods of travel of those days of leg-o-mutton sleeves and mannish ties?

This was a poser for two alert local boys, with inventive minds, who have come through by making their "bicycle built for two."

Never have they beheld a leg-o-mutton sleeve or a Merry Widow hat, nor have they ever had eyes on a tandem bicycle. But that did not stop these young inventors from making their own "bicycle built for two," by simply lashing two bicycles together.

Builders of the unique tandem are Elmer Klinger, Jr., fourteen years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Klinger of 371 Central avenue and Charles F. Kenyon, Jr., thirteen years old, son of Police Officer and Mrs. Charles F. Kenyon of 33 Minerva avenue.

Both boys are studious readers, and in magazines they saw pictures of the old time bike tandem. Such pictures stirred their interest for like many other youngsters of the present day they had never seen a tandem. But their interest was stimulated because they had heard the old song, "A Bicycle Built for Two," over the radio.

But youthful curiosity was not to be balked. They saw the picture, and determined to make their own tandem.

After removing a front wheel, the fork of one bicycle was attached to the rear wheel of the other. To make this unique tandem rigid, a cross-bar was attached to the top of the frame of both bicycles.

Now the boys have a real tandem, stronger in many respects than those bicycles built for two, which back in the Gay Nineties added to the road "congestion," when tandem riders went out forpa "spin."

Both Elmer and Charlie have learned from their parents how in the days before automobiles crowded a large majority of bicycles off the roads,they enjoyed their tandems.

N. R. A. And The Legion

The "Argonne Battle of 1933" is on. This is to be the battle that finishes Old Man Depression.

Like in the last guerre, the opinion is we can't let this go another winter. Let's go in and finish it.

The report from all fronts is enemy disorganized and our front solidifying rapidly. American Federation and the big Trusts working harmoniously and now Louis Johnson, our National Commander, has sent out the order, "Forward the American Legion."

We of the Legion promised the President our support when he started on his stupendous task and though many of us did not vote for him, we like the courageous and indomitable manner he has gone about his task. He has proven himself a "fighting American" and 10,000 American Legion posts and their members are proud to align themselves along with him and his other allies."

Here we go boys, "hook, line and sinker." "Muck or nettles."

Mr. President, Hawthorne Post No. 199 is with you in your gallant offensive. Along with you, Mr. President, we are out to win. We cannot stand to lose and see our people continue to suffer as they have done for the past four winters. Four winters were enough in the last war. Four winters were plenty in this war. With you, Sir, to lead we will win. Let them label us Fascist, Communist, Nazi or any other title they like. We are with you to win, and "win we will."

TWO BATHERS ARE RESCUED

Prompt Action By Charles Parliman and R. Watson At Pool

Two rescues were made at the swimming-pool-during—the—past week. Charles Parliman, of Hutchinson avenue, rescued a young woman. After her removal from the water, she was given treatment at the police headquarters, and taken home by Captain Danielson and Captain Henlon in the police car.

Robert Watson, of First grove, made the second rescue, when he jumped in with his clothes on, to save a Paterson girl. The young lady suffered cramps.

Glad to Get Beans But Other Food Gifts Needed

Beans, beans and more beans. The general public seems to have an idea that because we old soldiers are managing this package drive, that beans is the right diet. Thank the good Lord we have only to enter them, not eat them.

But don't worry folks. The Legion thanks you for your support and we have plenty who are still glad to get beans to eat, as we were many and many a time This week we turned over to Joseph Harrison, the borough relief director, over eighty cans.

Chaplain Herbert Snider and Leo Heistics did the picking up this week and would like to mention some of the leading stores and bank that helped us out. Hunter's Market leads, followed close by Van Dusk, National, A. & P., Mutual and American. The general public is just catching on to the idea now.

This is not for the American Legion but for the borough at large. We're glad to see the number on relief are getting smaller, but until NIRA gets working properly we will still have plenty of calls on your charity.

We are doing our bit ,do yours now.

Two More Road Projects Launched; Borough to Ask For State Appropriations

Board Votes to Apply for $40,000 For Westervelt Ave. and $30,000 For Van Winkle Avenue

AMEND ORDINANCE FOR REA AVENUE

NEW AUTOMOBILE FOR BORO POLICE

A new automobile has been provided for the use of the police officers, patroling the borough. The former car had practically outlived its usefulness and will be kept for emergency.

The new car has been equipped with the police alarm radio. Lettering will be done within the next few days by James Westerhoff of Goffle Hill road.

Two more important road projects were launched at the meeting of the Borough Commissioners, Tuesday night, when it was decided to petition for state funds to meet ninety per cent of the cost of re-inproving Van Winkle avenue and Westervelt avenue.

Under a resolution presented by Commissioner Heuman the State Highway Department will be requested to appropriate $40,000 for repaving Westervelt avenue and $30,000 for the re-improvement of Van Winkle avenue.

Frank Harris, project engineer of the State Highway Department attended the meeting of the board. Because of his presence Commissioner Houman declared that the time was opportune to set the wheels in motion to secure additional state aid for the improvement of Hawthorne roads. Mr. Houman then recommended that application be made for the state appropriations.

To Receive Bids

These two projects will follow closely upon the extension of Rea avenue, an improvement which will establish an important connection between Hawthorne and North Haledon. Bids for this project will be received by the commission next Wednesday night.

Amending the ordinance adopted last January for the Rea avenue extension, a measure was passed Tuesday night on first reading, stipulating that the state appropriation for this improvement will be $44,000. The original ordinance provided that the

SEVERAL SPEAKERS LAUD CAPT. HENION AT TESTIMONIAL DINNER; GIFTS PRESENTED HONOR GUEST

A large number of friends of Captain Leslie Henion gathered at Strob's restaurant, Thursday evening, when a testimonial dinner was tendered him. Acting as master of ceremonies, Theodore S. Barker introduced the honored guest, paying a glowing tribute to his splendid record on the local police force. Mr. Barker stated that although testimonial dinners were usually tendered candidates seeking office as a means of giving them a boost, Captain Henion had already been promoted to the office of captain, and the dinner was being a demonstration of the confidence in which he is held by his friends, both in Hawthorne and the surrounding municipalities.

In responding to Mr. Barker's remarks, Captain Henion expressed a hope that the conveniences would have no cause to regret their action.

Commissioner John C. Houman, director of public safety, told of humorous incidents in the police work. He spoke of the necessity of having three captains on the force, so that there would be a superior officer for each shift, stating that Officer Henion had been promoted from the position because of his seniority and his splendid record. As a token from the many friends of Captain Henion, Commissioner Houman presented him with a gold captain's badge and a gold hat piece.

In accepting the gift, Captain Henion thanked his many friends and stated he would strive to be always worthy of the gifts.

Lloyd Marsh, Mayor Rhodes, Peter Mason, Alfred C. Ewens, Jacob Westenhoff, Harry A. Lang, Assemblyman Marinus Tambor and Al. Smith, of the Passaic Herald-News, were high in their praise of Captain Henion.

As the guest speaker of the evening, Police Chief Monks, of Passaic, gave some excellent advice to Captain Henion, in pointing out that his duties on the police department would bring him many tasks which would not be pleasant.

The guests were: Captain Henion, Commissioner John C. Houman, Frank Ren, T. S. Barker, Recorder Harold P. Schoonmaker, County Clerk Lloyd B. Marsh, Assemblyman Marinus Tambor, Mayor Arthur Rhodes, Peter Mason, Alfred C. Ewens, C. Wallace Lotte, Joseph Snyder, Edward Miller, Harry C. Speer, John H. Clark, William Vandeberg, A. J. Why Owners Are Enthusiastic About the New Air Cooled Electrolux Gas Refrigerator

The Electrolux does the job so well that you need never think about refrigeration. Even during defrosting, refrigeration goes on and the food in the cabinet is unaffected.

Ice is made quickly in the trays and when you are in a great hurry for ice cubes just turn the dial on the temperature regulator and the cubes freeze still faster.

Ice trays do not stick in this cabinet. Just push the trigger and they slide out easily.

It is the economy of the Electrolux that appeals to users. It costs only a few cents a day to run.

The new air-cooled Electrolux uses no water—a tiny flame of gas does all the work. It is noiseless and has no moving parts to need replacement.

We guarantee the refrigeration unit for two years, the cabinet for one.

Prices begin at $160.

A little higher if purchased on the divided payment plan, amounting to only 20 to 30 cents a day according to the size of the Electrolux.

LOVELY GLORIA STUART IS THE MYSTERY "GIRL IN 419"

MADGE EVANS and LEE TRACY in "THE NUISANCE." At The Hawthorne Theatre.

"Reunion in Vienna"

Considerable interest attaches itself to the screen translation of Robert E. Sherwood's stage masterpiece, "Reunion in Vienna," which supplied Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontanne with one of their most successful vehicles. The talking-picture version of the noted play will be shown at the Hawthorne Theatre Thursday and Friday, August 10th and 11th, with John Barrymore starred and Diana Wynyard, of "Cavalcade" fame, in the leading feminine role.

"Reunion in Vienna" is regarded by Otero - Goldwyn - Mayer as one of its most important undertakings of the current season, which may well be credited in view of the play's phenomenal success and the wide discussion it created when produced under the auspices of the Theatre Guild.

In order to achieve as smooth a translation as possible in shifting the drama from the medium of stage to screen, the author himself went to Hollywood to supervise the changes called upon by the larger scope of the photoplay.

"The Girl in 419"

James Dunn and Gloria Stuart head the cast of "The Girl in 419," romantic drama set against the background of a police hospital which appears at the Hawthorne Theatre Saturday, August 12th. In the supporting cast are David Manners, Jack La Rue, William Gargan, Phillips Holmes, Shirley Grey, Johnny Eliseo and William Bakewell.

"The Girl in 419" is the story of Miss Stuart, who found beaten almost to death and brought to the hospital, and of Dunn, the young doctor in charge, who is intrigued by her beauty, and spends days in an effort to bring her to life. He is finally rewarded by success, and, as his patient regains consciousness, he realizes he loves her deeply. She admits the feeling is mutual.

But the girl refuses to tell who she is, how she was injured, why she was beaten. Dunn thinks there may be some connection with a gang murder that took place the same night. His convictions, is strengthened when an armed gangster terrorizes the hospital, attempts unsuccessfully to murder Miss Stuart, and finds himself killed after wounding David Manners, another young physician. The injury forever precludes the possibility that Manners can carry out his life-long ambition of becoming a surgeon.

"The Nuisance"

Lee Tracy, who has played reporters, columnists, fast-talking majors, and other fascinating characters, comes now to the screen as an ambulance-chasing shyster lawyer and makes laugh, romance, and thrills out of an amazing legal racket. Tracy's newest appearance is in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Nuisance," which comes to the Hawthorne Theatre on Sunday and Monday, August 13th and 14th.

The fast-talking, wise-cracking hero of quick moving drama exposes the inside of the damage claims racket in the new picture. There are hilarious sequences in a great skating rink, thrilling street car and auto accidents and dramatic courtroom episodes. Tracy as the shyster, outwits a traction company, ties up a city's traffic and engages in other unorthodox practices, and even marries the feminine private detective sent out to deliver him into the toils of the Bar Association.

Jack Conway Directs

Jack Conway, of "Red Dust" and "Libeled Lady" fame, directed the new production, with an elaborate cast. Madge Evans plays the pretty girl detective, Frank Morgan is the quack doctor who aids the lawyer in manufacturing evidence for damage suits against the street car company.

One of the major thrills in the picture is the amazing frameup of the street car company president, staged by Tracy to get his sweetheart out of jail. A screamingly funny sequence is provided in the medical examination of Herman Bing.

"Parfect Understanding"

Complaints against American actors playing the part of Englishmen, or vice versa, will have no place in "Perfect Understanding," Gloria Swanson's latest United Artists picture which appears at the Hawthorne Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, August 15th and 16th.

For, in this picture the star has been at great pains to see to it that every role in her story is portrayed by an actor of the nationality the character demands.

GREATER POLICE PROTECTION ON HEIGHTS ASKED

Ashley Heights Group To Confer With Com. J. C. Houman

ALSO SEEK BETTER POSTAL FACILITIES

Greater police protection for the Ashley Heights section of the borough was the chief topic at the meeting of the Ashley Heights Taxpayers' association, Monday evening. The members feel that a patrolman should be appointed to make regular rounds through the district. Visits by the police car are not deemed sufficiently frequent to protect the residents.

Richard Redema, Henry Steiginga and Martin Vanderploeg were appointed a committee to confer with Commissioner John C. Houman.

Commissioner Houman expects to go thoroughly into the matter of a patrolman for the heights section. He will have Chief Edward Berkowitz render a report of the complaints received from the first district and will appear before the association to explain the situation.

Petitions will be circulated throughout the district, asking that postal accommodations be granted to the Ashley Heights section. Richard Redema, Charles Schrecht, Anna Christacher, Martin Vanderploeg, Carrie Blanch, Philip Peternick and Betty Hollick were appointed to circulate the petitions.

An invitation has been extended to all residents of Ashley Heights to attend the next meeting, August 17, when open house will be observed. Refreshments will be served, and several important matters discussed.

NAMED ON COMMITTEES FOR OUTING SEPTEMBER 17

The following Hawthorne residents have been appointed on the committees for the outing of the Passaic Turner association at Idlewild Park, September 17: August Kriel, Charles Attinese, E. Valle and Ex-senator F. McGinnis.

Mary Carlisle in 'College Humor'

"College Humor"

"College Humor," Paramount's boisterous words-and-music version of college life as it ought to be, showing at the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood, Friday and Saturday, August 11th and 12th.

"College Humor" boasts an all-star cast, a fast-moving story, a topnotch chorus, and music that already has proved successful on the radio and dance programs.

In its cast are Bing Crosby, Richard Arlen, Mary Carlisle, Jack Oakie, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Lona Andre and Mary Kornman. The Ox-Rond Co-Eds, a chorus of stunning young-sters, provide the dancing. Its "music—"Learn to Croon," "Moonstruck," and "The Old Ox Road", is three hit tunes—was written by Sam Coslow and Arthur Johnston.

"College Humor" is the story of a campus at which reputations are made on the gridiron are lost in the boudoir; where co-eds learn the facts of life more readily than mathematics or science.

Bing Crosby is cast as a young instructor, Arlen and Oakie as football heroes, each in his own fashion. George Burns and Gracie Allen are college-widow and college-widower, in their own particular styles. Mary Carlisle, Lona Andre and Mary Kornman are among the co-eds who make life difficult for the boys.

"I Loved You Wednesday"

"I Loved You Wednesday," new Fox Film production, now playing at the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood Monday and Tuesday, August 14th and 15th, will go down in history not only as unusual entertainment, but also as the picture which brought two new potential stars to the front.

Victor Jory won his chance at a starring role in "The Devil's In Love," because of his outstanding work as adaptator of the New York stage success of the same name, and June Vlasek, beautiful blonde dancer, who stands out so conspicuously in a minor part that she has been given featured billing.

Miss Vlasek, a Fox "hit player" for two years, got her first real chance as the Dance of the Maidens ballet, a spectacular sequence in "I Loved You Wednesday," and did such a good job that executives ordered several retakes to give her more prominence.

Warner Baxter and Elissa Landi share starring honors in this picture.

"Silk Express"

"The Silk Express," a Warner Bros. picture, which opens at the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood on Monday and Tuesday, August 14th and 15th, is one of the very few pictures in which the drama is centered in a single location. Other pictures of this type that proved to be tremendous successes include "Union Depot" and "Grand Hotel".

The picture is filled with suspense, mystery and thrills, based upon a melodramatic plot to wreck a train carrying millions of dollars worth of raw silk from Seattle to New York. The plot is engineered by a group of men trying to corner the silk market.

Practically all the action, including arson and murder, takes place aboard a heavily guarded Silk Express while speeding across the continent. The principal players are all on the train, including the murders, the conviction of the silk guards and special detectives, as well as three mysterious passengers and a tramp.

A notable cast is headed by Neil Hamilton and Sheila Terry.

"Hold Your Man"

Jean Harlow and Clark Gable are teamed again in "Hold Your Man," which opens at the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood on Wednesday and Thursday, August 16th and 17th, following in the wake of their smashing success, in "Red Dust," which brought a popular demand for the present reunion.

Jean Harlow and Clark Gable in "Hold Your Man"

In a story calculated to afford the co-stars opportunity for performances fitting their individual talents and personalities, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offers a production both intensely dramatic and romantic. An original by Anita Loos, the story concerns a rowdy love affair that begins at a sketchy interlude but winds up as a vividly human romance.

Sam Wood has directed the picture with a fine valuation of the starring pair's popularity, and Feliciano as contestants. Clare Showeder will be in charge of the Mohawk's famous "chef," Benny Rodowski.

FABIAN THEATRE'S DOUBLE BILL SUPERB SUMMER ENTERTAINMENT

MIRIAM HOPKINS and LIONEL BARRYMORE in "THE STRANGERS RETURN."
At The Fabian Theatre.

"The Stranger's Return"

With Lionel Barrymore and Miriam Hopkins heading an impressive cast, "The Stranger's Return" opens Friday at the Fabian Theatre to delight the hearts of all lovers of stirring human drama and romance of the soil.

Adapted from the new novel of rural life by Phil Strong, author of "State Fair," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture achieves a greatness in performances and directorial distinction as well as their pictorial beauty. King Vidor directed the film and adds another superb effort to his long list of screen accomplishments.

Frances Wynne, hailed as the screen's newest romantic hero, fits easily into the role of the farm lover and, paired with Miss Hopkins, leaves nothing to be desired by way of interest in this motivating theme. Barrymore is the 83-year-old patriarch of the farm who refuses to die until he sees his farm destined for symbiotic heads.

Most of the picture was filmed on a farm location that brings the barnyard right to the children and members of all of us. Vidor, in his superb camera treatment, has captured the earthy charm of the bucolic setting, against which the tense drama of the story unfolds. It is easily among the finest pictures of the year, and the splendid performances of the stars and cast will long live in the memories of theatregoers.

"Her First Mate"

How would you feel if you were a man who longed for a life on the open sea, and were filled with contempt for the ramshackle ferry boat which served your home town, only to learn that your wife had spent your entire joint savings to make you a present—of the ferry?

And how much worse would it be if you didn't know anything about it until after the despised ferry boat had exploded at its pier, and you sneered at the insane foolishness of the man whom you thought had bought the dilapidated old tub?

This is a situation which confronts Slim Summerville in "Her First Mate," the hilarious Universal comedy which comes to the Fabian Theatre on Friday. ZaSu Pitts, his wife in the picture, has secretly bought the ferry as a means of making him quit his job on a gay Albany River night boat, and inducing them to spend his nights at home. And she doesn't know that he has already been fired, anyhow.

"Her First Mate" is said to be filled with a swift succession of such laughable incidents, and to present this comedy pair in the funniest picture of their career as a starring "team." Supporting Summerville and Miss Pitts in this newest film are Una Merkel, Berton Churchill, Warren Hymer, Henry Armetta, George Marion and other screen favorites.

If all the mistakes that a modern stenog makes were laid end to end, they would make a couple of whose cup of woe seemed overflowing. They had no tickets.

V. F. W. Day at Stadium Howling Success

All of a sudden there was a rainbow in the clouds for these doleful lads — eleven of them — for out of the excitement and cheers came the glad welcome from Mr. O'Grady:

"Come on, gals," hop in the buses, we'll manage to get you through the gates somehow."

It was a happy crowd of fans that gathered in front of Hawthorne Memorial Home Tuesday noon, all ready for the momentous trip. When all had assembled they were addressed by Mayor Rhodes and Commissioner Hounam, who besides regretting that they could not join the happy throng, urged the boys to realize what Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., was always interested in their welfare. Both officials urged the lads to seek to merit such good times as the trip to the stadium.

Cheers Cheered

At last the time for departure arrived, and the four buses, loaded with the cheering boys aged along Lafayette avenue to Central avenue. From each bus cheer after cheer went up and from the sidewalks in Hawthorne and other places came responsive cheers.

Leading the four buses from Hawthorne were Mr. O'Grady, State Commander Mets Cohn, V. F. W., Commander Charles, P. Kenyon, of Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., "Chuck" Jamieson, Hawthorne's big league baseball player, in an automobile driven by John Carroll. Those in charge of the buses were John Gibson, Jr., Richard Gibson, Thomas Petty Mathew Fourneyron, Meder Dbondt, Lawrence Campbell, Gustav Lutz, Jack Fallon, Jacob Fischer, Richard Van Saun, Marvin R. Pike, Edward J. Parrell, Jr. Dykstra, Domicic Mele, James Burns, Harry Kirkman.

Enthusiasm began to reach a climax at Fort Lee where the big delegation from Hawthorne met the other happy groups from northern New Jersey. Here a parade of twenty-two buses preceded over the George Washington Bridge. It was the first time that a large number of the boys passed over the noble span.

Another Thrill

This bus parade was led by Mayor Hobbel of Fort Lee; and when the New York side of the river was reached the buses were met by a police motorcycle squad. Then came another thrill for the youngsters. It was a new experience to ignore all traffic lights and sidetrack every other vehicle on the road.

With members of Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., in charge of squads of fifteen boys each, there was no confusion at the stadium. Immediately each of these leaders had accounted for the boys they formed a double line, and, led by Mr. O'Grady, proceeded into the stadium in an orderly manner.

Mr. O'Grady stated later that he was very proud when complimented on the orderly manner in which the boys of Hawthorne conducted themselves. On the strength of this commendation and success of the outing, Mr. O'Grady stated that next year he will take twice as many boys provided buses are available.

Off Day for Babe

Just one little tinge of disappointment marked the day. Despite the fact that from the hundreds of juvenile throats went up the appeal "We Want a Homer," it was no off day for Babe Ruth and, just as the time-honored Casey struck out at the crucial moment, the "King of Swat" was unable to connect although redblooded Young America thundered appeals to their idol and here to do his stuff.

When the immortal slugger was "walked," Young America booed Pitcher Whitehill of the Washingtons.

When the borough youngsters became more or less used to the gigantic saucer, they began to look around and make comparisons.

"Hully Gee," exclaimed one young hopeful, "I thought Weidman's Oval was big, but this place has it tied to a post."

Through the generosity of Mayor Hobbel of Fort Lee, the boys were served with ice cream and popsicles, and did they enjoy these refreshments.

Upon arriving back at Hawthorne the boys were assembled at the Mawhinney Memorial Home. All their names were secured and put into a barrel. Three autographed baseballs were drawn for. Two were autographed by Babe Ruth and one by Chuck Jamieson. Lucky boys were Richard Almone, John Milsop and William Brazel.

The balls have not arrived in Hawthorne as yet, but Mr. O'Grady will make an announcement in the next issue of the Hawthorne Press as to when they may be obtained.

Mr. O'Grady wishes to thank the following for their donations to the bus fund: Mayor Arthur Rhodes, Commissioner Thomas Jewett, Commissioner John C. Houman, James E. Hogan, president of the Hawthorne Democratic Club, Bill Mahon, fight promoter, Jake, Durrenberger, Karl Mikula, Raymond Rhodes, William Almone, M. Horan, John Hayes, John Weber, Dr. E. W. Bradley, Joseph Geary, Otto Schiffterer, Officer John Holmes and George Flynn.

Residents of Arlington avenue presented a petition requesting that steps be taken to remove poison ivy from a vacant lot. It was claimed that several in the neighborhood had suffered from poison ivy.

Dr. Missonelle advised that there is no law compelling a property owner to remove poison ivy from vacant property and he added that only one person in fifty is troubled with such poisoning. The matter was referred to Dr. Missonelle and it was also decided to call attention of Mr. Myers, the owner, to the petition.

Debris Strikes George Arnold After Blast on Ross Estate

While assisting in blasting on the Ross estate, Tuesday, Charles Arnold, of Goffle Hill road, suffered injuries to his head and upper part of his body.

A well was being dug and having struck sandstone, the men used dynamite to enable them to go deeper. A charge was set off, and after waiting for some time for the explosion Mr. Arnold and the other workmen thought that the fuse had failed to ignite the explosive.

Just as Mr. Arnold leaned over the hole to investigate, the charge went off, the debris striking him with full force.

He was rushed to the office of Dr. Van Eerde, and given an injection to prevent tetanus.

pleased with our efforts and that the Memorial Day services here of Hawthorne has been well been appropriate and inspiring. We are proven to the world at large that Hawthorne does not forget, and we hope that in future years the borough officials will always be as considerate as your honorable body in entertaining appropriations for such services."

Application for a state appropriation of $2,200 for emergency relief in September was made on the motion of Mayor Rhodes. This is a decrease of $400 under the amount for August. The Mayor stated that on the borough's relief list there are now 120 families, totaling 515 individuals.

Commissioner Jewett read plans to remedy the damage caused to the property of Mr. Allen when the sewer was laid.

Mr. Missonelle recommended the construction of a retaining wall and a fence. The matter was referred to Commissioner Jewett with power.

Inspection Invited

Invitation was extended by Commissioner Houman to all citizens to inspect the new patrol range of the police department. To correct any wrong impression which might prevail, Mr. Houman announced that all the lumber and other materials were donated by citizens and that the work was done by the unemployed.

Mayor Rhodes reported that one local ice dealer had not been aware of the fact that under a revision of the ice ordinance the license fee was advanced to $150, and had asked the board to consider $100. Mr. Houman recalled that the high fee had been fixed with the view of preventing jitney ice dealers from flooding the borough. An impression prevailed that $100 would be enough and it was decided to let the matter up with the Board of Health.

In a letter addressed to the board Charles Garella of Washington avenue, again complained that water settles on his property, becoming worse after each storm. He stated that his property was damaged and that health conditions should be considered also.

Work by Unemployed

Mayor Rhodes stated that he had taken this matter up with Emergency Relief Director Harrison with the view of requesting the State Emergency Relief Department to authorize the necessary work by unemployed men. This application was made, but as no reply has as yet been received from the state authorities, it was decided to hold the matter in abeyance for a week.

Emil Blasberg and other property owners on Mountain avenue, sought information as to when the work of increasing water service to that section would be undertaken. New Schedule In Press Plant

In accordance with the National Recovery Administration program, the production department of the Hawthorne Press will not be open Saturdays. All customers are urged to co-operate by placing the weekend rush orders for printing not later than noon on Friday of each week. Special attention to this matter will be just one of the little details in following forces to make the prosperity drive a success.

NEED OF CHRISTIAN MEN TO BACK N. R. A. CODE STRESSED BY PASTOR OF BORO CHURCH

Rev. John S. Moore Cautions Against Danger of Greed, Graft and Patronage, Making Roosevelt's Recovery Program Non-Effective

CHRISTIANS URGED TO ADOPT CODE EMBODYING TEACHINGS OF GOSPEL

That there is danger of graft, greed, political patronage stepping in and making President Roosevelt's N. R. A. program ineffective after the wave of enthusiasm has subsided, was the warning stressed by Rev. John S. Moore, pastor of the First Reformed Church, in a special sermon, Sunday morning.

Mr. Moore, who preached at the union services in his church, also urged Christian people to adopt a code that would include church attendance and support and living according to the teachings of the Gospel.

Preaching on the subject "The New Deal Nr. R. A. and a Code for the Churches," Mr. Moore used for the text the twenty-fourth verse, third chapter of Galatians — "The Law is a Scholay Master leading unto Christ that we might find the freedom wherewith Christ makes free by faith."

Spirit of Freedom

Mr. Moore pointed out that our nation like the church at Galatia came into being through the spirit of freedom and liberty. And as did the Galatians we used our freedom for the satisfaction of our own selfishness and greed. The result was that we in trying to devour one another hastened economic and political destruction.

President Roosevelt with the "New Deal Creed" to correct the evil by making laws and strengthening institutions, stated Mr. Moore, who urged the Master's way of making men and building character.

The minister pointed out that President Roosevelt with almost one power in his hands, faces the inherent rights and liberties of the American people, which made our nation the country that it is.

Two resolutions were adopted Monday night at the meeting of the Hawthorne Democratic Club. In one resolution the club endorsed William L. Dill for governor.

In accordance with the other resolution, the members of the club will give their patronage to business men of the borough who display the NRA insignia.

Extensive arrangements are already in progress for the annual children's outing of the club to be held Saturday, September 23. A special program of interest to the kiddies will be provided and the committees in charge will arrange to have the day crowded with pleasure for every boy and girl attending.

Plans are also being made for a bus ride to be held later in August. William O'Connor of Belmside avenue is chairman of the committee in charge.

John Hughes was named chairman of a committee in charge of the card party to be held by the club next Monday night. Others appointed on the committee are Catherine Driese, Gertrude Durbin, May Sheridan and James Skelly.

FIRE FIGHTERS PLAN TO SEND RECORD UNITS

Big Delegations to be at Gala Event on Labor Day in Boro

SPONSORED BY V. F. W. AND FIRE CO. NO. 1

Evidence that the gala-celebration in Hawthorne on Labor Day will be one of the most spectacular as well as one of the most interesting events in the history of the borough is given in the large number of fire companies from several sections of the state, which have already forwarded their entrance applications for the parade and contests.

These fire companies will be on hand with their spic and span apparatus and several of the delegations will be accompanied by bands.

Topping the list of visiting firemen will be the Bayonne Exempt Firemen's Association. This alert body of smoke eaters has announced that their delegation will consist of 100 men, accompanied by a band of 74 pieces.

Sitering Events

Sponsored by Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., and Fire Company No. 1, the Labor Day celebration will include many stirring events starting with a parade at 11 o'clock and concluding with a gorgeous display of fireworks at Watchung Terrace.

Among the many other events of the day will be an athletic meet for boys and girls, contests between fire companies, and fife, bugle and drum corps contests between units of the Veterans of Foreign Wars from various sections of the state.

William H. O'Grady, vice-president of the Mawhinney Memorial Memo Association, chairman of the athletic committee and in charge of publicity, announced today that seven beautiful silver

ACCUSED GAVE LOCAL ADDRESS

Check-up by Chief Vander-valk Shows Man Did Not Live Here

Anthony Sparks, alias Rena, who admitted that he was one of two men who kidnaped Fred Taub, a pawnbroker, of Jersey City, on the Bowery in New York, last week, gave his address at 44 Lincoln avenue, Hawthorne. When a check-up was made by Chief of Police Ryan Vandervalk, it was learned that Sparks did not live at the Lincoln avenue address.

Relatives of Sparks who reside there, stated that he visits them occasionally, and that he has given that address as his home on other occasions.

Chief Vandervalk said that the man had been charged with assault and robbery some time ago in Brooklyn, and that he had then been asked to check up on him.

Anglers Sans Compass Did Not Pull for Shore

Early Saturday morning, a large number of members and friends of the Hawthorne Rod and Gun club met for the annual deep sea fishing trip, off Seabright.

Everyone was in good spirits and the fish were biting good, but during the day a storm came up, and it appeared that each wave would sink the boats.

John Thalis, of Goffle Hill road, who was in charge of the party, ordered Wallace Barns to lift anchor and pull for shore. Mr. Barnes was headed in the wrong direction.

After several hours of rowing they realized the mistake. When the fishing boat came out to low in the small boats, one was mixed and a search was immediately started.

The boat in charge of Captain Barnes was found several miles from its anchorage.

Legion Sounds Battle Cry, 'No Blue Eagle No Trade', Respond to Patriotic Call

I want you to know that the American Legion has responded to the call of Patriotism as I knew it would. After the "battle orders" of Commander Louis Johnson on August 3 were issued, asking us to throw our forces into the battle for "National Recovery" the reponse was 100 per cent.

Not only the members of the post but hordes of our friends have lined the battle front and the cry is "No Blue Eagle no Trade." Some of us may be inconvenienced by cutting prices and a good many of them are unjustified, as they were produced by the chiselers who rushed orders in under the code of conditions.

We have to absorb the stock to crested for their present gain. When this stock is depleted it will be the gain of all fair minded Americans.

Keep Up Good Fight

The trust of our nation again rests on our shoulders.

There will be entanglements to go through and obstacles to overcome. Keep up the good fight, knowing your comrades throughout the Legion, in every corner of the United States, are with you, doing their part, holding their bit of the line. Our force of man and buying power and his influence upon public opinion and sentiment spells "Victory" again.

The Industrial Recovery Act puts up to American business the urgent necessity of sinking personal and selfish ambitions for the good of their industry and the country as a whole. "A rise or swim together."

The amazing fact is that so many leading business men are eager to march forward with us, under this totally new concept of losing their own freedom in order to defeat an enemy which threatens for a time to destroy the whole system of civilization upon which their structure had been built.

The leaders in business, who saw have the courage to march forward with the Legion, to pay fair wages, to serve their country, merit the support of all Legionaires and all who call themselves real Americans.

"The war is on" no need here for pacifism.

"Blue Eagle or Nothing."

Charles Gershon, Commander, Hawthorne Post No. 199, American Legion.

CHARLES RINGEL RETURNS HOME

Instead of the surprise which was planned for Charles Ringel upon his return from a six-month trip to the Canadian Northwest, Mr. Ringel surprised his family by returning home Saturday. ROTARY CLUB TO INITIATE LARGE CLASS

Seven Prominent Business Men to Join; Plan Two Luncheons

TO VISIT CAMP CHRISTMAS SEAL

Early next month, a prominent speaker will address the Rotary club members on the Teletype Police alarm system. The talk will be accompanied by a demonstration of the system by the Bell Telephone company. Plans for the meeting were discussed yesterday, at the luncheon at Streb's restaurant.

Arrangements were made for a class initiation of seven prominent business men of the borough, who have filed their applications and have been accepted as members.

Next Wednesday, the members will meet at 11:45 A. M., and proceed to Camp Christmas Seal, where they will enjoy luncheon.

On August 30, the Rotary members will go to Lake Hopatcong, where they have been invited to a luncheon to be given by the members of the Hawthorne colony at the Lake. Peter Mason and Arthur Gould are in charge of arrangements.

The organization of Oscar Olsson as director of the borough's swimming pool was mentioned, and it was revealed that as far as is known, no one has been appointed to replace him. A sum of money held as a swimming pool fund, is still in the hands of President Harrison E. Paterson, who is awaiting instructions regarding its disposal. It was also brought out that with the co-operation of the State Emergency Relief department in furnishing men, it might be possible.

A well attended meeting of the Erie Booster club was held at Lyon's Inn, Wednesday evening. Plans for an outing at Rye Beach were discussed at the meeting. An extensive advertising campaign has been planned by the club under the new chairmanship of Superintendent A. L. Klein.

F. E. Hoose, assistant superintendent, gave an interesting talk on the business outlook. He complimented the members of the club on their activities, and co-operation with employers in endeavoring to obtain business for the Erie and its side lines.

C. F. Adams, of Pompton Lakes, described his recent trip to Chicago, and told of the large part played by the Erie in the World's Fair. Everything is done by passenger employees, and agents of the Erie, to make trips by the Erie railroad a real pleasure.

With a larger payroll than any other concern in the borough, Erie employees who are residents of Hawthorne have been a contributing factor in the many local successful business concerns.

With the extension of Rea avenue, Frank Smith, local agent at the North Hawthorne station, is anticipating an increase of about 200 in the daily commuters. North Haledon residents will now

The new shrine is due to arrive within a month, and it is planned to hold a general dedication ceremony some time during the latter part of next month or early in October.

Contributions for defraying the expense of the Monsignor Stein memorial shrine are now being received by Father Thompson, or they may be sent to Mrs. Edward J. Parrell, 156 Lafayette avenue, or to Miss Anne Florence, 234 Central avenue.

But you must leave it to the ladies, when it comes to getting the most for your money, whether it is at a bargain counter or a picnic.

FIRE CO. NO. 4 TO PLAY BALL

Challenge To Be Sent To Fair Lawn; Report on Mite Boxes

A recent check-up of the mite boxes placed in various homes by Fire Company No. 4, revealed that the boxes are not being forgotten. Quite a sum has been placed in most of them.

The funds collected in the mite boxes will be used to help decrease the mortgage on the company's building.

Plans are under way by the athletic committee of Company No. 4, to issue a challenge to the men of the Fair Lawn department, to a ball game. The losing team will bear the cost of a chicken dinner for the winners. Dominick Mele will choose the team for the local company, and he believes that a better ball team can be organized with the men of company No. 4 than any other company in the borough.

Challenges will probably be issued to companies 1, 2 and 3.

UNSHOD AND BAGGED RACERS ENTER LISTS FOR CONTESTS AT UNITED REPUBLICANS' PICNIC

Although cloudy skies threatened to spoil the day for the members and friends of the United Republican club, when they left for the second annual outing at the Wallish estate, Greenwood lake, Saturday, Old Sol showed his radiant smile in the afternoon and the day was declared the best ever.

Box lunches were enjoyed and in the afternoon, a baseball game was arranged. Ed Blackburn and Fred Hazekamp chose the men for their nines and a nip and tuck battle took place. Nine innings were played, with Hazekamp's team carrying off the honors 9 to 8. With the winning score went two large watermelons. When he went to claim the watermelons, however, Fred found that they had disappeared but it was found that Umpire Jacob Westerhoff, had hidden them in a car.

Fred Hazekamp was chairman of the games committee. In the race for women, Mrs. Joseph Snyder was an easy victor, with Mrs. Ed Blackburn coming in second and Mrs. Van Hassel following close behind. The girls' race was won by Shirley Hazekamp, with Lois Woodward second, and Marilyn Snyder, third. Jackie Blackburn captured first place in the boys' race, and Charles Hazekamp claimed second place.

When the entries for the men's race were called, John Houman thought he would have a better chance of reaching the finish line first if he used his car. He was disqualified, however, and the race went to Harold Hoffman, with Ted Westerhoff second.

A shoe race was next on the program. It was some effort for the men to race to the end of the line with bare feet, and back again to untangle their shoes, all tied together. Bill Touw won first place, with Ed Blackburn second.

In the bag races, A. Vandenberg encased in a burlap sack marked "Cabbage" succeeded in reaching the finish line long before the other entrants T. Westerhoff captured second place.

Several quoit games were played, considerable interest centering around the contest between Lloyd Marsh and Ted Barker. The county clerk won the contest.

Thankfulness is the tune of the angels—Spenser.

Public Service Electric Rates

Additional Facts Demonstrating Why an Electric Rate Agitation at This Time Is Unnecessary and Contrary to Present Governmental Policies and to the Welfare of the State

For the further information of the thousands of Public Service Electric and Gas Company customers who use electricity in their homes, these additional facts, all having a distinct bearing upon rates, are presented, supplementing those which appeared in an advertisement in these columns the last week in July

The position of the Electric Department of the company, viewed from the angle of increasing financial burdens, has undergone a radical change since January 1 of this year when the last reduction in electric rates was put into effect—a reduction, incidentally, resulting in an annual saving to customers of $1,750,000.

In this seven month period, the gross revenues of Public Service, in all its departments, have decreased $7,000,000. The proportion of this decrease in gross borne by the Electric Department is more than $2,750,000.

There has also been imposed upon the Electric Department of Public Service the three per cent. tax on sales of electric current which the Federal Government has transferred from the consumers to the producers. This will amount to more than $1,250,000 annually.

The new capital stock tax enacted by the Congress will cost the Electric Department another $200,000 a year.

Electric Position Changed By $4,000,000 Downward

Thus it is seen that the Electric Department's position has been changed downward since the first of January by more than $4,000,000 on an annual basis. The Electric and Gas Company has signed the President's Re-employment Agreement as modified by the substituted provisions of the codes submitted for the Electric Light and Power and Gas industries. This will further substantially increase the operating expenses of the Electric and Gas Company and particularly with reference to the Electric Department.

There are many reasons why it would be impractical—economically impractical—to embark upon an electric rate reduction proceeding at this time.

Assuming that it were started, what would be the base upon which—the base of commodity prices upon which—the valuation should be made? Would it be the prices prevailing in the decade between 1920 and 1930, or the average of them? Would it be the prices of 1932? Would it be the very greatly depressed prices of the first part of 1933? Would it be the prices of today? Or would it be the prices of the inflation, if it takes place, as the result of the activities of the national government?

The whole subject of commodity prices is in a state of flux, in a condition where it is absolutely impractical to find a reasonable or fair basis of valuation in any proceeding of this character. The prices of today may not be—are very likely not to be—the prices of tomorrow.

Furthermore, should a rate schedule be based on the schedule of 15 per cent. reduction in wages such as prevails in the Electric and Gas Company today, as well as in all the other departments of Public Service? Are wages thus reduced to be in part the basis of operating expenses upon which rates are to be determined, prohibiting at any time recognition of the justice of a return to a higher scale—the scale that was considered fair before the present economic condition arose?

Contradictory to the Recovery Program

One of the chief reasons why rate reductions should not be enforced today is that such a procedure would be contradictory to the national recovery program which the President of the United States has authorized. This program's object is to end unemployment, reduce the hours of labor and to raise wages. The President's program aims to increase prices, not to lower them.

The foregoing facts apply wholly to the electric end of Public Service activities and indicate why a rate reduction procedure should not be undertaken at this time. If it were a proper time to have such an investigation the company could undoubtedly show, in connection with the Electric Department alone and without complicating circumstances, that the existing electric rates are just and reasonable.

But in any rate proceeding there would necessarily be injected into the problem the local transportation equation. Under the complicated troubles that have arisen not only in this locality but throughout the country generally, local transportation is a national industry in distress. It is absolutely essential that this industry be continued here and elsewhere to render a service that the public requires. But no industry can continue that is not provided a return sufficient to keep it alive.

Public Service Coordinated Transport responded a few years ago to the wish of the State Board of Public Utility Commissioners and continued the five cent fare. It was possible to accede to the wishes of the Board because, with all Public Service revenues from all sources pooled together, the return on the whole, while not fully satisfactory, was better than continual rate agitation of the transport problem.

How Transport Fares Would Affect Situation

If Public Service Coordinated Transport filed an application for a ten cent fare, it could not, under the circumstances, be resisted. Assuming that a reduction were allowed in electric rates, even as high as ten per cent., and that a ten cent fare were set for street cars and buses, it then becomes obvious to all that the saving in the monthly electric bill would be more than counterbalanced by the increased cost of transportation. Public Service Coordinated Transport, however, would prefer to continue the five cent fare as long as it is possible to do so.

Notwithstanding the constantly increasing taxes imposed upon Public Service companies, the bill having risen from $8,280,000 in 1922 to almost $18,000,000 in 1932, the electric rates have been reduced seven times since 1922.

Four of the reductions were made during a period of inflation when the prices of most other commodities were abnormally high. Three of the reductions were made since the peak year of 1929, notwithstanding the depression.

Electric Rate Reductions and Dates Effective

The dates when the electric rate reductions became operative and the annual savings to customers resulting from each were:

Date		Yearly Savings
December	1922	$1,600,000
May	1924	1,500,000
January	1927	1,000,000
January	1929	1,250,000
January	1930	1,300,000
January	1932	600,000
January	1933	1,750,000

Compared with the rates which prevailed in 1922 the cumulative aggregate customer savings over the ten year period have been in excess of $45,000,000.

COOKING DUCKS

"A SNARE and a delusion, that's what I call a duck dinner," was the remark made to me recently by a woman who prepares excellent food for the hungry guests who visit her wayside eating place.

There is much truth in this remark for, as you know yourself, there is a lot of bone in a duck which seems, moreover, to have an endless cavity inside which swallows up large quantities of stuffing. However, with young ducks selling at from seventeen to twenty-three cents a pound, one can with an easy conscience include a pair for dinner occasionally. Cooked as they should be, ducks seem to "fill the bill" when folks are really hungry.

The recipe given below for roasting duck is one that was given to us by a member of our Radio Cooking School who tells me that it is an old recipe used by her mother for many years.

One of the uncommon vegetables served with duck is wild rice. It can be purchased by the package and a little goes a long way as the rice increases in bulk when cooked.

Applesauce or roasted apples are the proper accompaniment for roast duck and you will find a recipe for them included below.

Hardly ever is one able to eat a very substantial dessert after partaking of a good duck dinner so don't bother to make a heavy dessert which will not be enjoyed. Fresh fruit such as watermelon or cantaloupe or a fruit sherbet will provide just the right ending to a meal of this kind.

ROAST DUCK

Wash, remove pin feathers and singe duck. Be sure inside is thoroughly cleaned, rub well inside with a little clove of garlic. Fill with stuffing. Truss and tie duck. Cover it with a mixture of fat, flour and salt blended together and place it on a rack in a double roasting pan (uncovered) in a hot oven, 500 degrees for 30 minutes, add 1 cup of water. Cover the pan, reduce heat to 325 degrees and cook, allowing 20 minutes for each pound. If cooked in an open pan, as soon as the flour has been nicely browned, baste well, adding a little fat or water if necessary, repeating the basting occasionally.

Prune Stuffing

(Use twice this amount for a 6 lb. duck)

- 1 cup bread crumbs
- ¼ tsp. salt
- ⅛ tsp. pepper
- 1 cup chopped prunes
- 1 cup chopped tart apples
- ¼ tsp. nutmeg
- 2 tbsp. melted butter

Soak prunes over night; drain, stone and chop. Add chopped apples and mix with crumbs. Add seasonings and melted butter.

Spiced Apple Sauce

Wipe, quarter, core and pare eight sour apples. Put in a saucepan, sprinkle with one cup sugar, add eight cloves and enough water to prevent apples from burning. Cook to a mush, stirring occasionally.

Baked Spiced Apples

- 6 firm tart apples
- 1 cup sugar
- 2½ cups water
- ¼ lb. cinnamon candies
- 4 slices lemon

Pare and core apples, place in a baking dish and pour over them a syrup made by boiling the sugar, water, candies and sliced lemon together until candies are melted. Bake at 400 degrees until tender, being careful not to cook too much so that apples will lose their shape. Baste occasionally or turn apples to get a nice rosy color. Serve as accompaniment to duck.

TWO ARRESTED AS SEQUEL TO PETTY THEFTS

Paterson Men Found With Brass Fillings From Local Mill

ACCUSED NABBED BY CAPT. HENION

In communicating with Chief of Police Ryan Vandervalk, Lt. J. Campbell of the Erie Police force, reported that petty thefts have been committed at the building formerly occupied by the Ultra Chemical company, on Washington avenue, since the company moved to Paterson. The building is the property of the Erie Railroad.

Chief Vandervalk detailed Captain Henion to the job, and through his efforts, Morris Borowski, of 70 Sixth avenue, and Walter Kwiatkouski, of 8 Watson street, both of Paterson, were arrested Friday. The men had in their possession a bag containing a number of brass fittings that had been removed from the mill. Captain Henion made the arrests near the Erie railroad bridge over the Passaic river.

Kwiatkouski was committed to the county jail, in default of bail, while Borowski was released in the custody of his cousin, to appear when called.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

EACH week seems to bring some outstanding food feature and this week apples have bid for first place. These summer apples make delicious tart apple sauce, pie and baked apples. Spiced apple sauce, molded with gelatin and served with whipped cream or whipped evaporated milk makes a delicious dessert.

As long as warm weather continues the choice of fresh vegetables and fruits is wide. The cold plate or main dish salad is liked by most people but it should ordinarily be preceded by a hot soup or followed by a hot beverage. A favorite garnish for cold plates is the olive, green, stuffed or ripe.

MOTOR VEHICLE COMMISSIONER CITES PERILS OF PLAY IN STREETS

By Harold G. Hoffman, State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles.

That frequently-heard assertion that "such and such a street is perfectly safe for the children to play in" is perfectly reflective of an error of thinking into which too many parents fall. The truth is that no street is safe to play in, much less "perfectly safe."

It not only is contrary to the rules of common sense and the elemental tenets of safety, but it also is against the law for children to play in the streets.

Parents could contribute mightily to child safety by teaching their youngsters that no thoroughfare is an exception to the rule that streets are designed for traffic use, not for play. The fact is, however, that children of car owners as well as non-motorists are allowed to indulge this dangerous pastime without correction on the part of their elders.

The practice of making exceptions, as so many parents do, permitting youngsters to play on certain streets but not on others is not to be condoned. It is obvious, of course, that traffic conditions vary on different thoroughfares. One will carry a greater volume of faster moving traffic than another. Such a street in the first category is patently less safe than the second, but it does not follow that the latter is absolutely free from danger.

Evidence indicates that where children are permitted to play in one street, they begin to assume that all streets make happy playgrounds. They use no discretion in choosing which they shall use for this purpose.

It is one of the country's misfortunes that play space is not more available for all children; that there should be any inadequacy in this important facility. Yet we cannot compensate for that lack by converting traffic facilities into playgrounds save under the stress of unusual circumstances such as when streets are closed to traffic in order to permit coasting, skating or some other children's pastime.

Teaching children never to play in any street not especially designated for that purpose is a course that parents might profitably pursue. It would do a great deal to bulwark the safety education which now is being conducted in the schools; in fact, it would anticipate the latter for only the parent is in a position to teach this lesson to youngsters of preschool age.

Progressive Concerns Serving Borough Residents

Scores of local business men have become identified with the "Buy American—Buy in Hawthorne" movement. Needless to say all of them are deeply interested in the welfare of the borough, and all are ready to do their share to further local progress.

Careers of these business men are interesting. Many of them have long been identified with business enterprises in Hawthorne; they have had an important part in the growth of the community; through their enterprise and a sincere desire to give real service, they have achieved success.

SHOTMEYER BROTHERS

Completely equipped to service automobiles from bumper to bumper, the large modern service station of Shotmeyer Brothers on Lincoln avenue has been a thriving business enterprise since it was started. Having established one of the first one-stop service stations in Hawthorne, Shotmeyer Brothers enjoy the patronage of not only a large number of local automobile owners, but the heavy out-of-town traffic over Lincoln avenue has meant a large addition to the business because many of the thousands of motorists who daily use this important thoroughfare have learned to appreciate the convenience and reliability of the service provided.

Built on the west side of Lincoln avenue, about midway between Central and Warburton avenues, the one-stop service station of Shotmeyer Brothers is one of the largest in this section. Besides the spacious room provided for filling cars at nine gasoline pumps there is a large repair garage, completely equipped for promptly attending to all sorts of repairs, as well as for special attention, so essential to put pep and power into automobiles.

In addition to this repair service Shotmeyer Brothers make a specialty of scientific lubrication, and expert workmen are always ready to make tire repairs promptly.

For six years, Henry and Albert Shotmeyer, members of the firm, have been identified with the service station business here in Hawthorne. It was six years ago when they started a service station at Lincoln and Parker avenues. Here a thriving business was conducted from the very beginning and after three years of continued success at this location Shotmeyer Brothers had an opportunity to dispose of the business to the Standard Oil Company.

Sale of their original service station made it possible for Shotmeyer Brothers to expand their business in accordance with plans which they had under consideration for some time. They therefore built their present building with every facility for a one-stop service station, having learned through three years of experience just what was needed to provide for their many patrons every convenience and service. When they erected this large and attractive service station, Shotmeyer Brother made a large marquee a feature of the structure. This makes it possible to service cars during inclement weather without any inconvenience to either the motorists or the attendants at the service station.

Both Henry Shotmeyer and Albert Shotmeyer have been residents of Hawthorne for many years. Associated with Shotmeyer Brothers in the business are their father, John F. Shotmeyer and there is a corps of expert mechanics.

Shotmeyer Brothers were among the first business firms in Hawthorne to enroll under the NRA blue eagle banner.

FRANK GIACOMARO

Immediately upon entering the barber shop of Frank Giacomaro at 527 Lafayette avenue you are impressed with the fact that every modern sanitary equipment has been provided.

With the many attractive mirrors, framed in massive white marble, with modern enamel sanitary barber chairs, and with the other fine furnishings and equipment the barber shop is one of the finest tonsorial establishments in this section.

Frank Giacomaro is well known to a large number of Hawthorne residents, having been in business in the borough for eight years. In August, 1925, he opened a barber shop at 580 Lafayette avenue and because his excellent service attracted a large number of patrons, he conducted a successful business there.

Last February Mr. Giacomaro moved to his present place of business next to the Myers Hardware Store. Besides changing to these more spacious quarters, Mr. Giacomaro installed all brand new equipment of the most modern type. All facilities for tonsorial work are provided. This equipment includes a hobby horse chair which delights the small boys and girls when they come in for a hair cut or bob.

Mr. Giacomaro has been in business for thirty-three years, having had a barber shop in Paterson for many years before locating in Hawthorne. Associated with him in the business is his son, Anthony Giacomaro.

Every law and regulation stipulated by the state department of health for barber shops is being followed out in the barber shop. Both Mr. Giacomaro and his son are licensed barbers.

JUST THINKIN'

by Charles S. Kinnison

When I'm Away

When I've been away on a visit,
Whatever the pleasure and fun,
Or times, that I've had—
I find that I'm glad
The day that my visit is done.

However I may prize the friendship
Of friends that I meet as I roam,
I still must confess
That nevertheless
I'm eager and glad to go home.

Nor do I believe that you blame me
For feeling the way that I do.
For is it not so
That wherever you go,
Your home is still calling to you?

Yes, home is the place where my heart is,
However far from it I roam.
So that's why I say
That when I'm away
I look to the time to go home!

TIME TO BEGIN PLANNING

In a recent talk before the Rotary Club County Agricultural Agent Wettyen advocated the organization of a shade tree commission for Hawthorne. Through the activities of such a commission lasting benefits would be obtained for the borough and if impetus was given the planting of trees along the streets increased beauty would be given this community of homes.

While financial problems confronting this and every other community in the land would preclude any immediate investments in shade trees, the time is opportune to begin planting. If a shade tree commission were created, the citizens serving on such a board could make a careful survey so that when opportunity is afforded Hawthorne will be in a position to go ahead in a systematic way.

Funds invested in shade trees pay large dividends. In communities where such investments have been made the well-shaded streets lend a charm which more than repays for all the money invested in trees. Cost of such shade trees is comparatively small and years roll around with such rapidity that soon the small trees set out along the sidewalks take on that dignity and effectiveness which make them priceless in the estimation of all who appreciate shaded streets.

VALUABLE SERVICE RENDERED

In these days when vacations and recreations are beyond the possibilities of many a slim purse, the Hawthorne Public Library is rendering a valuable service. To many who find time hanging extremely heavy because of the impossibility of securing employment, the library is a real haven. Here are available books, magazines and newspapers, which make it possible for them to improve their minds while "waiting for that corner to turn." Then there are hosts of others, who with business anxieties and other cares thrust upon them because all is not well on account of economic conditions also find the library a real haven.

Literature is a great field with no fences around it. All are privileged to enjoy it. In a community with the high standards of Hawthorne it would be hard to find a single individual unable to read. Therefore all have an opportunity to use the library—to enjoy reading the well selected books of fiction, science, art, travel, religion, poetry, history and on many other subjects.

Hundreds are taking advantage of this opportunity and it might be said that a large majority of them are "catching up on their reading." At the library both young and old readers are quick to realize that a spirit of helpfulness prevails. The devoted members of the local library staff are ever ready to assist all book borrowers in their selection of good books and to suggest valuable and interesting reading which might slip the attention of even the most confirmed book-worm who browses amid the books.

This great service makes the Hawthorne Library a most valuable institution. Yes, more than an institution. It is a monument to the men and women of the borough who founded the library and are carrying on in a great and noble work.

TALES BY THE TATTLER

Have you ever stopped a moment to think about our many systems of government — wherever you turn you find a government of some type.

Mr. Taxpayer in Hawthorne is paying for local borough government—county government—state government—and federal government (not including the money we owe the World Court.)

Approximately every four money earners in this country are paying for the public officials—that means that we are using one person to look after four in the line of government.

Now this is quite a high rate of government — it really is too much—for this or any other country. I believe Thomas Jefferson stated that the least government the better the nation.

We must have a change in our system of government sooner or later—so I'll tell you one that a friend of mine stated—of course this is not in detailed language.

Elimination of state, county and present local governments—the reason—because they overlap one another in a great many phases.

For the new local government he would create 100 large cities with populations of 1,000,00 people in each one and these cities or provinces responsible only to the federal government—who takes under its jurisdiction the heretofore ever-lapping problems of the counties and states.

The creation of these large units of 1,200,000 would make each equally responsible for the amount of inhabitants that were proportioned to them.

This would mean that the people would secure their tax-lyabie according to the means they decided to spend for improvements in their onw district.

If a certain district needed aid there would be only one source to grant it—that being the federal government.

This system eliminates a great many of these false government positions and actually makes public work — equal to the work of the average man.

While we're talking about Russia — over there everybody works for the government—but still Americans are attempting to line themselves up with governmental positions—but how they fear the word Russia.

If it's a clear night, tonight—just imagine the Alumni Association on an outing—enjoying the beauties of the night.

Last week some one mentioned the idea of creating a public playground in the park on Goffle road — that would be a splendid idea and I think the officials in charge should try to make this possible.

With the NRA creating more leisure time — we should have some system of organized recreation—because the veins of crime grow rapidly when people do not have enough to do.

Talking about NRA reminds me about Paterson's fine Demonstration last Wednesday—Hawthorne should attend something of this type to put our town in the spirit of this movement.

With the recently created arbitration board at the federal government I wonder what weapon the worker will have if the terms of the board do not satisfy.

The worker must be protected — or else a body with such authority will have too much power over the control of the actual food on your table.

BILL O'GRADY

"Howdy, folks"—did you have a good time at the Old Plantation Barn Dance last week? If you didn't, it was your own fault.

What a scream Comrade Dhendt was as Ricksville's Justice of the Peace, and, boy, did they keep him busy; so busy that he forgot to make them pay the costs of court.

Abd did you see Comrade Louie Grassey the Warden of the Hoosegow—he sure gave the folks a great laugh.

I think we had the funniest squad of constables ever got together for a Barn Dance. They were Comrades John Penn, John Gibson, Jr., Ben Bouseward, Tot Kenyon, Gus Lutz and Jack Gibson.

"Ti Boy," did the old timers get a kick out of that mountain music Jake and his Hayseeders handed out? This musical outfit sure did a good job, keeping you folks on the jump all night.

If you notice the Vets going around with their chests, away out, it is because Mayor Arthur Rhoden, and a group of the borough's big shots were on the barn dance—such people as John Dodd the Postmaster of our borough, John Weber, and Jake Durrenberger.

At this time I want to thank Nick Donatie and his Colonial Inn Revue, Al Gale, Ben Tracy, Eddie Vreeland, Evelyn Dutchess, and Nick Westhoven, for helping me to make the entertainment the great success it was.

Since the barn dance I've found out we have another "forgotten man"—who, I'm not going to tell you who he is, just wait until our next meeting, and when he starts squawking, you will know who's who.

Well, lads, I've received the baseballs for you lucky kids. two are autographed by Babe Ruth (the old King of Swat himself) and the other by that grand old big leaguer, Chuck Jamieson. I want all you Comrades that can make it, to turn out for our meeting this coming Tuesday, because, I am inviting the three lucky boys, to be our guests and Commander Tot Kenyon will present them with the balls.

All we need is a break in the weather—the Sunday, and I know we will all have a swell time at the family outing the Ladies' Auxiliary is holding up at Riggs and Hershell's Grove in Oakland. From what chairman B. Siewert tells me everything is all set —I'm sure if you look in another section of this paper, you will find full details.

We should give a vote of thanks to Comrades Charles Scheiner and Dick Gibson for the wonderful job they did on that transportation committee — Thanks boys.

Since Comrade Charles Scheiner had to bandage the knee of Miss O'Neill of the Colonial Inn Revue, who fell out of his car, I don't think we will have any trouble getting you lads to work on the transportation committee.

Before this candle burns out I want to tell you not to forget the card party the "girls" are having on Friday night, August 25 at the Memorial Home on Lafayette avenue, to raise funds for that American Flag they are going to present to the new High School. Mrs. Alice Petty is chairman of this committee, so come out strong and put this worthy cause across in handy.

Get behind your committee on that Labor Day affair, they are putting on with Fire Co. No. 1, and consider it your duty to see that the Post does its share to make this Gala Event a success.

Everyone is praying for the President's success in working the country out of its present predicament.

Necessity is stronger than duty—Seneca.

OBITUARIES

MRS. ANN TIERNEY

Funeral services for Mrs. Ann Tierney, widow of James Tierney, who passed away Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Murphy, 189 Buena Vista avenue, will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning from her daughter's residence, and a half hour later from St. Anthony's R. C. church, when a solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated with Rev. W. E. Thompson in charge. Interment will be in the Gates of Heaven cemetery, Mount Olivet.

Mrs. Tierney was born in Shinrone, County Offaly, Ireland, coming to this country 25 years ago, settling in New York. For the past nine years she had made her home with her daughter in Hawthorne. She was eighty-four years old.

Although of an advanced age, Mrs. Tierney was exceedingly active. She was devotedly interested in St. Anthony's church, and attended mass daily on Sunday, apparently in good health. On Monday she was seized with a heart attack, which resulted in her death Tuesday. She was a member of the Rosary society.

Mrs. Tierney is survived by three daughters and three sons. They are: Mrs. Baldwin Spencer, of Ireland; Mrs. Edward Murphy, of Hawthorne; Miss Ann Tierney, and William, of England; Michael, of New York. Two sisters and a brother in Ireland also survive.

SMILING FACES AGAIN APPEAR IN DUGOUT; DUTCHIE EXPLAINS REASON WHY GUYS ARE HAPPY

Smiling faces are appearing around the Dug Out of the Legion Post again. Upon enquiring why the radiant countenance, you hear "The wife's back," by the same guys who professed to have a feeling of relief upon their departure and the freedom they were supposed to be enjoying.

We had a fine meeting last week and many visitors. Genial little Bill Corn, the commander of Mountain View, his vice-commander, Banks and Adjutant Greg handed us the usual bunch of bouquets.

Later in the evening Ben Boffert turned up with Adjutant Snyder—from Passaic Memorial Post. Ben was sponsoring Snyder for the County Commandership. Ben gave us afew of his ideas, if and when, those Passaic boys are full of ideas.

Youngest Post

They're a younger post than us, the largest in the county, over 400 members and second largest in the state. We of the borough had the pleasure of their band playing for us on Memorial Day at the exercises.

Our Comrade Raymond H. Durhan announced his entry into the county battle. Ray is running for vice-commander, looks like some live interest in county affairs.

Commander Dr. William Betts, of Pompton Lakes, is also out for the office of commander. We had a county meet at Wanaque on Tuesday, but nominations are not until September meeting.

Nominations for our post were: Commander, Halsey A. Decker, unopposed; vice-commander, (elect two) Russell Clark, Lee Heintjes and Charlie Vogel; treasurer, Roy Paulison; chaplain, H. Snyder; historian, W. Kirkman; sergeant-at-arms, F. Ferguson; adjutant, Roy Hodge. All good men and true.

Happy Days ARE Here Again

HERE are some of the clerks in the stores of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company who benefits directly by A & P's lineup behind the President in signing the National Recovery Administration code affecting salaries and working hours. They are being congratulated by Federal Agent James Finn Hodgson of the Bureau of Foreign & Domestic Commerce. Including clerks in the 15,350 A & P stores there are a total of 80,000 employees of the organization, many thousands of whom wages and working hours were affected, when A & P voluntarily signed General Johnson's code. In addition many new clerks and office workers have been employed. Figuring the average family in the country to consist of three persons, the total affected by these A & P salary raises numbers in the tens of thousands, or far more than the inhabitants of an average city. The A & P is one of the first large organizations to thus get behind President Roosevelt to bring back "happy days." All A & P stores display the Blue Eagle which is awarded to all signers of the NRA code.

About 200 Attend Outing Held by Regular Democratic Club

All who attended the first annual outing of the Regular Hawthorne Democratic club, at the Pleasure Club grove, Royal avenue, Sunday, declared they had one of the finest times. Games for young and old, and dancing to music furnished by Vreeland's orchestra, provided the principal amusements for the day.

The guests, numbering approximately 200, had plenty to eat, as refreshments were served throughout the day. Paul Seefer, general chairman, was more than satisfied with the outcome of the day, as the guests seemed to enjoy themselves every minute of the time.

James A. Burns was chairman of the committee in charge of several prominent Democrats attended the outing, including James Murner, Ernest Scheidemann, candidate for freeholder; Arthur Dunn and Harry Scheer, candidates for assembly, and Dr. T. Van Noort.

CHILDREN GATHERED ON STEPS OF OLD MILL WHEN HAWTHORNE UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL BEGAN

Old records of the Hawthorne Union Sunday school, located on the triangle at North Eighth street and Goffle road, reveal some interesting data. The Sunday school was organized in 1846, by a gentleman who was traveling through the vicinity. He called a group of children together on the steps of the building known as Morrow's mill, and brought up the suggestion of a Sunday school so that the children of the vicinity might have the privilege of studying God's Word. At that time, the nearest place for the children to attend a school of that kind was the little frame building on the ground where the Hawthorne Swimming pool is located.

Within a short time, the seed sown by this good man bore fruit, and a little Sunday school was started in the old District school No. 10, located on North Eighth street.

After a short period, an old log cabin was moved from the Goffle Brook and Goffle road, used by the Morrow's as a drying room for their woolen blanket manufacturing plant, was given for the use of the Sunday school. The building had no windows, and lamps were used. Within a short time, however, some of the young men of the neighborhood placed windows in the brick building. With the help of their elders, they transformed the interior into a fine Sunday school room, and day for the group when they first entered the building which was known as the Little Red Brick Sunday School.

First Library

Through efforts of a few, some of whom are still living, the first library known to Hawthorne was also established in the building. A fine selection of good books, purchased with the weekly contributions of the scholars, was soon obtained. Some of the older residents of the borough recall with pleasure the delightful hours spent in perusing the books in the little library. Garret Paulsen was the first librarian, and the books were carefully catalogued by Mrs. H. M. Paterson, of Goffle road, who at that time was Miss Hanah MacFarlan.

The library has been kept going until the present time, and is still a source of pleasure and inspiration to the pupils of the Sunday school.

After holding Sunday school sessions in the little brick building for several years, it was sold with the corner property to a drying establishment, and it was necessary for the band of worshipers to again seek the old District school for their use.

The little district school soon became too small to house the rapidly growing membership. A strenuous campaign to raise funds for a new building was begun by the late Reuben MacFarlan and Harry De Gray. After some discussion, a building site was selected. The property was the gift of the late William De Gray, who could not give a clear deed, however, because of some unsettled condition of the estate. The property was transferred for Sunday school purposes as long as required, however, and later a deed to the property was executed by Lawyer Preston Stevens, who at the time owned and resided on the estate now occupied by Dr. and Mrs. Harold L. Rose, on Goffle Hill road. Many donations ranging from $1 to $10 were made, the latter amount being the largest donation by any one person. Pairs and festivals of all kinds were held to raise funds.

In 1886 the building became a reality, the work being done by Terhune brothers, carpenters, at a cost of $773.00.

For 47 years the little building has done duty as a house of religious education and many sterling Christian characters trained as the result of the teachings.

Hawthorne could boast of no improved streets in 1886. Even Goffle road was nothing but a dirt thoroughfare, and North Eighth street was known to be a "regular mud hole" after a rain storm. Access to the Sunday school was a rather trying problem, and on the day of the dedication services of the building, more than one women was minus her overshoes when she entered the building. At the time of the dedication, the trustees of the school, were Rev. Henry Dater, Reuben MacFarlan, Garret Planten, Lemuel Van Buskirk, Abram J. Zabriskie, Richard Randall and Francis D. Garrison.

First Superintendent

The late William E. Janes was the first superintendent of the Sunday school, serving faithfully for a number of years. Albert Beaks was the second superintendent, and after a short period was followed by Rev. Henry Dater, who previously had charge in the Reformed church of Hyde Park, N. Y. Many of the members of the distinguished Roosevelt family were regular attendants at his church.

Next in the line of superintendents came Reuben MacFarlan, who served faithfully for about 35 years. The members of the MacFarlan family are still enthusiastic workers in the school and have earned the deep respect of all with whom they have come in contact.

The present superintendent, Cornelius Bosland, has served for 20 years, and has a record of perfect attendance for the past eight years. A number of splendid teachers have done their duty at the little Sunday school, among them being Miss Rachel Vickerman, Miss Annie Planten, Miss Louise B. Olmstead, Miss Sadie Story, Miss Jessie MacFarlan, Mrs. Josie Warren, Mrs. P. D. Westervelt and Miss Minnie De Gray. These were followed by the Misses Towell, Crawford, Allen, Writecor, Braen, Klevit, Bosland, Hopper, Yeden, Eaton, Terhune, Sprague, Lanterman, Miller, Peterson, MacFarlan, Almstal, Carlough and William Frank, Frank Breen, Cornelius Vandenberg and others.

The present staff includes Cornelius Bosland, superintendent, W. MacFarlan, assistant superintendent, H. B. De Gray, secretary and treasurer; Raymond Lanterman, librarian and Mrs. Masten, pianist.

TRUE WAR-TIME SPIRIT SHOWN BY WOMEN ENLISTED TO CARRY NRA BANNER TO BIG VICTORY

Washington.—In their most concerted effort since the World War, millions of American women are organizing to support the President's reemployment program and hasten national recovery.

Under the direction of Miss Mary Hughes, head of the women's division of the National Recovery Administration, state chairwomen have been appointed and are at work perfecting their organizations.

State organizations of women in active support of national recovery have already been completed in New Jersey and several other states. Under the State chairmen, county organizations are being built up also. Many of the large cities have completed mobilization of women for the campaign.

Recovery headquarters has sent out two slogans: "Every Woman a Consumer Signer" and "Every Woman Employer a Signer of the Agreement with the President." Local committees are preparing placards of these slogans for general distribution. Thousands of copies of handbooks instructing organizations how to back up the recovery program have been mailed.

At mass meetings, by means of the press and radio, women everywhere will be kept informed of the recovery program and how each individual may help most effectively to put it over. Explaining the purpose of the national drive, Miss Hughes said:

"In the first place, women are employers of labor. Some are large employers. Every women employer should immediately sign the President's reemployment agreement. Mrs. Roosevelt set a splendid example by signing at once.

"Women have a great weapon against the forces of depression. It is their buying power. As the retailers' principal customers, women are in a position to demand that there retailers comply with both the letter and the spirit of the National Recovery Act in their dealings with their employees. Women can help specifically by buying from employers who display the Blue Eagle."

Annual Picnic of Ashley Heights Association Is Big Success

The annual outing of the Ashley Heights Taxpayers' association was such a big success that long before the day was over, everything was sold out, making it necessary for the general chairman, Salvador Missonelle to secure more refreshments. The day's festivities began early in the morning and continued all day. Several valuable prizes were awarded to the winners of the various games. Music and dancing were also enjoyed throughout the day.

Among the prominent Hawthorne residents who attended the affair were: School Commissioner George Long, Mrs. Theron Gbesquier, James E. Hogan, Chief Charles Bunns and Commissioner John C. Houman.

RUTH CHATTERTON IN AMAZING ROLE AT HAWTHORNE THEATRE

Scene from "Lilly Turner", with Ruth Chatterton starring, at the Hawthorne Theatre

"Lilly Turner"

Ruth Chatterton comes to the Hawthorne Theatre Thursday and Friday, August 17th and 18th in the most astounding characterization she has ever portrayed on the screen—in the title role of the First National picture "Lilly Turner."

As Lilly Turner, the "Cooch" dancer and come-on girl for a carnival, she has in this picture more clandestine love affairs than most actresses portray in a lifetime. She flits from one love to another with a wild abandon inspired by cruel mistreatment at the hands of her first lover. It is not until she finally awakens to real love that ghosts of her many sweethearts rise up to haunt her.

Never, it is said, has she given such a powerful characterization as that of Lilly Turner, the girl who flaunts her charms to devastate the heart of the male; whose life is one of butterfly gaiety on the surface and bitter heartache beneath.

"Lilly Turner" is a vivid realistic story with frivolity and pathos and real dramatic power. George Brent plays the masculine role opposite Miss Chatterton, the first time the two have been teamed together since their marriage last Fall. Others in the cast include Frank McHugh, Ruth Donnelly and Guy Kibbee.

The direction was in the hands of William A. Wellman who directed Miss Chatterton in "Frisco Jenny."

"Below the Sea"

One of those big melodramatic pictures with plenty of sweep and movement, relying for its appeal on what the players do, rather than what they say, is "Below The Sea," a Columbia drama which will be shown at the Hawthorne Theatre Saturday, August 19th.

For breadth of action, for thrills, it takes first rank in this reviewer's opinion. At times it held the audience breathless in suspense as its stirring situations developed.

Briefly, the story has to do with a scientific expedition in tropical waters, backed by a spoiled young millionairess, portrayed by the lovely Fay Wray. Aboard her yacht is a former German submarine commander, who secretly is seeking not scientific specimens from the bottom of the ocean, but golden treasure that went down with his U-boat. This part is in the hands of a newcomer to the American screen, Fredrik Vogeding, who is well-known in Europe as a great stage actor.

Also seeking the gold is an American diver. Ralph Bellamy, virile young screen and stage veteran of a hundred parts, portrays this individual. Esther Howard, likewise new to pictures but of wide fame in musical comedy, is a third who is after the treasure, all unknown to the scientists. She plots with the German against the diver.

The high-point of the picture comes when the young millionairess and a companion, in a diving bell on the ocean floor are attacked by a huge octopus, and are saved after a thrill packed fight between the diver and the shuddersome beast.

"When Ladies Meet"

An exceptionally strong cast was assembled by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Cosmopolitan for its film version of the Rachel Crothers stage success, "When Ladies Meet," which starts at the Hawthorne Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, August 22nd and 23rd. Ann Harding and Robert Montgomery are co-starred and the other principal roles are filled by Myrna Loy, Alice Brady and Frank Morgan.

The distinguished Miss Harding, whose hits range from "Holiday" to the recent "Animal Kingdom," enacts the publisher's wife in Miss Crothers' biting drama of four people whose lives are brought to a climatic point at a seemingly peaceful country week-end party. Montgomery, last seen in "Hell Below," is the shrewd young newspaperman who creates a fictitious liaison between himself and the publisher's wife in order to attract the interest of the woman he really loves.

It is Miss Loy, a rising young novelist, whom Montgomery loves, but Miss Loy believes herself to be enamored of the publisher, played by Frank Morgan. It is this criss-cross complication of affections which forms the unusual dramatic structure of "When Ladies Meet," the plot of which finds its outlet when all four persons concerned are brought together at the country home of Alice Brady, and are forced to thresh out their respective emotional complexes.

Scene from "The Mayor of Hell" Jimmy Cagney's latest triumph at the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood

BOYS IN "MAYOR OF HELL" HAVE FUN WRECKING AUTO

"Storm at Daybreak"

The attraction at the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood Friday and Saturday, August 18th and 19th is "Storm at Daybreak," a vibrant love story of three lives enmeshed in an unusual conflict. The plot centers about Kay Francis, young wife of Walter Huston, wealthy Hungarian landowner. Huston has long been worried because he suspects that his wife's affection for him is rather that of a daughter for a father.

Nils Asther, Hungarian officer, who has saved Huston's life during a mob uprising contingent upon the assassination of the Archduke Ferdinand of Austria at Sarajevo, becomes military governor of the district. Asther and Miss Francis fall in love but the man who is friend to one and husband to the other is a perpetual bar to their happiness.

"Under the Tonto Rim"

A portable road is the newest thing under the movie sun-arc.

The road was constructed by Paramount to transport sound and camera equipment over the desert sand of eastern California for location scenes of Zane Grey's "Under the Tonto Rim," which comes to the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood, Friday and Saturday, August 18th and 19th, with Stuart Erwin, Fred Kohler, Raymond Hatton, and Verna Hillie in leading roles.

It consisted of planks linked by chains. After the motor caravan traversed its length, it was picked up and moved ahead. The process was repeated coming and going, to cover some three miles of otherwise inaccessible territory.

"Under the Tonto Rim" is the story of a cowboy who just couldn't do anything right—Stuart Erwin. Failing at every branch of cattle work, he finally takes up raising hogs. Two cronies who work with him decide that what he needs is a woman. So they take him to a border-town saloon, where they spread the report that he is a notorious desperado. Women flock around; men shy away. But he is soon exposed, and the daughter of his former boss, who had been deeply impressed, turns scornfully upon him.

Infuriated, he returns to the saloon, cleans out the place like the desperado he was painted as being, seizes the boss's daughter, and carries her off.

The picture comes to a dramatic climax as a posse closses around him on one side and a band of cattle thieves approach him on the other side.

"The Mayor of Hell"

A group of youths, led by Frankie Darro, discovered that acting could be just as much fun as a picnic in one scene for "The Mayor of Hell," a Warner Bros. picture starring Jimmy Cagney, which opens at the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood Monday and Tuesday, August 21st and 22nd. The "Hell" of the picture represents a reform school to which the boys were sent for malicious mischief. In the particular scene the boys are called upon to let the air out of four auto tires, stick a knife into the spare, remove the radiator ornament, cut deep gashes in the top and smash the glass. They went through the scene with perfect enjoyment. But they paid for their fun by winding up in an institution where almost unbelievable abuses, made the reformatory comparable to the cruelties revealed in "I Am a Fugitive From a Chain Gang." Cagney plays the big brother act to the unfortunates confined in the Reformatory.

"Professional Sweetheart"

That it is difficult for a modern girl to be bad is an unique highlight in RKO-Radio Pictures' "Professional Sweetheart" at the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood Monday and Tuesday, August 21st and 22nd, which thrusts satire at commercial broadcasting with Ginger Rogers, Norman Foster, Gregory Ratoff, Allen Jenkins, Zasu Pitts and Frank McHugh cast.

The story concerns a radio idol exploited as a puritanical girl whose contract forbids her to smoke, drink, pet, dance, eat rich foods or have anything to do with men. When her contract expires, she refuses to re-sign unless a romance is provided for her.

Her press agent and sponsor agree, but trick her by causing her to marry a backwoods radio fan who is as naive in fact as she is by exploitation. Her ludicrous attempts to shock him into some semblance of naughtiness, and his counter campaign comprised of cave man's wallops, build up to hilarious comedy.

"Heroes for Sale"

Wilson Mizner, famous playwright and scenario writer, author of "Alias Jimmy Valentine" and a score of other Broadway successes as well as innumerable stories for the screen, died in a Los Angeles hotel shortly after completing his last story, titled "Heroes for Sale," at the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood Wednesday and Thursday, August 23rd and 24th with Richard Barthelmess in the stellar role.

One of the most prolific of all screen writers, Mizner's recent screen plays included "The Little Giant," "Mind Reader," "Hard to Handle," "Frisco Jenny," "Winner Take All," "The Dark Horse," and "One Way Passage," in which such outstanding stars as Ruth Chatterton, Kay Francis, James Cagney, William Powell, Warren William, Edward G. Robinson and others were featured.

"Bed of Roses"

The warm alluring feminity of the nautch dancer is captured by Constance Bennett in the unusual costume she dons for the Mardi Gras carnival scenes in RKO-Radio Pictures' "Bed of Roses," coming to the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood Wednesday and Thursday, August 23rd and 24th.

Her elaborate attire makes Miss Bennett look especially glamorous. The skirt is of transparent light blue silk trimmed with dark blue velvet and silver spangles. Over this she wears a ravishing blue and silver bolero. Miss Bennett covers the lower part of her face with a blue and silver chiffon veil, and also wears heavy oriental jewelry of carved silver.

Miss Bennett wears her striking costume in the company of Joel McCrea and John Halliday, each of whom aspires for her hand in "Bed of Roses." Gregory LaCava directed the picture.

CODE SIGNED BY PHONE CO.

Only Minor Adjustments Necessary to Adopt Plan of N. R. A.

The New Jersey Bell Telephone Company has signed the N. R. A. code as amended for the industry, Chester I. Barnard, president, stated today.

"Only minor changes and adjustments are necessary to adapt to the code the policy which has actuated the company through the entire distress period," Barnard stated. "With negligible exceptions, telephone wages in New Jersey are higher and telephone working hours shorter, than the code specifies. Telephone employees here have been assured of employment for almost two years, and to make security of employment possible, they have all shared the available work."

Under its promise of employment to regular employees, Barnard said, the company has an excess over the possible minimum of more than 1,000 in its personnel. Hence, hiring many additional people will have to depend on greatly increased business volume. The company's employees number 12,068.

Another lesson of depression is that profits do not insure human happiness or even prosperity.

KAY FRANCIS IN DYNAMIC ROLE AS FEMALE MEDICO

Kay Francis as "Mary Stevens, M. D.," in first dramatic story of a woman doctor at the Fabian Theatre

Are doctors people?

Do they live, laugh, love, like the rest of the world? Or does the burden of the world's pain and sorrow, dumped on their uncomplaining shoulders, so disillusion them that they are more unable to get the same pleasure out of life as the non-professional men and women.

Some of these questions are answered to everyone's satisfaction in a picture which, as a tribute to the hard working men and women of the medical profession, and as a dramatization of their lives, has not, according to Hollywood reports, been surpassed on the talking screen—"Mary Stevens, M. D.," a Warner Bros. production, which comes to the Fabian Theatre.

Even if you were to comb over the names of all the feminine stars in Hollywood, it would be difficult to find one better fitted for the role of "Mary Stevens, M. D., than is Kay Francis. She perfectly typifies the professional woman of America.

It is said in the role she gives a portrayal which for sincerity, ability and dramatic power, would be difficult to match.

Her work is matched by that of Lyle Talbot, whose splendid work in the past has won for him this choice role. He appears as a young doctor who takes the easy road to success in his profession — via marriage and the "soft" jobs to be found in political work, only to learn afterwards that the hard straight road is the wisest and the happiest.

Interne work, clinic work, the drama of the operating room all are mingled in this exciting and romantic tale of the doctor both during and after his office hours.

A strong supporting cast includes Thelma Todd, Glenda Farrell, George Cooper and others. The screen play, by Rian James, is based on the novel by Virginia Kellogg. The direction is by Lloyd Bacon.

"WHY CAN'T I BE LIKE OTHER WOMEN?
Is it because I know too much about love—or because I know too little?
Is it because I always see men at their worst—or because I never see them at their best?
Is it because I'm too busy saving others to save myself—or because I've saved myself too long already?"

AUTOMOBILE RADIO EQUIPMENT POPULAR WITH MANY MOTORISTS

The popularity of radio equipment in automobiles is growing rapidly. This is materially evidenced by the interest created in the recent announcement that Essex Terraplane cars of the deluxe series will be so equipped. Chester G. Abbott, general sales manager of the Hudson Motor Car Co., states the news that the deluxe series will incorporate the latest model automobile type radio without extra cost has not only resulted in a large number of inquiries in the dealers' salesrooms but the factory itself has received numerous telephone calls and letters.

"This radio is built directly into the cars," says Mr. Abbott. "The installation of the units is so designed that the electrical units of the car are completely grounded and insulated. Interferences which may cause unpleasant sounds in the receiving set are removed, and furthermore the generator is so regulated as to permit continuous use of the radio without exhausting the battery.

"With the installation of the radio in the Essex Terraplane deluxe models, a special generator is provided with voltage regulation. This method of regulation which is incorporated in addition to the regular means of current control, eliminates any drain on the battery due to continuous operation of the set. In winter when a great part of the driving is done after dark, and when headlights are used a great part of the time, together with the drop in battery efficiency due to cold weather and the need for much heavier current in starting, some provision of this sort is really necessary in order to prevent run down batteries. With this installation all of these difficulties are removed and fine continuous radio reception is provided."

New Interior Design For City-Type Buses Will Provide Greater Space And Improved Seating

A new interior arrangement for city-type buses which provides increased seating capacity and more space is now being tried out by engineers of Public Service Coordinated Transport.

The photograph above shows one of the Company's buses remodelled according to the new design. The longitudinal seats in the bus, replacing the usual cross seats, have been separated into compartments by metal seat dividers in the same manner as in some subway trains. Improved seating accommodations and increased aisle space are features of the new design. With the increased aisle room passengers are able to get in and out of the bus more easily. Enamelled steel stanchions at each seat division are connected by hand rails running the full length of the bus, eliminating the need for straps.

If this design meets with the approval of Public Service patrons, officials of the company are planning to redesign interiors of other buses used in city service.

TERRAPLANING day by day keeps the service bills away!

Let's dispose of the question of economy right away, so you can buy an Essex Terraplane just for the fun and thrills it will bring you.

Terraplane owners all over America have compared Terraplane expense with that of every other car on the road.

Their sworn affidavits (18 to 26 miles per gallon for the Six, 15 to 18 miles per gallon for the Eight, no oil additions between changes, 20 to 30 thousand miles per set of tires, 1/16 to 1/14 cent per mile for service) would convince any Supreme Court that the Terraplane was the best automobile-friend any pocketbook ever found.

If you need a jury, too, the next twelve Terraplane owners you meet will give a unanimous verdict.

So, now—you can forget expense and think only of the swell time you'll have making molehills out of mountains without gear-shifting, giving the slip to any kind of traffic, sweeping quietly along smooth highways like a mail-plane on the wing.

That's Terraplaning! Just try it!

New Schedule In Press Plant

In accordance with the National Recovery Administration program, the production department of the Hawthorne Press will not be open Saturdays. In the past, several customers have appreciated the service which made it possible to fill rush and unexpected orders for job printing on Saturday mornings.

All customers are urged to co-operate by placing the weekend rush orders for printing not later than noon on Friday of each week. Special attention to this matter will be just one of the little details in joining forces to make the prosperity drive a success.

Moore, "is no longer free to run his business the way he pleases. He must do as the government tells him.

"The employer can no longer work his factory and employee when and how he wishes, but only as the government tells him.

"So the employee no longer works for what he can get and as long as he chooses, but as the government directs."

Here Mr. Moore paid a high tribute to President Roosevelt, our country and its institutions in their purity.

To the hypothetical remark "It can't be done," Mr. Moore pointed out that the method of law will not do either. Using the eighteenth amendment as an illustration, the pastor further showed that laws and law courts failed because of corrupt judges, lawyers and politicians behind them, in them, using them. He showed that individuals must have true character and there must be men like unto those made by Christ, if laws are effective.

Argument Clinched

Machines and institutions were treated next in the same way. The argument in each case being clinched by apt illustration.

Mr. Moore recalled that Ruskin was once asked if there would be a better nation now that the steam locomotive was invented. Ruskin replied, "Yes, if you have better people to ride in them."

A sovier factory in Russia was mentioned wherein the government placed the very best machinery that America could make. But the factory failed because they forgot to produce the very best men that could be found.

Mr. Moore pointed out that as soon as the enthusiasm, the novelty, the wave of patriotism, and the ballyhoo of the NRA program died out, graft, political patronage, selfishness, greed, the differences and the bootlegger would make the President's program nune-effective unless men with characters like the character the Christ produces in men were behind the program, believing in it, living up to and enforcing the laws in spirit as well as in the letter.

Power of Church

He pointed out that the church was the only institution that could accomplish this program by applying the Jesus way of life which has always been effective and never failed when tried. An illustration is given in the Oxford Group movement

DUTCHIE AND JOHNSON IN HUDDLE ON HOW TWO WIVES ARE O. K. IN CASA OR CASTLE

NRA is sure hot fire stuff these days. Every one you meet is for it.

The women have been after me to see what General Johnson is going to do for them about this 40 hour week. Well, girls, I flew over to Washington this week and spoke to Johnson about it.

The only thing we could figure out, after many angles, etc., was that every man will have to have two wives and put them on in shifts.

I pointed out that as far as the girls were concerned shifts were out of date. He still persisted that the only way was to take two wives and do as you darned please.

He said he knew it would take a brave man to tackle two of them in one casa or castle, but he knew all Legionnaires were brave men, willing to do anything to help him along.

"Gee Hatio Huddle"

Well, girls, I came back and went into a huddle with the gang in the Big Out and they are all willing enough to help Johnson and you at the same time. They seemed to be a little timid though.

Now, girls, I am sure with your co-operation and fair play things can be put over. Co-operation is what we need.

Just think of all the jobs that will become open for the other fellows if we pull 1,000,000 women off the market with our huge membership. The Auxiliary would be able to double their strength.

Looking at it from any angle, it seemed a good thing to Johnson and me. Several of the gang says "Me too." Co-operation is the thing.

No Eagle No Order

I was in one of our local stores this week when a drummer came in and asked for business. The owner asked him was his firm under NRA. He said no.

"No Blue Eagle, no orders," said the storekeeper and that's that. A little of that all around will be to the benefit of us all. "No Blue Eagle No Business."

Signs of fall are all around. The birds are flocking together and the gang in the Dog Out is getting bigger every night.

Tonight's discourse was on bugs and nature in general and what became of reindeers. Quite interesting, I assure you. Flock around and get an education down in the Dog Out. Hear Whit say "cheese" and Eric give his funny little whistle when some startling point is brought out.

Many To Travel

The boys at present are all set to go by travels in the near future. Quite a crowd intend to go down to the State Convention at Cape May, September 5, 6 and 7. A good many are planning to go on the United States Lines trip to Lake Harbor, Maine, over Labor Day, leaving New York on Saturday at noon, arriving back 7 A. M. on Tuesday. Entertainment, stateroom and meals—all for $20. It's all Legion trips and bound to be good.

Chris Braun of Fire Company No. 1 called around one night and invited the boys to join them in the Labor Day parade. It has been put up on the board, we have no meeting before then. I have been all Legionnaires were to go one day, others don't know about parading but provide to be in on the show with their families.

Plaque Arrives

This week we received the beautiful plaque that we are to place in the new High School and dedicate to the nine Hawthorne boys who made the supreme sacrifice. It is the constitution of the United States, a facsimile copy 40 inches by 33, solid bronze.

Below is a tablet with the boys' names on and presented by Hawthorne Post No. 199. It is on exhibition in the Dog Out. We are placing behind the tablet a package containing some records of the borough and the Legion. The post members and subscribers names.

Chicago Trip

We are all planning our Chicago trip to the convention and world's Fair, October 6, 7 and 8. The railroad companies are putting some Wonderful Legion Specials on. Erie, six days parlor cars, three meals on train both ways, admission to grounds, registration badges and souvenir program all for $26.50.

The B. & O. is running a similar one for nine days, $27.50. Pellington Post are running their own special.

What it is I know not at present.

The Delaware Lackawanna is running one for $17.00, with a cheap buffet, as well as regular diners and sleepers. Of course these will be extra.

See It With Legion

If you have not yet seen the Fair, look these things over and see it with the Legion. You are welcome to come along with us and partake of the benefits we have been able to secure and see the Legion's Annual Convention. Believe me, Brad, that alone is worth the money.

Chaplain Snider is busy on his relief baskets. He turned in over 100 packages to the borough relief last week. He has filled the cards from some stores where there was no patronage, but you will still find them with the regular fellows.

Dick Van Saun has got most of his boys back from camp and is looking forward to a good season when school re-opens. Any boy over eleven years of age is eligible to join. Come round to the Dug Out, 472 Lafayette avenue, any Monday or Friday night, when the band practices or the boys drill and you will find a welcome from Mr. Van Saun.

FIRE IN STORE SOON PUT OUT

Believed Caused by Short Circuit in Electric Refrigerator

Discovering smoke emerging from the National Grocery store at Lafayette and Florence avenues, at 1:40 Saturday afternoon, a driver of a Jersey Bread Company truck rushed to the store of Tax Clerk George Grille, notifying him and Supervisor Cleary who was also in the neighborhood. While the two men hurried to the headquarters of company No. 1, the driver turned in an alarm from box 15 at Lafayette and Rea avenues.

As the manager of the store, L. R. Courtright, was out to lunch at the time, the firemen had to break the glass in the door to gain entrance. The fire was put out by the time the firemen had been done. The blaze was caused by a short circuit in the electric refrigerator.

THIEVES GET $12 IN FUREY HOME

Thieves gained an entrance into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Furey 126 Second avenue, Tuesday night, and made away with about $12. The intruders gained an entrance by cutting the wire of a screen door. Captain Henlon investigated.

No one has yet found a good substitute for private initiative and enterprise.

NATIONAL COMMANDER OF LEGION TO BROADCAST IN INTENSIVE DRIVE FOR NRA

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 24 — Louis Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, will deliver the key address over a nation-wide radio hookup of the Columbia Broadcasting System, August 31 in an intensive campaign to bring every employer under the NRA code by Labor Day.

The national commander will speak from New York at 10:30 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, which means 9:30 Central Standard Time; 8:30 Rocky Mountain and Time; 7:30 Pacific Time. Daylight saving is an hour earlier than standard time.

The subject of Mr. Johnson's address is "For a Permanent Armistice." He will be introduced as the key speaker in the "Big Push" of the campaign which will start September 28 with the ultimate object of making November 11 a new Armistice Day, marking the end of the war on depression as well as being the anniversary of the end of the war on oppression.

More than sixty stations will be on the hookup, so that every corner of the United States will be enabled to hear the national commander.

Each of the 10,745 posts of the Legion, pledged to support the NRA, is being notified so that the entire Legion and Legion Auxiliary with their combined membership of 1,450,000 can hear the national chief.

No leader in the United States has exhorted more whole-heartedly into the NRA work than National Commander Johnson, whose pledge to the government of the Legion's support and whose "battle order" to the posts made public through the President, brought universal acclaim to Legion patriotism.

WILL DEMAND EARLY REPEAL ECONOMY ACT

Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., Delegates to Back Convention Program

WILL GATHER AT MILWAUKEE AUG. 27

Delegates from Wm. S. Mawhinney Post, No. 2, V. F. W., to the Thirty-fourth National Encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. to be held at Milwaukee from August 27th to September 1st will be pledged to support a program calling for the repeal of the Economy Act, immediate cash payment of the so-called bonus, full payment of all war debts, opposition to entangling alliances with foreign countries and an adequate national defense. These policies were adopted at a meeting of Wm. S. Mawhinney Post, No. 1593, held last week with Commander Kenyon presiding.

"The members of our Post are unanimous in the demand for the repeal of the Economy Act in all of its vicious phases as it pertains to the disabled and needy veteran," declared Commander Kenyon.

"We are also definitely opposed to the cancellation of war debts or any agreements that will permit European debtors to repudiate even a portion of their obligations to America.

"We favor friendly international relations for the mutual benefits of trade and commerce. As veterans who have served their country on foreign soil in time of war, however, we vigorously oppose any treaties that will in any way involve this nation in needless future European conflicts.

"We favor strict neutrality on the part of the United States, and we believe this neutrality can best be maintained by an adequate national defense."

Resolutions have also been adopted by Mawhinney Post calling upon Congress to eliminate tax exempt government securities. Members of Mawhinney Post expressed themselves as being opposed to the economic theory that permits the hoarding of wealth in tax exempt bonds through which the holders avoid payment of income taxes.

Progressive Concerns Serving Boro Residents

A. J. ROUGHGARDEN

Builders and developers of property exercise an important influence in determining the characteristics of a community. To a large extent it rests on them whether a community grows through the erection of attractive homes, "built with a conscience," or whether just mere houses are flung together without any consideration given durable construction or effective architecture.

Prominent among the builders who have given valuable service to Hawthorne, and who in no small measure have been leaders in the high standard of building, which has made this borough a community of delightful homes, is A. J. Roughgarden.

Without a doubt Mr. Roughgarden has erected more homes in Hawthorne than any other builder. During the fifteen years he has been in the building business Mr. Roughgarden has erected about 350 homes, each of them with its own charming individuality, and each so placed on the plot as to lend effectiveness to the neighborhood.

To enumerate all the attractive homes built by Mr. Roughgarden and now occupied by satisfied owners, would prove a long list. Practically all of Brookside avenue was developed by him, and to a large extent the many fine homes he erected on Warburton, Bamford, Buena Vista, Parmelee, and Arlington avenues were important factors in making such sections of the borough highly desirable as places to live in.

Even in these days when many builders like others find that financial conditions make inroads on their incentive to proceed Mr. Roughgarden is engaged in one of the most important local building enterprises in recent years. This project is the erection of thirty-six homes on the Washington Park tract. Sixteen of these houses, each really a model home, have been erected, and four under construction are sold already.

Building operations will continue until all thirty-six houses are completed, establishing one of the most desirable residential sections in the borough.

From the very beginning of his building career, Mr. Roughgarden has erected homes, which soon attracted buyers because of their striking and appropriate architecture and because of the many special feature.

Some of the houses have been large brick dwellings, while others, built with the same attention to detail, are of the cottage type. Houses being erected at Washington Park are of the English cottage type, all with appropriate designs and every modern convenience.

Mr. Roughgarden was one of the first builders in this section to adopt the plan for houses with attached garages. He was also a pioneer in following out the plan to have a bedroom on the first floor, an arrangement appreciated by many householders.

Backed by a most enviable reputation, houses built by Mr. Roughgarden soon attract buyers. Furthermore, many impressed with the delightful homes, have called upon Mr. Roughgarden to duplicate them in other places. Just at present a Saddle River resident has contracted with Mr. Roughgarden to construct a home in that place in accordance with the plans for one of the houses erected at Washington Park.

MISS INA A. SINEY

Many home buyers have found that when the time comes to invest in real estate, suggestions and advice which a woman can give are of immeasurable value. Purchasing a home is an event of vital importance for the average American family, and involves considerable study, not only from the angle of finances but from the standpoint of attractiveness.

If future regrets are to be avoided every possible detail must receive attention when taking such an important step as buying a home. After the excitement of seelcting the home is over and the deed recorded, it remains to be seen whether the house is really a home, or just four walls and a roof providing shelter. To attain its attractiveness every home must have from the beginning those charms which appeal to the feminine mind.

That is why Miss Ina A. Siney has been unusually successful in serving many home buyers. Miss Siney started in business as a real estate and insurance broker in March, 1932, when she established her office in the Hawthorne Theatre Building on Lafayette avenue.

Since her successful business career began Miss Siney has assisted many home buyers in their selection of homes, which not only meet their budget possibilities, but also provide that lasting charm which can best be appreciated by the women folks.

For Miss Siney to enter the real estate business was quite natural. Her father, the late Thomas W. Siney, was well known as a builder of homes. He erected many homes in Hawthorne and was prominently identified with extensive real estate transactions in the borough.

Born in Hawthorne Miss Siney was graduated from Lafayette School and attended Central High School. She is deeply interested in local progress and an enthusiastic advocate of the "Buy in Hawthorne" movement.

Not only has Miss Siney been successful in negotiating the sale of several homes in all sections of the borough but she also transacts an extensive rental business. Her experience has been that while many home seekers are not ready to invest in real estate at this time they desire to enjoy the many advantages and attractions of living in Hawthorne.

For the past year or more there has been an unusual demand for rented homes and through Miss Siney many have leased house, bungalows and apartments within the limits of the borough.

JUST THINKIN'

by Charles S. Kinnison

When I'm Away

When I've been away on a visit,
Whatever the pleasure and fun,
Or times, that I've had—
I find that I'm glad
The day that my visit is done.

However I may prize the friendship
Of friends that I meet as I roam,
I still must confess
That nevertheless
I'm eager and glad to go home.

Nor do I believe that you blame me
For feeling the way that I do.
For is it not so
That wherever you go,
Your home is still calling to you?

Yes, home is the place where my heart is,
However far from it I roam.
So that's why I say
That when I'm away
I look to the time to go home!

STIRRING EVENTS

Civic forces of Hawthorne will have an opportunity to participate in two special events early in the fall season. First of all through the combined efforts of Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., and Fire Company No. 1, a great local celebration will be held on Labor Day. Not many weeks after that event, the dedication of the new high school will take place.

Among the many features of the Labor Day celebration will be a parade which promises to be one of the largest ever held in the borough. Big delegations of firemen and veterans from many parts of the state will march, but these visitors will not be alone in the long line of march for several local organizations are planning to participate.

Events of the great celebration on Labor Day will have hardly passed into history when definite arrangements will be in progress for the fitting dedication of the new high school. For years the residents of Hawthorne have looked forward to that day; for years local parents longed for the day when their boys and girls could round out their education within the limits of the borough; for years faithful members of the Board of Education have planned and studied so that the new high school could become an actuality.

Now the building is rapidly nearing completion. The handsome structure will be ready for the students when the fall term begins. Not long after the faculty and student body take possession, the local school, one of the finest in the state, will be dedicated.

Needless to say, the dedication will be an historic event; not only because a thoroughly modern and scientifically equipped institution of learning has opened its doors so that boys and girls may have exceptional opportunities to train for life's responsibilities, but because the whole community will have a part in the events of the day.

Participation of civic groups in such important events not only augments the impressiveness of the occasion but stimulates community interest. It brings together the groups of men and women, who have at heart the interest and welfare of Hawthorne. All can have a part in the history making event.

PIN KNIGHTS GETTING READY

Measured by past performances, the Hawthorne Bowling League will without a doubt enjoy another successful year. It will not be long now before the teams comprising the league will resume their weekly matches on local alleys. As in former years, the season's schedule will be followed out with clock-like precision, and as week follows week the close and exciting contests for top honors will hold the interest of the bowlers and their big following of fans.

Because of the high standard of sportsmanship and because year after year the schedule has been adhered to, the Hawthorne Bowling League has made an enviable name for itself in bowling circles.

Back of the true sportsmanship is the inspiring leadership. Through the efforts of President George E. Adderley, and the other officers of the league, together with the team captains, the local pin knights present an interesting series of matches each year.

These local pin knights not only win many laurels on the alleys but also merit that enthusiastic interest manifested in the ups and downs of the various teams.

OVER THE TOP

Wm. B. Mawhinney Post No. 1593, V. F. W.

BILL O'GRADY

"Howdy Folks"—If you could have seen the look on the faces of those three youngsters, that were presented with the three autographed baseballs, there would be no doubt in your mind that it was the biggest moment of their lives.

West up to the Family Outing the Ladies Auxiliary held at Oakland last Sunday, the "Girls" did a good job, but I will say that the only guy that would feel at home is the lad that wrote the song "Yes we have no bananas", because—all you had to do...was ask for something, and the committee would join in the chorus of "Yes we have no ???"

"Oh Boy" did we have a ball game, your hubie columnist was the umpire, and I think if I hadn't put some of them out, they would still be playing.

You have heard a lot about Eddie Kelly Slider, they tell me he made first base by the skin of his teeth. Well Art Nelson went him one better by making it by the skin of his side—"How does it feel, Art?"

I think Paul Revere would have turned over in his grave, if he had got a look at Comrade Dhondt making his famous ride at the outing.

Comrade Louis Grassoy still claims he would have beaten Dhondt only his horse got one of Comrade St. Almond's weak moments.

Don't forget the meeting on the Labor Day affair to be held Thursday night at Fire Co. 1 headquarters on Lafayette avenue. Come out strong.

Just to get away from the regular run of things, here's something that might interest some of you—"African Golf-Fans".

For rainy nite diversion have a friend toss out a pair of dice while you're out of the room. Return and ask him to double the number on one of the dice and add five. Multiply that by five and add to the total number of spots on the other dice. Ask him to give you the result and then wager him you can take the dice and lay them out so they'll show his original point. Sammy Watkins who calls the tricks to my attention says it's simple.

All you have to do is subtract 25 from the total and the result made up of the two figures, will be numbers on the dice. By way of illustration — If your friend throws a 4 and a 2 for a 6 point, doubling the four and adding 5 will equal 13, which multiplied by 5 is 65. Adding the 2 gives him 67—the total which he reveals to you. You subtract 25, leaving 42 —4 for one dice, 2 for the other.

After that one I guess it's time to "Parade Rest" till next week —"So long, folks."

BOAT MISHAP AT HOPATCONG

Bert Shotmeyer's J-77 Is Hit by Large Wave and Capsizes

The motor-boat, J-77 belonging to Bert Shotmeyer, of the Shotmeyer Brothers service station on Lincoln avenue, capsized Saturday in a tryout at Lake Hopatcong. Jack Kievit of the Kievit Nurseries, Lincoln avenue was at the helm at the time. A large wave struck the boat.

The boat was in have been entered in Sunday's races. Mr. Shotmeyer and Mr. Kievit have transported two more motor-boats to the lake. They will enter the races next week and hope to bring the laurels to Hawthorne.

'SEVEN-ELEVEN' BUT NO GAME

Berry Pickers Counting Their Harvest When Police Arrive

Upon receiving complaints from pedestrians, that gambling games were taking place Saturday afternoon on the County Park property, Captain Danielson and Officer Kenyon hastened to the scene.

The police found four men who were dividing clothespins which they had been picking. The men were counting out seven and eleven knuckles at a time, and pedestrians took it for granted that the men were shooting craps.

PHYLLIS SPINDLER MARKS BIRTHDAY

The table decorations were carried out in pink. Those present were Sybil and Jillion Farce, Audrey, Gloria and Morton Jennings, Charles Burger, Everett and Phyllis Spindler.

UNION MEETING OF JR. O. U. A. M.

The union meeting of the Jr. O. U. A. M. was well attended in the Lafayette Hall Monday night, the usual time of the Star Council meeting hour. Representatives from several councils discussed important questions.

After the business meeting the guests were entertained at a midnight luncheon prepared by Star council.

Tales by the Tattler

With three billion—and a few odd million dollars floating around this great country of ours—for public works—Hawthorne ought to be able to grab a slice—for a new post office.

Perhaps the Charles V. Duffy association will be able to assist —with their popularity in Washington—you know they don't hand out Internal Revenue Collectorships every day.

All joking aside—we really need a post office and I don't mean maybe—some communities have better facilities for postal operations.

Someone ought to whisper into Post Master General Farleys ear —when he comes to Paterson Saturday—to turn the handles on the new institution of traveling words

Talking about appropriations—the hard working Commissioner, Mr. Hosman, seems to be pleased that the state will come through with an additional amount to make up for the surprise biddings on the Rea avenue extension project.

If the boro can actually get this road for an additional $5,000 it will be a paying proposition to our local business men—with North Haledon coming down to see us.

Looking at the high school reminds me that the men are doing some fast work to have it ready for the opening of school—I have my doubts if the gym and auditorium will be ready for the first gang of the school bell.

The second and third floors are practically ready—but the first floor—has a great deal of work to be done. What is the matter, Mr. Johnson will have lots of success.

Recalling school days reminds me that the Alumni has appointed an Investigation Committee—to report on the various official meetings in the boro.

It looks as though the Alumni Association is getting interested in local government—well, it will not harm the high school grads to take an interest in their borough.

Announcing the birth of a new body—none other than the Columbia Heights District—I wonder if they will become as prominent as the Ashley Heights group—if they can find a Mussolini—pardon me—I mean Ulisseinelli.

Ashley Heights as I've stated before will wake up the borough the other districts will start to organize—and pretty soon election day won't be the only day of government interest.

A good thing the Democratic club did at the last meeting was to pass a resolution supporting the NRA ; merchants—and the American Legion did the same—well congratulations to the both groups—and let's hope more organizations will follow suit.

All the surrounding communities are taking direct action on the NRA—and I believe Hawthorne officials should appoint a central committee to completely organize the boro to support our President.

St. Louis will have to get a zeppelin now—because Hawthorne is ready to launch its Spirit of Wool on Nelson Airport.

A word about Labor Day—are you going to the Big Demonstration by our local Firemen and V. F. W. Every citizen should cooperate — because what would happen if the firemen forgot to come to your house—when it was burning.

And say the V. F. W. ambulance might help you out some day—it may be the home town boy the local people pay very little for fire protection—and your tax bill would be a great deal higher if it wasn't for these public spirited men.

So let's get in the spirit and support the Firemen from No. 1 and V. F. W. on Labor Day — you'll never regret it — in fact you'll thank them for the good time.

TATTLER.

GALA NIGHT AT OPENING

Many Guests Gather at Town Tavern for Good Time

Thursday evening was a gala night in town, celebrating the opening of the Town Tavern on Lafayette avenue, under the management of Robert Van Hook. Nothing was left undone by Mr. Van Hook to make the opening one grand success, and several well known borough residents were in attendance.

Tables and decorations were attractively arranged, and music was furnished by the Radio Star orchestra. Other forms of entertainment were enjoyed.

A strong and active merchant marine is of vital necessity to the United States in peace as well as in war.

COLORS LINK OLD NASSAU WITH SHEFFIELD FARMS CO.

Princeton's football stars, crew heroes and Phi Beta Kappa men are likely to be toasted with milk rather than with's stronger beverage, now that a curious connection has been uncovered linking Old Nassau with the Sheffield Farms Company.

It has all come out in an article appearing in the current issue of the Bulletin, a magazine published by Sheffield's employees. Writing his memoirs of old times in the milk business, William J. Martin, discloses the fact that Princeton's colors, orange and black, were purposely selected for Sheffield Farms milk wagons by the founder of the company, A. D. Risley.

Which all requires a bit of history to explain. The Sheffield Farms Company, made up of several large milk companies which were merged in 1906, has been in business 92 years. But the parent milk company from which it gets its name was begun in 1877, by L. S. Halsey, a lawyer who went into the business to dispose of dairy products from his farm home at Madison, N. J.

According to Mr. Martin, the first milk wagon bearing the Sheffield Farms name was "a most gorgeous outfit." As it drew up before Jefferson Market a crowd gathered to inspect the brand new rig and the sleek dapple gray mare drawing it. Mr. Halsey was justly proud.

"But," said one of the onlookers, "where did you get the idea for your color scheme?"

Mr. Halsey, Princeton grad, class of '64, replied with just a trace of college spirit: "My college colors, orange and black."

And so the colors have remained ever since. Not precisely orange and black, to be exact. The black now has a slight tinge of red, but that is not highly important. To all intents and purposes the Princeton colors are still used, and daily can be seen on every street and lane in the metropolitan area.

In making public its sentimental alliance with Princeton, the Sheffield Farms Company might well worry about the reaction of those whose sympathies are with Yale and Harvard. But after all it would be confusing for a company to have some of its wagons orange and black, other blue and still others crimson.

'JACK' LAWLER, ATHLETE, DIES ON BIRTHDAY

Prominent Football Player Was Well Known in Hawthorne

GRIDIRON CAREER WAS OUTSTANDING

John Lawler, recognized leader in several sports, who was a brother of Mrs. James Heinjes of Brookside avenue, Hawthorne, died Saturday afternoon on his thirty-five birthday, at his home, 372 Ellison street, Paterson, after an illness of several weeks.

"Jack" Lawler, as he was known to his hosts of friends, had an outstanding career on the gridiron, having been one of the best linemen in semi-professional football. He was well known in Hawthorne.

Standing over six feet and weighing nearly 200 pounds, Jack Lawler played football with unusual success, and continued his keen interest after giving up playing. Being a close student of football he devoted much of his spare time to teaching younger athletes the rudiments of the game. Until a few short weeks ago he was coach of the Fifth Ward A. C. Clubs, and out of respect of his memory this nine has cancelled all games scheduled for the immediate future.

Mr. Lawler was also well known as a bowler and his achievements on the alleys were instrumental in his club winning many honors.

Mr. Lawler was born in Paterson and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Lawler. After completing his grammar school course sixteen years ago, he entered the employ of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company and was connected with that company until his death. About a year ago Mr. Lawler married Miss Ruth Nyenhouse, and just three weeks ago a son arrived in their home. Mr. Lawler is also survived by his parents and a brother, Francis X. Lawler.

Funeral services were held from the Ellison street residence at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and half an hour later a solemn high mass of requiem was offered in St. Joseph's church, Paterson. Interment was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

TAXPAYERS TO TAKE UP TWO NEW PROJECTS

Municipal Power Plant and Check-up on Education Work

OPEN HOUSE HELD AFTER MEETING

About 150 members and friends attended the open house, after the meeting of the Ashley Heights Taxpayers association, at Washington school, Thursday evening. A program of music, furnished by the Firemen's band, was thoroughly enjoyed.

Salvador Missonelli urged the residents of the hill section to affiliate with the Taxpayers organization, pointing out the benefits which the taxpayers have already realized through the efforts of the association.

Referring to proposed accomplishments, Mr. Missonelle referred to a municipal power plant and a check-up on the borough's educational system.

Henry Steigings, one of the committee appointed to attend meetings of the borough officials, reported that he had attended both the meeting of the borough commissioners and board of education.

President Pomider urged the return of the petitions which were being circulated through the district in an effort to have a substation located there.

The subject of additional police protection was again brought up. Henry Steigings and Richard Rodema reported on their interview with Director of Public Safety John C. Heuman, who informed them that if the first district were given added police protection every other district in the borough would seek the same protection, pointing out that such a plan would be impossible as the borough has no money to spend.

To endure is greater than to dare.—Thackery.

represented by 100 members and accompanied by a seventy-four piece band, but the Bayonne vamps will bring along old time apparatus.

Fire companies from other sections will also bring antique apparatus, which is expected to divide interest with the epic and span modern apparatus when the big parade moves along Lafayette avenue.

Cooties in Line

Then there will be in line a large delegation of the Military Order of Cooties. Several civic organizations and other local clubs are also expected to participate in the parade.

Starting at 11 o'clock the parade will be the opening event on Labor Day. Later in the day Watchung Terrace at Goffle road will be the scene of many events. Here will be staged the athletic meet for the boys and girls of Hawthorne, contests between fire companies, and the fife, bugle and drum corps contests. All of these events will be climaxed by the gorgeous display of fireworks, scheduled to start at 9 o'clock.

Valuable Prizes

Winners of the various contests of the day will receive valuable prizes. Wilfred H. O'Grady, chairman of publicity and in charge of the athletic meet announced some thirty medals have been donated by the Palace Electric Laundry Company of Paterson. This means that medals will be presented all boys and girls who attain first, second or third places in the various events of the athletic meet.

Mr. O'Grady also announced that nine cups have been donated already as trophies for the winners of events staged for firemen and veterans. These cups and medals will be formally presented by Mayor Rhodes just before the start of the fireworks in the evening.

Big Sale of Tickets

Tag tickets for the gala day celebration are selling rapidly for in their canvass of the borough the firemen and veterans find that the residents are ready to respond. Each night the fire apparatus with a detail of firemen and veterans canvasses a section, and when the evening's work is completed those who have made the canvass bring in most encouraging reports.

Headed by Mr. O'Grady and including Commander Charles F. Kenyon of Hawthorne Post, V. F. W., and D. V. Pratt, a special committee will visit the business men of the borough in an effort to secure their co-operation in decorating stores, and other buildings along the line of march.

All-day Event

Arrangements are being made for several booths for dispensing refreshments on Labor Day at Watchung Terrace. Delicious food and beverages, will be on sale, eliminating the need of leaving the field. However, if some find it necessary to return for home dishes, they can return. All that is necessary is to keep the tag tickets displayed.

Request was made today by Mr. O'Grady that Sunday schools, Boy and Girl scout masters, and leaders of other groups of children, arrange at once for having representatives at the athletic meet. They can get in touch with Mr. O'Grady at Hawthorne Memorial Home, or telephone HAwthorne 7-2877.

The joint committee, of which Assistant Chief Adrian Meyer of Fire Company No. 1, is general chairman, will meet tonight at 8:15 o'clock at Fire Company No. 1 headquarters. The Ladies' Auxiliaries of Fire Company No. 1 and Mawhinney Post, V. F. W., are invited to attend this meeting.

Board to Meet Tonight on Ren Ave. Bid immediate action, Mr. Jowett reported on the tabulation of bids by Engineer Missonelle. Of the eight estimates received last week that of Samuel Breen Sons was the lowest received and totals $54,455.

Pointing out that the lowest bid was $30,000 more than the original estimate of the former borough engineer, Mr. Jowett urged that economy was imperative. While the project offered big advantages, he insisted that the board should seek to ascertain why there should be such a large difference between the bids and the original estimate.

Engineer's Report

Commissioner Jowett then read a report from Borough Engineer Missonelle, in which the latter maintained that the bids should have been $10,000 lower. Mr. Missonelle expressed the belief that in the interest of the taxpayers the board should not go ahead with the awarding of the contract at this time. He also held that there was no possibility of receiving $10,000 or ten cents from the county at this time.

Mr. Jowett then related how at a conference with Project Engineer Frank Harris of the Highway Commission, the latter had proposed that the cost might be cut down by eliminating some items in the specifications. Such a plan, Mr. Jowett held would be unfair to other bidders.

Vexating his chair as a member of the board, Mr. Houman secured permission to speak as a representative of the Highway Commission. He asked Mr. Missonelle on what grounds the latter based his opinion that the bids were too high.

The engineer became specific and stated that grain pipes should be laid for $1.20 per foot while the bids called for $3.46.

Disputes Figures

Disputing this argument, Mr. Houman declared that North Haledon was called upon to pay $5.50 per foot and that in other sections the price went as high as $6. Other figures were quoted by the commissioner to show that Hawthorne had received lower bids than North Haledon.

Since the state was going to meet more than 50 per cent of the cost, Mr. Houman argued, the proposition as to whether the prices are too high should be put up to the Highway Commission. When called upon for his view, the North Haledon Engineer declared that the prices were fair and lower than those received by his borough.

Debate then ensued between Mr. Houman and Mr. Missonelle on the advantages of dividing the contract between different contractors. The engineer argued that money could be saved, but Mr. Houman insisted that experience has shown it not to work.

ty Agriculture Agent Wettyen to get reports on the elm tree disease, were read. On the motion of Mr. Houman the board expressed thanks for the interest shown by A. Baugnhauser in this matter, and the public will be notified to report any evidence of the tree disease to him.

Signed by Edward F. Keefe, clerk, a letter from the Board of Health called attention to numerous complaints regarding the Third avenue sewer. The matter was referred to Commissioner Jowett.

In another letter from the Board of Health attention was called to waste papers strewn about the streets. The board recommended that six large receptacles be placed at different sections. This suggestion was referred to Commissioner Houman.

Pastor Urges All to Take New Courage

re, comfort ye, my people saith you God." Mr. Moore pointed out that that was the message of Israel to the Church today. Continuing, he said:

"Time to Take Heart

"The church should comfort the people. The hard times are over—prosperity is returning. It has been working — people have reaped what they have sown—the depression is over and now is the time when people should take new resolution, encouragement and inspiration to go on.

"The church for five years has preached against foolishness, selfishness, sin, graft and greed. And now that the results of these things have been felt the people need comfort. The comfort the church has to bring is found in the message of Israel.

"Your hard times are past. You have received double for your sins, now behold your God. Believe in God. See that God is powerful, the creator, the ruler of the universe. He can be counted on —he can be trusted.

Can Trust God

"The sun and moon rise and set on the second—the movement of the planets can be timed 150 years ahead to the second—the tide comes in and out on time. You now needs and reap what you sow. God never fools anyone. He can be trusted. He can be relied upon.

"What comfort does this bring? The fascists man, who has done right and run into the red to keep men employed; sold his products at a loss to firms that went into bankruptcy, should not be discouraged or become cynical because as long as he has done right he must win. God cannot be untrue to Himself.

The same God of nature and the universe wills and governs the universe within us and controls the laws that govern the relations of humanity. He can be trusted.

Old Folks' Plight

"The people who did right — saved and shared their incomes and now in old age find their banks failing and no interest on mortgages and take comfort in the fact that they must be taken care of and eventually win, because God is as He is.

The Psalmest said "I was young and now I'm old and yet never have I seen the righteous forsaken or his seed begging for bread. God, like a shepherd, feeds and protects the Christian people as his sheep. The Good Shepherd, gave his life for the sheep. So trust Him as did Job. Be thankful, family and health all come, he said "The He slay me yet shall I trust Him."

"The church should encourage the people with the thought that God is their refuge and strength —an ever present help in every time of need."

Mr. Moore pointed out that the refuge here meant the city of refuge for the accused, a place to and be free and safe from all his enemies who would exact an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. God's truth was the Christians' shield and buckler, the source of safety was the Christian's on the defensive. The grace of Christ was his on the offensive. Here Mr. Moore used illustrations from his war experience to make his point clear. The preacher showed how this truth worked out in our experience. Continuing he said:

"God is love. Then love is our hope of strength—a present help in every need. Love never fails, love is humanity—God is humanity—God is responsible to the needs of people.

Mr. Moore by many illustrations from the experiences of the people of Hawthorne in the last few years made his point very clear, and paid a compliment to the residents of the borough for the splendid way they cared for the "less" fortunate. Mr. Moore went on to urge the congregation to encourage others, whom they met daily, to enjoy this consolation, to receive the courage and then go out with new enthusiasm to make straight a highway for the God revealed in Jesus Christ in the hearts of individuals, the homes of the community and the community itself.

Sunday and extended to him the freedom of the town, during his stay in Hawthorne.

About fifty members of the club and their friends were present at the Sunday outing and the all-day program games were played. Refreshments were served and a day of real enjoyment ended at a late hour.

Community singing of old time songs, sung to the music of D. Mele and his Gypsy-Chop boys was enjoyed.

The ball game, which was one of the out-standing events of the day, was won by the married men who defeated the bachelors.

"Now that we are off the gold standard what does Broadway call the folks who used to be known as gold diggers?"

DUTCHIE TELLS HOW ERIC AND RAY COUNT ON BIG GATE RECEIPTS FROM GIANT FISH

A special executive meeting was held in the Dug Out Monday, under Comrade Ray Durham. Russ Clark officiated as secretary in the absence of Leo Heintjes.

Preparations for the dedication of the plaque to be placed in the new High School were discussed and completed.

The delegates to the State Convention at Cape May, September 5, 6 and 7 were busy discussing and arranging for stocking up and the quartet was practicing "I Wonder What Became of Sally" some time those boys are figuring on rendering. It's to be hoped Adjutant Decker will be able to parade this time.

Whitford, Medendorp, Clark and Durham have all given a solemn promise to look after his dogs this time and see he gets to bed early on Friday night.

For those who can only make the parade day Saturday, the Pennsylvania R. R. is running a special out of Clinton avenue station, Trenton, at 5:50 A. M. Daylight Saving time. Two dollars, returning late in the evening. Several of the boys are going to take advantage of NRA and leave about 3 A. M. from Hawthorne and park their cars in Trenton.

The authorities at Cape May are putting every thing they know into making it one big show. This historic and beautifully located spot is always a welcome place, especially to the fishing boys Eric Rumler and Roy Hodge, who are going to try for a 4,000 pound fish and will bring it home to show the natives at a dime a peep. If Long Branch fire company can make 500 bucks on a 3,000 pound fish we ought to be able to make a thousand for our building fund.

Ray Durham presented the post with a beautiful framed picture he took of the local War Monument on Decoration Day. Commander Gareban thanked him on behalf of the post.

Decker reported progress on our annual Armistice Day dinner dance to be held at Blasberg's, November 11.

Chairman of Relief Snider reported 33 packages in the Boro Fund collection, it was decided to discontinue the drive after September 2, so this week-end will be your last chance to help along those of our friends in the borough who need your help.

Next post meeting will be September 14, in the Dug Out, when we elect officers for the ensuing year.

DUTCHIE.

V. F. W. REGRETS HUEY LONG'S TIRADE AGAINST NEWSPAPERS

Milwaukee, Aug. 30 — Delegates to the national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars went on with their convention business today inclined to dismiss Senator Huey Long's outburst against the press as a personal quarrel which did not reflect their opinion.

Although the Senator preceded his speech here yesterday with a caustic tirade against Milwaukee newspapers because of the attention they had given the now famous cut over his left eye, the convention went on record as sorry it all happened.

Admiral Robert E. Coontz, commander in chief of the organization in a statement issued last night through Barney Yangisky, editor of "Foreign Service" and publicity director for the encampment, expressed regret at the senator's attack. The statement said:

"The officers and members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars regret that an attack upon the Milwaukee press by Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana, should have interrupted temporarily an otherwise splendid reunion. Senator Long's expressions of opinion represented only his views, not those of the V. F. W."

This stand was concurred in by E. H. Schill delegate from the sixth district which comprises Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee.

Although Uncle Sam has plenty of troubles at home he must take an interest in Europe's political card playing.

UNTIL WE LEARNED BETTER

Until we learned better, we used to mix wood and steel in our car bodies and wheels.

It was the best way to make bodies—then. But the state of the art has advanced.

Of course, it is more expensive to make an all-steel body than to make a wooden frame and nail steel panels on to it. The better way involves an initial expenditure of several millions of dollars for new dies, which renders a change very costly. Cars, especially large expensive cars which are produced in small volume, cannot afford this, because the dies cost as much for one car as for a million. That alone explains why all-steel bodies are not used in all cars.

But our basic policy from the beginning is to make a good car better, regardless of cost.

For example, when we discarded wood-steel body construction, it was not because we lacked wood. We still have some thousands of acres of the best hard wood in America. Economy would urge us to use up the wood first, and then adopt the better all-steel body. But we decided that quality was more important than expense.

We weighed the reasons, for and against, before we made the change.

We could see only one reason for retaining a mixed wood-and-steel body —nailing the metal on, instead of welding an all-steel body into a strong one-piece whole. That reason was, it would be cheaper—for us.

Our reasons for adopting an all-steel body were these: A wood-steel body is not much stronger structurally than its wooden frame. In all American climates, wood construction weakens with age. Every used car lot gives evidence of this. Rain seeps in between joints and the wood decays. A car may have a metal surface, and yet not be of steel construction. Under extreme shock or stress the steel body remains intact—dented perhaps, but not crushed.

Steel does not need wood for strength or protection. Wood is fine for furniture, but not for the high speed vehicles of 1933.

In the Ford body there are no joints to squeak, no seams to crack or leak.

The all-steel body is more expensive—to us, but not to you.

By all odds, then, steel bodies seem preferable.

Wheels also have become all-steel. No one argues that an electrically welded one-piece steel wheel, such as the Ford wheel, needs to be "strengthened" by adding wood to it.

The one-piece all-steel body is the strongest, safest, quietest, most durable body made. That is our only reason for making them.

FIVE MATCHES WON BY TEAM OF TOWN CLUB

Tie Game May be Necessary to Settle Championship

FINE PLAYING BY BORO RACQUETEERS

Five matches were won by the Hawthorne Town Club tennis team Saturday afternoon, when the opponents were the Highwoods of Ridgewood. This complete victory for the local racqueteers brought them one step nearer the championship of the Northern Jersey League. It was the final game of the Town Club in the league series for this season.

Neck and neck with the Town Club has been the Y. M. C. A. of Ridgewood. The latter team has one more match to play, should the 'Y' players lose the coming match the Town Club will then be tied with them for first place, and a play-off match will be necessary.

Brilliant tennis was played by the Town Club men last Saturday. Doubles between Cecil Lord and W. McLaughlin, and their Ridgewood opponents, proved the only match that went to three sets. The local players won the first, lost the second, and won the third.

Captain Thomas E. Hinds of the Town Club team, and Roy Van Valkenburgh, Jr., found little trouble in defeating their opponents in doubles.

Paul Tacis, A. Vervaet and Frank Brennan were victorious in singles.

AL. VIGLIONE RESCUES TWO FROM WATER

Hawthorne Man Jumps Into Lake to Save Man and Woman

BATHERS WITNESS THRILLING DEED

A thrilling rescue was staged by Al. Viglione, of 336 Lincoln avenue, at Greenwood Lake, Sunday. He was sitting on the shore with his family and several relatives, watching a group of Brooklyn bathers. Suddenly one of the young women of the party was seen to sink.

A brother-in-law immediately went to her rescue, but before he could assist the young woman, she grabbed him in a death grip, holding on to him in such a manner that both his arms were pinned to his sides. He, too, was helpless.

Seeing that both were about to sink, Mr. Viglione jumped into the lake fuly dressed, as the other bathers appeared terror stricken and made no move in their fright. After a brief struggle with the two bathers, Mr. Viglione succeeded in bringing both safely to shore, where first-aid treatments were administered.

Assured that everything was being done for the bathers, Mr. Viglione was escorted to a nearby resort, where his clothing was dried. Immediately afterwards, he and his family left for home in order that he might secure other clothing.

Mr. Viglione was reluctant to tell of his daring rescue. The two bathers hardly had time to thank him before he disappeared.

Official Inspection Insures Quality of Canned Tomatoes

Definite Grades In Milk, Fresh and Canned Fruits and Vegetables Simplify Purchaser's Problem

By FRED W. JACKSON
Director, Division of Consumer Information
Department of Agriculture, Trenton, N. J.

SIMPLIFICATION of consumers purchasing problems through the use of definite grades and standards on milk—fresh and canned fruits and vegetables is one of the interesting developments of the past few years. In the case of the canning industry, the movement has brought about the purchase from farmers of raw materials on the basis of official grades. Only in this way can the canner be in a position to certify to the quality of his packaged products.

Inspecting Tomatoes

Chief among the cannery products purchased from New Jersey farmers on the basis of official grades have been tomatoes. Last year three fourths of the crop or about 150,000 tons of New Jersey tomatoes were inspected on a grade basis by Department of Agriculture officials.

As load after load moves to the to the receiving platform of the canneries these harvest months, official inspections of the baskets of red ripe tomatoes are made and a sample basket or two are taken from each load. At once this sample is sorted over a grading table and the tomatoes are separated into bins according to the proper grades. The contents of each bin are tilted back into a weighing container. The inspector notes the weights and computes the ratio of grades to serve as a basis for payment to the farmer.

Importance of Canned Foods

Quality is recognized in such a purchasing plan, and true quality is the only standard on which a food product can move advantageously through the channels of trade.

Inspecting Tomatoes in a Cannery at Camden

The increasing importance of this development is recognized as one realizes to what extent canned foods are being used in the modern home. It would be difficult to imagine a kitchen today without the can and its many varied and valuable contributions to the menu.

Instead of the former prejudice which prevailed because of the mistaken idea that only the inferior left-overs of a crop were canned, housewives now recognize the all-year supply of choice fruits and vegetables now available as a major item in the modern family diet, contributing health and sustenance with a minimum of preparation.

In his next article, Mr. Jackson will discuss food and the health of school children.

"Be Mine Tonight"

A new experience for theatre audiences is promised in "Be Mine Tonight," which has been booked for the Hawthorne Theatre on Thursday and Friday, August 31st and September 1st. It is the acme of delightful entertainment. This production combines to the utmost degree sterling drama, delicious comedy, enchanting music, exquisite settings. "Be Mine Tonight" has everything that an audience requires for complete satisfaction. These United States, which have been at a low ebb for some time, require stimulation. The people need the kind of amusement which will make them forget bank holidays, scrip, unemployment, jarring temperaments. They have it in 'Be Mine Tonight."

The movies also needed a new thrill, a new fillip, a new kind of motion picture. "Be Mine Tonight" supplies this need. It marks a new era in the production of motion pictures. You never saw anything like it before. Don't miss this new, delightful, exciting motion picture. It is the entertainment of the future.

"Ex-Lady"

A cosmopolitan, sophisticated atmosphere provides the background for the film which marks the rise of blonde Bette Davis to stardom. Her tremendous success in pictures during the pas year resulted in Warner Bros. giving her the starring role in "Ex-Lady," which opens Thursday and Friday, August 31st and September 1st, at the Hawthorne Theatre.

Her pert and vivacious manner, coupled with her own type of charm, is given as the reason why "Ex-Lady" was considered as ideal for her first starring vehicle.

The story is laid in the environment of New York's Bohemia — the colorful atmosphere of the artist colony — with other scenes laid in Havana casinos and night clubs. Against this shifting scene is played the story of two young people, each with a career and with advanced ideas which make love and marriage more of a problem to them than it is to workaday folk. Their solution provides the story with a clever and novel climax.

The film story is based on the original by Edith Fitzgerald and Robert Riskin, and was adapted for the screen by David Boehm.

"Sunset Pass"

Randolph Scott, Tom Keene, Kathleen Burke, Noah Beery, Harry Carey and Kent Taylor play the leading roles in Zane Grey's "Sunset Pass," thrilling story of the West, showing at the Hawthorne Theatre Sunday, September 2nd.

The picture, packed from beginning to end with excitement, centers around a cattlemen's association deputy who finds that the man he is tracking down is the brother of the girl he loves. Keene plays the role of the deputy; Scot the man he is seeking; and Miss Burke, the latter's sister.

Keene gets his clues to the fact that Scott is leader of a band of cattle rustlers when he voluntarily goes to prison and makes friends with the convicts to get them to talk. Out of prison, he goes to Scott's ranch and enters his employ. When he falls in love with Miss Burke, he gives thanks that as yet he has not found any real evidence against her brother. But it is at that very moment that he gets the evidence, and that he himself is revealed as a deputy. What follows brings the picture to a breathless conclusion.

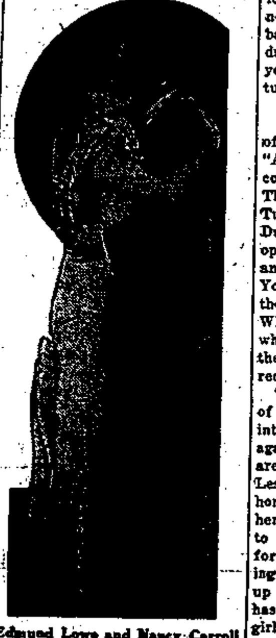
Highlights of the film is a raging prairie fire and the consequent stampede of a tremendous herd of cattle. And there is plenty of hard riding and shooting, all the way through.

"I Love That Man"

"I Love That Man" is the glamorous title of the swiftly-paced drama of a woman's devotion which opens at the Hawthorne Theatre Sunday and Monday, September 3rd and 4th, featuring Edmund Lowe, Nancy Carroll, Robert Armstrong, Lew Cody, Warren Hymer and Dorothy Burgess. It is Charles R. Rogers' latest production for Paramount and was directed by Harry Joe Brown.

Lowe emerges as the slickest confidence man that ever made a play for dollars and dames in a perfectly grand love story. Nancy Carroll is excellent as the woman who won't take "no' for an answer, tags along with the two-timing Lowe because she loves him, and bides her time for the wedding ceremony that's bound to come.

Lowe is a con-man but Nancy has confidence in her own ability to turn the "no" into "yes" and sticks by his side through the most amazing series of exploits against the pocket book of the "sucker Americanus" that the screen has ever portrayed. Lowe does everything to make a dollar from selling words to a dictionary, tea to a bootlegger, Canadian rye through the mails—and all the tried and true confidence games that the experts have been pulling on a gullible public for years, and it shows why "one is born every minute."



Edmund Lowe and Nancy Carroll in "I Love That Man"

"Storm at Daybreak"

Kay Francis and Nils Asther are the principals in "Storm at Daybreak," which will be shown at the Hawthorne Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 5th and 6th, and the cast also features such prominent film names as Walter Huston, Phillips Holmes, Eugene Pallette, C. Henry Gordon, Louise Closser Hale and Jean Parker.

The story of "Storm at Daybreak" opens with the spectacular assassination of the Archduke Ferdinand and his wife in Sarajevo, which precipitated the World War, and then centers on the lives of three persons who become engulfed in the bitter strife between Hungarians and Serbs. Miss Francis plays the wife of a man old enough to be her father; Asther is seen as a Hungarian officer, and Walter Huston plays the husband.

The triangular dilemma which results is unfolded in a series of adventurous and exciting incidents involving Huston's rescue from an angry mob, the young wife's reckless attempts to aid a group of deserters, the conflict of the wife who falls in love with the young officer but refuses to be disloyal to her husband, and the latter's problem when he is brought to realization of the truth.

"Ann Carver's Profession"

A decidedly interesting twist has been given the ever-absorbing home-or-career theme in the Columbia picture, "Ann Carver's Profession," which runs at the Hawthorne Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 5th and 6th. It is destined to create much controversy and it behooves you to get acquainted early with what the commotion is all about.

Directed by Eddie Buzzell, who made the smart "Child of Manhattan," the story is a screen original by Robert Riskin showing the inevitable conflict that arises when a woman's professional activities threaten her domestic hapiness. Fay Wray is cast in the role of a talented woman lawyer whose over-zealous attention to her legal affairs causes her husband to leave home and seek forgetfulness in the arms of another woman. Complications tend to widen the breach between the pair and it takes a tragedy to bridge the gap, with the woman making her choice between Love and Luxury. Her choice would be the choice of every women in the same predicament—or would it? See what you think.

"ANOTHER LANGUAGE"—"OLIVER TWIST", WARNER HEADLINERS

Manager Costa, of the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood, never forgets the kiddies. He is always on the alert for the best entertainment available in movie films for his juvenile patrons and in his program for Friday and Saturday, September 1st and 2nd, includes Little Dickie Moore in "Oliver Twist" at special afternoon matinees. While this picture will entertain ma and pa as well as the children, the immortal story, by Charles Dickens, as it is portrayed in film will live for ever in everyone's memory who sees it.

Co-featured with "Oliver Twist," will be shown "Another Language" with Robert Montgomery and Helen Hays. This is the play that thrilled Broadway for more than a year — millions will see it on the screen—a picture that starts where most pictures end—with the honeymoon. Two great stars are at their best in a tale of married life so true it hurts, so fascinating you'll never forget it. It sounds the battle cry of every bride and is a drama of family life that might be your very own. It's a great picture, and you should see it.

"Arizona to Broadway"

With James Dunn in the type of role he has never had before, "Arizona to Broadway," Fox comedy, will come to the Warner Theatre, Ridgewood, Monday and Tuesday, September 4th and 5th. Dunn is seen as a confidence man operating at a western carnival, and who finally lands in New York to match wits and fists with the cream of big-time racketeers. What he does and the way in which he does it make for one of the most entertaining pictures of recent weeks.

The plot concerns the efforts of this young man to protect the interests of a lone and pretty girl against other confidence men who are after the little money she has. Lest his intentions be mistaken as honorable ones, let it be stated here and now that all he wants to do is to preserve that money for himself. He succeeds in shielding her from the others, but ends up only to find that he himself has been working for love. The girl arouses a strange sort of feeling in him, and he decides that he doesn't want the money. It's romance he is now after.

There is a hilarious sequence in the picture that shows this western gambler pitted against the methods of New York hijackers. How he puts things gently but firmly over on them forms the unusual climax of the film.

"No Marriage Ties"

A valuable lesson for women who wait too long for love provides a daring but subtle entertainment feature of "No Marriage Ties," Richard Dix's new starring picture coming to the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood, Monday and Tuesday, September 4th and 5th, with Elizabeth Allan and Doris Kenyon.

Set against Dix's career as an advertising power who makes America buy merchandise via tricky methods, is a double love affair between the star and his two leading women. As Bruce Foster, Dix acquires Peggy Wilson for his mistress. His gallant proclivities lead him to Adrienne Deane, society girl who once loved and lost, and has restrained herself since.

He breaks down the reserve of Adrienne and engages to marry her. But when Peggy is informed and stamps him as a heartless rake, he asks his release from Adrienne to return to Peggy. While business enemies ensnare him in the mire of his own unethical tactics, Adrienne commits suicide. A powerfully sympathetic climax presents Bruce removed from power and claimed by Peggy to begin life anew under her moral support as his wife.

"Midnight Mary"

The meldromatic career of a New York tenement girl who comes perilously close to the electric chair is depicted in "Midnight Mary," a new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture at the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood Wednesday and Thursday, September 6th and 7th. The picture was filmed from an original story by Anita Loos and features Loretta Young, Ricardo Cortez, Franchot Tone, Andy Devine and Una Merkel.

The story centers on Mary Martin, a young girl who grows up in adverse circumstances and is finally induced to join a group of crooks who progress rapidly from petty larceny to robberies on the grand scale. She falls in love with a wealthy young attorney and tries desperately to start a new life on an honest footing. The gangster who has dominated her youth threatens to kill the man she loves, and against her will, Mary Martin is forced back into the underworld.

The story starts with the intensely dramatic moment in which a jury is deciding on the fate of Mary Martin. Did she kill the gangster, and if so why? It is during this suspenseful interlude in which the jury deliberates that the past life of the girl is unraveled in a series of highlighted incidents. William Wellman, who directed "Midnight Mary," is said to have filmed his story from an entirely different angle than the usual crook drama. Wellman has achieved a scoring reputation as a director of the raw side of humanity with his productions of "The Public Enemy" and "The Conquerors."

"Best of Enemies"

With Buddy Rogers and Marian Nixon in the leading roles, "Best of Enemies," the new Fox comedy romance, coming to the Warner Theatre in Ridgewood, Wednesday and Thursday, September 6th and 7th. It is described as a novel romance depicted against as up-to-the-minute a background as has ever been seen.

The story traces the development of a youthful love through the vagaries of events surrounding two youths. Differences between their families are brought out by things over which they have no control, and barriers are set in their way. The central background being the passage and the return of boer, the situations accompanying the romance are said to be highly amusing.

The story moves in locale from a city in the Middle West, inhabited by a great number of German-Americans who cannot give up habits of centuries, to Germany itself, where the young man of the romantic pair goes to study. The film has a distinctive musical accompaniment directed by Arthur Lange and dance sequences arranged by Sammy Lee.

LAUGHS, THRILLS AND REAL TEARS IN "TUGBOAT ANNIE"

Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery in "Tugboat Annie," their first appearance since "Min and Bill," are the attraction, sometimes hilariously funny, sometimes tensely dramatic, but always entertaining, at the Fabian Theatre, where the long-awaited filmization of Norman Reilly Raine's Saturday Evening Post stories is now playing.

The public has long clamored for another Dressler-Beery picture, and in the present story Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has provided an ideal one. There are hilarious quarrels between the redoubtable feminine tugboat captain and her shiftless, good-natured husband; mother-love furnishes a poignant heart interest, and there is a tremendous dramatic climax in the amazing episode in the engine room.

Miss Dressler plays Annie, with Beery as her husband, Terry, and Robert Young as Alec, the son, who grows up, becomes captain of a liner, marries the daughter of the shipping magnate and seeks to remove his parents from the tug which is their livlihood and home. The father lapses into his old alcoholic ways and the son disowns him—but when, in rescuing the son's liner, the father makes an astounding sacrifice, their difficulties are smoothed out. Beery's scene, plugging leaking boiler tubes in a flaming firebox at sea, is the dramatic highlight of a delightful romance.

Beery and Miss Dressler, of course, battle and make up and glean countless laughs. Frankie Darro is clever as the son before he grows up into Young; Maureen O'Sullivan makes a beautiful sweetheart for the young captain, and clever character work is provided by Willard Robertson, Tammany Young, Jack Pennick and Paul Hurst. Mervyn Le Roy directed the picture with the same deft skill that has marked his "Five Star Final," "Gold Diggers" and other recent hits.

Nowadays a girl is still a flapper until she has to put on spectacles which contain bi-focal lenses.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL FOR OPERATION

On Friday evening, Miss Lucille Stingle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Stingle, of Van Winkle avenue, was rushed to the General hospital in the V. F. W. ambulance, and underwent an operation for appendicitis. Miss Stingle is doing nicely. She is a member of the Junior Choir of the North Paterson Reformed church.

ALARM FROM SANATARIUM

Prompt Response by Firemen; Hundreds of Cars on Hand

When an alarm was sounded from box 541 at the Christian Sanitorium at 7 o'clock Monday evening, cars from all directions raced to the scene. All four companies responded, and according to Chief Buono, the men were out nearly 100 per cent.

The alarm was sounded by Dr. Bosch to ascertain how quickly the firemen could arrive at the institution.

Motorists from every section were on hand, and within a very short time there were several hundred cars in that vicinity.

Traffic was rather difficult to handle, but Officer Holmes managed to direct the cars without a single accident.

BOY RUNS IN PATH OF CAR, INJURED

While J. Vance, of Campgaw, was driving south on Lafayette avenue, near Central avenue, last night, a small boy ran directly in front of the car. Although Vance promptly applied the brakes, he was unable to avoid throwing the boy to the roadway.

The boy, Fred Nuss, age 5, of 73 Hartley place, Warren Point, was picked up by Vance, assisted by Ed Lane, of Lafayette avenue. He was rushed to the office of Dr. Missonellie, and treated for lacerations on the chin and right hand. He was later removed to the home of his uncle, Mr. Roughgarden, of Second avenue.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

THE recent storms along the Atlantic seaboard have interrupted the flow of fresh fruits and vegetables to market. Many fields of vegetables and melons have been under water and it will take at least a week of good weather to restore conditions when the damage is not complete.

It will be necessary in many instances to depend on root vegetables and such imports as the far south and west can supply. Among the fruits apples, peaches, pears, and seedless grapes are good choices. With tomatoes among the more seriously injured vegetables I suggest substituting these fruits for salads. Fruits combine surprisingly well with olives and a fruit salad using olives and salad dressing makes a good dinner salad. Lettuce and celery for combining with fruits will be available.

The Quaker Maid Kitchen has prepared menus to meet this unusual market condition.

EARLY START IN LAUNCHING FALL, WINTER ACTIVITIES AT FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Every effort is being made by Rev. Louis K. Davis, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Hawthorne, to get an early start in launching the Fall and Winter program of religious activities. Beginning Sunday, the complete schedule of services will be conducted, with the B. Y. P. U. Society and the evening services being added to the summer's engagements.

Sunday morning the pastor will lead the worshippers at his church in a communion service, using as a meditation, "Banishing Doubt".

The youth of the church will gather at 7 o'clock to plan for their year's work. After the devotional period has been conducted by the minister, the president, Miss Jane Schoonmaker, will preside as suggestions and projects are presented for consideration.

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, an informal hour of worship will again be available for all members, friends and visitors to enjoy. In accord with the wishes of the Northern Baptist Convention, as well as the desires of both pastor and members of the local church, evangelism in all of its phases will be stressed in a special way during these evening hours.

The discussion of the evening will center around the topic, "Transgressors". Opportunity for singing some of the old familiar hymns will be afforded the congregation during the evening hour.

A retreat for the officers of the church organizations is being planned for September 8 and 9, at a pretty lake in Northern New Jersey. At these sessions opportunity will be given for all to participate in the discussion of the entire work of the church.

Certain objectives will be formulated, a schedule of activities submitted, and plans will be discussed and laid for launching the year's program as adopted later by the entire church body.

Every officer will be urged to attend this conference of workers. It is the hope of the pastor in sponsoring this retreat to make these gatherings both inspirational and practical for the individuals involved, as well as for the good of the church. The committees in charge will release further details at an early date.

We hope that the code for radio announcers will compel them to wear mufflers while talking about the merits of Siberian Face Cream, etc., etc.

We will continue to have faith in the code until somebody writes a popular song about it.

TWO FROM BORO WILL TAKE TESTS

Names of students applying for admission to the bar were received Tuesday afternoon by James M. Dunn, secretary of the committee on character and fitness, of the Passaic County Bar association. The students will take the bar examinations October 13.

Miss Delcie Bostwick, of 10 Reid place, and Pensiero Calcia, of 47 North 14th street, are among the students who will take the examinations.

If Miss Bostwick is successful in passing the examinations, she will be the second woman lawyer in Hawthorne.

LOCAL GUESTS AT INSPECTION IN E. PATERSON

Chief Buono Deplores Failure to Recognize Firemen's Service

SLIM ATTENDANCE STRESSED IN TALK

When the East Paterson fire and police departments held their second annual inspection, Saturday afternoon, Chief Charles Buono, Salvador Missonellie, and James Lipari, assistant chief of Company No. 3; Alex Priess, Frank and Leon Bay were the guests of the East Paterson fire department.

Chief Buono, in addressing the group, expressed the opinion that the same condition existed in every community, stating that although the firemen rendered the most service, they received less consideration than other bodies. Pointing out that any other person who does a small deed of kindness received great publicity.

Chief Buono stated that firemen receive scarcely any recognition for the great deeds accomplished by them. He pointed to the turn-out of less than 400 as evidence of his statement, holding that there should have been at least 5,000 persons on hand to witness the inspection.
