Tentative $7.5 million school budget introduced

As the school year progressed, the budget for the upcoming fiscal year was discussed and revised. The initial budget was presented to the Board of Education at a meeting held on March 1st. Following extensive discussion and debate, the final budget was adopted at the May 15th Board of Education meeting.

The budget includes funding for several key initiatives, including the expansion of the library, the purchase of new technology, and the implementation of a new curriculum. The budget also includes provisions for a reduction in administrative costs and the elimination of certain programs.

The budget has been approved and is now awaiting approval from the New Jersey Department of Education. Once approved, the budget will be presented to the public for review and comment.

Veto override on gun sentencing bill was an historic event

Monday's victory in the state Senate was a bright spot for the district Attorney's Office. The Democratic majority in the Senate has just given the District Attorney the authority to sentence criminal gun offenders in ways that he believes are needed to keep the public safe. The override vote means that the District Attorney can now impose sentences that are more consistent with the seriousness of the crimes committed. The bill, which was sponsored by Democrat John McKeon and cosponsored by the Republican-led Senate, is the first of its kind in the state and will help to keep guns off the street and protect communities from future gun violence.

Thumbs Up

In yesterday's news, the Pennsylvania Department of Transportation announced that it would be closing the Route 202/Route 611 interchange in Haverford Township for a week due to construction. The closure will allow for improvements to the interchange, including the installation of a roundabout, which will improve safety and reduce congestion. This is a much-needed improvement that will benefit both motorists and pedestrians in the area.

- Approval of the contract with the law firm of Johnson & Associates for legal services

The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. and is open to the public. All residents are encouraged to attend.

Fire vehicle sought

By Robert Gonzalez
Edgewater — The Edgewater Fire Department is seeking to purchase a new vehicle to replace the old one that was purchased 15 years ago. The new vehicle will be used for emergency response, including medical emergencies.

The department is currently operating with a 1986 Ford F-550 ambulance, which is no longer able to meet the demands of modern emergency response.

According to Fire Chief John O’Dwyer, the new vehicle will be used to transport patients to the hospital and will be equipped with advanced life support equipment.

The department has received a grant from the state, which will cover the majority of the cost of the new vehicle. The remaining amount will be covered by the department’s budget.

The vehicle is expected to arrive in early March and will be put into service immediately.

No more free water for Manchester Regional

By Eve Enriquez
Manchester — The Manchester Regional School District has announced that it will no longer provide free water to students.

The decision was made after a review of the district’s water supply system, which revealed that the water quality did not meet the required standards.

According to Superintendent of Schools John Doe, the district has been working with the state Department of Environmental Protection to improve the water quality.

The decision to stop providing free water to students has been met with mixed reactions. Some parents have praised the district for its commitment to student health, while others have expressed concern about the cost of providing water to students.

The district has also announced that it will provide bottled water to students who need it.

Paterson to provide dog wardens services

By Eve Enriquez
Paterson — The Paterson Municipal Court has announced that it will provide dog warden services to the city.

The dog wardens will be responsible for enforcing the city’s animal control laws, including licensing and rabies vaccination requirements.

The services will be provided by the Paterson Animal Control Unit, which is staffed by certified animal control officers.

The city council has approved a budget for the dog wardens services, which will be funded through the city’s animal control fees.

The dog wardens will begin their duties on March 1. All residents are encouraged to call the animal control unit at 973-353-3500 with any questions or concerns.

Fuel-switching is no nickel-and-dime proposition

By Eve Enriquez
Newark — The city has announced that it will switch to solar power for all of its municipal operations.

The switch will be made in phases, starting with the city’s parking garages, which are planned to be completed by the end of the year.

The decision was made after a review of the city’s energy consumption, which revealed that the city was spending a significant amount of money on natural gas.

The switch to solar power will not only save the city money, but it will also help reduce the city’s carbon footprint.

The city has already begun the process of acquiring the necessary equipment and has set a goal to complete the project by the end of 2022.

The project is expected to save the city $1 million per year in energy costs.

Vehicle mix-up may result in license revocation

Product Test — Barbara P. Berman of Brooklyn, New York, was accidentally mailed a mail-order radio station show to which she never subscribed. She was paid the fee in advance and requested a refund. However, she was informed that she would have to pay for the radio station to have it returned. Barbara was upset and decided to take action. She wrote a letter to the radio station, explaining what had happened. The radio station, however, refused to refund her money. She then contacted the Better Business Bureau and was referred to the state attorney general’s office. Barbara was eventually able to receive her money back.

Janet Ver Voom replaces Jean Hughes

Janet Ver Voom replaces Jean Hughes as the new host of the popular radio show "让您满意". The show, which airs on a local radio station, has been a hit with listeners for years. Jean Hughes, who has been the host for the past two years, has decided to move on to other opportunities. Janet Ver Voom, who has been a regular guest on the show, has been chosen to take over as the new host.

For every degree you lower your normal thermostat setting, you save 3% on your heating bill.

SAVE WEAR & TEAR!

Changing the setting up and down frequently only causes wear and tear on your equipment, and may result in higher heating bills. An automatic house thermostat can change the setting for you.

SAVE ENERGY!

The less energy you use today, the less we will depend on foreign oil supplies in the future. And America needs your help to gain energy independence.

Day 444... the hosts are free...

Day 444... they're free and all across the nation — radio, online, and the homes of fanatics. Today, the 52 American hostages were released after 444 days of captivity. The news has been met with joy and relief by many, but for others, the news has been met with mixed emotions.

A few openings listed in Youth Symphony

One of the highlights of the week was the opening of the Youth Symphony's season. The orchestra performed to a packed house, with highlights including Beethoven's Symphony No. 5 and Tchaikovsky's 1812 Overture. The performance was met with热烈 applause and enthusiastic reviews.

Wrestlers rout Ramsey for first time in nine years

January 23, 1981

By Donna Johnson

February 9th was the first time in 9 years that Eau Claire's girls wrestling team came away from Ramsey with a victory. The Rams were defeated in a match considered to be the game of the year so far, but Wednesday night's match was the girls sectional championship meet, and the Rams lost to the Chieftains 62-18.

The meet was held at the school, with the competition divided into the 112, 122, 132, 142, 152, and 160 class divisions. The wins were distributed as follows: 112: 1-5, 122: 1-6, 132: 1-7, 142: 1-6, 152: 1-6, 160: 1-6.

Hawthorne's minimum state aid for 1981-1982 would be reduced from $42,203 to zero.

The Hawthorne Board of Education approved reduced state aid to the school district, which is expected to result in a significant decrease in the amount of financial aid available to the school district. The Board of Education approved a request for reduced state aid, which will result in a decrease in the amount of financial aid available to the school district.

The school district is facing a fiscal crisis due to the reduction in state aid. The district is seeking ways to reduce expenses and increase revenue in order to meet its financial obligations.

School board protests loss of state funding

The Hawthorne Board of Education has approved a resolution protesting the loss of state funding. The resolution was approved unanimously and calls for the state to reinstate funding levels.

School board members expressed concern about the impact of the loss of state funding on the school district. They noted that the school district relies heavily on state funding for its operations and that the loss of funding will have a significant impact on the quality of education provided to students.

The school district is currently working with the New Jersey Department of Education to explore options for addressing the funding gap.

Withdrawal of state aid - reneging on a promise

It's official. The recently-elected Governor Byrne was preparing to eliminate minimum aid to local school districts in New Jersey.

The withdrawal has been called a "freeze" on aid to local schools. This freeze will cost the state $120 million in revenue over the next four years, and is expected to reduce school budgets by $1 billion dollars.

The action is a departure from the long-standing tradition of supporting local schools. Governor Byrne has said that the freeze is necessary to ensure that the state's schools are financially sound.

The freeze has been met with widespread opposition from local school districts and parents. Many are concerned that the freeze will result in cuts to essential programs and services.

Some are calling for a referendum on the issue, while others are considering legal action. The move has also sparked criticism from national education organizations.

Supreme Court reverses decision in custody case

by Norman Schmelter

The Supreme Court has reversed the decision of the state's high court in the case of the natural parents of the newborn child in the case.

The appeal court ruled that the baby's best interests were served by allowing the biological parents to regain custody of the child.

Chief Justice Robert C. Johnson, who wrote the opinion in the case, said the court's decision is in the best interests of the baby.

The majority of the court, however, disagreed, saying the decision to award custody to the biological parents was in the best interests of the child.

Justice Sandra Day O'Connor, who wrote the dissenting opinion, said the court's decision is in the best interests of the child.

The case involves a custody dispute between a married couple and the biological parents of their child. The court ruled that the biological parents should regain custody of the child.
