School budget will be introduced Tuesday

The Hawthorne 1970-71 school budget, which will be introduced at the February 15 meeting of the Board of Education at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium, will be considerably higher than the $121,212,054 education fund for the year ended June 30.

The figure is based on an estimated enrollment of 2,500 students and an $80,000 increase in state aid. This would bring the total budget to $151,212,054 for classroom expense and $17,212,054 for support services.

There is nothing definite about these figures, however. Board members that Pearl points out that the budget committee will meet Monday at 7:30 a.m. and the board will consider the budget introduction on Tuesday.

The 1970-71 budget includes $75,000,000 for classroom expense and $15,000,000 for support services.

The Genius of Jefferson

The Genius of Jefferson is often mentioned in connection with the White House that he designed. Many people believe that Jefferson was the architect of the White House. However, this is not entirely accurate. Thomas Jefferson was the third President of the United States, and it was during his presidency that the White House was completed.

Jefferson was born on April 13, 1743, in Virginia. He was a lawyer, diplomat, and author, and he is best known for his contributions to the American Revolution. He was also a developer of the concept of democracy and is considered one of the most important figures in American history.

Jefferson's influence on the United States can be seen in many aspects of American life, from the Declaration of Independence to the philosophy of the American Constitution. He is remembered as a truly great man who left a lasting legacy on the nation.

The Genius of the American Revolution

Jefferson's contributions to the American Revolution were significant. He was one of the Founding Fathers of the United States, and his ideas helped shape the American government.

Jefferson was a strong advocate for democracy and is known for his belief in the power of the people. He believed that the government should be designed to protect the rights of the people and that it should be responsive to the needs of the community.

Jefferson's ideas have had a lasting impact on the United States. His belief in democracy and the importance of individual rights is still an integral part of American culture.

The Genius of the American Constitution

Jefferson was also a strong supporter of the American Constitution. He believed that the Constitution was designed to protect the rights of the people and that it should be a living document.

Jefferson's ideas about the Constitution have had a lasting impact on the United States. His belief in the importance of individual rights is still an integral part of American culture.

The Genius of the American Revolution and the American Constitution

Jefferson's contributions to the American Revolution and the American Constitution have had a lasting impact on the United States. His ideas about democracy and individual rights are still an integral part of American culture.

In conclusion, Jefferson's contributions to the American Revolution and the American Constitution have had a lasting impact on the United States. His ideas about democracy and individual rights are still an integral part of American culture.

From Dill's Georgia college, comes news that the husband of Kathy Brown of Wayne Heights has been given his police badge.

The news was received by Kathy Brown's parents at their home in Wayne Heights. The husband, who has been serving in the Georgia State Police force for some time, was given the badge after completing a rigorous training program.

A review of his performance in the state police has been favorable and he has been promoted to the rank of sergeant. His current assignment is to the highway patrol division.

In Memoriam

Dr. William Masone, the first doctor to practice in Hawthorne, died in February 7, 1956. He was a graduate of Columbia University School of Medicine and had been a practicing physician in Hawthorne for more than 40 years, retiring in 1974. He was 70 years old.

His background

He received his medical education in New York, and at the New York School of Medicine and at the New York University College of Physicians and Surgeons. He was a member of the American Medical Association, the New York Academy of Sciences, and the New York State Medical Association.

Dr. Masone had been in practice in Hawthorne since 1916, and had been active in the community, serving on the medical staff of the Hawthorne Hospital for many years.

One of the doctors who attended the funeral was Dr. John O'Brien, a former classmate of Dr. Masone's at Columbia University.

A memorial service was held at the Church of the Good Shepherd in New York, where Dr. Masone was a member.

Hundreds of patients filed in during the week to pay their respects to the doctor, many of whom had been coming to his office for years. A large number of people paid their respects to the doctor's memory after he passed away.

Patient's words on his departure

One of the patients who attended the funeral was Mrs. John Smith, who had been a patient of Dr. Masone's for 15 years. She said, "Dr. Masone was a great doctor. He helped me through the dark times of my illness and I will never forget his kindness."
School budget will raise taxes 52 points

The Hawthorne School budget will include a 52-point increase in taxes, according to information released by the school administration. The budget, which must be approved by the Board of Education, is based on an estimated $15.4 million in revenue. The board has already approved the budget for fiscal year 1977-78. Re. Cricklitt, Groom, Meeter, Raa, Dr. Cisneros, Panepa favor the $15.4 million school budget.

The final figures include:

- $7,000,000 for salaries
- $5,400,000 for supplies
- $2,500,000 for utilities
- $1,000,000 for maintenance
- $600,000 for insurance
- $500,000 for capital outlay

The budget includes $1.4 million for debt service, which is a 52-point increase from the previous year. The budget also includes $1.4 million for debt service, which is a 52-point increase from the previous year.

Dr. William Misonnette

Death is a reality that is never easily accepted. Even when a terminal illness goes on unannounced, we cannot completely emotionally prepare for that final moment. It would be wise to harbor an editorial on our father's death, communicating the fact that we are not close to the topic. However, we have never been so close to our own sorrow, to the passing of other great Hawthorne people, and treat it so even at this moment. Those who would Dr. Misonnette's impact on us, we draw on now by statement made by Father D. F. M. Smith in the obituary. "There was no tears Bill Misonnette's life for the will, "penantly. Our father demanded greatness from himself and expected it from others.

When he began practice here more than 40 years ago, the family physician was a more than a medical operator. He was a social worker, a confidant, and an advisor, an friend, counseling to sit from those who had no money to pay. Furthermore he did not become so hung down in his long hours of work that he avoided all aspects of life. He was a devoted husband and father, a person who became involved in civic affairs, through his work on local boards and the county hospital board. We can often recall his statement, "I feel as if something good, and a heavy task." He was living proof of these words.

The depth of his compassion was known to all who were treated. Community experiences were related to his patients and friends during the past four years. Their stories give credence to the theory that the good experiences in life are the ones we remember most vividly.

We repeat Father D. F. M. Smith's words in his obituary on Tuesday, "Dr. Misonnette didn't know that a week or a day is what a majority was in the early days of his life. He transcended his earthly environment and went on to become a great American. In his memory the greats are as solid as the stones they stood on in the wallpapering.

On behalf of the entire family, we express our sincere sympathy for all. The family is given to the times of Dr. Misonnette's death. We thank all who stood by us and as all those who sent cards and remembered him in perpetual appreciation.

John Girgenti on health board

John A. Girgenti, a retired Superior Court Judge and a former Hudson County freeholder, was appointed to the board of health. Judge Girgenti will serve on the board for three years. He is a former head of the Board of Education and a former County Freeholder. "I'm very pleased to have Judge Girgenti on the board of health," said Dr. William Misonnette, chairman of the board. "He brings a wealth of experience and knowledge to the board. This is a great addition to the board of health." Judge Girgenti will serve on the board for three years. Public works department employees organize

The Board of County Commissioners voted Tuesday to merge the public works department with the county employees organization. The merger, which was approved in the annual organizational meeting of the county employees organization, follows an agreement reached between the county employees organization and the public works department. The agreement was reached as part of a settlement of a long-term dispute between the two departments over the employees' right to organize.

Don't be fooled by the low key campaign

With less than 20 days to go before the annual school election, and it is difficult to believe that a campaign even exists. This year, unlike past years, there are charges and countercharges in the absence of any real issues. Parents have achieved parity and the low profile method of election. Without press releases in the mass media, the voters are being shortchanged. They're missing the opportunity to become aware of the positions taken by each candidate on the issues.

What issues? We think this is a very important one — the fact that the school budget is raising taxes? It remains to be seen. To make matters worse, seven of the nine board members approve of the financial plan.

Under the leadership of board president Jack Van Eyk, the school board issued a press release telling us that they have no control over the increase in salary. Perhaps they have no control over the money they received. But someone on the Hackensack Board of Education has got to be involved in the school's budget. Furthermore, we are hearing from school officials that aides are staff and programs, our school system is planning to maintain the guidance office.

The only way for the voter to express his or her opinion is at the polls. More than just voting "no" on the school budget, make a decision about the candidates. While the next two weeks, there will be a lot of newsmakers. Among one of them, which is one of the candidates, and one of which has a major view of the budget.

No decision yet on Ambrose

The Board of Education, which recently dismissed Assistant Superintendent for Business Administration Robert D. Ambrose in late January, was given an order to replace him in time for the beginning of the spring term. A three-man panel of County Education Association president, Assistant Supervisor of Schools for Business Administration, and Assistant Superintendent for Business Administration was to determine the validity of the decision. The panel's decision was expected to be announced by mid-March. The Board of Education, which recently dismissed Assistant Superintendent for Business Administration Robert D. Letters to the Editor

February 26, 1976

Dear Editor:

Your article on the movie "Citizen Kane" by Orson Welles was not only fascinating but also very well written. I am a big fan of Welles' work and was delighted to see the critical acclaim it received. I also appreciate your comparison to other famous movies and directors. Your insights were thought-provoking and added depth to the discussion.

Sincerely,

Dear Editor:

I was interested to read your article on the movie "Citizen Kane" by Orson Welles. I completely disagree with your assessment of the film. I think it is a deeply flawed piece of work that fails to hold up to the standards of great cinema.

Sincerely,

Cooperative office education gives on-the-job training

Mrs. Elinor Brooks, business teacher at Hawthorne High School, discussed the Cooperative Office Education (COE) Program which was recently started at the school. This program allows high school students to work in the business offices of local firms for a period of four to six weeks, earning both academic credits and work experience.

Mrs. Brooks noted that the program is designed to provide students with real-world experience in business environments. Students are placed in offices of local firms where they can apply their academic knowledge in a practical setting.

The program is open to students in their junior and senior years, and they must meet certain academic requirements to be eligible. Students are assigned to specific firms based on their interests and skills, and they work under the supervision of both their school teacher and the business owner.

The COE Program has been well-received by students and employers alike. Many students have reported increased confidence and a better understanding of the business world after participating in the program.

Babysitting course completed

The Babysitting Institute of the Essex County Board of Education recently completed a course for 100 parents and their children, aged 8 to 12 years. The course was designed to teach young children how to care for younger siblings and was led by certified child care professionals.

The course covered topics such as safety, first aid, and basic childcare skills. Parents were also taught how to create a safe and healthy environment for their children while they were away at school or work.

The course was well-received by both parents and children, who reported increased confidence and a better understanding of childcare responsibilities.
