A new fire chief's car

It has to be difficult to editorialize on a topic as insignificant as the purchase of a fire chief's car. However, this is a follow-up on one incident earlier this year when the item was not included in the municipal budget. No one has to stop the sale of purchasing new police cars to make them in every year. Yet, the new station wagon is currently driven by the chief of the fire department in a 1989 model.

Apparently, when budget turnover was not made in November, a small sliver must have showed up to the commissioners to come up with funds for a new vehicle. Both have been advertised and are to be tested on December 15. It looks like the fire chief will get a new car for Christmas. The Christmas hunch which will benefit the whole borough.

The Gift That Makes A Difference

There's something about this holiday season that I don't think we're used to yet. The weather has been unusually mild, and we've seen no signs of snow. As a result, the season has been a special time for caretakers.

There are millions of families around the world who, for the first time in their lives, will experience this holiday season. It's a time for giving, sharing, and spreading joy. The United Nations has declared this year as the International Year of the Child. It's a chance to focus on the needs of the world's children and work towards a better future for them. Let's make sure that the children of the world feel loved and supported during this time of year.

Political snow job

Members of our U.S. Congress have returned the "no-potus-opponent" of our National Legislative Chambers. Unfortunately, the collective members of Congress haven't done much to change that view. If anything, they have worked to make it worse.

Consider, for example, the recent Congressional squabble over the "affordability" of the new health care legislation. The Republicans have been pushing for all the changes to be included in the legislation, while the Democrats have been pushing for all the changes to be included in the legislation.

Worse, the members of Congress have continued to vote on questions that could have a significant impact on the American economy.

For example, the members of Congress have been voting on questions that could have a significant impact on the American economy.

State Police gear for holiday traffic

Capt. Charles L. Apgar, Superintendent of State Police, has announced that his department is always ready to provide any amount of available personnel to handle any traffic problems that may arise during the holiday season. The State Police have recently purchased new high-speed traffic control equipment, including a computerized traffic control system that will be used to relieve traffic congestion in high-volume areas such as the Willow Road and Route 208 intersections. These systems will greatly increase the efficiency of traffic control and reduce the likelihood of accidents during the holiday period. Drivers are encouraged to plan their travel routes and allow extra time for travel, especially in areas with heavy traffic.

Board considers request to convert station house

The Hawthorne Board of Adjustment refused to issue a permit to convert the old Elizabethtown railroad station house into a private residence, on the ground that such conversion would be contrary to the public interest. The board's decision was based on the following considerations:

1. The building is located on a busy street, and the conversion would create a safety hazard.
2. The station house is an historic landmark, and its conversion would detract from the town's historic character.
3. The proposed conversion would require the demolition of a valuable piece of property, and the town should try to preserve it for future use.

The board's decision was unanimous, and the property owner has said that he will appeal the decision to the courts.
