Parents reaffirm beliefs in Catholic School programs

February 2, 1978

To the Editor: Dr. T. D. Culleen, Director of Curriculum in Catholic Schools, states in his extensive study, "Parents' Beliefs and Attitudes toward Catholic Education," that parents are "the most important group of people in a child's education. They are the most influential, the most consistent, the most accessible, and the most thoughtfully placed to guide the child in the Catholic school system." This is a fact that is supported by the experience of most Catholic educators.

In my own experience, I have found that parents are the most important group of people in a child's education. They are the most influential, the most consistent, the most accessible, and the most thoughtfully placed to guide the child in the Catholic school system.

Do polls serve a valid purpose?

Do polls serve a valid purpose? That's a question the school board should answer after its next meeting through the results of a recent elementary school questionnaire.

In our day-to-day lives, we are bombarded by polls from news media, social media, and various other sources. The results of these polls can sometimes influence our opinions on a wide range of topics, from political decisions to personal beliefs.

However, the accuracy and reliability of polls can vary depending on factors such as sample size, sampling methods, and question design. It is crucial to critically evaluate the information provided by polls and to consider other sources of information to form a well-rounded understanding of a particular issue.

Do you agree or disagree with the statement that polls serve a valid purpose? Please share your thoughts in the comments section below.

Do Federal Workers Need to Be Protected From Political Pressures?

By John W. Gardner

If you’re a federal worker, wage of pay-scale issues may sound like a distant concern, but it’s something that affects you now and could affect you down the line. This is true because federal workers, like many other employees in the private sector, may be subject to political pressures that can impact their job security and well-being.

Federal workers are often considered to be in a unique position because they work for the government, which is Mongolian to represent the interests of the people. However, this can also make them vulnerable to political pressures, especially if they work in positions that are considered sensitive or controversial.

One example of this is the recent controversy surrounding the appointment of a new commissioner for the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Despite the fact that the new commissioner was named by a political party that is not his own, he was confirmed by a vote that was later overturned by a court.

This raises questions about the role of political pressure in the appointment process and the potential for conflicts of interest. It highlights the importance of protecting federal workers from political pressures that could compromise their ability to do their jobs effectively.

What do you think about the role of political pressure in the federal workforce? Please share your thoughts in the comments section below.

By Joe Raker

The Hawthorne Board of Education is expected to have a slate of three candidates.

Landlord fined $200 for leaking roof

By Newton S. Clay, Jr.

A Hawthorne landlord was fined $200 after being guilty of violation of the building code. The Housing Authority has been pressing the issue of the roof for some time. The case was brought to the attention of the Housing Authority by a tenant who reported that the roof was leaking. The Authority had previously warned the landlord, but the landlord failed to take any action. The Authority then filed a complaint with the city, and a hearing was held. The landlord was fined $200 and was ordered to repair the roof. The landlord appealed the decision, but the Appeals Court upheld the Authority's decision. The landlord has now repaired the roof and the tenant is pleased with the result.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor,

I want to commend you for your article on the Hawthorne landlord who was fined $200 for leaking roof. The Authority did a great job in bringing this issue to light. It is about time that landlords take responsibility for their properties.

Sincerely,

John Doe

Mahwah win - biggest one of the season

By Bob Haven

With only 2:30 to go in the game, and a close game hard fought, the Mahwah High School football team scored a come-from-behind last minute touchdown to win the game. The Bobcats, who entered the game as the number two team in the state, were able to get the win over the number one team in the state, and move closer to the top of the league standings.

The game was held in Mahwah High School's stadium, and was a tough battle between two powerful teams. The Mahwah defense was strong, but the Bobcats offense was able to overcome it with a well-executed play in the final seconds.

The Mahwah win is the biggest one of the season for the Bobcats, and it moves them closer to the top of the league standings. The team is now looking forward to their next game, hoping to continue their winning streak.

High scoring performances in Li’l League

By Bob Haven

In the Li’l League, the high scoring performances continued as several young players showed off their skills on the field. The games were filled with action, and the young players were able to score some impressive points.

The highest scoring performance of the week was by player Mike Fox of the Tigers, who scored 35 points in a game against the Cardinals. Mike Fox has been a standout player for the Tigers this season, and his performance in this game was no exception.

Other impressive performances were seen in the games between the Blue Jays and the Pirates, where the Blue Jays came out on top with a score of 21-14. The Pirates made a strong effort, but were unable to catch up to the Blue Jays.

The season is still young, and many young players have yet to show their true potential. However, the high scoring performances seen in this week’s games are a promising sign for the future of these young athletes.

Lead changes 11 times before Bullets beat Nets

The Bullets and the Nets played an exciting game where lead changes occurred 11 times. The game was filled with action and intensity, and it was not until the final minutes that the Bullets were able to secure the victory.

The game started with the Nets taking the lead, but the Bullets quickly responded with a three-pointer from Michael Jordan. The teams then went back and forth, with each team gaining the lead multiple times. The closest the Bullets came to securing the lead was with 8 minutes remaining in the game, but the Nets were able to retake it.

The final minutes of the game were the most exciting, with both teams pushing for the lead. The Bullets were finally able to secure the lead with 2 minutes remaining, and they held on to it for the rest of the game.

The game was a testament to the skill and athleticism of both teams, and it was a great treat for the fans who came to watch.

For more information on upcoming games and events, please check the team’s website or follow them on social media.

The Roar of Industry vs.
The Whisper of the Citizen
By John W. Gardner

Just about every informed American knows about the citizen groups that have been formed to resist government plans that they think will be injurious to their welfare or enjoyment of the natural environment. Similar groups have been formed to protest against industry plans. These two forces are in constant conflict. They fight both to halt government programs that they believe will be injurious to them. They want Congress to pass more environmental laws. They want the maximum number of programs to be halted or stopped. They want to protect their homes and health from pollution. They want the maximum number of programs to be halted or stopped. They want to protect their homes and health from pollution.

A former Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, John Gardner is the Founding Chairman of the Citizens Commission.

Parking lot is first step to solving the problem

The lack of parking on Diamond Bridge Avenue has been a problem in the central business district for many years. One had to either drive a business transaction in the area or realize how difficult it could be to park a car near the business.

As a result, many community groups, including the Hawthorne Chamber of Commerce, have been discussing the necessity of creating a parking lot in the area. This issue is not new, and the community has been aware of the need for a parking lot for some time.

The establishment of a parking lot in the area is a necessary step to solving the problem. It will provide a convenient and accessible parking area for both residents and visitors to the community.

Federal funds needed to repair potholes

Although we oppose the attitude of looking to the federal government to solve every problem that exists in the local level, we realize that federal relief is necessary in emergency situations. The pothole problem, which has resulted in most towns from the severe winter of 1978, is definitely creating an unsanitary dilemma for municipal budgets.

We welcome the news that the Congress has approved $250 million for emergency repair of roads damaged by severe winter conditions. New Jersey will receive about $5 million of this total, and we hope the state will use this money wisely to repair the potholes in our area.

We urge the support of our New Jersey senators in this behalf. Perhaps the bill could be provided to deal only with the areas that have a proven need for help in this area.

While we oppose the attitude of looking to the federal government to solve every problem, we have to drive to neighboring towns to see how much worse it is in other places. Lafayette Avenue Extension across from the Hawthorne border is a prime example. Since there is little to do that can change our driving to Hawthorne, potholes in other areas remain an ailment to the safety of motorists and the maintenance of their vehicles.

The potholes are not confined to local municipalities for emergency repair would benefit all of us and not just a select few.

Emergency fuel payments available for senior citizens

Elderly residents of Passaic County who meet established guidelines may receive up to $500 in emergency fuel payments, according to Edward A. De Santis, director of the Passaic County Board of Social Services, and Betty Addin, director of the department, Office of Elderly Affairs.

The payment program is a continuation of the $2,000,000 allotment given to the county in August. Both agencies have joined in a cooperative effort to alleviate a $3,500,000 fuel crisis from the New Jersey Division of Aging. This combined effort was brought to the attention of Local Lodge President, President of the Passaic Social Services Board, and the Mayor. Each agency has been able to identify the problem and work closely together to provide assistance.

Senior citizens over the following criteria is the eligible to receive up to $500 in fuel aid for the winter of 1979-80. As a general rule, the maximum amount to be received for the warmer months will be $200. See the chart for a list of requirements.

The agencies have been notified that all payments will be made to the social services department, Office of Elderly Affairs, Division of Aging, by October 15. By that date, all applications will be processed and payments made to those who qualify.
