Blue laws are an anachronism

Blue laws are a relic of the past, and their continued existence is not only unnecessary but also outdated. These laws, intended to govern behavior during the “blue” days of the week, are often seen as a vestige of more rigid and restrictive times. However, in today’s society, where people are more free to choose how they spend their time, these laws are no longer relevant.

The Blue Laws are a set of regulations that were once enacted in many states in the United States to control the behavior of citizens during the “blue” days of the week. These laws were intended to keep the Sabbath holy and control the activities that were considered to be too pleasurable or too commercial on days of rest.

These laws were abolished in the 20th century as the country became more secular and people were given more freedom to make their own choices. Today, the only remnants of Blue Laws are in some parts of the country where local governments still enforce regulations that prohibit certain activities on days of rest.

In conclusion, Blue Laws are an anachronism, and their continued existence is not only unnecessary but also outdated. People should be free to make their own choices about how they spend their time, and Blue Laws simply do not serve that purpose anymore.

Supreme Court Decrees May Espoused Freedom of the Press

By John S. Gannett

The Supreme Court has made a historic decision that may espouse freedom of the press. In its recent ruling, the Court has set a precedent that may help protect the First Amendment rights of journalists.

The case involved a journalist who was charged with contempt of court for refusing to testify about sources. The Court ruled that the journalist had the right to refuse to testify, citing issues of confidentiality and the need for protecting sources.

This decision is significant because it sets a precedent that journalists can refuse to testify in court without fear of contempt charges. It also sends a message that the government cannot simply press journalists to reveal their sources.

While this decision is a victory for the press, it also highlights the challenges that journalists face in today’s society. They must balance the need to protect sources with the need to share important information with the public.

In conclusion, the Supreme Court’s decision is a step forward in protecting the freedom of the press. It sends a strong message that journalists have the right to refuse to testify, and it helps protect the confidentiality of sources and the public’s right to know.

Brown Avenue may be a through street

The Thorburn News, August 3, 1978

Brown Avenue may be a through street

The possibility of Brown Avenue becoming a through street is one of the many transportation issues currently being discussed in the community. This issue has raised concerns about traffic flow, access to schools, and the overall impact on the neighborhood. The residents of Brown Avenue are divided in their opinions about this change, with some in favor and others opposed. The decision on whether to open Brown Avenue to through traffic will likely be made after further consultations and public input are considered.

Revaluation needed in borough

On June 18, the borough council of Prospect Park held a meeting to discuss the need for a revaluation of properties within the borough. The council appointed a special committee to conduct research and gather data for an accurate revaluation. The committee will meet regularly to discuss progress and update the council on its findings.

Why it's important to make your gas furnace start-up check now

The Gas Industry of America urges homeowners to perform a start-up check on their gas furnaces before the winter season. This check should include checking the pilot light, ensuring there are no gas leaks, and making sure the furnace is clean and well-maintained. Neglecting these steps can lead to inefficient operation and potentially dangerous situations.

Court officer monitors proceedings

Hawthorne Municipal Court held its first session last week in a new court located in the Municipal Center building. The court is part of a larger project that includes a new council chamber and offices for city officials.

The new court has a modern design, with large windows allowing natural light to enter. The judges' bench is positioned in the center of the room, with the jury seated on one side and the public on the other. The courtroom is equipped with a sound system and video surveillance equipment.

The first session of the court was relatively quiet, with only a few cases coming before the judges. However, the atmosphere was serious and business-like.

The new court is expected to operate smoothly, with a focus on efficiency and fairness. The court's new location is seen as a positive step in the ongoing effort to improve the municipal government's facilities.

Are You Sleeping?

Most businesses, who are concerned with the protection of their property, are always afield that their security systems are the "all -sake" on the job and result in a loss. This fear combined with frequent labor force, is something one no longer has to lose sleep over.

Sound Security Systems employs the audio detection concept which has been proven to be the lowest loss ratio and the happiest apprehension rate.

This proven record enables us to offer a unique money-back guarantee whereby, should our installation and services prove to be unsatisfactory during the initial sixty months, all monies received will be refunded.

Our offer is based on Sound reasoning and will provide you with the same Sound protection. We can do the job for you and you are willing to "put money where your mouth is."

To find out how we can make such an offer, call us today at no obligation!
Reinstatement of corpsmen - a unified effort

It's almost two months since our editorial was printed about the reinstatement of former William B. Mather Volunteer Ambulance Corps Junior NCOs. The corps, which operated in the downtown area, has been the subject of much debate and discussion. The corps' reinstatement was a significant step towards preserving the rights and recognition of its members. The long hours of research and meetings with various organizations have finally paid off. The corps has been officially reinstated after a series of meetings and negotiations with the city and local authorities. The corps' leadership is grateful for the support received from various community organizations and individuals. The corps' commitment to providing emergency medical services to the community continues.

You will find that the more you learn and the more you experience, the more confident and capable you will become. Court ruling on holiestops - half a win for each side - a fight for the week of August 17

Half a win is better than none that's the situation now we have a result. But New York's State Supreme Court to double your item a办 the authority to the state of New York. It is significant that New York was involved in a matter which will have implications on New Jersey as well. After the long delays in making the crucial decision, the issue has been resolved. Authority rules to the city, the decision was made to respect the neighborhood and the derecho influence of that decision is large.

Any opponent who desires to continue this battle in court, and appeal to the state for a license. But before a permission is granted, the School's considerations will have bearing on the case.

Auto insurance crisis one of worst in nation

Roger S. Arnold, the publisher of the New Jersey News, newspaper which represents property and casualty insurers who are licensed in New Jersey, has said that the problem is a crisis.

The crisis is caused by losses, which are not being covered by insurance companies. There are several phenomena that are contributing to this crisis, but the primary one is the rise in loss rates. This is due to a number of factors, including:

- Increased vehicle theft rates
- More frequent and severe natural disasters
- Higher repair costs for vehicles

As a result, insurance companies are raising their rates, which is putting a strain on consumers. The crisis has become so severe that some insurance companies are withdrawing from the market, leaving consumers with fewer options.

Dear Editor,

I am concerned about the recent decision made by the Board of Education to cut the budget for next year. I believe this decision will have a negative impact on the quality of education the students receive. It is important for us to invest in the future of our children, and cutting the budget will only hurt them.

Sincerely,

Mary Lee Brown

Dear Editor...
The Board of Education's recent decision to cut the budget for next year is a very concerning development. I believe it is important for us to invest in the future of our children and ensure they receive a high-quality education. It is not fair to cut funding for important programs and initiatives.

Sincerely,

Dr. John Smith

Hawthorne All Stars claim title

By Steve Rapier

The tried and tested power of Eagle League champions quietly panned their way up to the start line and settled in, while the outsiders, unknown to the eagle's level, shot up to the front of the pack to see what they could handle.

Boasting an even split of the starters, Father's Day and Western Eagle were the two exceptions to the rule, with Father's Day taking the lead.

As the field turned 2, Hawthorne's sharp driver, Joe Smith, took over the lead, followed closely by the Western Eagle.

Hawthorne, the defending champions, maintained their lead throughout the race, finishing the 200-mile distance in 1 hour, 40 minutes, and 15 seconds, breaking the previous record by 2 minutes and 15 seconds.

The race was part of the annual Father's Day weekend festivities, and a large crowd turned up to witness the action.

In the second-place finish, Western Eagle, driven by John Smith, followed Hawthorne by just over a minute, showcasing the talent and skill of the regional drivers.

The third-place finisher was Father's Day, driven by his father, who managed to hold on for a win over third-place finisher, Smith's Eagle.

The victory marked Hawthorne's fourth consecutive win in the Father's Day weekend race, cementing their status as the dominant force in the region.

The event, held at the Hawthorne Motor Speedway, attracted a large crowd, with spectators cheering on the drivers as they加快推进ed through the finish line.

Joan Specht is appointed special services director

Joan Specht was appointed to the position of director of special services at a meeting of the Board of Education held Thursday, Aug. 29. The appointment, which carried a salary of $11,000, made Specht the lowest paid teacher and the highest paid administrator in the school district. The move was announced by Dr. John H. Roth, who was appointed in April 1978, to replace the retiring principal of the school.

The new director is the fourth principal to serve at the school during the school year, with Miss Specht taking over the position of district supervisor of special education. She was named in 1977 by Dr. Roth, who was named assistant superintendent of schools in 1976. She was named principal of the school in 1976, and has served as principal since then.

A noble cause that has become tarnished

When newspapers were merely newsprint on a page and the voice of the people, what is happening in the case of the Miami News is a perfect example of the direct conflict between the newspaper's right to present its source and the defendant's right to evidence that might clear him.

When Parker went to prison, he was sent to jail with the argument that the defense did not have access to the same information that he had obtained. We frequently find ourselves in the same situation. After hours of investigation and research, nothing has been found to clear him of any involvement with some of the acts.

However, when the data was released that the New York Times reporter had already received a substantial amount of a manuscript of a book he was writing on the same subject, the jury duty became transformed. Even now, some of the notes already have been turned over to the judge by the newspaper.

As of yesterday, the state Supreme Court was requesting the review by the New York Times in its appeal to grant the rights of investigation to the reporter. Hopefully, the news will be released at this level for the newspaper. As for Mr. Parker, it is a sad but necessary scene in a noble cause that has become tarnished.

Memorial School principal resigns post

North Adams- "Why should I keep if they don't want me?" said Jim Lawler when he resigned as principal of North Adams Memorial School last November. Doing the job, as he saw it, was made more difficult by the constant battle to keep the school open and maintain a quality education for its students. Lawler's resignation, effective April 1, was accepted by the school committee at its meeting Monday night.

"I'm not sure what the future holds for Memorial," Lawler said, "but I'm not sure what the future holds for Memorial School. I'm not sure what the future holds for North Adams Memorial School." Lawler said he was looking forward to spending more time with his family and exploring other opportunities in the education field.

The resignation of Jim Lawler leaves the school with a new principal. The school committee has named Robert F. Keenan as the interim principal.

On Bermuda cruise

The Herald "The Bermuda is a sister to the President's yacht," said Dr. John Carbone, president of the Bermuda Yacht Club. "It's a fine day for a cruise on the water." Carbone, who is also a member of the North Adams Yacht Club, said he was looking forward to spending a day on the water with friends and colleagues.

Lotz, Kearns endorse Carbone

North Adams- Two more endorsements were announced this week for John Carbone, Republican candidate for the State's 1st District, the seat that will be vacated by retiring State Rep. Robert E. Smith. Lotz and Kearns, both local Republican leaders, have endorsed Carbone.

"I'm very happy to endorse John Carbone," said Lotz, a North Adams city councilor. "He has been a strong advocate for the city and for the people of North Adams. I'm confident that he will do a great job as the next State Rep. for the 1st District." Kearns, a North Adams City Councilor, said he was impressed with Carbone's leadership and commitment to the community.

Residency requirement may be waived for volunteer firemen

Prospect Park "The residency requirement for volunteer firemen in North Adams has been waived," said North Adams Mayor Fred R. Smith. "This will allow volunteer firemen to serve in the city without having to meet the residency requirement." Smith said the waiver was a response to the city's growing fire department and the need for additional firefighters.

"We've seen an increase in the number of fires and emergencies in the city," said Smith. "This waiver will allow volunteer firemen to serve in the city without having to meet the residency requirement." Smith said the waiver will be in effect for one year and will be reviewed at the end of that time.

A borough garage on N10th?

Prospect Park "The borough garage on N10th Street may be sold," said Mayor Fred R. Smith. "The city is considering options for the property and may decide to sell it." Smith said the garage is in disrepair and the city is looking for a new use for the property.

"We're considering a variety of options for the property," said Smith. "We may decide to sell it or we may decide to keep it for another use." Smith said the decision will be made by the end of the year.

'Vesmokey and the Bandit' heads cable TV Sept. roster

The Horsch Office kicks off another unusual part of the annual fall television schedule with the premiere of "Smoky and the Bandit," Sunday evening at 6:30 on CTA Channel 10.

This fast-paced, action-packed movie stars Burt Reynolds, one of the nation's top movie box-office attractions, and Jackie Gleason, veteran of the stage, screen and radio.

The movie tells the story of a down-home American hero, his roadster, his nemesis, the police, and the exciting race between the two.

Barry, saying September 10 on HBO, is the country's best new comedy series. The single, unusual family situations are handled with the same flair and comic sense that has made Barry a hit in New York, Boston and San Francisco.

Barry, starring Mary Winstead, is a rare look at family life in a non-traditional environment.

These two locations are great studio views creating a new kind of television entertainment.

'Cabaret' begins a nine-week run on September 8 on PBS. This is the third of three seasons of this program, which has received critical acclaim for its musical staging and the performances of its cast.

'The Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat' by Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice is presented by the American Repertory Theatre at the Harvard Square Theatre in Cambridge, Massachusetts. The musical is based on the stories of Jesus Christ and is a modern-day interpretation of the biblical tale.

'The Magic Flute' by Mozart is presented by the San Francisco Opera at the War Memorial Opera House in San Francisco. The opera is a classic and is considered one of the greatest works in Western music.
