Coping with the cold crisis

Tights that through hardwoods are crawling with their cold in the wood, grass stalks are bending under the weight of snow. On Tuesday, the winds whipped through the town, making it feel colder than it actually was. Temperatures dropped to 30 degrees during the morning's high of 40 degrees. Snow fell throughout the day, accumulating only for those who had not cleared it. Many businesses and schools were forced to close early, including the Hawthorne Press.

As Monday, the government urged residents to stay indoors to reduce energy usage. The temperature is expected to drop to 20 degrees by Tuesday night, with wind chill making it feel even colder. Schools and businesses are being closed for the day. The National Weather Service issued a winter storm warning for the area.

Amendment sought for school budget appeal

The school budget appeal for the 2023-2024 school year was ruled unconstitutional by the New Jersey Superior Court. The ruling states that the appeal process is unnecessary and does not provide adequate protection for property owners. The school budget is now set to be approved by the school board in a vote on May 10th.

The school budget, which includes salaries for teachers and support staff, is expected to decrease by $2 million from last year. The district is hoping to raise $3 million through a bond referendum to fund capital improvements and technology upgrades.

Amendment by problem for school budget appeal

The amendment seeks to clarify the process for appealing the school budget, as well as to ensure that property owners are adequately protected. The amendment would allow for a public hearing before the budget is approved by the school board.

The amendment was introduced by Senator John Smith, who is a strong advocate for property owners' rights. He believes that the current process is too complex and does not provide adequate protection for property owners.

The amendment has been debated in committee and will be voted on by the full Senate in the coming weeks. If passed, it will be sent to the House of Representatives for approval.

It's local budget time again

February 11, 1977

Financial affairs and special funding require a New York's 375th celebration. A major event is the annual fiscal deliberations that are to be held this Thursday and Friday. The session will be characterized by the usualstmtents of the budget and the intense debate that is expected. The budget will be discussed in detail and the proposed expenditures will be reviewed. The session will be open to the public and members of the community are encouraged to attend.

Even though there are announcements of the budget or tax increases for the next fiscal year, some residents are concerned about the impact on their financial situation. The new tax obligations are expected to be minimal, as the city is committed to maintaining a balanced budget.

State lunch program drops to 50-50 funding

The much-anticipated lunch program for preschools that was to begin March 15th has been postponed. The preschools in the school district, it was learned, have failed to meet the state's requirements for the program. The state of New York has set a deadline of March 15th for the program to begin. The preschools will have to meet certain criteria, such as having a qualified nutritionist on staff, before they can participate in the program. If the preschools do not meet these requirements by March 15th, they will be unable to participate in the program until they do.

Budget subject to change

Yesterday was the deadline for the introduction of the school budget. The finance panel which was revealed, Tuesday night has not met the timetable. However any resistance to the $50 million budget presented now and the one that will show up on the ballot in March may be partially coincided. We caution our readers against talking to any of the figures in the price. They are subject to change without notice. It makes the job of budget preparation rough and some type of information programming. If so, blame it on the state legislature.

Most of these variable figures are a result of the "subsidized" work done in Tierrasanta. This is a partial list of some of the figures that may eventually have an effect on the budget. $35,000 for the removal of asbestos at the school, depending on whether or not the state can be proven that these figures are at a dangerous level. $42,000 for a school lunch program for the entire city contingent upon whether or not a state subsidy is forthcoming and the mandatory bursar is passed in the state legislature. $695,000 for the purchase of equipment in the present budget, depending on the outcome of a year-long struggle before the State Commission on Public Safety. This figure will affect a state-mandated budget cap of 4.5 per cent.

Then there are some other variables which the school board cannot control such as specials or minus $7000 (i.e. John W. Gardner)

The War of the Parts

Against the Whole

By John W. Gardner

Every President at the beginning of a new term has got to have a get-the-job-done program. For a wrongheaded one there will be the problem of a new charter, a change to a mayor. But the temptation to be caught in the same net of special interest that has confused his predecessor is not so easy.

The answer is that the school faces a certain amount of controversy-he must be able to gain support from his own administration. Let's call it a maximum budget. During the last two years, the school board has been criticized for failing to deal with special interest groups and with the minority. That's where the school board fails and where the school board is the most important of the issues. There's "there's"; there's "there's not."

In the past, the school board has been criticized for failing to deal with special interest groups, the minority, and the school board. That's where the school board fails and where the school board is the most important of the issues.

Citizen's help is essential

Citizen involvement is often an integral part of police and fire work. A simple phone call to report a fire or a crime often gives police and firemen the lead they need to handle a situation promptly. A call in time can prevent or minimize damage to a property or a life. The police and fire departments rely on the community to report incidents that may require their assistance. The more the community reports incidents, the better the service they receive.

How much life insurance is enough?

The question of how much life insurance is needed by an individual is a common one. It is important to consider the specific needs of each individual, including their financial situation, family obligations, and future goals. The amount of life insurance that is needed can vary widely depending on these factors. Generally, insurance policies are designed to provide a sum of money to the beneficiaries of the insured individual, in the event of their death. This can help to provide financial security for the family and to meet future needs.

Board opposes three-family use

The issue of three-family use as opposed to two-family use in the borough is being disputed by the Board of Adjustment at the next council meeting. The opposition, led by Mayor R. B. Laughlin, is primarily based on the argument that three-family use would lead to increased crime and vandalism. The proponents, led by Councilman John N. Kinnelon, argue that three-family use would actually decrease crime and vandalism by providing more homes for single people.

Fire destroys house

A fire at 364 Gladys Hill Road Saturday night caused an estimated $25,000 in damage. The house was destroyed, but no one was hurt. The fire started in the basement and spread to the second floor. The owner, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Smith, was away at the time of the fire. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

Candiates draw position

Two new candidates for office were drawn for positions prior to the February 21 council meeting. Councilman John N. Kinnelon was drawn for the District 8 position, and Councilman Charles J. Childers was drawn for the District 2 position. The candidates were drawn from a pool of ten applicants. The next council meeting will be held on March 7 at 8:00 p.m.

Water bonds sold at five 5% rate

Public hearings on a proposed five percent bond issue were held in Hawthorne. The bonds would be used to finance the construction of a new water treatment plant. The bond issue was approved by a vote of 8-1. The bond issue will be paid off over a 20-year period.

Financial sound

Last week's vote by the borough's water board was an endorsement of Hawthorne's sound financial policies. When many municipalities are on the verge of bankruptcy, Hawthorne doesn't share their situation. In fact, our municipality is a step above most towns which are selling bonds.

At last week's meeting of the Board of Commissioners, one board official made it a point to inform us that the interest rate we received on our investments was as high as any town in the state.

This means that the state continues to grow and maintain a strong position in the state's financial affairs. This is a good thing for the community as a whole.

What Do We Want From Our Leaders?

by John W. Gardner

The name of the 20th Century is change. It has been the greatest period of change since the Industrial Revolution. It has been a time of progress and growth. It has been a time to plan and to build.

It is time for us to have leaders who have the vision to lead us into the future. It is time for us to have leaders who have the ability to lead us.

We want leaders who have the vision to lead us.

The recent snowfall was a welcome experience for those who enjoy winter activities. Many people spent their days building snowmen, sledding, and skiing, taking advantage of the winter wonderland. One group is shown trying to put their snowmen back together after they were knocked over by a gust of wind. In the background, a large, snow-covered tree stands as a testament to the winter season. The group, consisting of four members, is posing proudly with their creation, ready to face the chilly weather.
