Ralph Chamberlin, left, of 720 Lafayette Avenue proprietor of Our's Market, holds the last hind quarter of beef he has in stock. Dave Okna of 160 Third Avenue, store manager, displays a tray of chicken, which is plentiful. Another local butcher had no beef for sale yesterday as the meat stores and local residents feel the effects of the beef shortage.

Ting-a-ling affair ends in arrest of resident

Everyone laughs in the situation comedy in which a neighborhood feud or misunderstanding ends up with one of both of the parties being thrown in jail. Salvatore Cutrona, who was arrested, frisked and handcuffed here in Hawthorne on a charge of disturbing the peace, isn't laughing.

The incident centers around a bell mounted on the back of Cutrona's residence at 164 Washington Avenue. The warrant issued to the Hawthorne man charges that he did "continually make improper noise and create a breach of peace by ringing a loud cow bell in the rear yard of 164 Washington Avenue, all being contrary to and in violation of Borough Ordinance (1967 section 2 (a)).

Section 2 (a) of Ordinance 1007 prohibits a person from uttering any loud, profane or indecent, lewd, or offensive language in or upon any street or public place or make any indecent or offensive remarks or comments to or about any person lawfully in or upon any street or public place or make any improper noise or create a breach of peace.

The penalty for violating any provision of this ordinance is a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment in the county jail for a period not exceeding 90 days or both.

Cutrona's wife Lucy found the bell in an antique shop and had it put on the back door because the swimming pool at the rear of the house was quite a distance from the house. She says that the bell is not a cow bell at all and it is silly to have a bell on a door and tell the officer that if there was such a law, he would remove the bell.

The Hawthorne resident said he remembers being "advised" again to take the bell down and he refused. Cutrona said the police officer left with the words "my day will come."

When he got in the house, he began to wonder what the officer meant by his words and went out the front door to find him and ask him. Bay was inside the neighbor's house.

Tony Piscano. When Bay came out of the Piscano residence, Cutrona approached him and said "let's go to see what a racket."

Cutrona says that Bay replied that he was under arrest. Cutrona says he saw Bay's uniform and saw that he was a police officer. Cutrona says he was taken to the station, put in a cell, and then released.

At the station, the prisoner says he asked for a lawyer and was told to be seated. He says he kept asking the policeman in the station to remove the cuffs. Cutrona says when they finally removed the cuffs, he took the officers to his minister.

Salvatore said he had to stand on a chair and the policeman had to pick the lock because the key on one of the cuffs had broken.

Zone change is introduced for 7th Ave.

An ordinance to amend the Master Plan was introduced at the Board of Commissioners. The new ordinance will rezone to L-1 Industrial certain portions of Seventh Avenue.

The affected portion of land lies between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, bounded by Sixth Avenue, Seventh Avenue and a line parallel to Van Winkle Avenue 100 feet north of the northern side of Van Winkle Avenue. Eighth Avenue and Route 208, which includes lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 10 and 11 in Block 227 of the tax map.

The zone change was requested by William Zauner of 199 Seventh Avenue in March of this year. His property, which has an industrial use, was zoned residential with the 1970 Master Plan implementation ordinance 1175. The matter was referred to the Planning Board which recommended the zone change.

A public hearing on this ordinance, 1232, will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 15.

Measures to prevent bike thefts don't help two boys

Two local boys who want to hire an additional cop, whose only job is security on the grounds at the pool.

Early in the afternoon, Kim Cappocci, who was at her grandmother's saw a youth, who she thought was Jimmy Olie, take the bikes.

When the boys returned from swimming at about 2 p.m., they found that their bikes had been stolen, as they walked to the police station and reported the incident.

Billy's bike, a 10-speed Ross, that he bought with money he had earned by cutting grass, was only a week and a half old. Jimmy's bike, also a 10-speed, was a month old. He had paid more than half the cost with his own money, and had been waiting two years for such a bike.

The boys' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Watson and Mr. and Mrs. Ecco Chocco, want more security at the pool area.

Mrs. Watson suggests getting the bike rack, presently located near the parking lot, closer to the pool area and enclosing the bike rack. He feels it may be necessary to enclose the entire pool grounds with fencing.

Mrs. Watson says the bikes aren't the first items missing. She complains that there is no where at the pool for adults or youngsters to put their possessions and mentions a never-ending disappointment of two.

Mrs. Chocco stated that she feels it may be necessary to hire an additional cop, whose only job is security on the grounds at the pool.

It looks like the Hawthorne Board of Education is hoping to have the additional stands for the athletic field, allocated in the 1974-75 budget, ready in time for the football season. Buses on the grassy area and press box will be received on Aug. 13 at 4 p.m. The next regularly scheduled meeting of the board is Aug. 14 at 8 p.m.

The additional grandstands will increase seating capacity by 50 percent. The present stands are 136 feet wide and 22 rows deep. Specifications for the new ones call for 36-foot wide additions on either side, a total of 72 feet.

Upon completion of the project, there will be 210 feet of grandstands.

Specifications were drawn up by Raymundo Equipment Corporation of Mrs. P.A. Smith, approved by Paul A. Smith on May 28, 1973. Plans are to have the additional stands erected the present stands.

During the presentation of the budget in February, school board members explained that the stands were a necessary expenditure this year because the entire pool grounds with guarantee that this type of equipment would be in open stock in the future.

Another aspect that is not clear in the bidding is the press box which is listed in the board's legal advertisement. No press box is indicated in the specifications and there is already a press box in the stands.

Summer fun is painting a mural. These youngsters are in one of several groups for children's activities held each day at the Hawthorne Library.

Hawthorne Juniors have 6-7 record

The Hawthorne Juniors have their record drop to 6-7 as a lack of hitting resulted in losses to Prospect Park and Duffy's Boys.

Prospect Park 4: Hawthorne Jr. 3—Hawthorne dropped a tough eight-inning decision to Prospect Park as Dan Nauta held the Jr. to one hit over the final five innings. Prospect Park picked up three runs in the first as Ed Minicci walked the lead off batter and then gave up singles to Buchanan, Tantis and starting pitcher Petrullo in addition to a run scoring ground out by Nauta. Hawthorne picked up a run in the first as Steve Gessel walked, stole second and third and scored on a wild pitch. They scored again in the second as Les Rocchione tripled and scored on a single by Pat Dun. Jim Wain followed with a single and Minicci walked. Petrullo then bore down getting Gens Graham on strikes.

Dun was out at the plate attempting to score on a passed ball and Gessel grounded out to end the inning. Hawthorne tied the game in the fifth as Tony Tedeschi singled, moved up on a walk and a ground out scored on a passed ball. Gens, who had pitched shut-out ball since the second game up the winning run in the fifth as Nichols singled, moved up on an infield out and scored as Buchanan singled.

Duffy's Boys 4: Hawthorne Jr. 6: Tony Batsky handi-capped the Juniors of the league leaders. Duffy's scored in the first and second innings, went to second on a passed ball and scored as Brunetti singled to right. Hawthorne threatened in the third as Tony Tedeschi led off with a walk, stole second and first and was out at the plate attempting to score on an overthrow on the steal of third. Duffy's scored three runs in the fourth as Rego doubled and Brunetti walked. Both runners scored as Petrullo led off with a fly ball to deep center which went for a triple when the center fielder mis-judged its depth. Petrullo scored the fourth run as a sacrifice under fly Batsky, pitching better Park.

Football classic tickets on sale

The New York Giants and Philadelphia Eagles renew their rivalry on Sept. 1 at Princeton in the 12th annual New Jersey Jersey Football Classic. This year the Eagles have a new head coach as Vince Lombardi, Mike Barnett and George Allen. Mike Barnett has worked under many great coaches as Vince Lombardi, Paul Brown and George Allen. The Eagles are going to give 100,000 all the fans. Don't forget that their starting quarterback is Roman Gabriel who was recently acquired from the Rams. His addition gives the Eagles the ability to score from anywhere on the field.

Last year the Giants continued to show improvement and with the selection of Rich Glover of Nebraska and Dick Van Pelt of Michigan State they promise to give their fans and coach Alex Webster much to cheer about. This game should prove to be an exciting one with the outcome always in doubt. For ticket information contact John Perier at 427-6282.

Squawk over change in roofing specs

The issue of how specifications can be changed for school contracts came up again at Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Education. The matter was brought up when Building and Grounds Chairman Frank Van Ry reported that there has been a change in the specifications at Franklin School. Initially the roof was to be ripped off and new roof was to be put on. "When was the change in the specifications authorized?"

"Unfortunately," said Criscitelli, "I can't answer that question because we have two members of our personnel on vacation." He was referring to the superintendent of schools and the superintendent of buildings and grounds.

"With the change in the specs, it's a big difference in cost. No ripping off of a roof saves 60 per cent of the cost," Matthews queried.

Fred Greene of the roofing company, Harry Goldstein, who received the contract for Franklin School, stood up from the audience and stated, "It's costing us $600 more. We didn't rip because the job had to be done before school opened. I failed to see the change in the specifications."

Criscitelli asked Greene, "The contract called for removal of the gravel and inspection of beams. It is your professional opinion that the beams are in good shape?"

"Yes, I am," answered Criscitelli. "It is the opinion of the architect." Criscitelli asked, "If it is the opinion of the architect, why did you call for removal of the gravel and inspection of beams?"

Criscitelli answered, "It is the policy of this board that anyone wishing to see any part of any building in respect to the administrator of the building or the general office and will make the arrangements." Matthews answered, "I spoke with Mr. Criscitelli and told him I was going to look at the roof. Dr. Ingels was not in. Mr. McLaughlin was on vacation. The board secretary was away."

Board member Raymond Hallock extended this tangent to the discussion, "When you also on the Jefferson School premises without permission. It creates problems when there are unauthorized persons on the premises. It is the policy of the board that you report to the general office."

Then Mrs. Criscitelli commented, "I don't understand why you don't call someone from the building and grounds committee. Why do you always have to go run there first. Why don't you go with us?"

"Why wasn't the board aware that a change was made in the specs? Matthews reported. "If you have something to contribute, why don't you contribute?" charged the woman board member.

Matthews stated that he received information on Saturday that the roof was not being ripped off and was to be put on Monday morning. "When was the change in the specifications authorized?"

"The Eleventh Hour" is the story of God's final promise to man. It is unique in that it does not portray any biblical character. Instead, it focuses on the lessons of the Bible right up to date and everyone becomes the main character. The Rev. Norman Winter, pastor of the church, will be the show, "Van Natta and his assistants have produced a powerful Gospel message in their latest presentation, "The Eleventh Hour" is unique and challenging. Filling An Impossible Dream
It has been long recognized that our republic is to remain strong and secure, educational opportunity must be within the reach of all. The American dream has been that the secure for education should be rewarded on the basis of merit, not on the basis of economic privilege, national origin or color.

However, many young people with a desire to go on to advanced or college study have found that economic factors often block further progress.

A grant plan in the right direction was taken by Congress in 1972, when, as part of the Higher Education Act, provision was made for the establishment of a government sponsored private corporation, known as the "Student Loan Marketing Association"—which has been dubbed "Sallie Mae."

The new corporation—similar in concept to those in the fields of housing (Fannie Mae) and outer space (Comsat)—is being financed by lending institutions such as banks, savings and educational institutions, through the sale of an initial 700,000 shares of common stock. The sale of an initial 700,000 shares of common stock. The sale of an initial 700,000 shares of common stock.

Through its government charter, Sallie Mae is authorized to purchase, service, sell or otherwise deal in such student loans. A distinguished board of Directors consisting of 21 members representing financial institutions, educational institutions, and the general public is headed by Edward A. McCabe, partner in the Washington-Chicago law firm of Hanel, Park, McCabe and Saunders.

The way it works: students, wishing to borrow money to finance their education, apply as existing sources—such as their college lending program, local bank, or whatever. The lender processes the application and can immediately disburse the funds to the student. The loan can then be repaid, sold to Sallie Mae, or presented to Sallie Mae as collateral for additional student lending purposes, with the whole process backed by the full faith and credit of the U. S. Government.

The end result, explains HEW Secretary Casper W. Weinberger, is that "a substantial flow of new funds could be created."

"Sallie Mae" is a bona-fide investment in America's future. It will open the way for thousands of qualified students to achieve what would otherwise be an impossible dream.

Lincoln School addition will be ready for opening day

The Lincoln School addition will be ready when school begins in September, according to an announcement made at the August 14 Board of Education meeting by Frank Van Dyk, head of the building and grounds committee. He stated "The new addition will definitely be completely ready. The older part will also be ready. Right now we are putting up some electrical work, we may have to shift some classrooms around, but during a major catastrophe, the school will be ready."

He also reported that the Jefferson School "would definitely be ready," remarking that the interior painting and carpeting, final grading, remains to be completed.

Reports were questioned by a citizen, Frank Matthews of 30 Arlington Avenue, who wanted to know if the shop floor, which had buckled at Jefferson School was included in this completion report.

Van Dyk replied that he could answer the question. The citizen wanted to know who was going to absorb the cost of repaving the floor.

Board President Fred Cristofelli replied that the architect had told the contractor to put the insurance company on the hook concerning the water damage. He added that they were checking with the floor manufacturer to see what had to be done. "It will be done at no cost to the taxpayer," he stated.

Seventy-fifth anniversary books on sale

More than six months of compiling biographies, taking photographs, editing copy and collecting memorabilia have culminated in the finished publication of "Everyday Living in Hawthorne 1973." This 256-page Journal is the souvenir book commemorating the 75th anniversary of the borough. Books went on sale as the signing of the week via a door to door campaign by members of the Hawthorne 75th Anniversary Committee. The book sells for four dollars, more than 50 copies were received. A 75 cents commission for each book they sell. The remainder of the funds raised from the sales will delay the expense of the anniversary parade scheduled for Labor Day. Any surplus secured will be donated to the Hawthorne Boys Club building fund.

The theme of contemporary life in this north jersey municipality is divided into seven sections: education, health services, music and organizations. The contents include biographies of more than 50 citizens, photos and more than 300 photographs. Introducing the narratives of everyday life is a concise history of Hawthorne interspersed with bits of nostalgia such as a photograph of the police force in 1900, prior to the paid department which was established in 1929; a former schoolroom, known as Lilly Hall; the citizens still living in Hawthorne who resided here in 1900, the year of incorporation; and the oldest business in this municipality, of the year 1923 is related in photos of this year's graduating class of every school in the borough, the current expansion of the Boys Club, a recent group known as the Newcomers or the reorganization of the Neighborhood Play-maters.

The book's cover, printed by Koppel Color of Hawthorne, is a collage of 15 aerial scenes of the borough. The book was printed by the Hawthorne Press with Jacob Schaad, Jr., as the editor and John Crivelli, the photographer. Raymond L. Rhodes is the committee chairman, assisted by Helen J. Jagger and Jean Hughes.

The financing of the book was provided by 38 advertisements, paid for by prominent local businesses.

Court orders CO for property at 421 Lafayette

After two variance requests had been denied to use property at 421 Lafayette Ave. as a store, the matter has finally been resolved in court. On two occasions earlier this year, John Paskalis, 500 Park Ave., Paterson, has accompanied to the Board of Adjustment prospective tenants who wished to rent his Lafayette Avenue property, formerly a laundrette, but rezoned as office property with the 1970 Master Plan.

Paskalis' attorney, Jerome Vogel, had a show-case order served upon the Borough of Hawthorne to explain why the non-conforming use should not be extended. The matter was heard Aug. 16 before Judge Joseph Harrison, who ruled that the proposed use of a laundrette should be considered the same type of use and a CO should be granted. Borough attorney Douglas Bordeau, who represented the borough in this matter, reported on the results at the Aug. 18 Commissioners meeting.

Hawthorne resident judged not guilty in sequel to ting-a-ling episode

Salvatore Cutrona, who was charged with disturbing the peace by ringing a loud cowbell on July 26, was found not guilty in Municipal Court on Aug. 23 by Judge William Rosenberg, substituting for Judge Peter Calcia. When the court proceedings began, Borough Prosecutor Donald A. Rosenstra asked to amend the complaint by removing the word "cow."

Robert Ferrante, attorney for Cutrona, opposed the motion on the grounds that the state had a burden to prove "constantly," Judge Rosenberg allowed the amendment, saying that the state had a burden to prove a violation of the ordinance.

The first witness for the state was P.J. Leon J. Bay who testified that he was detailed to 104 Washington Ave. at 11:04 p.m. on the date in question. He said he went to the rear of the house and knocked on the door. When Mr. Cutrona answered, the officer said that he told the resident that the bell on his back door was annoying the neighbors.

Bay related that he asked Cutrona to remove the bell and Cutrona replied "Friend. I won't remove the bell for you or for anyone."

Bay said he asked the resident again to remove the bell, but he refused and he went next door to Anthony Pisciaccane's, 100 Washington Avenue to phone headquarters.

The officer testified that while he was at Pisciaccane's he heard the bell several times. He described it as a "loud bell sound" that rang for "20-30 seconds straight."

During cross-examination, Mr. Ferrante asked Bay if he saw Cutrona ring the bell.

The officer replied that when he opened the door, the bell rang.

"Did the bell ring again?" asked the attorney.

"Yes, when Mr. Cutrona stepped outside," Bay answered.

"And when you were in Pisciaccane's house, you heard it ring again?" Ferrante queried.

"Yes, 20-30 seconds constantly," said Bay.

"Do you know who rang the bell while you were in the neighboring house?" asked the attorney.

"No, I do not," replied the officer.

"Show me in the police report where the word 'constantly' appears," directed Ferrante.

"When Bay could not find the word, the attorney asked, 'Does the word 'constantly' even appear in the report?'"

"No," said Bay.

"Do you think it was important to use the word 'constantly'?" asked Ferrante.

"Are we here to mark a report or to cross-examine?" the officer exclaimed.

At this point the judge interjected, admonishing the attorney on his cross-examination and directing the witness to answer the question.

Rosenstra asked Pisciaccane for what period of time he heard the bell. He replied, "Between 11:02 p.m. and 11:30." He also testified that when the policeman was in his house, the bell rang continuously for 20-30 seconds.

When asked how far away the bell was, Pisciaccane replied "20-25 feet. I was in my kitchen, the window was open in the bathroom. All the windows in the kitchen face the other side of the house."

On cross-examination Mr. Ferrante questioned Pisciaccane about how many times the bell rang. He answered "At least four times."

Then the attorney queried "Do you get along with Mr. Cutrona?"

Rosenstra objected to the question.

Judge Rosenberg commented on the objection, "To my mind, there has to be more to this case than the ringing of a bell. I hear court in Paterson and we have three to four murder cases a week, and we don't get the crowd that's here tonight." He directed the witness to answer.

Pisciaccane replied "Mr. Cutrona doesn't speak to me."

Ferrante asked Pisciaccane if he was involved in any other legal action with Cutrona.

"He's suing me," said the witness "on behalf of his son Andrew. I turned it over to my insurance company."

Rose Pisciaccane, the third witness, in describing what she heard, said the bell rang several times clanging and went "ding-ding-ding-ding."

Mr. Ferrante asked for a dismissal on the grounds that the state failed to prove its case.

"There was testimony that the bell rang 20-30 seconds, but no proof that Mr. Cutrona rang it,"

The attorney said the ordinance under which the defendant was charged, mentions "public place." There is no testimony that Mr. Cutrona did endanger the public peace by any disorderly act.

He added that under the disorderly persons act of the state, there must be intent and no testimony of intent was given.

The prosecuting attorney, Donald Rosenstra, summed up the case, saying that Mr. Cutrona disturbed his neighbors.

"With respect to the ordinance, it governs one who makes noise. A municipality has a right to govern noise in the middle of the night."

"Where the ordinance says you may not make noise in the middle of the night?" asked Judge Rosenberg.

"His ruling was as follows: 1—Patrolman Bay made his arrest in good faith; 2—We are living in a modern age, when the jet airplane, cars on the highway, made a great deal of noise; 3—I can see no reason why a person can't have a bell on his or her door—that is not in the purview of this ordinance."

"Giving all benefits and doubts to the state, I find the defendant not guilty," Judge Rosenberg ruled.
