

The Common Defense

By Rev. William C. Kottman

A VALID OBJECTION

Objection has been raised to the showing in America of the J. Arthur Rank version of "The Common Defense" on the grounds that it portrays a Jew as a false caricature of a Jew and is a vehicle of blatant anti-Semitism.

The objection is well founded. For in this film is depicted as a despicable of the underworld, a Jewish character, the corrupter of youth, the very incarnation of evil. All told—a horrible Jewish caricature, in all respects, to that which the Nazis, Goebbels and Streicher, used to depict the German people as a prelude to the establishment of Hitler's tyranny.

In short, this film, by its misrepresentation of the Jew and by holding him up to scorn and hatred, can contribute to the increase of anti-Semitism in the United States which, however much desired by the Fascist-minded in our midst, is bad for America, an affront to good morals and repulsive to every firmly established principle of this Republic.

To complain, as this does, is a violation of the Bill of Rights when objection is made to the showing of this film in America. It is to be noted that the meaning of human rights does not state that one has the right to do, say, and print anything—even as well as good—that he pleases. A right is the moral power to do something—the power to do something for a good end. The man who shot to kill Gandhi, he was using a power for an immoral end.

The men who make motion pictures have the power to make them, but this power becomes a right when used for good ends. It is then this good to make a picture which is a right when used for good ends. A special section of the Bill of Rights is the denial of rights to Jew, to Negro, to anyone else who is not a citizen. The World Council of Churches proclaims anti-Semitism, to be a "sin against God and man." It is a sin of that kind, to be a motion picture or anything else which encourages anti-Semitism.

A society, which values its integrity, cannot permit recognized evil unchecked. It is then this good to make a picture which is a right when used for good ends. A special section of the Bill of Rights is the denial of rights to Jew, to Negro, to anyone else who is not a citizen. The World Council of Churches proclaims anti-Semitism, to be a "sin against God and man." It is a sin of that kind, to be a motion picture or anything else which encourages anti-Semitism.

N. J. S. E. S. Placed 850 In Jobs During October

Edward M. Schaefer, manager of the local New Jersey State Employment Service, Paterson, reports that 850 persons were placed during October, including a total of 354 persons who found employment through the Needle Trades Industry because of seasonal conditions and stock inventories.

Mr. Schaefer stated that among the manufacturing jobs the greatest number of placements were made in electrical machinery, paper and allied products, chemicals, apparel and related products, and textiles.

The active application file of persons registered for employment at the end of October was 4,781 which is composed of 3,607 females and 3,215 males. For the end of September, 4,596 persons were registered for employment of which 3,499 were females and 3,897 males.

Job openings have leveled off to just below the one-thousand mark but the quality and type of orders have shown improvement. For the convenience of residents in the Paterson area, the Paterson office is located in the American Legion Hall, 15 West Avenue, Butler. This full functioning office is open every Thursday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Paterson office is open daily from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. The new location is Paterson and Paterson Streets, Paterson. Telephone SHerwood 2,870.

Many municipalities are preparing their budgets now, but most taxpayers will get no closer to them than to read in the newspapers some weeks from now that the old home town will spend so many thousands of dollars in 1949.

Under State law, local budgets can be approved anytime within 40 days after January 1, though the period is extended to 60 days in the case of the town of Paterson.

Following adoption of the tentative budget by the governing body, municipalities are required to hold a public hearing.

In many communities of the State, however, organized local taxpayers work from the beginning with their governing bodies, advising and even helping to prepare the budgets. In out communities, the usual order is reversed. A citizen committee prepares the budget for the guidance of the town council. In other communities, officials usually invite citizen participation in preparation of budgets.

The New Jersey Taxpayers Association, which for many years has been organizing municipal and county citizen groups in working out budgets with their governing bodies. The manual, "Taxpayers View a Municipal Budget," and others of this type in preparation by the Association, are tools which, if they are organized, can be effectively used to the most out of their tax dollars.

Increased availability of electricity, modern home-building techniques, and work-saving appliances have freed many families from their role of playing second fiddle to the barn, says the report. Streamlined kitchen equipment, modern bathroom, refrigerator, and automatic heating are now commonplace in many of the state's farm dwellings, making them efficient "machines for life."

TOOL FOR TAXPAYERS

In recent years, municipal budgets, approved by local governing bodies and ready to be translated into new tax rates, have come as a shock to many taxpayers. The correct answer is that the money is not theirs. It is the money of the community.

Most taxpayers will attest that just one night's hearing doesn't make the complicated budget any more understandable. Nor are taxpayers sure how or why the money will be spent.

Give her at least a MINUTE to answer your call!

Every day, here in New Jersey, more than 75,000 telephone calls are never completed... because the person calling hangs up before the telephone can be answered.

It's a good idea to allow the person you're calling at least a full minute for answering your call. That minute may seem long to you, but it's still a pretty short time for the person you're calling... if she's hurrying from the bathroom, the attic, or some other part of the house.

Editorial... INTERNAL REVENUE FIELD OFFICERS GIVEN BROADER AUTHORITY

A long step toward placing increased responsibility and work on its field officers will be taken next January 1 by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Beginning on that date, selection of individual income tax returns for audit will be made by revenue agents locally rather than by auditors of the Washington office.

Penalties on delinquent individual tax returns of $700 and over, now handled by the Washington office, will be imposed by collectors in the field. It is estimated that there are more than 4,000,000 of these returns involved annually.

Individual technical refund allowances of under $1,000, now scheduled by the Washington office, will be scheduled by field representatives.

These forthcoming changes are only a few of those to be undertaken by the bureau in line with a study recently made by a group named by Congress to study the operations of the agency and recommend changes with a view toward increasing its efficiency and effecting economies.

The first two 100,000 kilowatt generating units at the New Jersey Public Service Station at Passaic, N. J., are now in operation. The units, which were built by the Public Service Company of New Jersey, are the largest ever built in the United States. They are capable of generating 1,000,000 kilowatts of power.

With these new units in operation, the system will have more than 15 per cent reserve capacity for the first time since the demands of World War II taxed it so heavily. The third 100,000 kilowatt generating unit at Passaic is scheduled for completion in the fall of 1949.

These new steam turbine generators are important not only for their capacity to carry load but also for their economy of operation. They are the first steam turbines in the country to operate with steam at 1,000 F. temperature and 1,500 pounds per square inch pressure.

One of the features of the new plant is the use of the semi-oval door type of steam boiler, unique in this latitude. The three boilers are so constructed that about half of the heat radiating surface, which tends to heat up the building, will have outside exposure, thereby simplifying the problem of adequate ventilation for the comfort of the operating personnel.

Although the boilers normally will be fired with pulverized coal, they are also designed to burn oil and can be quickly switched from one fuel to the other.

The structure of Passaic Station is of functional design, having simple lines with accent on verticality.

Many new skills were learned including tractor operation, cultivation, harvesting, hay cutting, machine and hand milking and the care of live stock and produce.

150 different skills needed on an average farm. At the end of the season, each student received a rating which indicated his adaptability, interest in the work and the proficiency attained.

Grades ranged from above average to failure. Eighty-five per cent of the students received acceptable ratings and 38 per cent received above average.

Walker Edging, who is Farm Placement Supervisor for the New Jersey State Employment Service, is working closely with Herbert Voorhees, President of the New Jersey Farm Bureau in developing a similar program for the use of New Jersey farmers in 1949.

If a sufficient number of New Jersey farmers is interested in the program it may become necessary to discontinue the Vermont Program as it is possible that the supply of students will be inadequate to satisfy the needs of both states.

New Jersey Taxpayers

PRE-HOLIDAY DRESS SALE!

Trenton, N. J.—Pointing out that the cost of education per pupil in New Jersey is among the highest in the nation, the New Jersey Taxpayers Association today called for greater citizen interest in education and cost of education throughout the State.

Four considerations, as presented in its proposed 1949 Platform and Program, the Association said, are the basis for renewing "our recommendation that a representative committee of competent laymen should be created by the Legislature and appointed by the Governor to inquire into the educational objectives, the results, the soundness of our present administrative methods and the appropriate control of costs of our public school system."

"The Association believes (1) that education should be under local control; (2) that the interests of the child must be paramount; (3) that the teaching personnel should be a respected and adequately paid profession; (4) that the financial resources of the State and the taxpayers need not and should not be bankrupted in the process of attaining these objectives."

"The cost of education is the largest single item in the cost of government in New Jersey. It is a chief factor in determining the local tax rate, constituting almost 50 per cent of all local taxation and upwards of 20 per cent of the State Budget. But a particularly startling fact is that the

There are over 200 in the hospital. The breakdown in costs show the daily cost is $1.28.

The old age assistance appropriation will show an increase of $100,000 over the 1947-48 fiscal year. The county is receiving this aid with an average of $4.12 a month. Of this the county pays 12 and one-half per cent, the state 27 and one-half per cent, and the government 60 per cent.

The county also has 293 feeble minded persons under its care in various state institutions.

KNOW YOUR GOVERNMENT

COUNTIES COST TOO! What's going on down at the County Courthouse? Taxpayers that's a question that is only occasionally asked by New Jersey citizens.

Yet New Jersey taxpayers paid about $77,000,000 in taxes to support their 21 county governments in 1947. That's approximately one-fourth the amount taxpayers helped in to finance the operations of their municipal governments. Its one-half of the State's expenditures. A forecast of county budgets for 1948 reveals that these budgets are going to be even higher.

At a cost of $187,000, that's over 90 epileptic cases which cost the county $7,000. For relief to the blind there are 55 people receiving an average of $41 per month.

Another larger item is the dependent children of which there are 653 with the county paying for their care.

There are 559 children for which the state is the legal guardian. These children are given special care by the state.

One of the largest items that faced the freeholders was the increase to local hospitals from $4,000 to $25,000 a year.

Another item that was caused by revision of the constitution were the district courts of which there were 120 in Paterson, one in Clifton and one in Passaic. Previously these cities paid the cost of these courts but all municipalities could use the courts. Under the constitution it will cost the county the sum of $100,000 to maintain these courts.

Another item will be the pension for the county employees. These employees are not able to secure Social Security and must contribute to the pension fund with the county doing likewise.

Rhode starting an average of over 600 employees in the county and that one half of these employees average $2,500 a year.

He closed his talk with the statement that the Passaic County Board of Freeholders would do their best to keep the rate within the "power to pay" ratio. He stated that they had reduced the county bonds from 11 million to five and one-half million dollars in 10 years.

He stated that the county needed a hospital for contagious diseases, a county garage, added space at Hope Dell, and a new jail. He felt that the freeholders would again be careful of their expenditures and pointed out the fact that when emergency bond issues were necessary for the voting machines and the damage caused by flood that they were able to secure the bonds at the remarkable low rate of 28 per cent interest which indicated that these investing their money in bonds considered Passaic County an A-1 risk.

He stated that $700,000 had gone for roads and bridges and paid a compliment to Engineer Fred W. Reed, Road Superintendent, Robert Wardle and Corralis Pountney and William Reboyl on their efficient handling of these matters.

...Editorial...

'Twas THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

... a bitter-cold, dark and frosty night at Valley Forge. No Santa Claus, no Christmas tree, no holly in the window ... only grim determination in the hearts of Washington and his soldiers.

Determination to hand down to you and your children the freedoms that make America great.

But today our cherished tradition of liberty is being threatened ... in a quickly shrinking world ... where un-Americanisms and ideologies are insidiously spreading their gospel of slavery.

What should you do about it? Think about the straitlaced men at Valley Forge who refused to kneel under to despotic tyranny. Then act ... and prove to the not-so-free peoples of the world that democracy works here in America.

Yes, you can protect our freedom by being a citizen ... an American who accepts the duties and responsibilities of citizenship along with its blessings ... a citizen who does all the things listed as follows:

WHAT DO YOU DO ABOUT IT

Find Out Election Issues—Attend local political gatherings. Hear both sides. Ask questions. KNOW the issues. Vote Intelligently—No election is unimportant. Vote in all of them ... according to your conscience. It's your government.

Serve Gladly On Juries—If you haven't served before, you'll be surprised to find how interesting and important it is.

Join Local Civic Groups—Parent-Teachers' Association of School Board, if opportunity permits. Good education is vital.

Vote In Union Elections and Stockholders' Meetings—Take part in the decisions that affect your life. Don't let someone else do it.

If you and all Americans, do these simple but important things, you'll be fighting for freedom ... you'll be protecting the precious freedom that we all want and have to have.

and remember ...

FREEDOM IS EVERYBODY'S JOB!

GOOD NEWS ABOUT HUMAN RIGHTS

It took the Social Committee of the United Nations General Assembly two and a half years to adopt its universal Declaration of Human Rights.

From information available at this time it looks like a job well done. It has the advantage of setting on record principles which are agreed and protect the God-given rights of individual persons against the presumption and intolerable tyranny of the to militarism of both Hitler and Stalin.

Closely following our own Virginia Bill of Rights and our Declaration of Independence, the new Document insists that men are born free and equal and that they are endowed with inalienable rights which must be recognized in terms of freedom of worship, speech, assembly, self-government.

NEWS-ODDITIES

THE NEW YORK TIMES (December 8) pointedly observes, "Taken as a whole, the declaration castigates and outlines the very concept not only of the totalitarian state but also of the totalitarianism of the proletariat and the 'class struggle' which are the fundamental principles of Communism and the Communist state."

It is not surprising, therefore, to learn that Communist representatives on the committee which after so much labor completed the Declaration of Human Rights, opposed its provisions.

For Communists do not believe in the rights of individual persons. In this country they make a pretense of believing in them in order to attract a following. In countries where they have power their works belie this pretense.

The new Declaration of Human Rights, which follows so closely our own traditional principles is alive world. All true and loyal Americans will uphold it and desire that every American—regardless of race, creed, or class—enjoy this freedom which is now recognized as belonging to all men the whole world over.

THE FAT OF FARM LAND

Washington D. C.—How about the American farmer? The 1944 farm year is a little behind 1947.

The farmers will be right up on their toes when January rings

the New Year bells.

The United States Department of Agriculture backs the good news that farmers are certain to have another profitable year and be able to continue to keep money enough ahead to spend for families needs, plus! But the conservative Department takes note that farmers everywhere are showing a general tendency to spend less freely. Farmers have long memories and know what hard times were in the 1930's.

Official statements show that farm expenses are higher than they ever were. But farmers aren't doing business the way they were in the 1930's. Farm machinery and equipment plus electricity motor, vehicles—and lots of things have revolutionized life on the farm.

The cotton farmers in the Mississippi Delta made good profits in 1943. So did dairymen in every part of the Nation. And the red meat of the Taft-Hartley

Law and the Wagner Act, blamed over to be claimed as a reform by the Democratic Congress.

Thus putting one end-one to gather skillful Senators and Repatch up a new combination law that will be all right, providing the labor bosses are not allowed to dictate the new law.

President Truman vetoed the Taft-Hartley Law twice, and the veto was overridden both times.

The outstanding feature of the action by Congress in both instances was that enough Democrats joined the Republicans to have the Taft-Hartley Act at a time when the President was selling "bloody murder."

Congress may let us hope, put the public welfare ahead of Democratic politics and make a statute that will protect the American economic system, insuring a square deal for employers and workers.

Such a law would make the big labor strikes unnecessary, because it would furnish protection to the two big elements in the American economic program for everybody—even the PEOPLE.

OUR SHRUNKEN MERCHANT

MARINE

The privately-owned American merchants fleet now stands at 1-

212 ships, according to a public item about shipping.

As to Government-owned vessels under charter the Federation of American Shipping reported

December 1, with 88 ships under charter in this category and notice of redelivery, but not yet redelivered to the Maritime Commission. This leaves according to present schedules a net of 386

Government-owned vessels to remain on charter to private operators and represents a decrease from the November 1 level of 412 vessels scheduled to continue bareboat operations.

As for the National Defense

Reserve Fleet, total number of vessels increased again in November from 1,002 to 1,154.
