Hawthorne Hills hearing on Tuesday

by Donna Rizio

July 8th is the scheduled date for the hearing on Hawthorne Hills, an application for the construction of a 209 unit Planned Unit Development. The complex will consist of 86 one family residences and 123 town house residences on a 70 acre lot adjacent to Nelson Avenue, including part of the Sam Braen Quarry.

The property is zoned as a R-5 zone, which prohibits more than eight units to be attached to any two story house.

Preliminary drawings for the project have been delayed by objections concerning traffic. The original plan included one road leading to the complex on the hill. It was rejected because engineers cited the lack of a southern end road that would complement the northern end road — Nelson Avenue.

A second draft was rejected because a proposed extension of Warburton Avenue had too steep a grade, according to the Passaic County Planning Board. Pluymers & Associates are the Hawthorne Hills engineers.

The third draft was compiled to accommodate traffic necessities and regulations. Five separate lots of land were purchased for the project, and will allow for two roads to run parallel to Goffle Road, connecting Nelson Avenue with Mazur Place. Tentative names of the streets are Brownstone Terrace and Hillock Avenue.

The Rhodes Agency in Hawthorne acted as brokers, with Joseph Troy as manager of the real estate department. Property was purchased from Sam Braen, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McThomas, Ruth McFarland, Sam Puglise and Catherine McFarland.

The applicant is seeking site plan approval plus variances in seven categories. Five lots do not meet the required 100 foot frontage for single family lots, so will require variances. Two lots do not meet the required 100 foot depth for single family lots.

Varying front setback for several lots do not meet the required distance.

One lot only has 25 feet of the required side setback of 50 feet. Six lots do not meet the regulation for a 25 foot distance to the curbline. Only 17 feet is provided on these lots.

In addition a variance is sought for landscaping to permit a 16 foot wide strip rather than the 25 foot wide strip located along the borough boundary line. For the off-street parking regulations, the applicant proposes to use each one-family house driveway and each townhouse driveway as one parking space for that unit or lot.

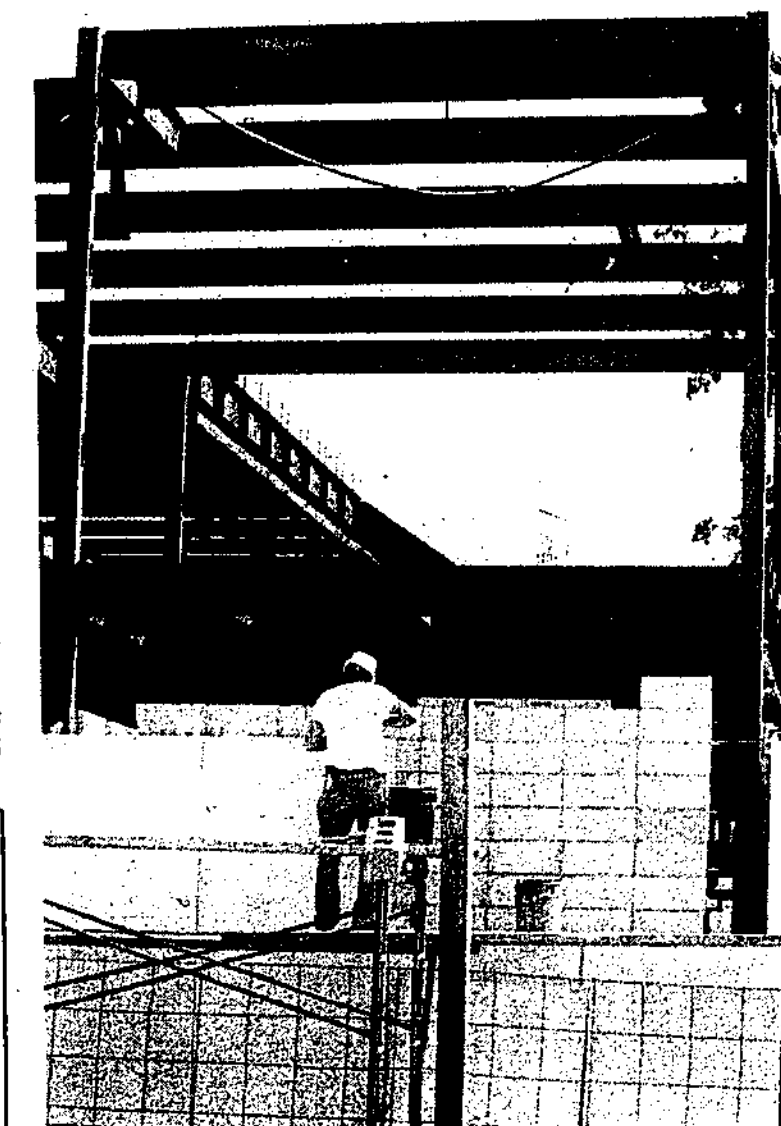

The borough is awaiting a report from the soil conservation district that encompasses Essex, Passaic and Hudson counties. The district guards against erosion from large-scale construction projects.

The Hawthorne Hills hearing will begin at 8 pm before the Planning Board in the municipal building meeting room at 15 Garfield Avenue.

Water problem lessens, but restrictions remain

Despite the lessening of the water situation, the Borough's Public Works Department plans to continue the restriction of alternate days of outdoor water use by local residents. Water supply is at an adequate level in Hawthorne, but the alternate system is being maintained as a means of conservation in case of another hot spell.

Public works officials feel that it will not be detrimental to anyone to water their lawns or gardens every other day. The system allows residents with odd numbered addresses to water on odd days and vice versa for even days.

Work progresses at the new borough hall. At Monday's work session the commissioners approved a nine-month extension of their lease at 15 Garfield Avenue at a rate of $5 per square foot, an increase of $1 over the rate for the past two years.

New health inspector on the job

by Donna Rizio

Mary Codispoti, Hawthorne's new health inspector, began her job with the borough on July 1st. The position, which has been vacant since October 1979, entails the inspection of all establishments dealing with food, such as restaurants, taverns, hospitals, camps and schools; the administering of food and water samples; and investigation of public complaints concerning health safety.

Codispoti, a sanitarian, is a qualified health inspector. She holds a BA in health education community health from Montclair State College and is presently working towards a master's degree in health education.

Prior to her new position, she was the sanitary inspector for the Paterson Health Department and Garfield Board of Health. Her training included internships with the Paterson Health Department, Wayne Board of Health, and Cook College, Rutgers, where she received visual emissions certification. She also successfully completed a six-week training program with the Teaneck Health Department.

Codispoti, a resident of Paterson, is very involved with community health efforts. She was a member of the programming and publicity committee in the Health Professions Association, and was involved in the coordination of the annual health fair at Montclair State College. She also does volunteer work with the mentally retarded.

In her spare time, Codispoti enjoys all types of sports, including racquetball, softball, swimming and fishing. Another hobby is ceramics.

Her future goal is for an administrative position in a health related area.

School board creates administrative post

At its meeting of June 25, the Hawthorne Board of Education approved the establishment of a new position entitled, administrative assistant to the superintendent. The following is a press release issued by the board.

Dr. Frank P. Chiofalo, Jr., superintendent of schools, outlined to the board the need for this appointment. He specifically addressed the constant increase of paperwork as required by the State Department of Education and the need for improved avenues of communication between the school district and the community. His greatest concern was that much of the workload which should be assumed at the district office level is presently being carried by the building administrators. He felt that the paramount responsibility of building administration is to direct and insure the smooth operation of their buildings without being hampered by district level duties.

Chiofalo stated, "It is my feeling that the person for this position exists within our present staff". He continued with the philosophy that successful internal candidates should be "acknowledged whenever possible". The superintendent also plans to standardize curriculum and all other instructional needs so that they are universal and continuous in nature so as to provide programs that equally prepare students from all buildings.

The school board had originally considered the appointment of this position when the 1980-81 budget was constructed. However, this item was deferred until the need for such an appointment could be evaluated by the new superintendent and the funds necessary for such a position could be identified. Calling the need "critical", Chiofalo stated "An effective superintendent must be visible — he must be available to deal with the problems of the district without having to close his door to the staff and the public because of overwhelming paperwork that must be completed, some of which could be shared with an assistant."

The new administrative assistant will also be expected to seek out and apply for state and federal grants never before available to Hawthorne due to the lack of time necessary to identify and research the district's qualifications for such grants. The Board of Education expects to appoint the new administrator before the opening of school in September.

Complaint dismissed on discontinuance of electricity

Three theft charges against Amos McClendon of Paterson were referred directly to the Grand Jury Thursday night in Municipal Court. McClendon was present in court, but the public defender said he had arranged for, but did not show up for the preliminary hearing.

Also referred to the Grand Jury was a charge against Kenneth Speiser, 13 Beam Place, Haledon of distribution of a controlled dangerous substance. A preliminary probable cause hearing to determine if the charge was warranted, was waived by Speiser's attorney.

A theft charge against Anthony Percarpio, Jr. of 21 Harrison Place, was referred back from the Grand Jury to the local court. The original complaint charged Percarpio with knowingly receiving stolen property (carpeting) of a value of $800.

The county recommended the charge be downgraded to receiving stolen property of a value less than $200. The complaint was amended and therefore falls under the jurisdiction of the municipal court.

Percarpio entered a guilty plea to the amended complaint and was fined $200.

Carmela Aparo of 14 Serafin Place, Glen Rock, was found not guilty of a charge that she permitted the discontinuance of electricity service to tenants at 589 Lafayette Avenue, by not paying the bill for the service.

Judge Donald Reenstra dismissed the complaint against her because according to evidence presented in the case, she was not the proper defendant. The electric meter is under the name of CAM Realty, and although Aparo said she was the owner of that corporation, the complaint being signed against Aparo "as an individual is improper." The complaint should have been issued to the proper defendant CAM Realty.

Sentencing for a charge in which Aparo was found guilty operating a rooming house without a license was postponed for a week, in order for borough officials to determine whether, as Aparo promised, the last tenant would be moved out by the end of the month.

Reenstra said he would take that information into consideration when deciding the penalty for the offense. Aparo has been found guilty four times previously for the same offense.

Two borough residents were found guilty of charges that they allowed their dogs to run at large. Both received the minimum fine of $10 and $10 costs - the court's policy for the first offense of that statute.

Ethel Kolenut of 75 Sherman Avenue, whose Saint Bernard allegedly attacked borough resident Daniel Zauer, 99 Lee Avenue while walking his dog, said that her dog was chained in her back yard and she didn't know how it had gotten loose. Zauer was knocked to the ground and injured in the incident and his dog was killed.

The other defendant, Richard Ragickas, 2 Grand Avenue said he was with his dog in the back yard, when it ran into a neighbor's yard, after being attracted by another dog.

Edward Campbell, 186 May Street, was found guilty of violating the Passaic County Park curfew, for which he was fined $10. He was also convicted of a disorderly persons offense for shooting off fireworks and fined an additional $25.

Daria Hoffman

under the gavel

Ralph Mendillo, 51 Third Avenue, who was charged with possession of under 25 grams of a controlled dangerous substance (marijuana) was granted a conditional discharge by Judge Reenstra since it was the first such offense for the 18-year-old borough resident.

He was placed under one year of supervised probation. Upon completion of the probationary period, if the terms and conditions have been satisfactorily fulfilled, the complaint will be dismissed. Hearing of another charge against Mendillo - criminal mischief - was postponed for two weeks.

Ridgewood resident Leigh Glazer was released from a year of supervisory treatment, having fulfilled the terms of the probation.

Borough resident Stephen Ziffer was found guilty of making construction alterations on his 62 Passaic Avenue home without obtaining the required building permit.

Ziffer explained that he changed a window, and replaced decks on the front and back of his house and didn't realize he needed a permit. Construction official Fred Metzler said that once he discovered Ziffer was doing carpentry work on his house, he sent a letter to Ziffer advising him that he would be given 15 days to obtain the permit. He issued the summons after 15 days when Ziffer had still not obtained the permit.

Ziffer was fined $100 and $15 court costs for the violation.

Wyckoff resident Peter Caywood was fined $300 and $15 costs when he was found guilty of driving while his license was revoked.

A 30 day jail sentence was suspended on the request of Caywood's attorney Adolph Galluccio who assured Reenstra that a suspended jail sentence would be a sufficient deterrent to discourage future offenses by Caywood, who has been convicted of the same offense several times previously.

Caywood was charged an additional $25 for contempt of court for not appearing in court on dates he was previously summoned.

Joseph Dinkins, Jr. of Paterson was fined $200 and $15 court costs, the minimum fine allowable, for driving while his license was revoked.

Juan Montero of Paterson was found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident. He was fined $35 and $15 costs.

A reckless driving charge against Elmwood Park resident Jeffrey A. Knight was amended to careless driving. He was found guilty of the amended charge and was fined $25 for the violation.

Domenico Localzo, 319 Wagaraw Road, was found guilty of driving his moped with a passenger. He was fined $10 for the violation of the statute which states that a motorized bicycle should carry only the operator.

Genway Corporation, 185 Lafayette Avenue, was fined $10 for being in possession of an unregistered automobile.

More Americans killed driving last year than in the Revolution

More Americans were killed and injured on our Nation's highways during July of 1979 than in all the campaigns of the War of Independence, according to the New Jersey State Safety Council.

The American Revolution was a bitter and costly war. Battles raged for eight years, from 1775 to 1783, killing 4,435 and wounding 6,188 Americans.

In July of 1979 - 31 days - 4,710 Americans died in highway crashes and 170,000 were injured. During the one day Independence holiday, 164 were killed and 8,800 were injured.

These are not cold statistics to be read in a history book. They are people, warm and laughing, friends, relatives or neighbors — or were.

Our 1980, 108-hour celebration beginning at 6:00 pm Thursday, July 3, ending at midnight Sunday, July 6, can set a record for saving lives if drivers observe the following:

Drive a vehicle that is in the best possible mechanical condition — including the tires.

Enjoy driving. Do not let frustration or anger spoil the trip. Emotions can cloud judgement and cause careless driving.

Observe the "rules of the road." Be considerate of other drivers.

And, if you toast America on its birthday, do so with less than one ounce of alcohol per hour. To be safe, do your toasting in the back yard.

The glorious Fourth... then and now

by Kathryn Lindeman
Smithsonian News Service

"The glorious Fourth?" Of course not. "The Fourth" is firm in the national mind as the synonym of independence. But July 2 could well have been the nation's birthday, and for a moment 204 years ago John Adams truly thought it would be.

It was on July 2, 1776, that the Continental Congress, meeting in a hot, humid Philadelphia, came to an inevitable but anguished decision — one that Adams told the patriots "rolls in on us like a torrent." Although the Declaration of Independence was pending before the angered Congress, the delegates first voted on the crucial principle of separation contained in a resolution proposed by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia. Its words tell the story:

"...these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States...and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved."

The vote on the Lee resolution, so momentous because of its daring challenge to mighty Britain, prompted Adams to write his wife Abigail on July 3, "I am apt to believe that (July 2) will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival."

That, of course, was not to be. On July 4, after making a few minor changes, the Congress approved the Declaration of Independence, which Jefferson and four other delegates had been drafting since June 11. It was much more detailed, listing the grievances against the crown, and it was blessed with Jefferson's ringing phrases: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal..."

And so the commitment to independence became official on July 4, and it is that date that became fixed in American history and legend as the beginning of the new nation. The Declaration was, however, not read from Independence Hall until July 8, and not until July 19 did Congress vote to have the document signed by the states' delegates to the Continental Congress.

In this letter to Abigail, Adams displayed no uncertainty, predicting that in years to come independence would be marked by "...pomp and parade, with shows, games and sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other..."

Yet the first anniversary would have gone without notice had it not been for a Philadelphia resident who realized that the one-year mark was approaching. Celebration plans were quickly pulled together and, according to an account by Adams, bells rang all day, bonfires and fireworks lit up the night and 13-gun salutes from warships in the harbor tore the air. A mid-afternoon dinner in a local tavern was accompanied by music and toasts. That was followed by a parade of soldiers and the lighting of candles in city windows.

As the revolutionary army disbanded, soldiers returned home and pioneers began moving West, the idea of celebrating the Fourth spread to other areas of the new nation.

However, "by the time of the 50th anniversary in 1826, many were questioning the way of celebrating independence," according to sociologist Shirley Cherkasky. By then, U.S. leaders believed there should be more meaningful observances than the custom of allotting an extra ration of rum to the soldiers.

A special celebration was planned for July 4, 1826 — it would not follow the usual style of "frying chickens, firing away damaged powder of fuddling our noses over tavern wine," as one newspaper put it. Instead, dignitaries who had taken part in the events of July 1776 were invited to Philadelphia for commemorative ceremonies. Ironically, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams, who had declined the honor because of ill health, both died on that July Fourth, exactly 50 years after approval of the Declaration.

A number of customs that began with the early celebrations in Philadelphia continued for a century or more. A public reading of the Declaration of Independence, for one, was a popular event. Orations and parades also were customary. Soon orations turned into political speeches, and campaign promises by the candidates. Traditionally, Fourth of July festivities have been used as a testing ground for politicians kicking off their campaigns.

Of course, fireworks of one sort or another have been popular. Independence Day attractions for more than 200 years, since the time of the early bonfires and lighting of candles in Philadelphia. But firecrackers and other explosives in the hands of children and amateurs eventually came under attack from community leaders who called for a "safe and sane Fourth." By the 1950s, many states had outlawed the use of private fireworks, and municipal authorities were presenting the displays.

The Victorian idea of excess pervaded the 100-year anniversary in 1876 and helped to bring a resurgence in patriotic celebrations of the holiday. An elaborate international exposition of arts and manufacturing and products of farm and mine, including exhibits from more than 50 foreign countries, was organized on 284 acres of Philadelphia's Fairmount Park, demonstrating that the U.S. had become a major industrial and economic power.

During the 20th century, particularly after World War II, the holiday became firmly established as a family event. Picnics, barbecues and fish fries have taken the place of the customary recitations, patriotic speeches and long-winded oratory — except for the 1976 Bicentennial during which just about any kind of commemorative activity could be found somewhere in the country.

But whatever way Independence Day is celebrated, John Adams, after all, was only two days off the mark when he wrote Abigail: "The Second of July, 1776 will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America."

Third consecutive Barnum title won

by Tony Pagnozzi

As the Hawthorne Caballeros stood on the field during retreat this weekend, they snapped in salute to recognize their first place victory. The Cabs had defended their third consecutive Barnum Festival title. Though they began their season slowly, losing to the Reading Buccaneers and N.Y. Skyliners in earlier competitions, the Cabs began their uphill climb to that coveted DCA World Crown.

On June 21, the week before the Barnum Festival competition, they defeated the Sunrises by an impressive 8½ points, chalking up their first win of the 1980 season. Following this overwhelming victory, the hometown corps realized what had to be done and how they were to achieve that certain drive needed for future competitions.

They then went on to defeat the N.Y. Skyliners in Bridgeport Conn., the home of the Barnum Festival celebration. Coming on the field one by one, the audience appeared impressed by the size of the corps and when they began their show, the crowd was even more astonished. They continued into their drill bringing the audience to its feet with what seemed to be countless ovals.

The Cabs' show had an even greater appeal when the color guard unleashed its highly improved work, consisting of a series of rifle and flag exchanges that were not common in any of their shows until this year. The drum line ripped through their parts with a power that could be felt in the stands. It made everyone take notice of the underlying force that they harbored in the sticks.

The horn line thundered, as they maneuvered across the field from pattern to pattern. Blaring from one song to the next they did justice to their complicated and potent musical book. As the Caballeros brought their show to a climax, they also brought the audience to its feet. When they exited the field, the crowd's applause grew even louder. The Cabs had left the audience with an impression of a style that was distinctly theirs.

Next to compete were the Long Island Sunrises, followed by the N.Y. Skyliners and finally the Conn. Hurricanes. Each corps had seen what the competition was and what they were up against. As they assembled on the field for retreat and the scores were announced, not one of them had surpassed what the Caballeros had done. The Sunrises finished a disappointing fourth, the Hurricanes third and the Skyliners had taken second place. The Cabs had marched off with their third consecutive title.

Though they haven't defeated the Reading Buccaneers, their main competition so far this season, the Hawthorne Caballeros are on the move. The Cabs have a lot to look forward to. This season's production with its visual and musical appeal, will leave a lasting impression and after a few more strenuous rehearsals and the right amount of polish, there's only one thing that can beside... Reading, watch out!

Cafeteria pact signed

Cafeteria workers representatives and the Board of Education signed a three-year agreement at the close of the school year. Salaries will be increased 35 cents per hour for the first two years and 40 cents per hour the third year. A $5 per year increase will be allotted for the uniform and shoe allowance. Pictured from left are Dr. Frank P. Chiofalo, superintendent of schools; Frank Matthews, board president; Linda Missonette, chairperson of the board's negotiating team; Jeannette Hartog, Eleanor Rizzo and Ann Sisti of cafeteria negotiations representatives.

Fireworks warning issued

With the July 4th weekend arriving, so is the threat of injuries from the use of illegal fireworks. The Hawthorne Police Department urges all borough citizens, adults as well as minors, to keep the holiday safe by not using the dangerous explosives. Although safety, not punishment is the main objective of the police department, all violations will be prosecuted in the interest of maintaining that safety. Police Chief V.J. Mangiafico reminds borough residents that possession of any kind of fireworks, not only their use, is prohibited by law. In addition, parents who are aware that their children are in possession of fireworks, can be charged as well.

Lions capture midget league championship

Behind a complete team effort, which was one of the team's qualities during the entire season, the undefeated Hawthorne Lions' Club (19-0) swept Granny's Chicken two games to capture the 1980 Hawthorne Midget League championship.

Every player on the team had something to do with our winning season," Lions' manager Alex Wallington said. "We played well all year, especially defensively where we were very tight. We played our best and that's all you can ask for."

After taking the initial encounter of the two-game playoff, 7-4, the Lions' took a thrilling 13-12 victory in the second game for the title. Trailing 12-10 in the bottom of the sixth inning of the second game, the Lions rallied for three runs. The key hit was a line drive two-run single into center field by Chuck Dolan, driving in the tying and winning runs.

Tom Struz led off the big inning with an infield hit. After Craig Kenerson walked, Bob Sansone singled to drive across a run. Eric Wolf walked and Dolan delivered his clutch hit.

David Skowronski was the winning pitcher in relief, striking out three of four batters. Struz led the team with three hits, while Sansone, Wolf and Fred Zoeller added two hits each.

In addition, Bobby King made a fine defensive catch in center field with two Granny's runners on base in the fifth frame.

Tom Gordon clubbed a home run for Granny's, which won the Blue Division with a 10-7 record. The Lions won the White Division.

The Lions' Club battled back from a 3-1 deficit with five runs in the fourth inning for a 6-3 advantage in the first game. King, Struz, Kenerson, Sansone, Wolf and Dolan had key hits in the big inning.

Kenerson was the winning pitcher, striking out nine in three innings of work. Struz finished with three hits.

Chris Bender, who pitched well for Granny's over the first three innings, had two hits. Mike Petrucci also had two hits.

Bender and Albert Widmer had doubles in the first inning.

Other members of the winning Lions' team include Louis Pisacane, Peter Hagadorn, Neal Hancock, Jimmy Tripicchio, Lance Van Den Hende, and John Popper. Coaches are Doug Morgan, Hank Tognetti and William Sansone while the bat boys included John Marshall, Steve Struz and Gregg Fox.

Other players on the Granny's Chicken squad are Mark Fraser, Ivan Guadio, Travis Haycock, Sal La Rosa, Tom Pomroy, Brian Faber, Timmy Hart, Thomas Parsells and Joseph Schergent. The manager is Sal La Rosa Sr. while coaches are Ed Fraser, Don Hart, Ted Widmer and Harmon Gordon.

Five & Ten wins nine of last 11

The Hawthorne Five and Ten, which defeated GMC and the St. Anthony Greens to finish the season at 9-8, captured nine of its final 11 games after an 0-6 start to finish one game out of first place in the American Division of the JD League.

The Five and Ten defeated GMC, 10-4, behind the hitting of Nick Sasso, Keith Hansen and Ross Morse. Glen Johnson and Hansen combined for the mound victory.

The dime store topped the Greens, 7-6. Mike Haley pitched a solid five innings while Sasso won the game in relief. Sasso, Hansen and Dave Giambra hit well for the winners.

The Greens beat GMC, 19-4, as Bill Contrini picked up his first mound victory. T.D. McDonald, Bob Dockray and Contrini headed the hitting for the Greens. Barna and DiGfield shared the pitching for GMC.

The Hawthorne Cheviets, the National Division winner, will play the Hawthorne Lions, the American Division winners, for the overall championship.

The Lions captured the American Division with a come-from-behind 6-5 victory over the Cheviets. Jim Bertoli, Jack Fedele, Tom Irvolino and Ali Jadeid sparked the comeback.

Chet Decker's wins its division

The Chet Decker team won the L1 League American Division beating the Rhodes Agency team in two straight games. The first game was won Wednesday evening by a score of 4 to 3. It featured good play by both teams with some outstanding third base action by Steve Jousra of the Decker team. The second game was another well-played game by both teams. The main difference was great pitching by Brian Hill and Billy Sansone, who also went three for three.

The Decker team is managed by Frank Kabrel Sr. with Ed Faust, Bob Ramaglino and Steve Ramaglino as coaches. The players are: Bill Sansone, Brian Hill, Steve Jousra, Vito D'Allesandro, Glenn Vietrogoski, Craig Domalewski, Bill Tatum, Chris O'Brien, Rich Saunders, Mike Lobosco, Russ Meneve and John Bechtile; batboy Bobby Sansone. The L1 League World Series is being played this week between Deckers and Mele's Market, national league champs.

Biggest question is who will win the wild card spot

As the season enters its final month, the playoff picture is beginning to form in the Hawthorne men's softball association.

Undefeated Minicozzi Construction clinched first place in division 1 and assured itself of a spot in the post-season tournament with a 23-1 victory over Van Beuzekom Appliance on Sunday.

Hook Supply and Rolling Hills Landscape, division 2 and 3 leaders respectively, also won encounters Sunday and appear destined to earn berths in the championship round.

The biggest question at this point is which team will gain the wild card spot, given to the squad with the best second-place record in any division.

Presently, a battle for that final berth is between Johnny & Hanges, Artwork & Graphics, McGill's Express and Van Beuzekom. Of course, these teams are still not out of their divisional tie races.

In Sunday action, Hook Supply emerged with a 6-5 11 inning victory over Arthur Groom & Co. Fred Suter's two-out single into center field drove across Chris Dowling with the winning run in the bottom of the 11th frame.

Behind three hits each for Gordon Muth, George Richardson, Tony Ventrella and Marty Boyd, Rolling Hills handcuffed the Raiders, 18-5. Steve Wassel, Boyd, Ventrella, Richardson and Tom Kenyon had one home run each.

Dave Scarber and Phil Caltagirone banged four hits each as McGill's tallied a run in the bottom of the ninth inning to defeat the Hawthorne Deli, 7-6. Bob Pordon hit a two-run home run for the winners while Bob Slovik added three hits.

A nine run ninth inning, which included home runs by Mark Neri (2) and Fred Cristelli, powered Artwork and Graphics past Johnny & Hanges, 16-10. Neri and Tom Bankos finished with four hits each for Artwork.

Jim Haugh collected four hits for the Late Bunch, which dropped a 14-5 decision to the Jaycees. However, the contest is under protest by the Late Bunch.

In the Minicozzi Construction victory, Joe Boyle, Mike Michalski, John Minicozzi and Ken George had three hits each, Michalski finished with five RBI, while J. Minicozzi and George had four each.

Lex Greenwood and Bill Ficaro collected two hits each, Steve Agnes and Mike Law had sac flies and Sal Minicozzi added a triple for Minicozzi Construction. Joe Des Lauries was the winning pitcher, getting his eighth and ninth strikeouts of the season.

Mark Panecki and Tom Fox, who scored the team's only run, had two hits a piece for Van Beuzekom.

In the Hook Supply win, Fred Novack (8-1) was the winning pitcher, holding the Groom team scoreless on only three hits from the second to the 11th inning. Alan Scarmazzo and Suter finished with three hits each for the winners while Larry Tobij had two hits. Scarmazzo and George Tobij each hit home runs.

Mich Rinaldi and Gary Garner hit first inning home runs for Arthur Groom & Co. Garner played a fine defensive shortstop in the latter half of the game. Chip DeNully added an RBI for A. Groom while Tony Minaci and Rich Meyer had doubles.

Roger Post was the winning pitcher for Rolling Hills. Twinkle Toes Ruocco played a fine defensive game in left field. Bill Post and Jeff O'Sullivan had four and three hits respectively for the Raiders. Scott Wozney hit a home run and Tony Mioli had a hit.

Dino Battista, who played an excellent defensive left field with eight put outs, had three hits for Artwork & Graphics. Chuck Vietrogoski, Frank Hollis, Scott Kabrel, Ed Kroll and Cristelli added two hits each. Gus Schell (3-1) was the winning pitcher.

Steve Vetchiotte, Pat Salvemini, Dave Kleppe and Bill Matarazzo had two hits each for Johnny & Hanges. Matarazzo clubbed a home run to give him six for the season and 25 RBI. Kleppe and Vetchiotte also hit home runs.

Dave Simon and John Nessel had two hits each for the Late Bunch. Bob Deyden and Go placidly amid the noise & haste, & remember what peace there may be in silence. As far as possible without surrender be on good terms with all persons. Speak your truth quietly & clearly; and listen to others, even the dull & ignorant; they too have their story. * Avoid loud & aggressive persons, they are vexations to the spirit. If you compare yourself with others, you may become vain & bitter; for always there will be greater & lesser persons than yourself. Enjoy your achievements as well as your plans. * Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time. Exercise caution in your business affairs; for the world is full of trickery. But let this not blind you to what virtue there is; many persons strive for high ideals; and everywhere life is full of heroism. * Be yourself. Especially, do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity & disenchantment it is perennial as the grass. * Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth. Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune. But do not distress yourself with imaginings. Many fears are born of fatigue & loneliness. Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. * You are a child of the universe, no less than the trees & the stars; you have a right to be here. And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt the universe is unfolding as it should. * Therefore be at peace with God, whatever you conceive Him to be, and whatever your labors & aspirations in the noisy confusion of life keep peace with your soul. * With all its sham, drudgery & broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world. Be careful. Strive to be happy. * *

Desiderata

And... Win or lose, play life's game to the utmost; and we will remain proud of you — and feel most fortunate that our paths have crossed.

A look back at how this family came to be Americans

by Bert Nawyn

Congratulations to Paul Van Ostenbridge of Hawthorne who was promoted to assistant vice-president of the Prospect Park National Bank. He works in the Wayne headquarters.

Paul is the son of Ed Van Ostenbridge, service station proprietor on Diamond Bridge Avenue. Ed's father is Comer Van Ostenbridge, former Little Falls Laundry Co. salesman who lived at 60 Res Avenue for many years.

And Comer, just in case you didn't know, was my mother's brother. Ed and I had the same grandfather. Adam Van Ostenbridge who was a pioneer in the true sense of the word.

A successful carpenter-contractor in Rotterdam around the turn of the century, he envisioned the United States as the land of opportunity for his family and so, in 1905, he bundled his wife and 11 children up, packed all the furniture in large crates, and took one of the Holland-American lines to the United States. My mother was the oldest and Mrs. Agnes Hornstra of North Haledon, the youngest.

After passing through Ellis Island, the family came by train to Paterson, found a house for rent in the Bunker Hill section, hired a horse and wagon to go back to Hoboken to pick up their furniture, and settled in Paterson.

The spirit of self-enterprise was strong in my grandfather and a few years later he built the large house at the corner of North 11th Street and Fairview Avenue for his large brood. The house is now a four-family dwelling owned by Eddie Vander Ploeg of Wagaraw Road.

Adam Van Ostenbridge constructed a number of houses in the borough including those at 99 and 105 North 12th Street. In 1925 he decided he wanted to move to the suburbs and built the house at 168 Buena Vista Avenue, Hawthorne, where he lived until 1941.

As a carpenter, Adam Van Ostenbridge was a master craftsman. He never used any power tools, everything was done by hand of the finest oak lumber. The house in Hawthorne had a secret closet, a "cold cellar," and other features not normally found in houses.

In 1941 Adam moved back to Prospect Park where he resided with my parents until his death, at the age of 84, in 1945. I remember him as a dignified man, stern, but also with a fine sense of humor. Most of all I remember him as a Christian gentleman whose influence was felt in all areas of his family life. When he died he left 11 children, 32 grandchildren, and a few great-grandchildren.

So, Paul, if he was living today, he would have added his congratulations to ours.

ESLC SAVINGS INSURED TO $100,000 BY THE FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN INSURANCE CORPORATION

Did you know that the borough owns property on the other side of the bridge on Haledon Avenue over Molly Ann's Brook? It's not a large tract...about 40 feet frontage in the form of a triangle with a large part of the land forming the bank for the brook.

The borough expects to sell the land to the Prospect Park Savings and Loan Association. The savings and loan purchased a large parcel from the defunct Food Fair Corporation which includes the property on which the bank building and on which the Gulf Station next door are situated. The purchase of the small tract owned by the borough would give the savings and loan all the property on the northwestern side of Molly Ann's brook and will expected to descend in protest on the borough.

The borough council will soon name a "meter maid" to see that the no-parking laws are enforced. In announcing that the position was open, Mayor Nick DeGraaf said the woman to be appointed would not carry a gun. The old police car will be used to patrol the streets. However, the doors will be painted and the hole in the roof used to mount red lights will be filled up. The cost will be $50. Mayor Nick indicated that an appointment would be made shortly. The position will be funded by CETA funds and not through general tax revenues.

It's all minor but it took action by the borough council to....

give the borough a small ratable, which for over 50 years was on the exempt tax list.

The hearing to be conducted by the mayor and council on the alleged police brutality charge against Ptl. Jerome Rotseart has been postponed until August 4. The hearing, postponed fifteen times, was scheduled for Monday night.

However, the Circassian who was to act as interpreter for the North 17th Street resident who alleges the police brutality, was unable to get permission from his employer to be at the hearing. According to sources, the subpoena was served on the interpreter on Sunday, which left only one day to find a replacement for his work schedule.

Learning that the interpreter could not be present, Mayor Nicholas DeGraaf late Monday afternoon ordered the postponement.

The entire situation, which resulted from an early March melee between police and Circassians, is a no-win problem for the mayor and council. If the final decision favors Rotseart, there will be an uproar from the Circassians. On the other hand, if the decision favors the alleged victim, the State PBA's are

1) permit the child study team of the local public school to use a room in the municipal building one day a week. The Board of Education will install a telephone in the room and use their own file cabinets and equipment.

2) authorize the painting of the pavilion at Hofstra Park.

3) take note of the deplorable condition of the sidewalk at North Seventh Street and Brown Avenue. Council members said it appears as though the sidewalk has deteriorated completely.

4) authorize the removal of the "no parking" signs on the northerly side of North 11th Street, across from the former Haband plant. The no parking signs were installed at the request of the Haband firm to permit trailer trucks to park on the road and empty their contents. However, since the Haband firm no longer uses the facility, the signs can be removed.

5) remove the 15-minute parking sign on North 11th Street at the easterly side of the street, west of Brown Avenue. The sign was installed to limit parking for patrons of the Garden State Farms store. The store no longer occupies the premises.

Changing fuels is more expensive than just a phone call.

Before you go to the expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition.

And now, due to the state's tough new conversion prerequisites, conversion is even more costly. In addition to the new heating equipment needed, you'll have to have six inches of insulation installed in your ceilings; new storm windows and doors and day-night thermostats put in.

Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than go to all the expense that conversion entails? Call your independent fuel oil dealer. He'll tell you how to get more for your heating dollar for less.

Residents experience the first waterless days ever

Prospect Park - Hundreds of homes last week were without water as residents experienced their first waterless days in the history of the borough.

Homeowners told of how they turned on the water faucet and listened to a gush of air but saw no water. Toilets couldn't be flushed and showers weren't working. One resident living on Savoy Place told how she went to her sister's house for the two days to borrow water. She said, "I told my sister, I don't know when I'll be able to give you the water back."

Homes most severely affected were those on the high hill sections of the borough — North 16th and 17th Street, Brown Avenue, Lakeshore and Cyril Avenues, and upper Planten, Struyk and Prescott Avenues and their side streets.

The cause of the water shortages was that no water was being pumped into the huge water tank standing in Hofstra Park at the highest point in the borough. Gravity causes the water to flow to all areas of the community.

Wendell Inhofter, superintendent of the Passaic Valley Water Commission, said that failure of a booster pump in the basement of the municipal building and the sale of 80 million gallons of water by the PVWC to Jersey City created the shortage in the borough.

Last Tuesday night Inhofter was in the borough testing the water pressure at the hydrant at Brown Avenue and North 10th Street. It was zero. At least three-quarters of the borough was, in some way, affected by the shortage according to police.

Irate and bewildered citizens called police headquarters throughout the twoday period with the same complaint, "All I get when I turn on the faucet is a glass of air."

Inhofter said the borough was the first community affected by the shortage because it is high on the system (in terms of elevation) for water distribution. "The reservoir that serves Prospect Park is low. Frankly, we haven't been able to pump the kind of water that is necessary to serve the borough," he stated.

Inhofter also blamed the shortage on the lack of rain. "We haven't had a good rainfall for a couple of months and as a result, reservoirs are getting low," he said.

Water service was restored to most parts of the borough on Thursday.

Outdoor service set
Six area Christian Reformed Churches are sponsoring an out-door community worship service Sunday, 6 p.m. at Roe field in Haledon. The Rev. Alan A. Arkema, pastor of the Prospect Park Christian Reformed Church will speak on the topic, "The Price of Freedom." Roe field is at Roe Street and North 15th Street.

North Haledon Notes

by Dana Hoffman
The North Haledon Council appointed a temporary police officer to the borough's department at a special meeting June 23.

Albert Maas is patrolman
Prospect Park - Albert Maas of 180 North 12th Street was appointed full-time patrolman by Mayor Nicholas DeGraaf Monday night. Maas will relinquish his position as housing inspector to be on the police force. He previously served on the force as a part-time patrolman, serving mostly on weekends.

DeGraaf said that, in all probability, the housing inspector position will be reduced to a part-time position and that an appointment to that post will be discussed at the July 14 meeting of the borough council.

Maas replaces Robert Hook, who resigned from the force to move to Florida.

Dr. James Gleeson honored as 'Man of the year'

Dr. James Gleeson, superintendent of schools of Passaic County Vocational-Technical High School, was honored as "man of the year" by the New Jersey State Organization of Cystic Fibrosis at the Brownstone House, Paterson on June 22.

Congressman Robert A. Roe presents a plaque to Dr. James Gleeson, who was honored as man of the year recently.

Gleeson was selected by the group because of his true conviction and compassion for the children of the state and because of the time and effort he has expended for those afflicted with cystic fibrosis.

Since his association with the N.J.S.O. of Cystic Fibrosis three years ago, there have been many children within the state who have been helped. He also helped the association purchase home care equipment, pay for medical expenses, provide special counseling to C/F children and their families and support public educational programs which have helped the organization reach into just about every county in the state. The organization also sponsored its first research project and just recently held its first medical seminar for professionals who deal with children.

Hawthorne Hills decision reserved

by Donna Rizio

The Planning Board has reserved decision on the application of Hawthorne Hills, which was the subject of a standing-room only public hearing Tuesday night. The board has 45 days to review the plans before it renders a decision. A major subdivision, various variances and site plan approval must be granted before the project is implemented.

Hawthorne Hills, a development on one of the borough's last remaining wooded areas, is a 209-unit project consisting of 86 one-family houses and 123 town houses on a 70-acre site zoned R-5. The sloping tract is west of Goffle Road and runs from Nelson Avenue to Diamond Bridge Avenue.

A subcommittee consisting of board members Harold Floyd, John Ambrose and Hank Van Beuzekom had been appointed to study the matter prior to Tuesday's hearing, but did not make a report at the public session.

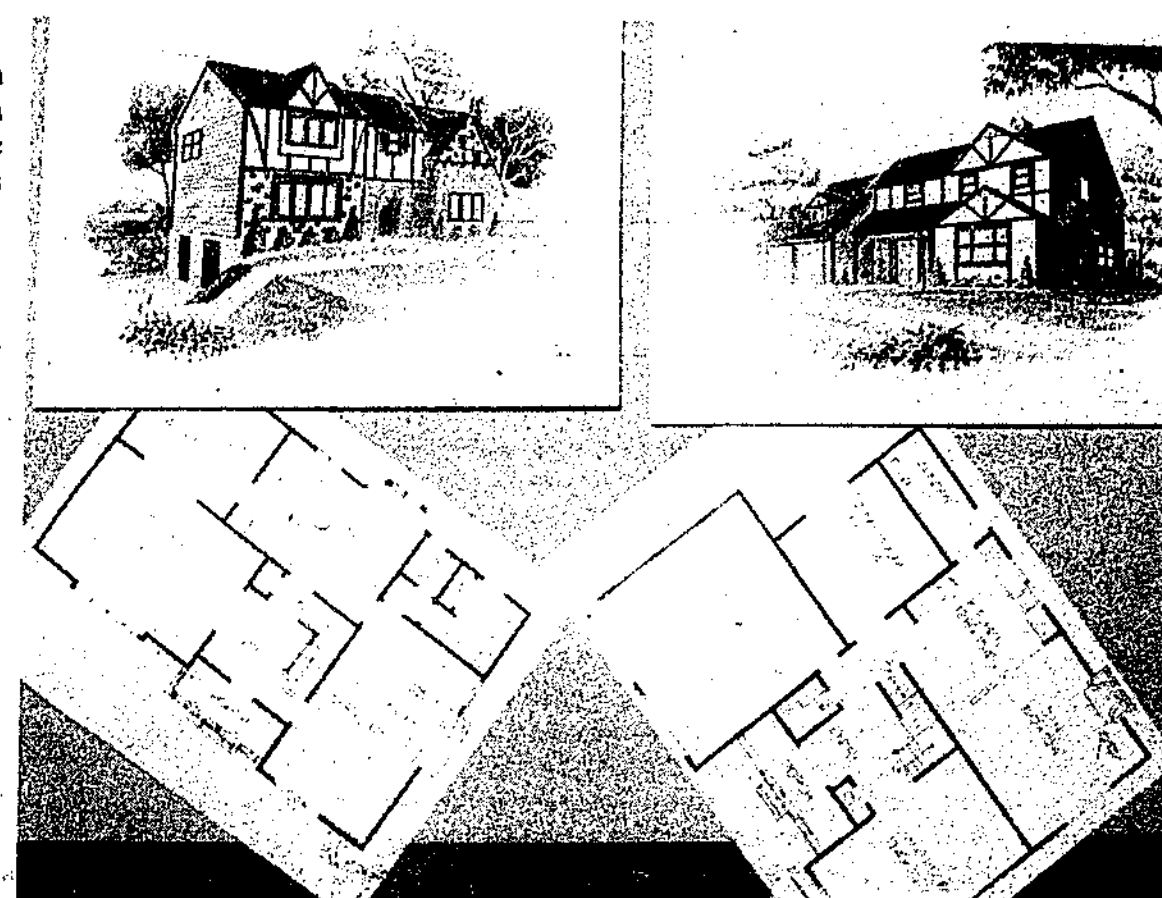

According to Joseph Barberi, engineer for Hawthorne Hills, Inc., the plans are within the confines of zoning laws, and borough codes. All properties involved have the required acreage, and all utilities and roadways concur with borough laws. "In every aspect our land use requirement meets the zoning requirements," Barberi said.

The project does however require various setback variances because some of the lots do not meet borough specifications. "This is the third draft that the applicant has presented to the board and the revisions were discussed."

The sanitary sewer is planned with two points of connection at Nelson Avenue and Goffle Road to Hawthorne's main sewage system.

In addition, storm sewers will be constructed to serve all new roadways. Two new outfall points will replace the existing 18" storm system at Nelson with a 48" reinforced concrete type, and the 15" sewer system at Goffle Road and Diamond Bridge Avenue with a 42" round pipe. According to Barberi, these are designed to carry all storm water to points of discharge at Goffle Brook.

Roadways from the complex will be constructed to connect to Mountain Avenue, Nelson Avenue and Mazur Place. Barberi explained that this plan is the seventh revision to the original with all revisions being the result of careful studies by professionals.

Hawthorne Hills is awaiting reports from the Environmental Protection for drainage reports and the Passaic County Park Commission's engineering department for finalization of plans.

The Hudson Essex Passaic Soil Conservation District is investigating grading details and its drainage and erosion effects on individual lots.

Monroe Moskowitz, attorney for the development, said there will be two organizations in the complex. "The Condominium Association" will be comprised to townhouse owners. "The Homeowners Organization" will be comprised of one family dwelling owners. Residents of both will be responsible for the maintenance, repair, care and upkeep of grounds and buildings on the complex.

In addition, there will be an interrelationship between the two so that the borough will deal only with one organization.

When the hearing was opened to the public, several residents voiced concerns about population impact, soil erosion, drainage, maintenance of the property and the effect on the sewer and water system.

John Pasquale, spoke on behalf of the Board of Education to find out how many school age children could be expected in the development. Pasquale explained the school board is in the process of making a time table of school age population and trends, and spoke about the possible closing of the Washington School, which is on the south end of the development. Pasquale requested that Hawthorne Hills give the Board of Education a proposed figure of how many new students will be brought into the school system, so that they might monitor the subsequent effects. Hawthorne Hills Inc. agreed to supply the board with that information.

Floyd Van Winkle, a resident of Goffle Road, voiced concern about erosion. "As long as I've lived on Goffle Road, I've seen erosion from even little ditches," he said. He requested that the report from the soil commission be circulated to neighboring residents.

Hawthorne Hills, Inc. assured the board that plans will not be implemented without full approval from the Soil Commission.

Rosemary Stanulis, a resident of Mountain Avenue aired her concern about additional drainage the new complex would create. She cited an existing problem with drainage in the area from the neighboring Blasberg site. "First something has to be completed there," she said, describing the flooding in the area. Stanulis expressed concern that this problem be dealt with first, before additional run off from Hawthorne Hills, Inc. occurs.

Richard Luscher, a resident of Mountain Avenue, voiced concerns about the effect townhouses would have on residential areas. William Monson questioned how much the projected tax assessment would be for the development and how much the individual units would cost. The attorney responded this information has not yet been gathered.

Alert resident initiates arrest

An alert borough resident who called police to report that a bike had just been stolen in a Pasadena Place neighborhood led officers to the arrest of a Paterson man about two minutes later.

The call came in at 2:30 pm Tuesday after someone saw a man take a bike from the yard at 144 Pasadena Place. Police responded to the Goffle Road area and along Lafayette Avenue. At 2:32 pm, Levi Huntington, 24, of 98 Warren Street, Paterson was apprehended near Lafayette and Warren Avenues, here.

He was riding a gold 10-speed Panasonic belonging to Michael Bernadine, 395 North 4th Street. The value of the bike was estimated at $170. Bernadine was visiting a friend on Pasadena Place.

Huntington was released on $500 bail pending court appearance on July 17.

School repair referendum set for September

A referendum for $194,010 in repairs and renovation to the borough's five elementary schools will be presented for public vote on Tuesday, September 23. The plan had been under study for a year since the concept of a referendum was adopted as part of the master plan approved by the Board of Education in June 1979. Approval for the referendum received a unanimous vote by the school board at its June 25th meeting.

When the master plan was originally presented to the board by the Harsen and Johns Partnership architectural firm, it included almost $750,000.00 in work to be done on the various schools. The board expansion committee was given the task to review the proposal and come back to the board with a plan for its implementation. This took approximately 12 months due to the fact that approvals had to be received from the New Jersey State Planning and Facilities Division whose approvals came just recently.

The proposed referendum includes eight areas of renovation. These areas are: exterior repair and brick pointing for waterproofing of walls for the prevention of leaks at the Roosevelt, Franklin and Washington Schools; sidewalks and curbing at the Roosevelt, Franklin and Lincoln Schools; lighting upgrades at the Roosevelt, Franklin and Washington Schools; electrical panels required as new installations at the Roosevelt, Franklin and Washington Schools; plumbing work on the lavatories at the Roosevelt School; a complete boiler heating renovation at the Roosevelt School involving unit ventilators and steam traps to reduce the amount of fuel burned at that school which is far exceeding the averages in the other schools; required renovation to two existing resource rooms at the Roosevelt School which are to be put into compliance with regulations involving ventilation and magnetic smoke doors based upon the construction of those rooms; and finally, areas of repair at the Lincoln School and Jefferson School cited in the Master Plan Review. The $194,010 is the total cost including architectural and engineering fees and legal and bonding costs.

In presenting the plan to the board, expansion committee chairman John A. Pasquale III, indicated that the committee had spent many hours and held many meetings with the architectural firm and other professionals to determine a priority list for the renovations, to see which should be done by referendum and which could be done by budget. This renovation work in the proposed referendum addresses itself to the most pressing areas for repair. The committee also noted that all schools, including the high school met the requirements.

A review of the cost by school shows that it is intended to expend $141,160.00 at Roosevelt; $24,950.00 at Franklin; $6,750.00 at Lincoln; $19,300.00 at Washington and $1,400.00 at Jefferson.

The money to implement the work after the referendum will come from the issuance of bonds and will become part of the debt service for the school district.

A very timely piece of legislation, A-706, may involve the reduction of anywhere from 1/2 to one full percent in net interest savings has passed the assembly by a vote of 71-0. It is scheduled for action in the state education committee very soon and should be voted in the senate before mid-July. This means that the sale of bonds after September 1 might be beneficially affected.

The architectural firm and the attorney for the Board are preparing the legal documents and the question to go before the public in that special vote. Anyone seeking further information may contact Board of Education offices, or board member John A. Pasquale III.

Wanaque resident fined $150 for assault on David

A case involving an assault charge against Wanaque resident Richard H. Plattel, 47 Tremont Terrace, which had been referred to the grand jury several months ago, was tried in Hawthorne Municipal Court last Thursday night. The grand jury recommended that the more serious assault charge be downgraded to simple assault. The charge was so amended and the offense was therefore brought within the jurisdiction of the local court.

According to testimony of the complainant Michael David of 174 Parmelee Avenue, he was approached by Plattel and his companion after David had just arrived home from the Thumbs Up Tavern.

The two had apparently been involved in another confrontation earlier that evening at Thumbs Up. (In the companion complaint), David was charged with assaulting Plattel outside of the bar. Judge Donald Reenstra found David not guilty of the charge.)

David said that Plattel and the other man with him ran towards him as he was headed toward his house and claimed that Plattel said, "I'm going to get you this time."

Plattel denied making the threat and testified he followed David home "hoping for an apology" for the alleged earlier incident in which Plattel claimed David insulted him at the bar and then punched him in the face outside the bar.

The testimony indicated that the two began wrestling on David's property and somehow they wrestled into the house. At one point Plattel left the house and David followed. The wrestling continued outside.

David testified that during this time Plattel held him down and said "Frank, let him have it." The other man then hit David's head several times with a pipe. David required nine stitches from the injury. Plattel, in his testimony, denied telling his companion to strike David. He explained that the companion, whom he knew only as John, was a hitchhiker he picked up earlier in the evening before going to the Thumbs Up.

Plattel claimed that at the time he and David were wrestling each other "John" came up uninvited and struck David with the pipe.

Plattel said that at that point he left, leaving "John" at the scene.

Plattel's attorney, Jan Seigel, requested an acquittal, arguing that it was not an assault, but rather a case of mutual fighting. He pointed out that after Plattel got up and left David's house, David could have shut and locked the door. Instead, he said, David was the aggressor by coming out after Plattel to continue the fight.

Seigel also held that Plattel was not the one who struck David with the pipe, nor was he acting in concert with or as an accomplice of "John" the hitchhiker who did commit the act.

Based on the testimony in the case and the credibility of the witness, Plattel was found guilty. Judge Donald Reenstra said "The opinion of the court is that Plattel went there (David's house) to look for a fight." The judge was also convinced that Plattel did assist the third party in beating David with the pipe.

Reenstra said that because of the seriousness of the offense he would have sent Plattel to jail. However, he said he was taking into consideration the fact that there was apparently some "bad blood between the two prior to the incident" and because there were "certain questions" in his mind "as to what precipitated all this."

Plattel was fined $150., $15. court costs, and a $25. assessment for the victim in accordance with the Violent Crimes Act.

Carmela Aparo, a Glen Rock woman who was found guilty on June 26 of operating a rooming house without a license at 589 Lafayette Avenue, returned to court for sentencing. Sentencing had been postponed for a week so that Judge Reenstra could take into consideration whether or not the last tenants, whom Aparo said were moving out by July 1st, were still there. As of Thursday, the two tenants had not yet moved out because carpentry work was still being done in the apartment to which they intend to move.

Aparo, who was convicted of the same offense, concerning the same rooming house four previous times in Hawthorne, was fined $200. and $15. costs and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

Because the tenants indicated that they were moving out, Reenstra suspended the jail sentence, but warned Aparo about the consequences of another conviction.

In a motor vehicle violations case, Anthony Diskawicz, 84 Morris Avenue, Garfield was found guilty of disregarding a red traffic light. In his defense Diskawicz testified that when he entered the intersection of Goffle Road and Lafayette Avenue the light facing him on Lafayette was green. He said two cars were ahead of him in the intersection. The first one turned and the other one slowed down to pull over to a phone booth. Diskawicz said that because of having to wait for the two cars which were ahead of him, he was stopped in the middle of the intersection when the light turned red. It was then that he was hit by the car driven by Robert Prytherch.

Prytherch who was driving on Goffle and a witness driving the car behind Prytherch both testified that the light facing them on Goffle was green when Diskawicz entered the intersection.

Diskawicz was fined $20 for the offense.

Three motor vehicle violation charges against Edwin F. Sigler, Jr. of 205 Westervelt Avenue — driving an unregistered vehicle, and driving without a license and without insurance — were all amended to driving without the necessary credentials in his possession. He was found guilty of all three amended complaints and fined a total of $95.

Steven Venecianos of Elmwood Park was found guilty of disregarding a traffic signal. He was fined $10 and $10 costs for the offense.

Domenico Localzo, 319 Wagaraw Road, had his moped license revoked for 30 days and was fined $35 and $15 court costs when he was found guilty of disregarding a stop sign. The 15-year-old Localzo had been in court the previous week on another moped violation.

Fair Lawn resident Paul Grossi was found guilty of three violations. He was fined $25 for driving an unregistered vehicle, $25 for misuse of license plates and $50 for driving an uninsured vehicle. Because of the mandatory penalty involved with driving an uninsured vehicle, Grossi's license was revoked for six months.

Karen Groos, 44 Pasadena Place was found guilty of parking on the private property of Joseph Haskoor, 588 Lafayette Avenue. She received a $20 fine.

Two mailboxes were reported destroyed by firecrackers. They were owned by Joseph Pitea, 42 Emeline Drive and Louis Barbieri, 6 Dogwood Drive.

An alert citizen observed two men enter the rear yard of a neighbor at 1 am and take a mini-bike belonging to the resident Glenn Swofford. The neighbor saw the men put the mini-bike, which was valued at $100 into the back of a station wagon and notified the police.

Patrols responded and apprehended the two men in possession of the vehicle about a block away. Twenty nine-year-old Rueben Torres, 339 Straight Street, Paterson, and 30-year-old Gustavo Lopez of 187 Grove Street, Passaic were both charged with theft.

In addition, Torres, who was the driver of the car, was charged with driving without insurance, without a license, mis-use of license plates and driving an unregistered vehicle.

New project - a community within a community

"A community within a community" ...that's how one of the borough residents characterized Hawthorne Hills, Inc., a proposed 209 unit development stretching west of Goffle Road from the Braen quarry to Diamond Bridge Avenue.

The public learned Tuesday night of a project that appears to be very beneficial to our tax structure. Hawthorne Hills will have its own road maintenance program, garbage collection and snow plowing service. All roads in the project will be owned by the two associations, that will make up the private community.

A closer look, however, shows that this project will dump 65,000 gallons of effluent daily into our sanitary sewer system and will directly affect the First, Second and Third Avenue residents who already have a less-than-satisfactory situation. Additional police personnel and perhaps even another fire station will be required to adequately protect the new complex.

As for the water system, which is presently at capacity, a new pumping station has been promised by the developer, but no new wells are planned. The major concern of residents who voiced objections Tuesday night focused on the drainage problem. The contractor promises new storm drain pipes, but intends to put them where existing drains are now working. Why not place additional drains alongside the present ones, especially in view of the washout problems last summer in that area.

A conservation estimate of the real estate value of this development exceeds $15 million. With this figure in view, why not make this a real first-class project. Let's not expect the taxpayers of the borough to foot the bill for the impact that this community will have on Hawthorne!

Why? It's a question that is asked over and over and many times there appears to be no answer.

Those who run Manchester Regional High School asked that question last week when they viewed the havoc caused by a few teenagers who went on a destructive rampage. The same question was asked when the same type of destruction and vandalism occurred at Eastern Christian High School.

It's hard enough today to make ends meet without having to provide more money to pay for vandalism. This year Eastern Christian will wind up with a deficit of about $65,000 in its operating revenues and simply cannot afford these added costs due to a few sick teenagers.

That's what Deputy Police Chief Edward Dombrowski called the perpetrators. After walking through the school he said, "Whoever did this was sick in his head."

Why would someone rip out complete door assemblies? Who takes a hammer or a crow bar and jabs it repeatedly into a beautifully finished solid wood door? Who would slash a beautiful painting of the crucifixion?

No person in his normal mind causes destruction such as this.

This morning, listening to the early morning radio news, a report came over that two teenagers have been charged with the murder of a senior Reader's Digest editor. And this again tells us what kind of world we are living in.

It's a world where respect for life and property have vanished. It's gone. When the Supreme Court comes down with an edict that permits the murder of millions of the unborn through abortion and thus tells us, by its actions, that life no longer is precious, who can stop this philosophy from filtering down to our teenagers and others?

In discussing the vandalism with Chief

Why does vandalism continue?

Dombrowski, he remarked, "If we catch these persons do you know what will happen? They will be given a slap on the wrist, told to mend their ways, and be released."

A few weeks ago speakers from the Paterson police department told over 200 persons meeting at a Democratic club session that the average age of those committing break-ins was 15 years.

For the most part, parents don't know the whereabouts of their children any hour of the night. And that's because parents have abdicated their responsibility of supervision in the home.

In many homes the children rule the roost! It's unfortunate, but that's the way it is. I believe the breakdown of family life can be attributed to two factors — the spiraling divorce rate and the high number of working mothers. The fact that mothers work is dictated by our economy and the desire to have the material things our parents were willing to forego to insure the proper upbringing of their children.

Two homes; two, three and four cars; a swimming pool; a mobile home or travel trailer, twice-a-year cruises, and much more, are in demand today. Most of these luxuries can be gained only by having two working members in the family.and there's a penalty which must be paid.

Did the parents of the high school vandals know where their children were? Did they question them in the morning about their whereabouts until four in the morning?

I never came home at 4 am but I'm sure that if I did, my mother would be waiting up for me. So would my father.

If parents don't care, why should kids care. So they're high on drugs...they destroy property...they kill...they land up in jail...then it's too late to care.

I surely would like to talk to the teenagers who were in Manchester and Eastern Christian. I'd like to find out their philosophy of life...their goals, their ambitions, how they feel society let them down.

There has to be answers to the questions we have and the only way we can get them is on a one-to-one basis. There are many who are concerned about today's youth, many who are praying for today's youth. I am one of those concerned and praying.

So, fellas, if you want to talk to someone, if you need any kind of help, I'm available and you can be assured that, as with all reporters, all conversation will be confidential.

Dear editor,
— I would like to publicly thank Mr. and Mrs. Mahoney and their daughter, Jeanine, for housing Alberto Soto, a Spanish student, for the school year 1979-80.

He was one of many students who came to the U.S. from Spain through the efforts of the Spanish Heritage Association and a coordinator, who had the task of finding a family to host the student.

I am extremely grateful to the Mahoneys for their patience and understanding throughout the year. Accepting the responsibilities of a foreign teenager and the cultural problems deserves a special commendation.

I would also like to thank the students, faculty and administration of Hawthorne High School for being so kind and patient with Alberto during his first months here. With their help, he received a diploma and participated in the high school graduation ceremonies.

Alberto will attend Stevens Institute in September, an opportunity that would not have been possible, if the Mahoneys were not so generous. Thank you.

Sincerely,
Patricia M. Piccoli,

Mele's wins World Series in three games

Mele's Market and Chet Decker's, two original teams in the Hawthorne Little League, competed in three games last week for the 1980 world series. The league is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year and only four of the original eight teams remain in existence. After dividing the first two contests, Decker's took the championship in a 4-0 shutout.

The first game of the Hawthorne Little League World Series was played on Monday night June 30. Decker won a hard fought, exciting ball game 4-3, behind the 11 strike out pitching of Bill Sansone and Brian Hill. Mele's scored two runs in the first inning on two errors and three walks. Decker's came back in the bottom of the first with hits by Chris O'Brien and Billy Tantom to score one.

Mele's got one more in the second with a walk to Mike Cianni and an RBI fielder choice by Mike Ptak. In the bottom of the fourth, Craig Domalewski walked, advanced to second on an error and scored on Brian Hill's single. The score was now 3 to 2 Mele's.

In the bottom of the fifth Decker's Chris O'Brien walked and Steve Jousra was hit with a pitch. A double steal followed with the ball being thrown away allowing O'Brien to score. Jousra scored on a wild-pitch and the 4 to 3 Decker score held up until the game ended.

The second game was played Wednesday and was won by Mele's 5-3. It was another exciting game which featured the excellent pitching of Mele's Mark Ptak and Mike Cianni, plus the always explosive bat of Ptak who went two for two with a double. Mele's scored two runs in the bottom of the first inning with Ken Hauser reaching base on an error, stealing second and being driven in by Mark Ptak's single. Ptak advanced to third on a wild pitch and scored on a fielder's choice.

Decker scored three in the top of the fourth on a triple by Bill Sansone, a walk to Bill Tantom and Glenn Vietrogoski reaching base on an error. Some excellent base running including steals of home by Sansone and Vietrogoski, accounted for the three runs.

Mele's came back in the bottom of the third to score three more. A single by Hauser, a double by Ptak, a single by Bob Dugger followed by Tony Giannella reaching base on an error accounted for the scoring. Neither team scored the rest of the game and Mele's won 5-3.

The third and final game was on Thursday, and as expected it was another thriller. This game was marked by outstanding fielding plays by both teams. Craig Domalewski, the Decker catcher, turned a bunt into a double play and super fielding plays by Chris O'Brien at short, Glenn Vietrogoski at third and Russ Meneve at second were deciding factors in Decker's 4-0 win.

The runs were scored by Decker's, with two in the first, one in the fourth and one in the fifth. Once again, daring base running coupled with a timely RBI single by Glenn Vietrogoski and an RBI double by Billy Sansone meant the difference.

This was one of the most evenly matched and exciting playoffs in recent years.

Mele's team includes: Mike Cianni, Ken Hauser, Mark Ptak, Jim Dugger, Tony Ginella, Bob Koning, Alan Lombardi, Ron Foshini Jr., Joe Guidice, Jim Kenny Jr., Rich Malizia, Guy Tumminello, Jim Kenny, mgr.; Rich Williams, Ron Foshini and Glenn R. Jocco, coaches; Todd Kenny and Engelo Foshini, bat boys.

Chet Decker's players are: Brian Hill, Steve Jousra, Vita D'Allesandro, Bill Sansone, Glenn Vietrogoski, Craig Domalewski, Mike Lobosco, Chris O'Brien, Rich Saunders, Bill Tantom, John Bechtle, and Russ Meneve. Frank Kabrel Sr. is manager; Ed Faust, Bob Ramaglino and Steve Ramaglino, coaches, and Bobby Sansone, bat boy.

Members of the Chet Decker team celebrate their victory.

Hook Supply beats Home Supply for girls title

Hook Supply won the girls' senior softball championship from Home Supply in two games on June 24 and 26.

In the first game, Hook scored first and Home Supply tied the game when Joni Popper stole home. The score remained 1-1 until the fifth inning. In the top of the fifth two Hook Supply players walked and Patty Harrington drove in both of her teammates with a triple. Hook Supply scored three runs that inning and added two more in the sixth.

Home Supply scored their only other run in the bottom of the sixth when Cindy Mosley, who was 2-2 in the game, tripled and later scored. The winning team played well offensively and defensively. Colleen Collins made a good catch in the outfield and Lisa Saporito, the winning pitcher, struck out eight and walked only two.

Lisa Giarusso scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh inning as Hook Supply edged Home Supply 7-6 in the second game. In the top of the first inning Home Supply took a 2-0 lead when Joni Popper, 2 for 3, and Jeanne Popper, 3 for 3, each scored a run. Barbie Zuidema scored Hook's first run in the bottom of the first and cut the lead to 2-1 when Cindy Allyn's double drove her in. Allen tried to stretch the double into a triple, but a great relay from Leslie Mott to Jeanne Popper to Denise Noone nailed her at third.

In the bottom of the third, Hook scored five runs to go ahead 5-2. Colleen Collins doubled and then with bases loaded, Lisa Saporito walked to drive in the tying run. Allyn hit her second double of the game driving in two runs and Maria Sosa singled, accounting for the other two runs.

Home Supply tied the score 6-6 in the top of the fifth inning. Cindy Mosley, Noone, and Linda Green combined to drive in the four runs. Throughout the game both teams made good defensive plays to stop rallies. Linda Green from Home Supply and Hook Supply's Dawn Passano made outstanding catches in the outfield. The game was decided in the bottom of the seventh when Lisa Giarusso walked and advanced to second on a ground ball. Teammate Jean Murphy had an infield hit which scored Lisa and won the game for Hook Supply. Saporito was the winning pitcher.

To say the Hawthorne Chevies have been the top team in the junior development league for the past decade would be an understatement. The dominating team would be a more appropriate way to phrase it.

The Chevies, coached by Joe Scarmazzo, Phil Finamore and Glenn Graham, captured their eighth playoff championship in the last nine years with a two-game sweep of the American Division champs, the Hawthorne Lions.

In addition, the Chevies have won 15 of 17 playoff games during that span. Behind the three-hit pitching of Craig Rebnier, the Chevies toppled the Lions, 8-2, in the initial 1980 playoff game. Rebnier struck out eight opponents.

Mike Konyak, Dave Koch and Steve Wittecheck headed the Chevies' offensive stats with two hits each. The winners took a 3-0 advantage in the first inning, increasing the spread to 4-0 with a run in the third frame. The Chevies clinched the title with a 13-10 victory in the second playoff game. It was a wild affair, with the teams combining for 19 hits and 15 errors.

Steve Wittecheck headed the Chevies hitting with three hits while teammates John Ingenio and Koch added two each. The Chevies tallied seven runs in the first inning for a 7-1 lead, but the Lions rallied for four runs in the third frame to make it 7-5.

Mark Wittecheck was the winning pitcher in relief while Rebnier gained the save.

The Chevies won the National Division this season with a 13-4 record. It was the ninth time in 10 years they have been the division champions.

In a regular season game, the St. Anthony Greens topped GMC, 7-2, as Bill Contrini, the winning pitcher, struck out 11. T.D. McDonald was the Greens' hitting star while Agnes and S. Hansen had two hits each for GMC. Lou Radwan also hit well.

Auto Racing Scene

Tom Hagers set a new record running the 4-Jr., failed to start the third heat due to mechanical problems. Kevin Collins, still suffering from rib injuries, was unable to run the Fast Lane #2 although the car was in the pit log.

Brett Hearn and Russ Bensinger came home with their first feature wins of the season Sunday at Nazareth Raceway. But, just like two weeks ago, track records were shattered again as he superbly conditioned track got tested again.

Tom Hagers set a new record for one lap of 23.30. This occurred in his heat and he dropped out a lap later. Shelley Schoenberger set a new eight lap Sportsman heat mark of 3:20.38. Del Bus became the first to ever run ten laps under four minutes when he won his heat at 3:59.49, but Hager broke that with a 3:57.20 winning the consolation. To top it off, John Gregory, while tuning up a URC Sprint, ran 23.55, fastest timed lap in Speedway history.

Eastern Christian to close school at end of '81

Prospect Park - The Junior High School on North Eighth Street will be closed by Eastern Christian School Association at the end of the 1981 school year, it was stated by Edmond Youngsman, president of the association.

At the same time the announcement of the school closing was made, Youngsman also appointed to committee chairman, one to determine what should be done with the school on North Eighth Street and the other chairman of a building committee for new construction which is involved.

Bert Nawyn was named chairman of the committee to determine what will be done with the junior high school while John Kuipers of North Haledon was named chairman of the building committee.

The closing of the junior high school, which at one time had 300 students in grades seven and eight, will require a conversion of the Wyckoff Christian School on Sicomac Road, from kindergarten through grade five and the Midland Park Christian School on Baldwin Drive from an elementary school to a middle school with grades six through eight.

The high school in North Haledon will remain for grades nine through 12.

Youngsman said that additional classrooms would be needed at the Wyckoff school location.

A membership meeting of the Eastern Christian constituency will be held in August at which time the program will be discussed.

Ed Favocci wins $25,000

Edward Favocci of North Haledon has won the top cash prize of $25,000 in the New Jersey Lottery's new weekly game, "Lottery Bingo."

Lottery Executive Director Gloria A. Decker announced that the prize was for the "Lottery Bingo" drawing held on Wednesday June 25.

Haledon happenings

July 2

Police responded to Belmont Avenue and Cook Street on a report of someone breaking bottles in the street. They were met by Paterson resident William O'Rourke, whose 1968 Buick had been damaged in the incident. O'Rourke said he had parked his car 40 minutes before, and found the windshield smashed when he returned. The approximate cost of the damage is $200. Police found no suspects in the area.

July 3

Haledon resident Gary Bunting of 425 Morrissee Avenue was arrested and charged with three motor vehicle violations, including leaving the scene of an accident at 6 am Thursday morning — two and a half hours after he was allegedly involved in an accident.

According to police, two cars parked facing north on Belmont Avenue were struck by the 1972 Ford driven by the 19-year-old Bunting, who then fled the scene without stopping.

The 1978 Chevrolet owned by Elizabeth Smith of 349 Belmont Avenue received minor damage and the 1972 Matador owned by Ronald Edwards of 256 N. 10th Street, Prospect Park received extensive damage.

Bunting was arrested at his home, after police observed a car parked out front with damage to the front end and right side.

July 6

In addition to leaving the scene of an accident, he was charged with careless driving and driving an unregistered vehicle.

Robert Suter of 114

Franklin Avenue, Hawthorne, reported the theft of his wallet from his unlocked 1977 Toyota while it was parked on N. 13th Street. The wallet contained $45.

Two women were injured in an accident which occurred on Pompton Road. According to the accident report, Ruth Ladson of 625 20th Avenue, Paterson, driving a 1975 Ford stopped for an on-call ambulance which was pulling out of William Paterson College entrance. A 1973 Chevrolet owned by Noble Johnson of Paterson, driven by Daniel Stephens of North Carolina struck Ladson's vehicle from behind. The 34-year-old Ladson and a passenger in her car, 47-year-old Rebecca Horton of Paterson were taken to Greater Paterson General Hospital in Wayne.

The service station at 485

Haledon Avenue was broken into sometime during the weekend. Forty-five dollars which had been in the cash register and five oil filters valued at $3 each were reported stolen from the station owned by Herb Brinkman of West Paterson. Entry was gained by breaking a rear window.

Eastern Christian, Manchester vandalized

North Haledon - What may have been a roving band of youths ransacked and vandalized Eastern Christian High School on Oakwood Avenue last week.

The estimate of the vandalism, property damage and stolen equipment was placed at over $20,000 by school officials. An undetermined amount of petty cash (less than $150) was also stolen.

Among other items missing were nine microphones, a new video-tape recorder, and numerous small items.

School officials theorize that the perpetrators did not enter the school to steal equipment. The destruction was described by Deputy Police Chief Edward Dombrowski as "wanton and incredible." He said, "I've never seen anything like this."

The break-in and vandalism was discovered by Eastern Christian School Association bookkeeper Helen Teisma when she entered the building at 8:30 am last Tuesday. She immediately called police.

Police see the possibility of a link between this gang and the one that vandalized Manchester Regional High School.

On July 1 at 6:50 am head custodian Roger Ciacin discovered the first Manchester break-in. Several classrooms were vandalized and two offices were broken into. An estimated $10,000 worth of equipment including four flutes, a saxophone, two piccolos, a trombone, a clarinet and other musical instruments were missing. On July 4, two windows on the ground level were broken by rocks.

At Eastern Christian the entire door knob assembly, including the locks, were torn from a study classroom and office doors; electric typewriters, microscopes and cameras were thrown on the floor; paintings in the superintendent's office and guidance office were gouged out; three large candy vending machines and one coke machine were demolished; desks were pulled apart, and the contents of entire rows of drawers of file cabinets were dumped on the floor.

Debris, paper and equipment were scattered throughout the school. Plate glass windows and interior door windows were smashed. Ironically, the Thursday night before the break-in, the Eastern Christian Board of Directors had approved the installation of an electronic security system for the entire school.

Police said the vandals apparently had a knowledge of the layout of the Christian School. They ransacked rooms on all levels of the building, including the projection room over the auditorium. Dombrowski said, "They used pry tools to get in and some of the rooms look as though they went to work with a vengeance and a sledgehammer."

Two clocks, hooked in with the school's bell system, were smashed and have since been repaired at a cost of $385. They stopped at 2:15 and 2:30 am.

Dombrowski said the police would keep confidential any information received regarding the Eastern Christian break-in. The North Haledon police telephone number is 423-1111.

One of the offices ransacked at Eastern Christian last week. An electric typewriter was thrown on the floor and confidential papers strewn about.

Abate graduates summa cum laude

Vicky Abate, daughter of Madelon Abate of Hawthorne and Victor Abate, Jr. of Paterson, graduated summa cum laude from Boston University on May 18. She received a Bachelor of Arts with distinction in psychology. As an undergraduate Abate was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa and Psi Chi, the national honor society in psychology. She is employed as an evaluation counselor at the Joseph Feinman Vocational Center in Haledon.

One adult and one juvenile were apprehended by police early Monday morning after they allegedly attempted to break in to the field house at Manchester Regional High School, 70 Church Street.

The incident was the third in one week that the high school was plagued by vandalism or theft. Police are still investigating the July 1 incident in which several classrooms and administrative offices were robbed of equipment and vandalized. Last Friday two more windows were found broken. Monday morning's latest disturbance is apparently unrelated to the previous incidents.

According to Haledon Police Sergeant John Campana was on patrol in the troubled area at 1:05 am when he observed two white males by the field house door. As he approached, the two suspects began to run. Campana called into headquarters for a back-up unit and Patrolman Harold Engold, Jr. arrived shortly after to assist.

Campana saw one of the suspects — a 16-year-old Paterson youth the police officer recognized, lying down on the bleachers. He called out to the youth who then fled the scene into the woods.

Chasing after him, Campana passed the field house and noticed the other suspect hiding underneath it.

He was identified as 18-year-old Bruce DeBlock, 38 Lakeshore Drive, Prospect Park. De Block was taken to headquarters and charged with attempted break and entry, property damage and trespassing. He was taken to Passaic County Jail in lieu of $2,000 bail.

Four juvenile complaints were signed against the 16-year-old suspect who was apprehended at his Paterson home at 6 am with the help of Paterson Police. The complaints were attempted break and entry, property damage trespassing and resisting arrest. The youth was taken to the Passaic County Children's Shelter, pending release to a guardian.

According to Haledon police, the suspects did not gain entry to the field house, but had apparently broken off a piece of the walkway near the building and were allegedly attempting to pry the door open.

HAWTHORNE TEACHERS ASSOCIATION:

No progress in current talks

by Daria Hoffman
"No progress at all" was made last Tuesday night when the Hawthorne Teachers' Association (HTA) and Board of Education negotiating teams met once again to discuss the 1980-81 contract, according to HTA president Peg Novicki. It was the first meeting held with the Public Employment Relations Commission (PERC) mediator Thomas Carey, whom it was hoped could facilitate an agreement between the two factions. So far, however outside mediation has not brought the two groups any closer to an agreement on any of the unresolved issues, which consist mainly of contract language and salary.

Carey has called for the two groups to meet without him on July 23, and with him present again on July 31. Both Novicki and Mary Gomes, chief negotiator for the teachers, expressed hopes that something will be accomplished at the July 23 meeting, especially since only a few items are scheduled to be negotiated. "That's if both sides come willing to say it's time to get down to some serious business," Novicki added.

She said, "The bottom line in negotiations, (no matter who comes in to mediate) is that both sides have to come together, sit down, behave reasonably and make an agreement. If not, you have conflict."

Gomes said she suspects that the Board of Education is being led to believe that everything can be resolved through the courts, (which, she adds, can be costly to the taxpayers) and blames the delay in negotiations on that.

She was referring to a recent scope of negotiations petition filed by the board with Public Employees Relations Commission (PERC) in an effort to determine what areas of the contract are non-negotiable, based on a recent state supreme court ruling. "This obstinance on the part of the board — its refusal to see the need for honest and above-board negotiations, is causing good teachers, who love teaching and love kids, to leave Hawthorne for elsewhere." She noted that in the past year, seven highly regarded teachers have left the district for better-paying teaching jobs.

She continued, "That is going to do severe damage to the school system and it's the children who are going to be hurt, and the board of education that is hurting them." Although the teachers are dissatisfied with the apparent lack of progress with negotiations since October, Novicki stated that a strike has not been threatened nor has the possibility of one been discussed with the teachers.

In response to a July 9 article in The Herald News, the Board of Education criticized the HTA for "threatening to reduce the school system to shambles by embarking on an illegal strike. The threat is loud and clear — 'we will ruin your schools if you do not knuckle under to our unreasonable demands.'"

Novicki said, "I can't help how the board perceives my remarks, but I did not threaten a strike." She explained that when the reporter asked her about the possibility of a strike she said, "A strike would be a mild response to the type of treatment we are receiving from the board negotiators. Did I say the teachers would strike?"

In regard to the board's accusation that HTA officers engaged in name-calling in releases to the press, Novicki (Continued on page 5)

HAWTHORNE BOARD OF EDUCATION:

Challenge to negotiate publicly

On July 10, the Hawthorne School board issued a press release challenging the Hawthorne Teachers' Association to open negotiations. The press release, which has the unanimous support of its members, is as follows:

The Board of Education is extremely distressed at the reprehensible conduct of the Hawthorne Teachers' Association with respect to the current collective bargaining process. The height of improper conduct was reached during the last week as reflected in press releases made by the Hawthorne Teachers' Association officers. The contents of the press releases are saturated with not only crude, and senseless name calling, but deliberate misrepresentations of the good faith bargaining that the Board of Education has strictly adhered to throughout the entire period of the current negotiations.

The board will not engage in name calling. The board will not engage in misrepresentations of facts or violate its obligations to bargain in good faith no matter how irresponsible the Hawthorne Teachers' Association, through its leaders, behaves.

What is apparent, however, is the deliberate intent by the Hawthorne Teachers' Association to threaten not the Board of Education, but the citizens of Hawthorne to reduce the school system to shambles by embarking on a strike. The threat is loud and clear — "We will ruin your schools if you do not knuckle under to our unreasonable demands. It can be truthfully stated that from the inception of the current negotiations, the words, "This is the year to strike" were constantly repeated throughout the community.

The Board of Education as the elected representatives of the citizenry of this community state to the Hawthorne Teachers' Association in clear and uncertain terms that they have underestimated the strength and vigor of this community. The citizens of Hawthorne will not be bullied and will not knuckle under to strike threats. There is one appropriate action for the Hawthorne Teachers' Association to pursue and that is to apologize, not to the Board of Education, but to the citizens of this community for their irrational conduct and irresponsible statements.

In order to avoid any misunderstanding as to the unquestioned good faith bargaining by the Board of Education, the Hawthorne Teachers' Association is hereby challenged to conduct all negotiations in public. The Board of Education is agreeable that all negotiations, common mediation and any other meetings pertaining to teacher negotiations, be conducted in public at the high school. In this way, there will no longer be the half-truths, the common misrepresentations and the one-sided versions which the Hawthorne Teachers' Association has improperly been providing through various press releases. The public should understand that collective bargaining in negotiations, unless all parties agree, must be conducted in private. Yet the Hawthorne Teachers' Association in the utmost of bad faith, insists on meeting in private and then telling in public their inaccurate version of what transpired at the private sessions.

The law is clear that if both parties agree, negotiations can be conducted in public. The public and the press in atten-

This week's heat wave had borough hall employees tapping their resources of Yankee ingenuity for ways to cope with the 90° plus temperatures. A breakdown in the air conditioning system contributed to the humid conditions, but someone in police headquarters brought in a block of dry ice to put in front of the fan while Lt. Carmine Terrizzi was on the desk. The part needed for the air conditioner has been ordered by the borough is expected to arrive next week.

Draft sign-ups to begin at the post office next week

by Donna Rizio

Following House passed legislation, borough men born in 1960 and 1961 will be required to sign up for draft registration between July 21 and August 2 at the Hawthorne Post Office. Under President Carter's draft bill, all the nation's 19 and 20-year-old men will be required to fill out forms at the nation's 34,000 post offices during this two week period.

Women will not be required to register for the draft. The President's original registration plan included a clause for 19 and 20 year old women. That clause required separate debating, voting and approval since draft registration for women is unprecedented. The American Civil Liberties Union filed suit seeking to strike down the Congress-passed draft registration law on the grounds of sex discrimination.

President Carter described the registration process as a means of "maintaining peace." The measure will not include a peace-time draft. "I am not in favor of a peace-time draft. We will continue to rely on voluntary enlistment by the military forces to defend our country," the president said. The nation stopped draft registration under the Nixon administration. Carter asked for registration in his State of the Union address in January, saying it was needed to counter Soviet aggression.

Men born in 1960 must register the week of July 21.
Men born in 1961 must register the week of July 28.

Under terms of the bill, men born in 1960 will be required to register during the week beginning July 21, while those born in 1961 will be required to register the week beginning July 28. To alleviate lines at the post office, certain weekdays will be set aside for certain months of birth. Those born in January, February or March should register on Monday. Those with birthdays in April, May or June will register on Tuesday. July, August and September birthdays will register on Wednesday. October, November and December birthdays will register on Thursday. Friday and Saturday morning will be set aside as make-up times for those who could not register at their designated times. Beginning next January, men born in 1962 will register. Those born in subsequent years will be required to register when they turn 18.

Name, address, phone number, date of birth and social security number are required on the registration form. All will be required to inform Selective Service of any address change, including college.

No draft cards will be issued as with previous registrations. The information supplied will be forwarded to the Selective Service System and placed in computers. Approximately 90 days after registration, each registrant will be mailed an acknowledgement letter.

Registrants will not be given physical examinations or be classified. All men in the designated years are required to register. Inclusive are the disabled, handicapped, military reservists, and members of the national guard. The only men exempt from registration are members of the active armed forces, cadets or midshipmen at the service academies and non-immigrant aliens.

Men who fail to register could face a maximum five years in prison and a $10,000 fine should government officials seek to prosecute.

Borough residents have mixed reactions to the draft bill. Talk of registration evokes talk of war and its ramifications.

One 21 year old male stated, "I feel relieved I don't have to register," but added that he would become involved in the services if there were a war.

Decision pending on five motor vehicle violations

Three charges of assault and one of criminal mischief against Bergenfield resident James Dalto were referred directly to the Grand Jury last Thursday night in municipal court. Also referred to the Grand Jury were two charges related to the same case — complaints of assault signed by Dalto against Hawthorne Police Lt. Carmine Terrizzi and Ptl. Leon Bay.

Eugene B. Williams of Paterson was released on his own recognizance after his arraignment Thursday night by Judge Donald Reenstra. The former employee of the Pied Piper Ice Cream Co. is accused of the theft of assorted items and cash from the company.

Also at last week's session, five motor vehicle charges against Ambrose Mitchell, of 4 Tenth Avenue, were tried. Only one of the charges — that he drove an uninsured motor vehicle — was decided Thursday night. During the course of the trial Mitchell admitted he didn't have insurance and was found guilty. For that offense, his license was revoked for six months as required by law, and he was fined $50 and $15 costs.

Judge Reenstra reserved decision in the rest of the charges, leaving the scene of two accidents and driving under the influence of drugs, to research some "close legal questions" involved in the cases because of the circumstances surrounding the alleged offenses.

The charges all stemmed from three automobile accidents Mitchell was allegedly involved in on June 13th during the early morning.

Hawthorne Ptl. Andrew Turco arrested Mitchell at 10th Avenue and East 28th Street in Paterson, about two blocks from the scene of the third accident.

Turco testified that he began pursuing Mitchell in Hawthorne at Central and Tenth Avenues — the scene of the first accident — in which extensive damage was done to a parked vehicle. Witnesses reportedly told him that a yellow Cadillac had just struck the vehicle and fled the scene.

Turco said he followed a trail of debris left by the vehicle and in front of Wizard's Tavern came upon a second accident which had just occurred. Witnesses again described a yellow Cadillac and Turco resumed his pursuit into Paterson. Witnesses at the third accident in Paterson, pointed down the block at a yellow Cadillac.

Turco said the car could no longer be operated and identified the driver as the defendant, Ambrose Mitchell.

Turco, who has been in the narcotics division of the Hawthorne Police Department for 10 years and has been trained in all aspects of drug use and abuse, testified that from his experience and observation of the defendant, he believed Mitchell was under the influence of drugs.

He said there was no odor of alcohol on his breath, and the breathalyzer test indicated there was no alcohol in the blood. However, he described Mitchell as "disoriented, staggering, leaning against the car, abusive and belligerent" and said that his speech was slow and slurred, his pupils were dilated and his face flushed.

According to Mitchell's own testimony, he was under the care of a physician for leg and head injuries he received as a passenger in an earlier automobile accident. The night the three accidents occurred, he had been to the doctor and received a prescription for Fiorinal, a barbiturate derivative to relieve pain.

Mitchell's attorney, Douglas Smith, presented into evidence a copy of the bill for the doctor visit and a copy of the prescription. When questioned Turco said he was familiar with the medication and that it could cause side effects similar to the behavior displayed by Mitchell on the night of the accident.

In his testimony Mitchell admitted that he was driving the Cadillac on June 13, but "unknowingly," he claimed.

He said he took the first pill at about 2:30 pm and the second four hours later as directed. He didn't recall how many he had taken after that and did not recall hitting any of the vehicles. He said that he did remember leaving his house, making a turn from Central Avenue to Lincoln Avenue. The next thing he said he remembered was being stopped in his car in Paterson and being arrested.

In Mitchell's defense Smith argued that he was under the influence "to a point where he did not comprehend what occurred." He said that although Mitchell was driving under the influence of a drug, it was a legally prescribed prescription, widely used for migraine headaches, and should not be considered a controlled dangerous substance.

Reenstra merged the complaint of being under the influence of a controlled dangerous substance into the complaint of driving under the influence of drugs.

Smith said that Mitchell "cannot be convicted of leaving the scene" because to be guilty of that violation the accused must know there was an accident and must have the intent to leave.

He claimed that since his client was under the influence of the medication which could cause the behavior he exhibited on the night of the accident, those two conditions were not presented.

Reenstra said that after researching the questions involved he would notify Smith and Mitchell of his decision in the three charges by mail.

Gustavo Lopez, 187 Grove Street, Passaic, was found guilty of stealing a mini-bike from the backyard of a borough resident. He received a $250 fine.

Charged with the same offense, Ruben Torres, 339 Straight Street, Paterson, was also found guilty and fined $250. Three additional motor vehicle violations against Torres were postponed for trial for one week.

A Saddle Brook resident was found guilty of possession of fireworks. Michael Lamparillo was fined $50 for the violation.

Shawn P. Reilly, 55 Lynack Road, received a $25 fine for riding on the roof of a car.

Albert J. Capalbo of Ridgewood was found guilty of misuse of automobile registration for which he was fined $25. Capalbo explained that he owns five cars and the wrong plates had been put on the car unintentionally. He was found not guilty of a charge that he drove an unregistered vehicle.

Gossip On Parade (GOP)

Predictions of a day of fun in the sun at the old New Jersey shore became a certainty as 1200 members and friends of the Hawthorne Unit of the Passaic County Republican League left the borough on their annual trip to Asbury Park last Saturday. The occasion marked the 45th annual bus ride of the unit to the seashore resort. Special guests included Congressional Candidate William R. Cleveland, Freeholder candidate Walter Porter and special members of the Reagan for President team. Commitments to the GOP National Convention prevented the other candidates from attending.

At The Shore

At the shore, Mayor Louis Bay, 2nd, expressed his thanks for the splendid turnout of residents and out of town friends "who made this affair another great success". He particularly noted that Hawthorne was always the strongest Republican community in the county and predicted that in November, borough voters will again be instrumental in carrying the Republicans to victory on all levels of government.

The annual ride has been labeled "the granddaddy of political outings" in the state. Although most of the unit's previous outings have been to Asbury Park, exceptions included trips to the New York World's Fair, boat excursions up the Hudson River and Manhattan. There were also bus rides to Greenwood Lake during the World War II years.

President Bert Vanden Berg, Jr., expressed his special thanks to the committee and all of the bus captains for doing such an outstanding job in making this year's event another success.

Vanden Berg, Jr., was well represented with his lovely family: his mother, Mrs. Bert Vanden Berg, Sr., daughter Kim; sons Bert III and Kirk; sisters, Lynda and Geraldine; nephews Gerald, Robbie and Leigh. They sure set a good example of loyalty.

Raymond L. Rhodes, unit founder, greeted the crowd at the starting point. He certainly looks forward to seeing his many friends who have been in attendance since its inception. Mayor Louis Bay, 2nd; wife, Emeline and daughter, Barbara Donahue enjoyed the day. The mayor's attendance at these outings have been 100%.

Commissioner Arthur Brokaw was checking out to see that all of the swimmers in the ocean had badges.

Commissioner Anthony Ross and wife Yvette enjoyed themselves strolling along the boardwalk. Former Deputy County Clerk and Borough Clerk Norman W. Hopper was also in attendance. The former president and leader of the Hawthorne Unit for 21 years ran these outings smoothly for many years. He received tremendous applause from GOP workers at the candidates' luncheon.

Freeholder Candidate Walter Porter and wife Mildred greeted many of their many friends. They were accompanied by Congressional Candidate William R. Cleveland.

Tax Assessor Chris Collins was evaluating several pieces of property. The results of her evaluation was that casino gambling would go well in Asbury Park. Her hubby, Ed, and friends, Jack and Ruth Brutschy, were leaving by car to enjoy a shore dinner. Ruth is employed in the tax office.

Education Commissioner Linda Missonelle enjoyed the day at the shore with her family. Her husband, Bill, is the borough's new "beau brummel".

Zoning Administrator and Board of Health Commissioner J. Robert Schuring and his charming wife Marge were happy to have their granddaughter Janele with them for the day. The senior Schurings also went along to enjoy the day.

Edie Floyd, wife of former Commissioner

Harold S. Floyd was her usual self — always helping others.

Tax Assessor Chris Collins was evaluating several pieces of property. The results of her evaluation was that casino gambling would go well in Asbury Park. Her hubby, Ed, and friends, Jack and Ruth Brutschy, were leaving by car to enjoy a shore dinner. Ruth is employed in the tax office.

The area's dried up . . . now do the clean-up

With the extremely dry conditions we've been experiencing in this area during the past few weeks, the Goffle Brook has been reduced to a trickle. As a result, the debris that's usually floating in the water behind Thomas Road South at the end of the brook has become all too visible.

The area, as pictured in the photo at the right, can easily be termed an eyesore. That's not the worst part of the situation, however. The accumulation of old tires, tree branches, wood etc. forms a natural dam that contributes to the severe flooding condition that plagues the Goffle-Wagaraw Road and North 8th Street area in times of normal rainfall.

We think the time is right to embark on a clean-up campaign that will rid this area of the mess that's there. However, we predict that this suggestion will precipitate a jurisdictional feud over who's the responsible party. We picture county officials passing the buck back and forth with local departments over who must do the clean up or prod some private companies into taking action.

It's important to capitalize on the drought-like condition and turn this time to the advantage of the public good.

Maybe these few words and the accompanying photo will give the proper leaders the impetus needed to take immediate action. Then the next time it rains businesses and property owners in that area won't have to curse the situation.

Working mother answers Nawyn

Dear editor,

Some of us "working mothers" feel that Bert Nawyn's comments in last week's Hawthorne Press were unfair to the women who have no choice but to go to business each day. Mr. Nawyn has put a good deal of the blame for juvenile delinquency on us. We agree that destruction of property is inexcusable and should not be tolerated by anyone, but we do not feel that working mothers should take the blame.

First of all, most of the crimes are committed at night when both parents are at home and many of these crimes are done by children who have the pleasure of having a mother at home all day. Secondly, I don't think many of these teenagers would want to spend their afternoons sitting at home keeping their mother company. How many mothers, at home all day, can keep track of their teenage children's whereabouts? Children want to be with children — not mothers.

Most of the working mothers today are not there to be fulfilled or to buy a second home, a pool, or enjoy a cruise. We're working to help pay for food, clothing and the rising utility bills to keep our families healthy. We're trying to take some of the pressures of today's economy from our husbands and maybe help them to enjoy a week at the shore or the lake for vacation. Mothers trying to raise children by themselves are having an especially trying time in today's economic conditions.

As Mr. Nawyn himself states, "It's hard enough to make ends meet."

Sincerely,

A working mother

Shortway thanks all who helped her

July 1, 1980

Dear editor,

Since I first learned that my kidneys would no longer function properly, a great many people have given me the support I needed to fight this condition. The recent surgical procedure I had (Continuous Ambulatory Peritoneal Dialysis CAPD) had to be removed earlier this month due to an infection. I am now back on the dialysis machine three times a week.

My reason for writing this letter is to express my appreciation to all those who participated in the Debbie Shortway night held recently at the Golden Steer. There are several individuals who deserve mention: Willy Sansone, the bowlers at GMC, the contributors at GMC, the Golden Steer golf team, Terry Ryan of Hansen Ryan Insurance Co.; Hank Van Beuzekom, Hilltop Dairy, BPO Elks 2260, the Royal Order of Raccoons and Pat Lawler of High Mountain Country Club.

I also extend a special thank you to Bob and Sue Ellen Brady of the Golden Steer for sponsoring this fundraiser and to my family and friends and everyone who attended this affair or who helped out in any way.

Sincerely,

Debbie Shortway

Three local juveniles between the ages of 11 and 14 were apprehended by police when they were found to have been involved with the theft of $10 from the cash box at the office of the Hawthorne Tennis Club, 1103 Goffle Road. Restitution was made and the youths were released to their parents.

July 9

After observing a man acting in a suspicious manner behind the Pied Piper Ice Cream Co. building, 131 Goffle Road, a Hawthorne policeman pulled the man over and noticed packages of frozen ice cream, candy and soda in the back of the car.

The driver, who was later identified as the owner of the car, fled the vehicle. Police said that later that morning he called into headquarters regarding the recovery of his "stolen" car. When he appeared at headquarters he was arrested and charged with the theft from the ice cream company.

He was identified as 20-year-old Eugene Williams of 258 18th

Avenue, Paterson, a former employee of the company. Williams is also suspected of causing damage to the radiators of several cars which were parked on the property. The vandalism is still being investigated, however, and no charge has been filed.

July 11

Allan Lloyd, 15 Greenwood Avenue, reported that his rural-type mail box was damaged with a firecracker.

James P. Fitzgerald was arrested in Washington Township, for not paying the balance of a fine he owed to the municipal court. Thursday night, during the local court session, Fitzgerald was allowed two hours to obtain the money and return to court to pay it. He did not return and was rearrested July 12th and taken to the Passaic County Jail.

July 11

Two false fire alarms were pulled, one from the Vreeland and First Avenue box at 11:43 pm and the other from the Diamond Bridge Avenue and May Street box at 11:50 pm. All companies responded.

Robert Hart, 65 Union Street, reported that one of the windows on his car was broken with a thrown rock sometime during the night.

July 13

An undetermined amount of jewelry, money and fur coats was stolen from the burglarized home of James Gallagher, 47 Beverly Road. Entry was made by forcing the rear door, and the rooms were ransacked.

July 14

After hearing noise at 12:07 am a borough resident looked outside and saw two men with a power lawn mower tractor in her driveway. The men fled in a white pick-up when she turned on the lights. Police investigated and found that the lawnmower, valued at $300, had been stolen from Scotty's Power Equipment Co., 282 Lincoln Avenue. The mower was returned.

Reaction to draft sign-up

Dave White, 19, would also become involved if there were a war. Commenting on the draft registration, White said, "It's a waste of time. If they (the government) are going to do this every time there's a problem, it'll cost a lot of money."

White also stated disapproval with the arbitrary ruling for 19 and 20 year olds. "Why single out two age groups?" he said.

Another 19-year-old male stated, "I'll register. What can I do? I have to register. If they want me, they'll find me."

Bobby Hazekamp, 18, associates draft registration with a possible war. "They put us through school and before we can do anything with ourselves, they put us to war."

Dina Amalfitano, 17, is against draft registration and also thinks it's unfair that she was quoted as saying in the article. "If men are being registered, women should be too," she said, adding her belief that neither men nor women should be registered.

Jeff D'Amato, 18, said, "I guess I'm for it." He commented that it is needed for the nation's security.

Kenneth Kardanow, 19, is against the registration and sees it as a possible precursor for war.

Tom Gemma, 18, stated, "I think it's ridiculous. It's a ploy for him (Carter) to get re-elected. It's just putting us steps closer to a real draft. Then, when there's a little scare, it makes it that much easier to bring in troops for a war."

Gossip On Parade (GOP)

Crowley and wife Fran were really enjoying the day with all of their many friends.

The GOP county committee was very well represented!!! They are: Bob McKinley, Henry Jousra, Adele Butterworth, Dot Hughes, Henry Plumbers, Bess Fontanella, Stanley Potocki, Janet Ver Voorn, Henry Hurtz, Margaret Snyder, Ralph Snyder, John Juselman, George and Jane Loehwing and Walter Dewey.

Wilhelmina Holster, one of the GOP's outstanding vote getters and ticket sellers and also a former county committeewoman, was busy greeting all of her many friends. Wilhelmina has gone over the 100 membership mark for the unit. What would the unit do without her?

Jean L. Hughes, registrar of vital statistics, was looking around to see if she could get anyone hitched!!! Quite a few possibilities were seen. She is the Hawthorne's "cupid" and always lends a helping hand to others. Hubby Jim, drove down and was reminiscing with his old ball playing friends Walter Porter and Jack Brutschy.

Prospect Park bankers Dick Kuiphoff and Pete Cronk have never let the group down yet. School Board Commissioner Jack Meeter was discussing the many future prospects for the borough with Prosecutor Dewey.

The ride wouldn't be the same without the Prospect Park group. Carl Vander Sluis always arranges to charter a busload to these outings!!! Enjoying the boardwalk and cool sea breezes were: Jerry Woldarczyk, Bill Findlay, Joe Gordon, Vince Tamburro, Ray and Hazel Guernic, Margaret Bieber, Vera Schilling, Sid and Clara Reenstra, Marge and Cyril Leyman and Henry and Carolyn Jousra.

The Lynch family from Fair Lawn also were in attendance. Doris hasn't missed a trip yet.

Teachers group responds clarified another statement she was quoted as saying in the article.

"I did not call the board members robber-baron coal mine owners. I said 'the Neanderthal approach to negotiations the board has adopted makes the robber-baron coal mine owners look like champions of labor.'"

Novicki said that she made the statements hoping her comments "would shock the board into seeing the seriousness" of the negotiation situation.

She expressed concern over the fact that it is the middle of July, many people are probably going away on vacation in August "and we are without a contract."

In her opinion, the teachers' requests, termed "unreasonable demands" by the board, are "quite minimal."

Gomes said, "The 'unreasonable demands' the teachers are making are to keep working conditions as they have been and to negotiate a living wage. If a taxpayer sees those demands are unreasonable, I don't quite understand reasonableness. It is unreasonable in these times of inflation to expect teachers to be willing to take what amounts to a 28% cut in purchasing power, which is what the board is asking us to do." In response to the board's challenge for open negotiations, Novicki said she is opposed to the idea, unless as she jokingly said, the public would pay an entertainment fee and the board split the box office with the HTA. "Negotiation is a give and take process and people must be free to speak," she said. She doesn't think anything could be accomplished by public negotiations because the public would naturally take sides and both negotiating parties would come to the bargaining table with a firm stand and they would not be able to reason and talk the differences out.

Gomes said, "If they really want to hold negotiations in public, if they really want to let their constituency see what they are trying to do to the educational system in Hawthorne, I'd say, 'let's have it.'"

H.T.A. refuses to accept this challenge, as undoubtedly it will, there will no longer by any dispute as to which party seeks to obscure the truth and which party desires that the truth be known.

In a key Division 2 contest, Johnny & Hanges utilized a four-run fourth inning to defeat Hook Supply, 6-4, and remain in contention for that division crown as well as a wild card playoff berth.

Bill Matarazzo was the pitching and hitting star for Johnny & Hanges, gaining the mound victory while going three-for-three at the plate, including a home run and two RBI.

Trailing 2-0, Hanges rallied in the fourth behind singles by Rich Buker, Pat Salvemini and Steve Vetchiotte. Matarazzo worked across the first run with a walk, Dave Kleppe brought in the next tally with a fielder's choice and the other two runs scored on a throwing error off a ball hit by George Yost.

The victory moved Johnny & Hanges within one game of Hook Supply, which could have clinched a tie for the division crown if it had won.

In other games, the Raiders trimmed McGill's Express, 18-14, with five runs in the ninth inning. Rolling Hills clubbed 10 home runs, including two each for Steve Wassel and Jim Bergen, en route to a 28-4 slashing of the Jaycees.

Artwork & Graphics kept its wild card hopes alive with an 8-4 triumph over Van Beuzekom. Appliance as Gus Schell and Frank Hollis had three hits each. Lex Greenwood had five hits and five runs scored to power undefeated Minicozzi Construction past Arthur Groom & Co., 23-7.

Jim Haugh's triple in the seventh inning proved to be the winning hit as the Late Bunch sliced the Hawthorne Deli, 8-6. Terry Cahoon had three hits for the winners and played a fine defensive shortstop.

In the Johnny & Hanges win, Ed Fiore, John Yost and Salvemini finished with two hits each. Kleppe had two runs scored. Matarazzo hit his seventh home run in the ninth inning to give the winners a two-run cushion.

Alan Scarmazzo and Frank Zyskowski had three hits each for Hook Supply, while Scarmazzo and Cliff Conkleton clubbed home runs. Zyskowski had a triple.

Glenn Rees headed the McGill's hitting with four hits in four at bats while Bob Slovic had four hits and Stan Kasica added three safeties.

Gordy Muth, George Richardson, Marty Boyd, Tony Ventrella, Pete Vandervelde and Bill Wassel Sr. all hit home runs for Rolling Hills. Brian McAlese and Wassel totalled four hits each, followed by Muth, Richardson, Bergen, Vandervelde and Roger Post with three each.

Bob McNeerney's three-run double in the fourth inning helped give Artwork & Graphics a 7-0 lead. Tom Banks and Jim Walsh had two hits each for the winners, who got a fine pitching performance from Bruce Nellessen (2-1). Mark Neri and Fred Cristelli played fine defense for that team.

Wayne Schwartz ignited the Van Beuzekom hitting with three hits, including a double and a home run. Paul Clafello and Ralph Forte had two hits each while John Motichka drove across two runs with a single in the seventh.

Bill Fox (5-4) pitched a fine game in a losing cause.

John Minicozzi and Bill Ficaro collected four hits each for Minicozzi Construction, followed by Joe Boyle, Steve Agnes, Joe DeLaures, Ken George and Joe Michalski with three each. George had a home run and finished with eight RBI in the game.

DeLaures was the winning pitcher, gaining his 10th strike out of the season. Mike Michalski scored his 32nd run of the season, top in the league. Boyle played a smooth defensive left field, flawlessly hauling in nine fly balls, including two sinking drives. George also played fine defense.

Billy "Tudor" Carafello had three hits and three RBI for Arthur Groom while teammate Rich Meyer added three hits and two RBI. Mich Rinaldi and Steve Nuiver contributed two hits each while Gary Garner and Mark Van Ry scored two runs each.

Frank Nero, Dave Simon, Billy Schuck and Haugh had two hits each for the Late Bunch. Bob Rafferty led the Deli hitting with four safeties while Hank Tognetti added three. Alex Wallington, Al Tracey and Vinnie Mottola collected two hits each.

Sasso accounted for Hawthorne's other run when he stole home with one out in the fifth.

After Hawthorne's big three-run inning in the fifth, the team had a 4-0 lead with only six outs to go. Oakland finally put some hits together off George Kirchner (who also had a double) and cut the lead to one, 4-3.

Kirchner who had seven strikeouts and no walks, gave up only five hits as he quickly retired the side in order in Oakland's sixth inning. Hawthorne tallied its second straight victory.

All Stars rack up a 2-0 record in the PAL tournament

The Hawthorne all-stars senior division is off and flying with a 2-0 record in the North Jersey P.A.L. Tournament.

On Thursday July 10 Hawthorne hosted the Mahwah all-stars and pulled out a tight 5-3 decision.

After jumping off to a quick 2-0 lead Hawthorne starter Mark Ptak gave up three runs and Hawthorne trailed 3-2 going into the bottom of the fifth. Pinch hitter Jim Stansfield led off with a line single to right. Mahwah's right fielder misplayed the ball and Stansfield raced all the way home to the score at three all. Bill Sansone followed with a double off the fence in left and was driven home on Mark Ptak's single. Ptak later stole home for Hawthorne's fifth run and Hawthorne had a 5-3 lead.

Ptak, who ended up with nine strikeouts and pitched his way out of bases loaded jams in the fourth and fifth had no trouble disposing of the Mahwah hitters in the sixth. Hawthorne had a victory and a 1-0 record in the tournament.

On Saturday July 12, Hawthorne traveled to Oakland and hung on for a 4-3 victory. Leftfielder Ken Iannaccone had a big day with three RBI including a two-run homer in the fifth. Mike

Three teams remain in girls invitational tournament

The Invitational Softball Tournament started in Hawthorne on Monday, July 7. Teams from Hawthorne, West Milford, Prospect Park, Saddle Brook, Ramsey, Guttenberg, Elmwood Park, Montvale, and Midland Park are participating. The teams are eliminated when they lose two games. The team which finishes with none or one loss wins the tournament.

July 7

The girls from the Hawthorne all-star team scored six runs in the first inning and went on to defeat the Prospect Park team 17-1. The Hawthorne team slammed out 14 hits, including seven extra base hits. Hawthorne's Shirley Giacomaro hit two triples. Vera Gatto had a home run, Jeanne Popper and Karen Sneden tripled, and Sandy White and Carmel E'Alessio each added a double. Jennifer O'Sullivan was the winning pitcher and pitched a fine game.

Ramsey beat Saddle Brook 4-1, Elmwood Park shutout Guttenberg 7-0, and Midland Park won their game over Montvale 14-2.

July 8

Ramsey beat West Milford 11-3 to win its second game in the tournament. Saddle Brook beat Guttenberg by the score of 9-4. Montvale defeated Prospect Park 8-5. Guttenberg and Prospect Park were eliminated from the tournament.

July 9

Hawthorne used timely hits, good baserunning, defense, and pitching to beat previously undefeated Midland Park 9-2. In the top of the second Sandy White and Vera Gatto both scored to give the hometown team a 2-0 lead. The winning team added one run in the third.

Hawthorne broke the game wide open when they scored six runs in the fifth inning. Shirley Giacomaro, Cindy Allyn, and Marian Denise contributed key hits in Hawthorne's big inning. Midland Park came back to score two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning but the local team prevailed. Jennifer O'Sullivan won her second game for the Hawthorne all-stars.

In other action, the Elmwood Park team also won its second game of the tournament by beating Ramsey 3-1 and West Milford defeated Montvale 16-4. Montvale was eliminated from the tournament.

July 10

The Saddle Brook team defeated Midland Park to win its second game of the tournament. In a see-saw battle the Ramsey girls defeated West Milford 10-7 for their third win. Midland Park and West Milford were eliminated from the tournament.

July 11

Elmwood Park remained undefeated in the hometown tournament by squeaking past Hawthorne 3-2 and handing the hometown team its first loss. In the first inning Hawthorne had a 2-0 lead when Barbie Zuidema and Carmel D'Alessio scored. Good defense and pitching shown by Elmwood Park kept Hawthorne from getting another run. Elmwood Park scored one run in the second, third, and sixth inning to win the game.

Saddle Brook handed Ramsey its second loss in the tournament by the score of 11-2. The three remaining teams in the tournament are Elmwood Park, Hawthorne, and Saddle Brook.

Rotarians honor girls team

The Hawthorne High School girls softball team was honored by the Hawthorne Rotary Club at a recent dinner meeting held at the Tides in North Haledon. The 1980 squad was the BPSL champions and advanced to the finals of the state championship and the semifinals of the county championship.

In addition, the team's catcher Mary Wrenn was voted Passaic County's student-athlete of the year. She also was named all league, all county, all area and all suburban. Lisa Bender, Michele Christen and Nancy Boer were also named to first team of all four of these honors; Renee Testa, second team, all four and Jennifer Siletti, honorable mention, all four. Lisa Minnema was cited for all suburban, second team and Terry Dooley, honorable mention, all area.

Lex Greenwood, who was named all suburban coach of the year, thanked the Rotarians for sponsoring this affair. He stated that he was proud of his hometown, in view of the fact that he was now coaching many of daughters of the men who used to be his childhood idols as ball players when he was young. "The fact that they chose to live here and send their kids to Hawthorne High speaks well for our town," he stated.

Rotary President Gene Huckle introduced the guests at the head table who included Dr. Frank Chiofalo Jr., superintendent of schools; Dr. Robert Hausner, HHS principal; Commissioner Arthur Brokaw and former HHS Athletic Director Al King, among others. Many expressions of appreciation were given to the girls for the fine job they have done in the 1980 season.

Bill Matarazzo was the pitching and hitting star for Johnny & Hanges, gaining the mound victory while going three-for-three at the plate, including a home run and two RBI.

Trailing 2-0, Hanges rallied in the fourth behind singles by Rich Buker, Pat Salvemini and Steve Vetchiotte. Matarazzo worked across the first run with a walk, Dave Kleppe brought in the next tally with a fielder's choice and the other two runs scored on a throwing error off a ball hit by George Yost.

The victory moved Johnny & Hanges within one game of Hook Supply, which could have clinched a tie for the division crown if it had won.

In other games, the Raiders trimmed McGill's Express, 18-14, with five runs in the ninth inning. Rolling Hills clubbed 10 home runs, including two each for Steve Wassel and Jim Bergen, en route to a 28-4 slashing of the Jaycees.

Artwork & Graphics kept its wild card hopes alive with an 8-4 triumph over Van Beuzekom. Appliance as Gus Schell and Frank Hollis had three hits each. Lex Greenwood had five hits and five runs scored to power undefeated Minicozzi Construction past Arthur Groom & Co., 23-7.

Jim Haugh's triple in the seventh inning proved to be the winning hit as the Late Bunch sliced the Hawthorne Deli, 8-6. Terry Cahoon had three hits for the winners and played a fine defensive shortstop.

In the Johnny & Hanges win, Ed Fiore, John Yost and Salvemini finished with two hits each. Kleppe had two runs scored. Matarazzo hit his seventh home run in the ninth inning to give the winners a two-run cushion.

Alan Scarmazzo and Frank Zyskowski had three hits each for Hook Supply, while Scarmazzo and Cliff Conkleton clubbed home runs. Zyskowski had a triple.

Glenn Rees headed the McGill's hitting with four hits in four at bats while Bob Slovic had four hits and Stan Kasica added three safeties.

Bob McNeerney's three-run double in the fourth inning helped give Artwork & Graphics a 7-0 lead. Tom Banks and Jim Walsh had two hits each for the winners, who got a fine pitching performance from Bruce Nellessen (2-1). Mark Neri and Fred Cristelli played fine defense for that team.

Wayne Schwartz ignited the Van Beuzekom hitting with three hits, including a double and a home run. Paul Clafello and Ralph Forte had two hits each while John Motichka drove across two runs with a single in the seventh.

Bill Fox (5-4) pitched a fine game in a losing cause.

John Minicozzi and Bill Ficaro collected four hits each for Minicozzi Construction, followed by Joe Boyle, Steve Agnes, Joe

All Stars rack up a 2-0 record in the PAL tournament

The Hawthorne all-stars senior division is off and flying with a 2-0 record in the North Jersey P.A.L. Tournament.

On Thursday July 10 Hawthorne hosted the Mahwah all-stars and pulled out a tight 5-3 decision.

After jumping off to a quick 2-0 lead Hawthorne starter Mark Ptak gave up three runs and Hawthorne trailed 3-2 going into the bottom of the fifth. Pinch hitter Jim Stansfield led off with a line single to right. Mahwah's right fielder misplayed the ball and Stansfield raced all the way home to the score at three all. Bill Sansone followed with a double off the fence in left and was driven home on Mark Ptak's single. Ptak later stole home for Hawthorne's fifth run and Hawthorne had a 5-3 lead.

Ptak, who ended up with nine strikeouts and pitched his way out of bases loaded jams in the fourth and fifth had no trouble disposing of the Mahwah hitters in the sixth. Hawthorne had a victory and a 1-0 record in the tournament.

On Saturday July 12, Hawthorne traveled to Oakland and hung on for a 4-3 victory. Leftfielder Ken Iannaccone had a big day with three RBI including a two-run homer in the fifth. Mike

Sasso accounted for Hawthorne's other run when he stole home with one out in the fifth.

After Hawthorne's big three-run inning in the fifth, the team had a 4-0 lead with only six outs to go. Oakland finally put some hits together off George Kirchner (who also had a double) and cut the lead to one, 4-3.

Kirchner who had seven strikeouts and no walks, gave up only five hits as he quickly retired the side in order in Oakland's sixth inning. Hawthorne tallied its second straight victory.

Rotarians honor girls team

The Hawthorne High School girls softball team was honored by the Hawthorne Rotary Club at a recent dinner meeting held at the Tides in North Haledon. The 1980 squad was the BPSL champions and advanced to the finals of the state championship and the semifinals of the county championship.

In addition, the team's catcher Mary Wrenn was voted Passaic County's student-athlete of the year. She also was named all league, all county, all area and all suburban. Lisa Bender, Michele Christen and Nancy Boer were also named to first team of all four of these honors; Renee Testa, second team, all four and Jennifer Siletti, honorable mention, all four. Lisa Minnema was cited for all suburban, second team and Terry Dooley, honorable mention, all area.

Lex Greenwood, who was named all suburban coach of the year, thanked the Rotarians for sponsoring this affair. He stated that he was proud of his hometown, in view of the fact that he was now coaching many of daughters of the men who used to be his childhood idols as ball players when he was young. "The fact that they chose to live here and send their kids to Hawthorne High speaks well for our town," he stated.

Rotary President Gene Huckle introduced the guests at the head table who included Dr. Frank Chiofalo Jr., superintendent of schools; Dr. Robert Hausner, HHS principal; Commissioner Arthur Brokaw and former HHS Athletic Director Al King, among others. Many expressions of appreciation were given to the girls for the fine job they have done in the 1980 season.

Prospect Park rate is $4.70

Prospect Park's tax rate for the current year is $4.70 per $100 of assessed valuation. Of this amount only 75.8 cents will be used for the operations of the borough. This includes police, sewer costs, street lights, repair of roads, and all other municipal costs.

It will cost taxpayers $1.15 for county taxes; $1.62, for the operation of the local school; and $1.18, for students attending Manchester Regional High School.

So, 16 cents of every tax dollar goes for the operation of Prospect Park.

However, the garbage contract runs out at the end of the year and there is no question that property owners can look for a substantial hike in the contract due to escalating costs.

Ver Hage resigns from school board

Prospect Park - Ellen Ver Hage, wife of Police Chief Anthony Ver Hage, has resigned from the board of education because the family's moving to Florida.

The Ver Hage's plan to move to Florida later this year when the chief retired from the force. He will have completed 20 years with the department.

Prospect Park rate is $4.70

Prospect Park's tax rate for the current year is $4.70 per $100 of assessed valuation. Of this amount only 75.8 cents will be used for the operations of the borough. This includes police, sewer costs, street lights, repair of roads, and all other municipal costs.

It will cost taxpayers $1.15 for county taxes; $1.612, for the operation of the local school; and $1.18, for students attending Manchester Regional High School.

So, 16 cents of every tax dollar goes for the operation of Prospect Park.

However, the garbage contract runs out at the end of the year and there is no question that property owners can look for a substantial hike in the contract due to escalating costs.

Ver Hage resigns from school board

Prospect Park - Ellen Ver Hage, wife of Police Chief Anthony Ver Hage, has resigned from the board of education because the family's moving to Florida.

The Ver Hage's plan to move to Florida later this year when the chief retired from the force. He will have completed 20 years with the department.

North Haledon Notes

by Darie Hoffman

During the public hearing portion of last Wednesday's council meeting, Bill Roper, of 16 Grandview Drive, addressed the problem of "extensive gypsy moth damage" in the borough this season.

Many North Haledon residents are concerned about damage to their trees and property. On July 2, a woman representing 22 citizens who joined together to have their Manchester Avenue properties chemically sprayed, sharing the $950 cost, asked the borough for assistance.

Councilman William F. Papke agreed that "something has to be done next year." However, he noted that it has still not been determined whether state funding will be available for aerial spraying next year. Papke said he has been researching one possibility which he feels may provide relief for the problem, if a state supported program is not available next year.

The proposal is that rather than putting the borough's old fire engine up for bid, the borough use it for its own spraying system. Papke stated that the fire engine has a good hose and pump.

Roper expressed doubts about the idea. He believed that the borough, spraying by truck, could not cover all areas in time. Unless gypsy moths are sprayed during the third week of May, the damage cannot be averted.

At the July 9th session, several borough residents were honored by the mayor and council.

North Haledon Policeman William Moran was presented the Combat Cross for showing extraordinary courage and dedication to duty in an incident last month in Paterson.

Moran was off-duty in Paterson driving on Haledon Avenue with his two sons when he observed a man armed with a pistol, aim and fire at someone in a building. Moran parked his car and instructed his sons to summon help. Moran then approached the suspect and ordered him to lay down on the sidewalk. The suspect obeyed and was turned over to the custody of Paterson police who arrived shortly afterwards. It was subsequently discovered that Moran's captive had shot and killed a woman. Moran was commended for "disregarding his own safety" and acting "in a brave and intelligent manner."

Mayor Carbone on behalf of the entire council and borough of North Haledon congratulated and commended Moran and his sons for their accomplishment.

Also commended by the mayor and council was Deborah Moe, of 95 Walray Avenue, who won first place in a state-wide essay contest sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. The topic was "What My Family Means To Me."

Bruce Iacobelli, son of former Councilman Oscar Iacobelli, has resigned from the board of health and from his position as special policeman. The resignations, which were effective July 1, were due to Iacobelli's move to Glen Rock.

The Passaic County Prosecutor's office has found no criminal violations concerning a complaint by former Councilman Frank Canete that Council President Daniel Olekna is not a borough resident and is serving illegally on the governing board.

The county wide collar crime unit has closed the case ruling that there is no evidence of criminal conduct. Olekna moved out of his home at 57 Romaine Road on March 25 in response to a court order filed by his wife, Nancy, as part of divorce proceedings.

Negotiations between the two boroughs, to come up with a plan to provide the Ridge Road residents with water service began full force last summer, when a cut-off date for service from the old tank was set.

North Haledon Borough Engineer Gar Chew Lai, at a July 2 meeting of the residents involved, explained that presently the new tank is servicing the families, but not on a direct line; water is going from the new tank, through the old tank.

This he said, was the reason for low water pressure some of the residents complained about. "The new connection will provide more pressure," he said.

The "new connection" he mentioned is the end result of all the planning and negotiating. The ordinance calls for the construction of a new water main "approximately 600 feet from the existing water main in Hawthorne running west to Ridge Road in North Haledon and along Ridge Road to connect with existing water lines."

The consulting engineer for the Hawthorne water system, Lee Purcell Associates drew up the plans for the project which will cost an estimated $27,000. Lai said he felt the estimate was justified but pointed out that certain items such as legal fees, architect's fees, bonding and interest costs were not included.

Hawthorne will put the contract out for bid and supervise the construction according to the agreement, and the North Haledon Ridge Road residents involved will share the cost.

The North Haledon ordinance authorizes the issuance of bonds to finance the $27,000 appropriation. Residents will be able to pay off the assessment in 10 annual installments. The cost of a fire hydrant, which will be paid for by the borough of North Haledon, will be subtracted from the total cost the Ridge Road residents will have to pay.

Hawthorne will be responsible for the maintenance of the water main and will bill the North Haledon residents for water used, as is presently being done.

Because the ordinance limits construction costs to $27,000 Mayor John Carbone expressed concern over the possibility of bids coming in higher. "If bids come in higher than we've anticipated, what can I do to protect my people?", he asked borough attorney Vincent Rigolosi.

Rigolosi said that the council could not veto any action Hawthorne takes in contracting the project but added that "cooperation is part of the joint agreement" between the two communities.

It was recommended that the ordinance be filed with Hawthorne letting that borough know the amount North Haledon has appropriated.

The Division No. 2 is for boys under 16 years of age! Coach of the championship team is Ron Critchley of North 10th Street.

Prospect Park's goals were scored by Walter Avans and Nart Ismail. An outstanding defensive job was turned in by Lamis Ayoub, team captain, and Ron Altman, with goalie John Aristanoux making many critical saves.

Other members of the championship team are Kalus Gorjan, Hani Shouqa, Michael Villalba, Nader Ghoulal, Gary Mendizabal, Miguel Sedenio, Ken Mate, Gerard Neville and John Minardi.

Anyone interested in playing soccer in the fall or helping out with the program can contact Critchley at 956-8253 or Borough Clerk Judy Critchley in the municipal building.

Interested in good music? Stephany and Arnold Freifelder present a program of popular and folk oriented Christian music Saturday night at 7 o'clock at Terrace Lake, Route 23, Butler. The public is invited to attend. Admission to the lake grounds after 6 pm is free of charge. Persons attending should bring lawn chairs.

Sal Dapolito, longtime watchdog of the borough finances who attends all council and board of education meetings, criticized the borough council Monday night for not paying police "adequate salaries."

Mayor Nicholas DeGraaf told Dapolito that police had received a $1,000 increase in salary every year for the past 10 years except one year. He said, "Would you want to give the police a $2,000 or $3,000 increase this year? I'd have the taxpayers on my head and back if we did that. We are trying to upgrade police salaries as best we can."

When Dapolito said he would be willing to give the police increases of two and three thousand dollars a year, Republican council candidate Edwin Dietrich said, "Mr Dapolito speaks out of both sides of his mouth. Earlier this year he was a vocal opponent of the referendum which would have given the police the $1,000 increase they got."

Dapolito responded, "That's got nothing to do with it." Dapolito has stated that he voted against every Board of Education budget and has opposed all municipal budgets for the past 15 years.

Hold this date open... Saturday, July 26, for the Democratic Club outing at Holstra Park. Festivities begin at 2 pm and will continue until dusk. Tickets are priced a $2 and are redeemable for food.

Joseph Magariello and Nicholas Massaro, Democratic council candidates, are in charge of ticket sales. County, local, and other officials will attend the picnic.

Congratulations to Brian Lootsma, son of Henry and Grace Lootsma, of 106 Prescott Avenue. He won a $50 savings bond by designing a new bumper sticker for Eastern Christian School Association. Brian's entry was judged best by the ECSA public relations committee of the 136 entries in the contest. Brian is a fourth-grade student in the Wyckoff Christian School.

Mayor Nicholas DeGraaf has named the following crossing guards for the 1980-81 school year: Doris Struyk, Tunis Vander Wende, Nicholas Koppnenol, Shirley Rumore, and Carmine Imbimbo.

The mayor also stated that the borough has three CETA sponsored youths working with the street department. The salaries of the youth are paid by the federal government in a program which is designed to keep teenagers busy during the summer months.

North Haledon Police Chief Edward Dombrowski is cautioning residents to be more observant due to a recent surge in the number of burglaries of local homes.

Anyone seeing anything suspicious is asked to call the police. Most of the burglaries have occurred in the area of High Mountain Road, Manchester Avenue, Manor Road and Squaw Brook Road.

The move to trim back the requirements of the housing inspector job will save the borough a little over two tax points in next year's budget.

The mayor and council, at the same time, amended the 1980 salary ordinance to indicate the part-time status of the job.

DeGraaf said the part-time position is compatible with the work Nawyn does as tax assessor. He has been the assessor of the borough since 1957.

Nawyn will replace Albert Maas who held the position on a full-time basis for over two years. Maas has been named to the police department as patrolman.

North Haledon passes water agreement ordinance

by Darie Hoffman

After years of controversy and negotiations concerning water service to eight North Haledon families living on Ridge Road along the Hawthorne border, the situation has been resolved.

Final action was taken by the North Haledon council last Wednesday night, when it passed an ordinance authorizing the borough to execute an agreement with Hawthorne and to appropriate $27,000 to cover the cost of the project.

The joint agreement drawn up by the borough attorneys of both municipalities and approved by both municipalities on June 12, will, when implemented, solve the problem which originated in the early 1970's when the Hawthorne owned water tank on North Haledon property, which served the eight North Haledon families, as well as Hawthorne began to deteriorate.

As a result of lengthy litigation, Hawthorne was denied permission to replace the old tank by building a new one on the property. Hawthorne subsequently purchased the Blasberg tract of land and built the new one there, which has been in service since last year. The North Haledon families were notified that because of the new location of the new tank, water service could no longer be supplied to their homes.

Negotiations between the two boroughs, to come up with a plan to provide the Ridge Road residents with water service began full force last summer, when a cut-off date for service from the old tank was set.

North Haledon Borough Engineer Gar Chew Lai, at a July 2 meeting of the residents involved, explained that presently the new tank is servicing the families, but not on a direct line; water is going from the new tank, through the old tank.

Changing fuels is more expensive than just a phone call.

Before you go to the expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition.

And now, due to the state's tough new conversion prerequisites, conversion is even more costly. In addition to the new heating equipment needed, you'll have to have six inches of insulation installed in your ceilings; new storm windows and doors and day-night thermostats put in.

Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than go to all the expense that conversion entails?

Call your independent fuel oil dealer. He'll tell you how to get more from your heating dollar for less.

North Haledon passes water agreement ordinance

by Darie Hoffman

After years of controversy and negotiations concerning water service to eight North Haledon families living on Ridge Road along the Hawthorne border, the situation has been resolved.

Final action was taken by the North Haledon council last Wednesday night, when it passed an ordinance authorizing the borough to execute an agreement with Hawthorne and to appropriate $27,000 to cover the cost of the project.

The joint agreement drawn up by the borough attorneys of both municipalities and approved by both municipalities on June 12, will, when implemented, solve the problem which originated in the early 1970's when the Hawthorne owned water tank on North Haledon property, which served the eight North Haledon families, as well as Hawthorne began to deteriorate.

As a result of lengthy litigation, Hawthorne was denied permission to replace the old tank by building a new one on the property. Hawthorne subsequently purchased the Blasberg tract of land and built the new one there, which has been in service since last year. The North Haledon families were notified that because of the new location of the new tank, water service could no longer be supplied to their homes.

Negotiations between the two boroughs, to come up with a plan to provide the Ridge Road residents with water service began full force last summer, when a cut-off date for service from the old tank was set.

North Haledon Borough Engineer Gar Chew Lai, at a July 2 meeting of the residents involved, explained that presently the new tank is servicing the families, but not on a direct line; water is going from the new tank, through the old tank.

This he said, was the reason for low water pressure some of the residents complained about. "The new connection will provide more pressure," he said.

The "new connection" he mentioned is the end result of all the planning and negotiating. The ordinance calls for the construction of a new water main "approximately 600 feet from the existing water main in Hawthorne running west to Ridge Road in North Haledon and along Ridge Road to connect with existing water lines."

The consulting engineer for the Hawthorne water system, Lee Purcell Associates drew up the plans for the project which will cost an estimated $27,000. Lai said he felt the estimate was justified but pointed out that certain items such as legal fees, architect's fees, bonding and interest costs were not included.

Hawthorne will put the contract out for bid and supervise the construction according to the agreement, and the North Haledon Ridge Road residents involved will share the cost.

The North Haledon ordinance authorizes the issuance of bonds to finance the $27,000 appropriation. Residents will be able to pay off the assessment in 10 annual installments. The cost of a fire hydrant, which will be paid for by the borough of North Haledon, will be subtracted from the total cost the Ridge Road residents will have to pay.

Hawthorne will be responsible for the maintenance of the water main and will bill the North Haledon residents for water used, as is presently being done.

Because the ordinance limits construction costs to $27,000 Mayor John Carbone expressed concern over the possibility of bids coming in higher. "If bids come in higher than we've anticipated, what can I do to protect my people?", he asked borough attorney Vincent Rigolosi.

Rigolosi said that the council could not veto any action Hawthorne takes in contracting the project but added that "cooperation is part of the joint agreement" between the two communities.

It was recommended that the ordinance be filed with Hawthorne letting that borough know the amount North Haledon has appropriated.

Patrolmen credited with rescue from fire

by Daria Hoffman

Two borough families were roused from their sleep and escorted to safety before Saturday morning's fire on Diamond Bridge Avenue even reached their apartments from its origin in the basement.

Hawthorne Ptl. Martin H. Boyd and Ptl. John L. Shannon were on routine patrol in the area at 3:06 am when they noticed smoke coming from a two-family house at 175 Diamond Bridge Avenue.

July 14

Dennis Van Malden, of Emerson, reported the theft of his tool box and tools from his place of business, the Pied Piper Co., 131 Goffle Road. The value of the loss is estimated at $582.

Hawthorne police detectives are investigating the burglary of the 255 11th Avenue home of Frank Presto. Police say approximately $9,000 in jewelry, money and other items were stolen.

Three lawn chairs and a bird bath were stolen from the yard at 65 Prescott Avenue sometime during the evening.

Action on an application for the construction of an apartment complex on a 2.39 acre lot at 50 Rock Road, was postponed Monday night by the Board of Adjustment.

The Board refused to consider the application at the July session as scheduled because board members were notified of changes to the original plans only a few days before the meeting.

Albert Esoldi (Esoldi Enterprises) of Hawthorne is requesting a land-use variance to build the Colonial Arms residences on the industrial-zoned property presently occupied by the Hawthorne Tank and Welding Works.

The board felt it did not have sufficient time to review the changes made since the project was last discussed at the June meeting, and scheduled a special meeting for August 11 to reconsider the matter and possibly take action.

The major change in Esoldi's site plan is to reduce the number

A brief investigation confirmed that a fire was burning in the basement and the officers reported it to headquarters where desk officer Ptl. Thomas Pomroy sounded the fire alarm.

In the meantime, Boyd, Shannon and two other police officers who arrived on the scene, Ptl. Peter W. Vander Velde and Ptl. Robert Kolk took quick action to evacuate the house of all occupants.

Boyd and Shannon awakened the first floor residents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rudolph and helped them and their baby and pet dog outside to the patrol car in the street.

Jodi Foley, resident of the upstairs apartment was away on vacation the night of the fire, but her grandmother Catherine Welleim was home and apparently had been sleeping.

Vander Velde said that when he and Boyd broke into the second floor apartment, she was walking around the smoke-filled room in a confused state. The two police officers then took the elderly woman downstairs to safety.

Don Van Orden (of Van Orden Real Estate), owner of the building said he was "so appreciative for the police officers' immediate efforts to awaken everyone in the house and get them out on time," noting that they had to break through glass an inch thick on the front door to get into the second floor apartment.

He added that it was "remarkable" that Shannon and Boyd were able to notice the smoke and detect the fire in its early stage.

All fire companies responded to the alarm and according to Fire Chief James Aldi, the fire was extinguished within 30 minutes.

Aldi said that the fire was confined to the basement, but there was "heavy smoke throughout the entire house and attic." The fire was "already well on its way," said Aldi, who estimated that it had gone unnoticed just another 20 or 25 minutes longer "it (the fire) would have taken right off and the whole house could have been a total."

Nazzari chosen administrative assistant

by Daria Hoffman

Dr. Richard Nazzari, who has been principal of the Lincoln School for the past 19 years, was selected by the Board of Education to fill the newly-created position of administrative assistant to the superintendent of schools.

Nazzari, who has 25 years of experience in education, was recommended for the job to the board by Superintendent of Schools Frank P. Chiofalo. The board made its decision after an interview with Nazzari July 9th, however, the appointment will not officially be approved until the board's August 19 meeting.

The 52-year-old Nazzari, who received his doctorate in educational administration from Rutgers University was born in Hawthorne and lived here most of his life. He now lives in Mahwah with his wife Pauline and four children.

Nazzari was a teacher in the Fair Lawn school system before he became principal of the Lincoln School.

His responsibilities as administrative assistant will include coordination of curriculum and T and E regulations, districtwide, public relations, grant-writing and responsibility for title programs (federal funds).

of apartment units in the complex from 48 to 36.

In addition, Esoldi added plans for subsurface retention areas to prevent drainage problems.

Esoldi's attorney Robert Hartmann said that the changes in the site plan were made in response to feedback received from both the board and the public at the June 3rd hearing.

At that meeting, neighbors of the property, which is surrounded by residential zones on three sides, expressed fear that increased development would worsen existing problems with water drainage and flooding in the area.

A petition, signed by 46 neighboring residents in favor of the apartment project was presented to the board Monday night. As some residents mentioned at the June meeting, they would prefer an apartment complex to the "noise" and "eyesore" of an industrial building.

According to Fire Prevention Chief Louis Bay, the cause of the fire is unknown at this time. The blaze apparently started in the center of the cellar, where there was "quite a bit of storage" such as Christmas decorations, he said.

Although fire did not reach the upper floors, there was considerable smoke damage to the apartments and the residents have to move.

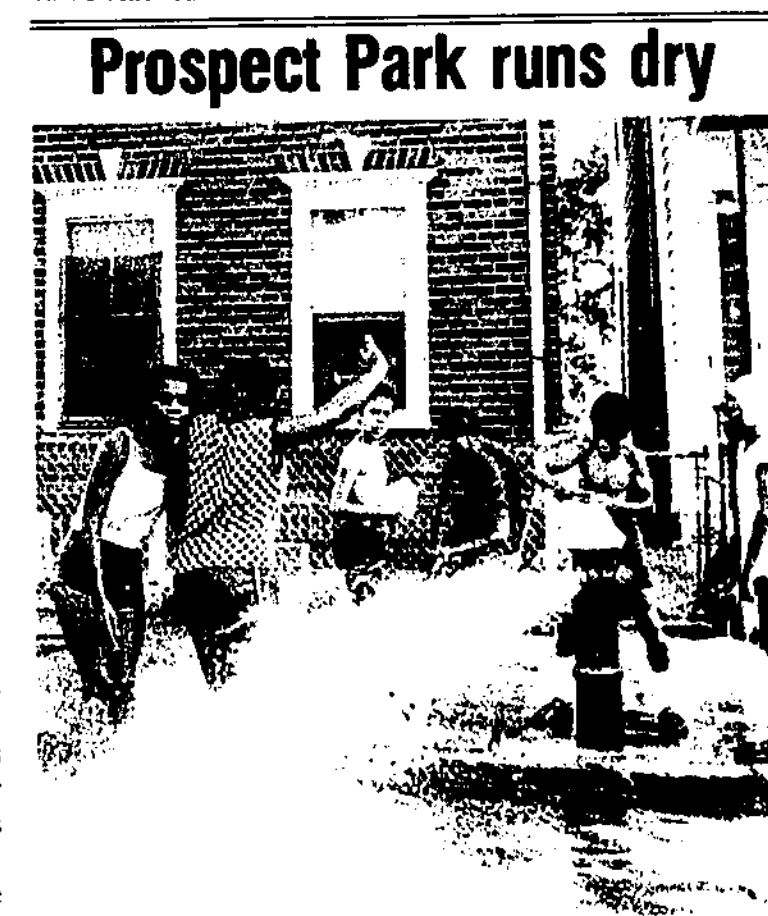

Van Orden said the whole first floor has to be completely renovated.

Prospect Park runs dry

The only other applicant for the position was Harold Pomper, principal of the Roosevelt School.

The board is presently accepting applications for the vacancy of elementary principal created by Nazzari's promotion. Interviews will take place in August and a selection is expected to be made prior to the opening of school in September.

Both Nazzari and Chiofalo are on vacation and were unable to be reached for comment.

Paterson youths open a hydrant in the city on Tuesday. Open hydrants were blamed for the lack of water in Prospect Park on Monday. See story on page 9.

Dennis Van Malden, of Emerson, reported the theft of his tool box and tools from his place of business, the Pied Piper Co., 131 Goffle Road. The value of the loss is estimated at $582.

Hawthorne police detectives are investigating the burglary of the 255 11th Avenue home of Frank Presto. Police say approximately $9,000 in jewelry, money and other items were stolen.

Three lawn chairs and a bird bath were stolen from the yard at 65 Prescott Avenue sometime during the evening.

Action on an application for the construction of an apartment complex on a 2.39 acre lot at 50 Rock Road, was postponed Monday night by the Board of Adjustment.

The Board refused to consider the application at the July session as scheduled because board members were notified of changes to the original plans only a few days before the meeting.

Albert Esoldi (Esoldi Enterprises) of Hawthorne is requesting a land-use variance to build the Colonial Arms residences on the industrial-zoned property presently occupied by the Hawthorne Tank and Welding Works.

The board felt it did not have sufficient time to review the changes made since the project was last discussed at the June meeting, and scheduled a special meeting for August 11 to reconsider the matter and possibly take action.

The major change in Esoldi's site plan is to reduce the number

A brief investigation confirmed that a fire was burning in the basement and the officers reported it to headquarters where desk officer Ptl. Thomas Pomroy sounded the fire alarm.

In the meantime, Boyd, Shannon and two other police officers who arrived on the scene, Ptl. Peter W. Vander Velde and Ptl. Robert Kolk took quick action to evacuate the house of all occupants.

Boyd and Shannon awakened the first floor residents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rudolph and helped them and their baby and pet dog outside to the patrol car in the street.

Jodi Foley, resident of the upstairs apartment was away on vacation the night of the fire, but her grandmother Catherine Welleim was home and apparently had been sleeping.

Vander Velde said that when he and Boyd broke into the second floor apartment, she was walking around the smoke-filled room in a confused state. The two police officers then took the elderly woman downstairs to safety.

Don Van Orden (of Van Orden Real Estate), owner of the building said he was "so appreciative for the police officers' immediate efforts to awaken everyone in the house and get them out on time," noting that they had to break through glass an inch thick on the front door to get into the second floor apartment.

He added that it was "remarkable" that Shannon and Boyd were able to notice the smoke and detect the fire in its early stage.

All fire companies responded to the alarm and according to Fire Chief James Aldi, the fire was extinguished within 30 minutes.

Aldi said that the fire was confined to the basement, but there was "heavy smoke throughout the entire house and attic." The fire was "already well on its way," said Aldi, who estimated that it had gone unnoticed just another 20 or 25 minutes longer "it (the fire) would have taken right off and the whole house could have been a total."

Nazzari chosen administrative assistant

by Daria Hoffman

Dr. Richard Nazzari, who has been principal of the Lincoln School for the past 19 years, was selected by the Board of Education to fill the newly-created position of administrative assistant to the superintendent of schools.

Nazzari, who has 25 years of experience in education, was recommended for the job to the board by Superintendent of Schools Frank P. Chiofalo. The board made its decision after an interview with Nazzari July 9th, however, the appointment will not officially be approved until the board's August 19 meeting.

The 52-year-old Nazzari, who received his doctorate in educational administration from Rutgers University was born in Hawthorne and lived here most of his life. He now lives in Mahwah with his wife Pauline and four children.

Nazzari was a teacher in the Fair Lawn school system before he became principal of the Lincoln School.

His responsibilities as administrative assistant will include coordination of curriculum and T and E regulations, districtwide, public relations, grant-writing and responsibility for title programs (federal funds).

August 11 date set for Hawthorne Tank of apartment units in the complex from 48 to 36.

In addition, Esoldi added plans for subsurface retention areas to prevent drainage problems.

Esoldi's attorney Robert Hartmann said that the changes in the site plan were made in response to feedback received from both the board and the public at the June 3rd hearing.

At that meeting, neighbors of the property, which is surrounded by residential zones on three sides, expressed fear that increased development would worsen existing problems with water drainage and flooding in the area.

A petition, signed by 46 neighboring residents in favor of the apartment project was presented to the board Monday night. As some residents mentioned at the June meeting, they would prefer an apartment complex to the "noise" and "eyesore" of an industrial building.

According to Fire Prevention Chief Louis Bay, the cause of the fire is unknown at this time. The blaze apparently started in the center of the cellar, where there was "quite a bit of storage" such as Christmas decorations, he said.

Most of the damage to the building was in the cellar, where Bay said, there was "heavy charring of beams and flooring."

Although fire did not reach the upper floors, there was considerable smoke damage to the apartments and the residents have to move.

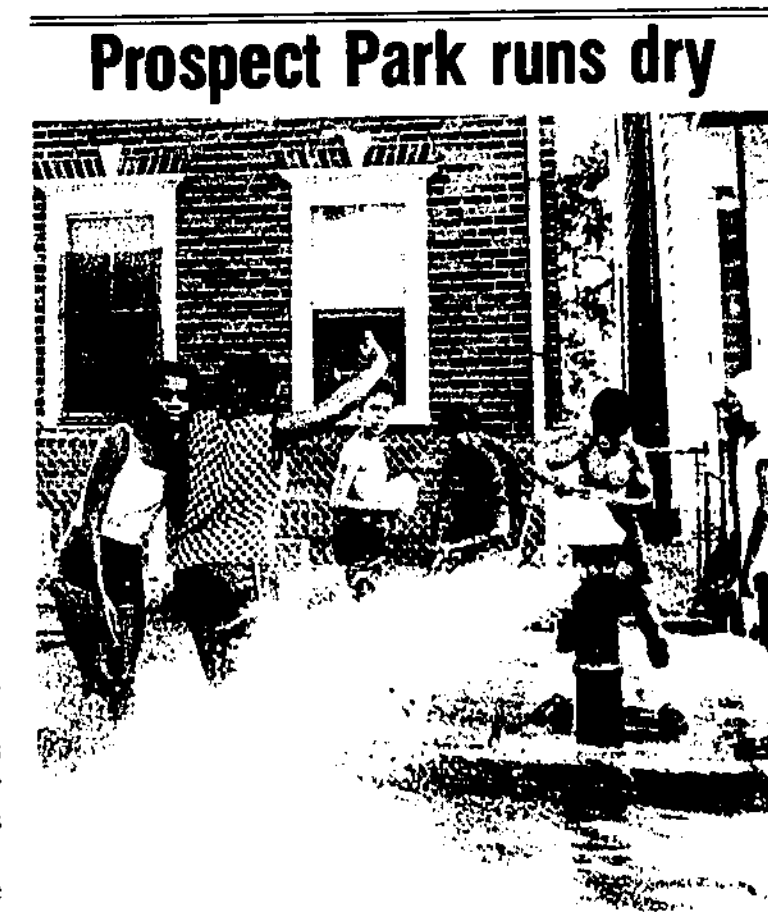

Van Orden said the whole first floor has to be completely renovated.

Prospect Park runs dry

The only other applicant for the position was Harold Pomper, principal of the Roosevelt School.

The board is presently accepting applications for the vacancy of elementary principal created by Nazzari's promotion. Interviews will take place in August and a selection is expected to be made prior to the opening of school in September.

Theft of $170 bicycle nets $250 fine in court

Levi Huntington, 98 Warren Street, Paterson was found guilty of theft Thursday night in municipal court. He had been accused of stealing a 10-speed bicycle, valued at $170 from a borough resident. He was fined $250 for the offense.

Also found guilty of a theft charge was Eugene B. Williams of 258 N. 18th Avenue, Paterson. Williams was apprehended by police on July 9 after he had allegedly stolen merchandise including ice cream, soda and candy, valued at less than $200 from the Pied Piper Ice Cream Co., of which the defendant was a former employee.

Judge Donald Reenstra in deciding the sentence, took into consideration the fact that the 20-year-old Williams is supporting a family, and fined him $200.

In other proceedings during Thursday night's session, Judge Reenstra issued a warrant for the arrest of James Carlock of Fort Lee, for violating the terms of an 18-month probation he received for shoplifting. The accused's probation officer reported that Carlock moved from his last known address and left no forwarding address. Bail was set at $1,000.

James P. Fitzgerald of Westwood, who appeared in court on July 10 for failure to pay the balance of a fine he owed to the municipal court, was in court again last Thursday.

On his July 10 appearance Judge Reenstra allowed Fitzgerald two hours to go home and get the $190 which was overdue. Fitzgerald did not return to court that night as promised, and was arrested the next day and taken to the county jail.

Last Thursday night, Reenstra gave Fitzgerald $20 a day credit for the six days he spent in jail, and Fitzgerald paid the remaining $70.

Fitzgerald was fined an additional $50 for contempt, for not returning to court on July 10.

Rueben Torres of 339 Straight Street, Paterson was found guilty of four motor vehicle violations. His license was suspended for six months and he was fined a total of $170 for driving without insurance, without a driver's license, without registration, and misuse of license plates.

Richard Abate of Wayne was found guilty of driving while his license was revoked, but not guilty of a careless driving charge. According to testimony, Abate was involved in an accident on Brookside Avenue. Hawthorne Patrolman Leon Bay said that Abate's vehicle had apparently gone out of control, while going around a corner, and struck a parked vehicle.

Abate's attorney, Harold Davison requested an acquittal on the grounds that the fact that an accident occurred does not necessarily entail careless driving. He said that there was no evidence presented to indicate that Abate may have been driving carelessly, and added that the police officer did not observe the accident, and that there were no witnesses.

Judge Reenstra agreed that no evidence or testimony had been presented to sufficiently prove that Abate had been driving carelessly, and the 24-year-old defendant was found innocent.

In an unusual case on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident, the driver of the car which was struck also left the scene. Hawthorne police officer Leon Bay, who was assigned to investigate the accident which occurred on Lafayette Avenue near Van Winkle Avenue, testified that he was informed at the scene of the accident, that the vehicle involved had left the scene. The defendant Steven J. White of Midland Park was apprehended at the intersection of Rea Avenue and Goffle Road.

According to Bay, White stated that he was involved, panicked and left the scene. Upon returning to the scene, White's portion of the accident report was completed, but the other driver was not there either. Bay said that apparently the driver of the vehicle which was struck took off in pursuit of White when he left the scene.

White entered a plea of not guilty of the charge. He claimed he left the scene only because he "felt threatened" by the other driver. White testified that he hit the other vehicle from behind and that the driver began swearing at him and raising his hands toward him.

White was found guilty and fined $50 for the offense.

Fifteen-year-old Domenico Localzo of 319 Wagaraw Road was fined $200 for driving his moped while his license was revoked.

Fair Lawn resident Elsie Gerson was found not guilty of a charge that she drove a motor vehicle without insurance. At the time she was issued the summons, Gerson was driving someone else's car and was unaware that the vehicle was not insured.

Gerson's attorney Ira Levine presented into evidence a copy of a letter from the owner of the insurance agency through which Gerson is insured. The letter indicated that Gerson's selected risk insurance policy for her own car also covers her for any other vehicle she drives. The company accepted liability for the accident in which Gerson was involved while driving the uninsured vehicle.

Levine said that, in effect, the vehicle although uninsured, was insured while Gerson was driving it.

Noting that the defense in the case was an interesting one, Judge Reenstra said the "purpose of the statute is to see to it that a person had recourse in case of an accident." He ruled that the purpose of the statute was satisfied by the fact that the insurance company was accepting liability for the accident. Gerson was found not guilty of that offense — but was found guilty of driving without an insurance identification card in her possession, which the original complaint was amended to. For that offense she was fined $15.

She was also found guilty of disregard of a red light for which she received a $20 fine.

Sisto Mercado, 67 Belmont Avenue, Paterson was found guilty of driving without a New Jersey driver's license and was fined $25.

A charge against Mercado for driving without insurance was postponed until tonight.

Changing fuels is more expensive than just a phone call.

Before you go to the expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition.

And now, due to the state's tough new conversion prerequisites, conversion is even more costly. In addition to the new heating equipment needed, you'll have to have six inches of insulation installed in your ceilings; new storm windows and doors and day-night thermostats put in. Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than go to all the expense that conversion entails?

Mopeds - Learn the rules

With summer weather and the increased cost of gasoline more and more mopeds (motorized bicycles) are taking to the roads.

Mopeds can be a fun, fuel-efficient inexpensive means of transportation. However, used improperly, they can also be dangerous. That is why Hawthorne police have been concerned recently over the fact that moped owners and operators are apparently violating many of the basic regulations that go along with the privilege of riding a moped.

Not only do violations bring with them court penalties and the assessment of points against a motorist's driving record, but these same violations, which are enforced for the safety of both moped drivers and other motorists and pedestrians may cause serious accidents, injuries and death.

The major reason for the many violations, is that moped operators and their parents may not be aware of the many regulations governing the operation of these vehicles.

One of the most common violation is that drivers are not properly licensed and insured. Friends or acquaintances sometimes take the moped for a test drive not knowing they are breaking the law by not having a license and subjecting themselves to a possible fine of up to $200.

According to the N.J. Division of Motor Vehicles Office of Highway Safety, anyone 17 or older who drives a moped must either have a valid basic driver's license or motorcycle license. Anyone 15 or older who wishes to drive a moped — even for just a few minutes to try it out — must obtain the required moped license.

This can be done by purchasing an examination permit for $5 at any motor vehicle agency. The permit, along with proof of age, should be presented at a driver qualification center where the applicant will have to pass a vision and written examination, and be scheduled for a road test.

Passing the preliminary tests validates the permit, allowing the applicant to practice driving during daylight with supervision for a period not to exceed 90 days.

After passing the road test, the driver will receive his license in the mail. The permit is valid as a temporary license for up to 120 days. The license or permit must be carried whenever operating the moped.

In addition to the license, the moped operator must also carry with him a valid N.J. insurance identification card, showing proof that he has liability insurance for bodily injury (up to $15,000), death (up to $30,000) and property damage (up to $5,000). Failure to have insurance may result in a fine of $50 to $200, and/or 30 days to three months in jail.

Anyone found guilty of not having insurance will automatically lose his license for six months.

Failure of a motorist to have proof of insurance while driving also carries a penalty.

Before taking a moped out for a ride, the driver is also responsible for making sure his machine has the necessary equipment and is in good working order.

State law requires that every moped have a white front headlamp and red rear tail light capable of being seen under normal conditions from at least 500 feet. The lights must be used between sunset and sunrise or anytime bad weather reduces visibility to less than 500 feet. However the Office of Highway Safety recommends lights be used all the time to make the small, sometimes easily unnoticed moped more visible to other motorists and less susceptible to accidents.

Mopeds are also required by law to have a bell or horn which can be heard 100 feet away, and to have enough braking power to make the wheels skid on dry clean level pavement.

Having met the preceding requirements, a moped driver may legally take to the streets, certain streets, that is. The New Jersey law prohibits the operation of mopeds on interstate highways, the Garden State Parkway, the New Jersey Turnpike, the Atlantic City Expressway, four-lane highways divided by a grass or concrete median, highways with a speed limit over 50 miles per hour, railroads or right-of-ways of operating railroads and any public lands prohibited by a governing body.

Hawthorne police warn that moped drivers are also held bound by all the N.J. traffic regulations and signs which apply to all motorists. The next most common offense of moped drivers is that the drivers don't seem to realize they have to stop at stop signs and traffic lights.

Mopeds, along with other vehicles, must travel on the right side of the road and yield to pedestrians. Mopeds may travel two abreast, unless traffic is impeded. Otherwise they may travel single file staying well behind one another. Although it is not required by law, the Division of Motor Vehicles suggests that moped drivers stay in the right third of the right lane.

The maximum speed limit for a moped on any road is 25 mph, unless a lower speed is posted. Allowing a moped to pick up speed over that limit could result in a speeding ticket and a fine.

Another common violation of traffic rules governing moped operations occurs when a driver carries a passenger. A penalty of up to $200 can be assessed for anyone convicted of this offense. According to the office of highway safety, several of the fatal crashes in New Jersey involved mopeds carrying passengers, as the extra weight of a passenger makes the moped difficult to control.

Moped drivers are also prohibited from "hitching a ride" by attaching the moped to another vehicle, or by holding onto another vehicle.

In the Motorized Bicycle Manual Supplement to the N.J. Driver's Manual, the Division of Motor Vehicle warns that points accumulated on a moped license are added to the basic or motorcycle. If someone under 17 is assessed points against his moped license, those points will be on his regular driver's license once he receives it.

Following are some suggestions from the Division of Motor Vehicles to make moped driving a safer means of transportation:

1. Be alert. A recent study revealed that of 338 moped crashes, 83 or 25 percent resulted from "driver inattention." Watch out for other motor vehicle drivers. Forty-nine crashes were caused by motor vehicle drivers who didn't see the moped or ran it off the road. Other main causes of moped accidents are loss of control or balance; hitting objects such as car doors, poles, curbs, potholes, sewer drains; careless driving and driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

2. Give your moped a pre-drive safety check before taking it on the road each time. Look for tire inflation and wear; wheel adjustment; brake adjustment; amount of fuel; lights pedals.

3. Keep reflectorized panels clean.

4. Wear a helmet and other protective clothing.

5. Wear bright, light colored clothing at night.

6. Signal with your left hand at least 100 feet before stopping or turning. Just before turning return both hands to the handlebars as both hands are needed to help balance and control the moped.

7. Stay far enough behind a vehicle's right rear fender to see whether the front wheels or turn signals indicate that the driver is planning to turn. Vehicles making right turns may not signal and you, being on the curb side may be forced off the road.

The GOP convention raises some serious questions

When a Reagan representative addressed the group at Hawthorne's GOP luncheon during the annual outing in Asbury Park last week, he explained that a poll was being taken all over the country to find out who the public wanted for a vice presidential choice. Aside from the table of town fathers who raised their hands in support of Richard Lugar, the hometown Republicans were overwhelmingly in support of George Bush.

This reaction was not surprising, according to the Reagan representative. In fact, the support for Bush is indicative of the popularity the former presidential candidate commands throughout this state.

So when we tuned into TV coverage of the GOP convention late last Wednesday, we were no less than shocked at the news spreading on the floor of the convention that former president Gerald Ford was about to be named Reagan's choice to be his running mate. Unlike many who turned off the tube and went to sleep convinced of the "dream ticket", we stayed glued to the TV. The suspense about the final outcome and skepticism over such an unprecedented move becoming a reality provided the only excitement that this boring presidential convention, nicknamed "The Big Sleep", could provide.

Maybe that's why the electronic media was so swept up in this drama. In fact, one newspaper, the Chicago Sun-Times went so far as to print "It's Reagan and Ford" as the headline in its first edition. It's ironic that this is the same newspaper that's been gloating for years over its competitor The Chicago Tribune's error "Dewey Beats Truman."

The outcome of that evening has raised serious questions about the role of media, especially the electronic journalism and the change that has occurred during the 1980 campaign. There were more than 13,000 news personnel in Detroit, outnumbering delegates and alternates three to one. The three major networks spent more than $10 million each to prepare features and segments that did little more than elicit yawns from viewers who could find no alternative programming to suit their interests.

There's no doubt that the whole process is out of whack. There's no denying that the fact that TV commentators were right in the middle of the Ford question is what made the viewer feel like he was watching history in the making. Some have raised the question as to whether the politicians were using the journalists as pawns. There's also another issue — that the reporting of the vice presidential negotiations became the news.

There's no doubt that the entire method of news coverage at events of this magnitude needs reassessment. There's no logical reason why such enormous staffs and untold dollars need to be allocated to covering political conventions. With the Democratic production just around the corner, it's a sure bet that the coverage will not be diminished.

The only difference the public can expect is that the Democrats are gearing up for a tremendous floor fight which promises to keep the media quite busy.

Thanks from Woman's Club

Dear editor,

Once again the Woman's Club of Hawthorne wishes to thank you for publishing our news and pictures in your weekly paper during the past club year. We had a successful year because of your assistance. It is wonderful to have a paper like yours upon which we can rely.

We gave a scholarship to a girl graduate of Hawthorne High School and also a junior girl to the Citizenship Institute in New Brunswick. We supported many charities including those of the federation. We also donated to local charities, but without your help, we could not have accomplished all this. Again many thanks.

'Chapter Two' scheduled at Center Stage

Center Stage: Playhouse on the Mall will open its new season with Neil Simon's "Chapter Two" on July 31. The exclusive New Jersey engagement will run through August 17th.

"It's pretty much agreed now that "Chapter Two" is semiautobiographical in nature," Chariz Herfurth, artistic director, said. The play tells the story of a writer shattered by his wife's death. Unable to forget her, he finds himself going through the motions of life until he meets a young actress, tumbles into love and rushes into marriage. "It's a delicious comedy about the pitfalls faced by intelligent people trying desperately to prove a long relationship is still possible," he said.

"Butterflies are Free", the Leonard Gershe two-act show which moved audiences on Broadway in 1969, will be presented August 28 through September 14; followed by "Gazebo", the Alec Coppel mystery, September 25 through October 12; and "Cat On A Hot Tin roof", the Pulitzer Prize winning play by Tennessee Williams, October 30 through November 16.

Hawthorne Caballeros Buccaneers win Grand Prix but lose in Carlisle

by Tony Pagnozzi

The undefeated Reading Buccaneers continued their winning streak on Saturday July 12 when they took first place in the Grand Prix sponsored by the Hawthorne Caballeros at the Meadowlands. The Buccaneers' exceptional show reminded drum corps fans that the PA squad is a major contender for the upcoming 1980 DCA championship.

In winning the Grand Prix for the second consecutive year, the Buccaneers made a clean sweep of all major captions.

Second place went to the New York Skyliners; third to the Connecticut Hurricanes; fourth to the Sunrises; fifth to the Matadors and sixth to the Alouettes of Canada.

Following an impressive exhibition by the Royals, the audience was astonished by the power of the United States Marine Drum and Bugle Corps, as they stepped off to John Philip Sousa's "Strike Up The Band". Their familiar marches continued, climaxing with the traditional "US Marine Hymn". As the corps exited, all eyes riveted to the opposite end zone where the US Silent Drill Team was taking the field. A hush fell over the crowd as the team maneuvered through their routine without a single verbal command.

After the competition, Hawthorne's own, the Caballeros took to the field to the delight of the hometown crowd. The Cabs, who are the Buccaneers' major contenders this season, showed total control in their production that night.

Carlisle, PA, the Cabs finally defeated the Buccaneers for the first time this season. After their July 5th loss in Rochester, NY by four-tenths of a point, drum corps fans knew that it wouldn't be long before the Cabs put an end to the Reading's squad's undefeated season. They were anxiously awaiting their next meeting with the Buccaneers and Carlisle was it.

The Cabs' performance at Carlisle is considered one of their best of the 1980 season. The Buccaneers performed adequately to take second place followed by the West-shoremen, third; the Rochester Crusaders, fourth and Hanover, fifth. Looking ahead to what remains of the 1980 season, The Hawthorne Caballeros have left their mark. They plan to go on showing crowds that they know what they want and how to get it.

Police are still investigating the case, hoping to determine the identity of the other suspects.

Rolling Hills Landscape clinches first place, Div. 3

Ignited by a five-for-five hitting performance by George Richardson, Rolling Hills Landscape defeated the Late Bunch, 25-11, to clinch first place in Division 3 of the Hawthorne Men's Association Sunday.

Artwork & Graphics can still finish in a tie with Rolling Hills for the division top spot. However, Rolling Hills swept Artwork in two games this season, which gives the former the nod if a tie occurs.

Of course, the graphics firm remains firmly entrenched in the playoff picture, within range of the wild card playoff spot. Artwork and undefeated Minicozzi Construction were scheduled to play Sunday, but the game was postponed.

The closest clash continues in Division 2, where Hook Supply and Johnny & Hanges spar for that crown. Hanges has defeated Hook twice this season.

Johnny and Hanges topped the Hawthorne Deli, 32-13, and Hook Supply sliced Van Beuzekom Appliance, 23-1 on Sunday, saving Hanges only one game off the pace with two games left in the regular season.

In other games, McGill's Express edged the Jaycees, 18-16, behind a 14-run second inning. The Raiders topped the Late Bunch, 13-9, in a makeup game before losing to Arthur Groom & Co., 15-12, in the regularly-scheduled encounter.

In the Rolling Hills win, Steve Wassel, Jim Bergen and Twinkle Toes Ruocco had four hits each while Pete Vandervelde and Roger Post had three hits apiece. Post was the winning pitcher. Richardson and Ruocco clubbed home runs.

Jim Haugh had four hits for the Late Bunch, followed by John Nessel with three safeties. Frank Nero, Len Boncore, Bob Boncore, and Billy Schuck had two hits each. Joe Ormsby added two RBIs.

George Kranich hit for the cycle en route to a seven-for-seven day for six RBIs as Johnny & Hanges scored in every inning. Bill Gnade had five hits and six runs scored while Bill Matarazzo, who has 33 RBIs in the season hit his eighth and ninth home runs.

George Yost was the winning pitcher for Hanges, while Paul Pagnozzi, Steve Vecchiotte, Dave Kleppe and Tony Benanti also hit well.

Bill Wassel headed the Deli offense with four hits while Doug Morgan added three hits and Hank Tognetti contributed two hits. Richie Spages powered a grand slam in the fifth frame for the Deli, which scored seven runs that inning.

Lenny DeStefano went four-for-four in the Hook Supply victory while George Tobey, Vinnie LaGuardia and Cliff Conkleton had three hits each. Conkleton, Tobey, Chris Dowling and Jim Ciro hit home runs. Fred Novack, 9-2, who drove in five runs, was the winning pitcher, gaining his 10th strike out.

Paul Ciarfello had three hits and scored the only run for Van Beuzekom. Ralph Forte added two hits.

Tony Ruta, who hit two home runs, finished with four hits in four at bats for McGill's. Dave Rose, Paul Delaat and John Delaat Sr. pounded out three hits each. Rose, Bob Pordon and Bob Slovik hit home runs.

In the loss to the Raiders, Lenny Boncore had three hits for the Late Bunch, followed by Nessel, Tony DiLuccia and Terry Cahoon with two each. Nero hit a home run and Dave Simon collected three RBIs. DeLuccia played a fine defensive game at third base.

Tony Miniaci and Chip DeNully spearheaded the Arthur Groom offense with three hits, three runs scored and four RBIs each. Gary Garner contributed four hits and a pair of RBIs.

Steve Nuiver added three runs scored and three hits for the winning Groom squad while Rich Ambrose, Bill "Tudor" Carafello, Steve Buis and Ed Miniaci added two hits each. Carafello gained the mound decision while Ambrose clubbed a home run.

Diamond Edges: The Late Bunch was awarded a protest victory over the Jaycees. A league all-star contest, pitting half the teams against the other half, is in the discussion stages. The playoffs begin on August 10.

Bucky Dent chairs softball marathon

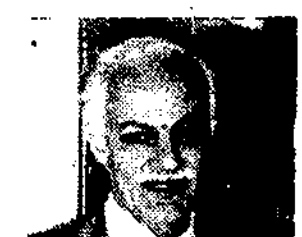

Attention all softball players! The New Jersey Easter Seal Society is recruiting softball teams for the Annual Easter Seal Softball Marathon the weekend of August 16-17. Bucky Dent, the New York Yankee star shortstop, will serve as chairman of the National Easter Seal Sports Council and has been active in Easter Seal fundraising activities for some time.

The softball marathon will be played in eight counties throughout the state. In North Jersey participating fields are Pascack Brook Park in Westwood, Goffle Brook Park in Hawthorne and Brookdale Park in Bloomfield.

"The non-competitive softball marathon is not a test of skill," says Kathy Jones-Smitu, Easter Seal Regional Coordinator. "The teams will be matched with teams of similar ability, giving all groups a chance to participate, regardless of how well they perform."

If you belong to a softball team and would like to participate for fun and prizes while helping the handicapped, please call Smith at 201-342-5739 for registration information.

All Stars win two against Ramsey, Franklin Lk.

The Hawthorne All Stars record is now 4-1 in the North Jersey P.A.L. Tournament. On Tuesday July 15 the powerful Wayne all-stars defeated Hawthorne 11-4 at home in a first place showdown. The Hawthorne bats were silent, collecting only three hits, one each by Mike Cianni, Bill Sansone, and Mark Ptak.

Hawthorne increased its record to 3-1 with a come-from-behind victory over Ramsey 12-7. Ramsey jumped out to a quick 4-0 lead after one inning, but the hometown boys rallied for two runs in the second on hits by Ptak, Steve Dubinkas and Paul Rainey. The local team went ahead 7-4 in the fourth when Ptak hit a two-run homer and clinched the victory with a 5-run fifth inning highlighted by Sansone's two run double. Hawthorne pitcher George Kirchner (who has not walked a batter in all star competition) pitched well after the first inning and went the distance for his second complete game victory.

On Saturday Hawthorne defeated Franklin Lakes 6-4, rallying for five runs in the bottom of the sixth to win the contest. Again Hawthorne was forced to come from behind, trailing 4-1 after five innings.

Franklin Lakes pitcher Pullaro had held Hawthorne to two hits, one by Mike Sasso, the other by Ken Iannaccone, as Hawthorne came to bat in the bottom of the sixth.

Sansone led off with a single. Ptak struck out, and Duncan Outslay smashed a single to center which the centerfielder misplayed scoring Sansone. Iannaccone then doubled

Pinch hitter Dubinkas lined a clutch single to left sending pinch runner Matt Manley to third. Dubinkas took second on the throw. Paul Rainey came to bat and hit a game winning three run homer over the center field fence scoring Matt Manley and Mark Manley and increasing Hawthorne's record to 4-1.

On Sunday Hawthorne defeated Kinnelon 8-7 rallying for four runs in the bottom of the sixth. Eric Dockray and Paul Sasso pitched for Hawthorne, hitting stars were Sasso, Jim Stanfield, Steve Dubinkas, Mike Cianni, and Ron Gorlich.

In Hank Nagelhaug's Brett Hearn picked up where he left off last week as he continued his hot streak at the Orange County Fair Speedway in Middletown, blazing to victory in both ends of Saturday night's modified stock car double header. The defending champion, plagued with bad fortune earlier in the season, has turned things around completely, claiming his new helmet might just have done the trick.

Hearn's win in the first yellow flag plagued feature, held over from June 28, was an easy one, as he took the lead on the ninth lap and coasted to victory well ahead of Bobby Butcher and Richie Eulich, whose spirited duel kept the fans on the edge of their seats. Carl Collins and Bob Malzahn followed.

The second race was a different story as Hearn had his hands full holding off Kevin Collins' relentless pressure over the final 15 laps. Collins, despite suffering from painful injuries received in two recent crashes, turned in a tremendous effort in the Fast Company #2, waiting for Hearn's slightest slip, which never occurred. Sonny Strupp, Bob Malzahn, and Billy Osman rounded out the top five.

In sportsman division competition, Steve Makosky, of Park Ridge, came home the winner with running mate Mike Petruska, of Wayne, taking second, followed by Jeff and Ralph Heitzler, and last week's winner, Bruce Quinn.

The new street stock division winner was Bill Stanton, his second in a row.

The regular modified and sportsman program, along with the Orange County Fair, is on tap this Saturday at 6:30.

Jennifer O'Sullivan slammed a three run triple. Carmel D'Allesio had three hits and scored three times, and Joni Popper doubled.

Laura Sebetich and Sandy White combined to pitch Hawthorne to the win. Saddle Brook's second loss eliminated them from the tournament. Hawthorne's win enables the team to have a rematch with Elmwood Park.

July 16

Jennifer O'Sullivan continued her clutch hitting with a three run triple as Hawthorne defeated previously unbeaten Elmwood Park 6-3. Hawthorne started the scoring in the top of the second when Sandy White singled and later stole home. Three consecutive walks to Hawthorne players led up to O'Sullivan's dramatic triple and a 4-0 lead.

Elmwood Park retaliated by getting a run in the bottom of the second. The hometown team scored two more runs in the top of the sixth to make the score 6-1. Elmwood Park rallied to score two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

July 17

Elmwood Park took a 3-1 edge in the second inning with key hits by Mary Presti, Adrienne Potter, and Kathy Goldbach. The tournament winner scored two runs in the third and four more runs in the fifth inning to insure the victory. Hawthorne scored two runs in the last inning with a bases loaded walk and fielder's choice to make the final score 9-3.

Paterson - Prospect Park police headquarters was firebombed on December 23, 1978 and earlier this week John De Vos, 24, of 100 Prescott Avenue, was sentenced to six months in the Passaic County jail for the crime. However, the defendant, who had already spent 168 days in jail prior to sentencing, was credited for the time incarcerated.

De Vos was given a concurrent term for threatening to kill two men who reported to testify against him in the arson trial. De Vos pleaded guilty to obstruction of justice for threatening to obstruct the testimony of two witnesses of Hawthorne and James Faasse of North Haledon.

Robert Greene, a co-defendant of Saddle Brook, was sentenced to four months in jail.

Prospect Park - Residents of this borough were without water most of Monday. Passaic Valley Water Commission officials blamed the situation on the number of hydrants opened in the city of Paterson by youngsters trying to escape the scorching heat wave.

The first areas to experience a total lack of water were the hill sections which included areas above North 14th Street on the Haledon Avenue side of the borough and those up from North 11th Street on the Struyk Avenue side of the borough.

The first calls came in at police headquarters about noontime. At 8 pm, Sgt. Glenn Saltenberger reported that approximately 95 percent of the borough was without water.

He said, "We are now getting calls from residents of North Seventh and North Sixth Streets complaining about no water. We have been in contact with the Passaic Valley Water Commission."

One borough resident who says he called the PVWC stated the reply he received was, "It's out of our hands. As long as Paterson officials tolerate open hydrants, in this weather, you people will be without water."

In an attempt to cope with the situation, residents went to relatives in neighboring Haledon, North Haledon and Hawthorne to fill up gallon jugs. People living on North 12th Street visited friends in Haledon so they could take a cool shower before turning in for the night.

About 9 pm some residents below Wagaraw Boulevard had a trickle of water which continued for about two minutes and then there was nothing. It was 10 pm before water service was restored.

Thursday morning pressure was again normal and residents filled up jugs and containers in anticipation of a recurring situation.

Many residents, especially those living on upper North 16th and 17th Streets, were without water for more than nine hours. While many were without water, some property owners, two on North 16th Street below Fairview Avenue, were watering their front lawns.

The water shortage is the result of an empty tank atop Hofstra Park. Water from Paterson, supplied by the Passaic Valley Water Commission, is pumped into the tank, which is at the highest point in the borough.

According to police, the 20-year-old woman hit a pole at 429 Belmont Avenue and then veered over to the other side of the street and drove into Frank's Liquors, crashing through the front plate glass.

John De Roze reported the theft of four wire wheel hubcaps, valued at $50 each, from his 1973 Buick. The car was parked in the parking lot of the Lupton Lane apartment complex where he lives.

Water restrictions set by mayor

Mayor Sam Sibilio has ordered emergency water restrictions for the borough of Haledon and North Haledon. All nonessential residential water uses such as lawn sprinkling and car washing, is permitted only on odd-numbered days after 7 pm. Both municipalities draw water from the Haledon Reservoir, which is about three and a half feet below its normal level. There are no restrictions on industrial consumption.

Police and fire officials responded to the Haledon Sweet Shoppe, 481 Haledon Avenue after they received a report of a possible fire from the proprietor John Seaman who said that smoke was coming from the basement. The officials discovered that the electric motor in a refrigerator located in the basement had overheated. The fire was extinguished, and the only damage done was to the wiring, motor and casing of the refrigerator.

Six plate glass windows on the south side of the Hudson Food Service building, 503 Belmont Avenue were broken when struck with a heavy object sometime during the night.

At the time the vandalism was reported by Peter Nigro, it was undetermined whether anything had been stolen.

July 20
Bashgawi and Abdallah, the same Prospect Park residents arrested the day before for trespassing, were charged with the burglary of a Bernard Avenue home. According to police the two were apprehended inside the Youth enjoy program

Prospect Park - The summer youth program has approximately 150 youngsters participating each day at Eastern Christian Junior High School playground on North Eighth Street.

The program began June 27 and will continue through August 5 under the direction of Henry Bruinsma of Michigan, who is a student at Westminster Seminary in Philadelphia.

Councilman Mike Kerestes called the program one of the most successful ever held. The youth program is being sponsored jointly by the borough and four Christian Reformed Churches, Second and Prospect Park in the borough, First Christian Reformed Church of Haledon and Bethel Christian Reformed Church in Paterson. Eastern Christian School Association is also cooperating in the program by giving the use of their facilities which includes the playground, the gym, and classrooms in the event of inclement weather.

Others involved in the summer youth program are Keith Vander Zwan, sports director. He is a graduate of Dordt College, Iowa, and a physical education instructor in a school in Bowmansville, Ontario, Canada.

Mrs. Lori Dykstra of Clifton is art director. She was an art major at Calvin College, Grand Rapids, MI, and will be attending an art school in New York in September.

Volunteers from Grand Rapids, include Julie Osbin, Lisa Doornbos, Diane Feikema and Gayle Kesters.

Vander Zwan has organized a number of daily events that includes softball, kickball, battle-ball, and gymnastics, according to Kerestes. He praised Mrs. Dykstra for an imaginative and innovative arts and crafts program.

Last week the youngsters had a swim trip to Wolf Lake in West Milford. The program also includes devotions to teach moral values to the youngsters.

Prospect Park Patter

by Bert Nawyn

I guess if I were a youngster living in Paterson Monday I would have been among the thousands romping under open fire hydrants trying to cool off from the oppressive heat. According to the official weather report, the mercury hit 103 degrees and brother, that's hot!

While I empathize with the kids who want to cool themselves off in the summer heat, I'm concerned about the water situation in the borough of Prospect Park. There was no water in my home from 11:30 am Monday until about 10 pm. Most of us can make do with a little discomfort. I simply picked up four gallon jugs and stopped at the first place I came to in Haledon, Bob Herman's garage, and filled them with water.

Fortunately, there were no fires in the borough. Had a house been on fire, it is doubtful whether it could have been saved. After all, you need water to fight a fire.

New York City had a similar situation - open hydrants and a lack of water. The TV 10 o'clock news zeroed in on a teenager with a wrench in his hand who had opened seven hydrants. The youth was asked, "Do you realize what can happen if a building catches on fire and there is no water to fight the fire?"

"Sure," he replied, "The building burns to the ground." The water situation, which results from Paterson activity, is a serious one for borough residents. There must be a solution! If that solution is to put sprinkler caps on hydrants, so be it. If the solution is to arrest those who open hydrants and send the culprits to jail, then that should be done.

No entire town should be without water and placed in jeopardy for potential fires, because of the actions of teenagers. The Paterson city fathers must come up with a solution to this recurring problem.

On a humorous note, a car stopped in front of the municipal building Monday morning and two swarthy persons stepped out of a dilapidated car. In broken English they asked Borough Clerk Judy Crichtley, "Do you have a hydrant wrench?" When the clerk asked why, the man replied, "We want to turn on some hydrants."

Crichtley asked, "Do you know where you are?" The one man replied, "Yeh, Paterson." "You got to be kidding," said the clerk. "This is Prospect Park. We don't open hydrants here."

There's a opening on the Board of Education and applicants are being sought to fill the seat vacated by Ellen Ver Hage, who is moving to Florida with her husband, Tony, the retiring police chief.

Resumes should be sent to Board President Tunis Verblauw. Persons sending resumes will be interviewed in August. The term will run until March, when the next school election is held. The person appointed will have to run for office in order to continue serving on the board after that time.

There's a lot of scaffolding around the massive front window of the Second Christian Reformed Church on North 11th Street. The wooden frame of the stained glass window is being replaced by a metal frame. The cost is over $15,000.

Congratulations to Bill Breen, of 339 North 11th Street, who celebrated his 60th birthday last Friday. His wife, Alida, surprised Bill with a party attended by friends and relatives.

The Hill Toppers, well known for their country western and old western gospel songs, will present a program at Terrace Lake, Route 23, Butler, Saturday at 7 pm. The public is invited to attend and bring lawn chairs or blankets with them. Admission to the grounds after 6 pm Saturday will be free of charge.

Hold the Saturday open, for the annual outing of the Prospect Park Democrat Club at Hofstra Park. Tickets are $2 and can be redeemed for food. National, county and local officials will attend.

Aviation Hall of Fame- a tribute to the pioneers

and Bob Huykman

Standing in a small room, surrounded on all sides by immense windows of glass, watching the activity of Teterboro Airport, the communications between the air traffic controllers and pilots can be heard as they take off and land their aircraft. This is the old FAA control tower located on the west side of the airport, (adjoining the Atlantic Aviation Company) which was replaced some time ago by a modern air traffic control center on the opposite side of the field. The old tower has not been abandoned. Instead, it has become the first aviation museum in New Jersey.

On July 3, 1979, Governor Brendan Byrne signed a bill which officially recognizes the Aviation Hall of Fame of New Jersey as the first one in the state. This act was the culmination of efforts which began in 1972 when H.V. Pat Reilly, presently executive vice president of the Hall of Fame and Donald G. Borg, former chairman and editor of The Record, organized the Aviation Hall of Fame.

In his book, A Pictorial History of Teterboro Airport Reilly calls this airport the "Cradle of the Golden Age of Aviation" in the 1920's. From its grass covered field, many historic flights were made. There it was that New Jersey's aviation history had its beginning. World famous pilots such as Charles A. Lindbergh, Amelia Earhart, Anthony Fokker, Floyd Bennett, Clarence Chamberlin, flew from Teterboro Airport and many other history-making events were accomplished.

Upon entering the door at the base of the tower and for the climb upward, each of the 100 steps is in all reality, a step backward in time.

The top three floors of this old tower are now the home of a unique memorial devoted to preserving precious ties to the past in the field of aviation. The mini-museum, which is located two floors below the observation tower, houses the memorabilia of aviation pioneers. It is dedicated as a lasting tribute to the men and women whose accomplishments and daring deeds are enshrined in the pages of aviation history. The observation tower, which is also open to the visitors, affords a panoramic view of the airfield, which is now the most active air facility in New Jersey. A communication system is connected with the active tower so that the visitors can hear the radio communications which are necessary to the flow of air traffic.

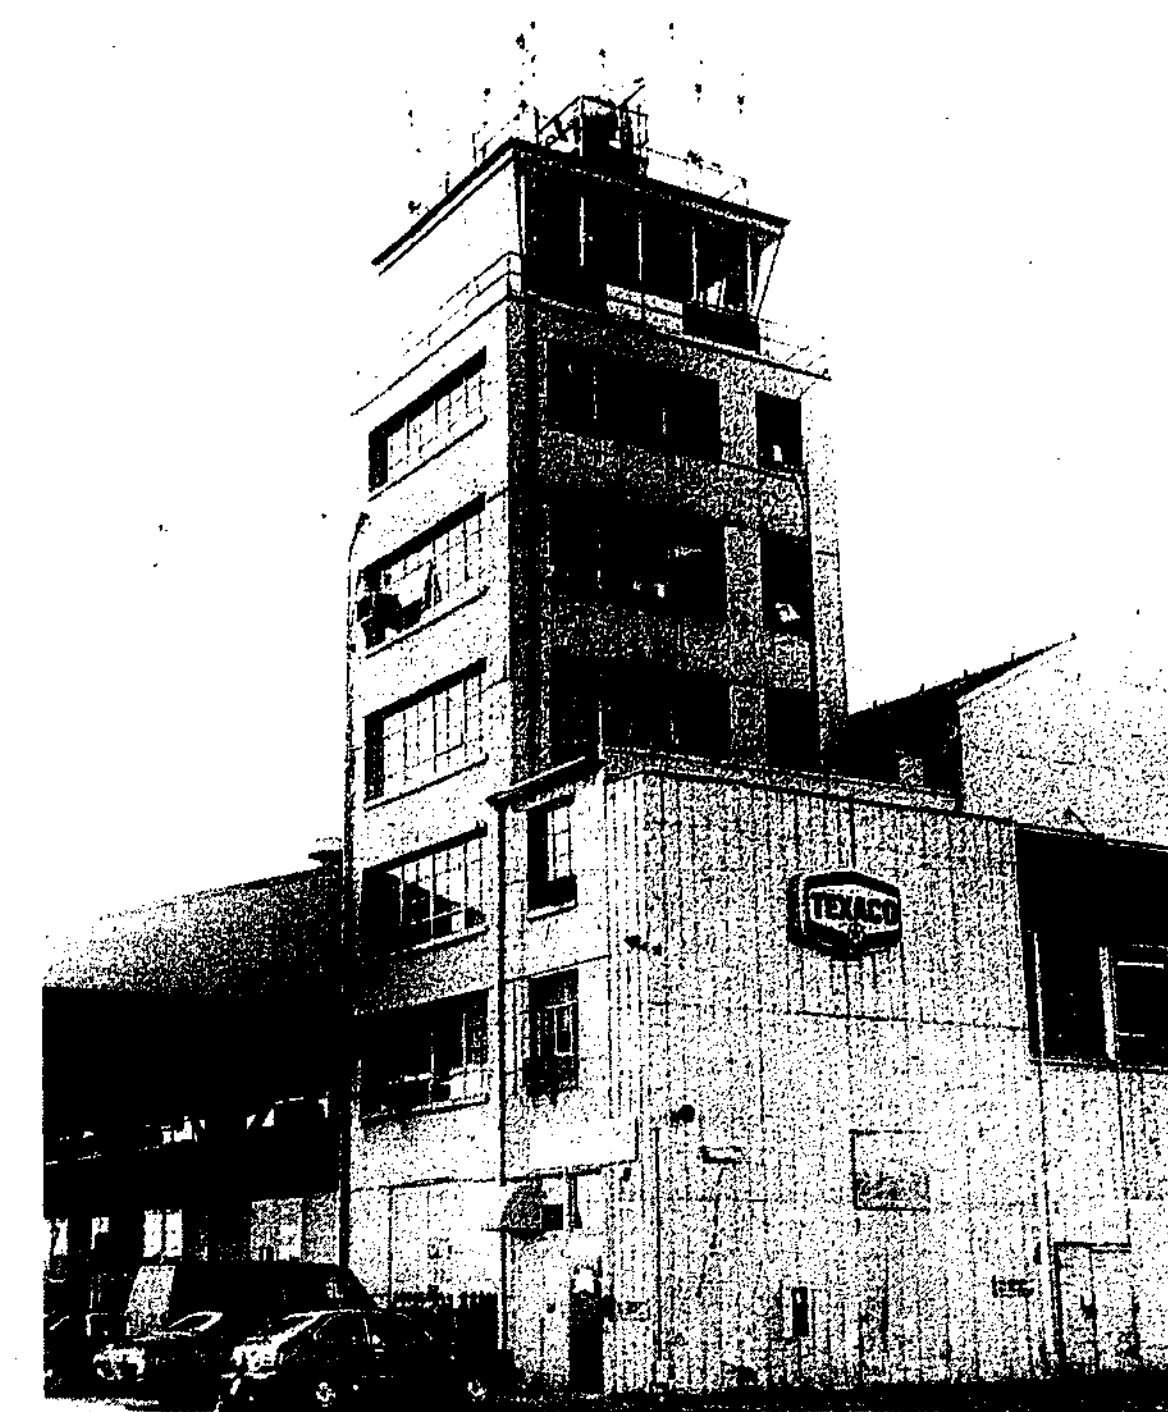

The mini-museum holds many mementos of aviation history; among them the damaged propeller from the "America" which crashed during a test flight with Anthony Fokker, at the controls; and Floyd Bennett, Commander Richard E. Byrd, and radio man George Noville, as passengers; historic articles of bygone days, pictures, films and literature. Also on display are a small padlock from Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis", a section of a Japanese dive-bomber which was shot down at Pearl Harbor; a copy of the Instrument of Surrender signed by Japan at the end of the war, flying gear worn by the early pilots and innumerable photographs of famous personalities and events.

Upon entering the small museum, one senses that this is indeed the visible link between the past and the present. On the wall of honor are placed the plaques of the men and women who have been inducted into the Hall of Fame. The visitor is surrounded by historic relics from the

Teterboro Airport was the home of the Gates Flying Circus in 1926. It was a most colorful group of flying daredevils led by Ivan R. Gates, one of the most intrepid promoters and a dramatic publicist of the barnstorming era. The Gates Flying Circus barnstormed in every state in the union. Clyde Pangborn, who was not only a stunt pilot, made the first airmail pickup with hook and tackle at Teterboro. Aron "Duke" Krantz was another daring aerial acrobat who performed at Teterboro. This famous airport was also the final checkpoint for the Spirit of St. Louis before Charles A. Lindbergh made his historic flight. The walls are lined with photographs which depict so much of our aviation history.

The Aviation Hall of Fame is now in its embryonic stage of growth, a result of the inspiration and foresight of its founders and 1980 will be a year of planning for its future museum which will be a living link between the past and the future.

At the present time, 43 aeronautical pioneers have been inducted into the Hall of Fame and each year a dinner is held and others are inducted. A LEAP grant has been approved and CETA aid is now available. This has enabled the Hall of Fame to employ some qualified personnel and much of the work is also carried on with the assistance of volunteer workers.

In response to a request to the White House, President Carter has very graciously presented to the Aviation Hall of Fame Museum, an official White House photograph of himself which he has personally autographed as follows: "With best wishes to the members of the Aviation Hall of Fame of New Jersey, Jimmy Carter." This personal contribution from the president of the United States is now on display in the museum.

The museum and observation tower is now open all year round from 10 am to 4 pm daily. Admission for adults is $1.00; children, 50¢ and senior citizens, 75¢. Hall of Fame members are admitted free.

As this is a non-profit organization, fund raising events are being planned to help finance the building of a new museum. Souvenirs are on sale and outdoor events are being arranged which will be of great interest. An educational program has been designed to stimulate an interest in aviation history in New Jersey. These programs which consist of 35mm. slides of aviation events and aircraft, accompanied by a qualified speaker can be shown at schools, colleges, business organizations, clubs and are available to other groups of interested citizens.

Children's birthday parties are held in the observation tower which includes a Hall of Fame T-shirt for the guest of honor, an honorary pilot's certificate, an aviation souvenir for each guest, birthday cake and punch and also a tour of the museum. These parties have proven to be a great success with the children as they watch the activity on the airfield while the party is in progress. Each takeoff and landing of aircraft is usually met with great enthusiasm.

Adult parties may be arranged Monday through Friday evenings with a variety of menus available. The refreshments are served in the museum buffet style and are carried up to the tower by each guest to be enjoyed there. This is a unique place to hold a small special celebration as the tower affords a wondrous view of the New York City skyline lit up at night. This, combined with the lights lining the runways and those of the incoming and outgoing aircraft, adds a special beauty to the surroundings. A group up to 20 persons can be accommodated for birthdays, anniversaries, graduations or other important occasions. Guided tours for larger groups can be arranged and reservations must be made in advance.

Citizens and corporations are invited to become charter members of the Aviation Hall of Fame of New Jersey which will support the development and construction of an aeronautical educational and cultural center at Teterboro Airport. Any information desired can be had by calling 288-6344 regarding membership, party reservations and tour information.

At the Seventh Annual Hall of Fame Induction dinner on May 22, 1979, Robert A.M. Coppyarth, general chairman of the Board of Trustees announced plans for the building of a full-sized aviation museum which will be located on the east side of the airfield. The new museum will be specifically designed to permit the public to "see, hear and touch" aeronautical equipment, historic artifacts, films and literature that portray the vital role New Jersey has played in

Judge cracks down on youths for moped violations

Noting that there was an "epidemic" in the borough of young people breaking the law by disregarding the rules of moped operation, Judge Donald Reenstra almost revoked the licenses of two 16-year-olds in Hawthorne Municipal Court last Thursday night.

He said that license revocation was his initial reaction, but since both defendants were first offenders, he instead offered them an "opportunity to learn responsibility."

Joseph Albanese, 20 Highview Terrace, was found guilty of carrying a passenger on his moped. He was issued the summons by Ptl. Garret Merselis, who claimed he had warned Albanese the day before of the illegality of multiple riders on a moped. He was fined $10 and $10 costs.

Michael Saenz Vilchez, of 145 Ninth Avenue, was found guilty of the same offense, plus an additional charge that he disregarded a stop sign while attempting to elude the police officer pursuing him.

Vilchez was fined $10 and $10 costs for operating a moped with two people on it, and $25 and $10 costs for disregarding a stop sign.

Reenstra told both youths that the operation of a moped, just as any other vehicle, is a privilege that requires the exercise of responsibility. When asked what their responsibilities as moped drivers were, neither defendant could answer to Reenstra's satisfaction.

As part of their penalties, Albanese and Vilchez were each instructed to write a statement outlining what their responsibilities as moped drivers were, and return them to court within a week.

Both boys were told that writing the statement was not an enforceable penalty, but both agreed to do it. Reenstra said that reading and writing the rules and regulations of moped operation would make the defendants aware of the rules and might prevent them from having to appear in court for future violations.

Hawthorne Realty of Bayonne was found guilty of a charge that part of a multi-tenanted building it owns at 179 Goffle Road was occupied without a certificate of occupancy. According to the statute, either the owner or the tenant is responsible for obtaining the certificate, and either party may be issued the summons.

Philip Rosen, general manager of Hawthorne Realty, said that the agency's normal practice is that the tenant get the certificate of occupancy, and he assumed the tenant was in the process of obtaining the necessary document. He added that he had not taken any rent from the occupant Frank Corsack, Jr. Judge Reenstra said that the owner of the building has the

under the gavel

responsibility to see that all requirements are met "before tenancy has taken place."

Reenstra added that the fact that Hawthorne Realty had not taken any rent from the occupant had no bearing on the case. "Occupancy means occupancy whether it's gratuitous or for rent."

Since the summons was issued, the tenant had applied for a certificate of occupancy. He was denied however, and was out of the building by July 19.

Hawthorne Realty was fined $50.

Juan Montero, 77 Madison Avenue, Paterson, was found guilty of driving without automobile insurance. His license was suspended for six months and he was fined $50 for the offense.

Decision in another case involving no insurance was reserved for three weeks to allow Judge Reenstra time to contact the defendant's insurance agency to determine whether or not he was covered.

The defendant Sisto Mercado, 67 Belmont Avenue, Paterson, presented the court a letter from his agency stating that Mercado's policy was cancelled effective June 24, and that he received notice of cancellation on July 11, 1980 — the date the summons was issued.

Mercado also had checks made out to his insurance company, as evidence indicating he had paid the premiums. According to the letter, his policy was cancelled for lack of cooperation — not having given his driver's license number to the company.

Ptl. Thomas Pomroy testified that when he stopped Mercado on July 11 and asked him for his credentials, Mercado showed him a cancellation notice from the insurance company dated July 7, 1980.

Mercado claimed he had paid his premiums and was not aware of the cancellation.

Reenstra said that the insurance agency's letter was "totally incomprehensible" in that it indicated Mercado was not notified of the cancellation until after his policy was already cancelled.

Since the statute requires that the defendant knows or should know the vehicle is uninsured before he can be found guilty, Reenstra wanted to verify when Mercado was notified of the cancellation.

Douglas Winters, 271 Hawthorne Avenue, was found innocent of passing in a no-passing zone. Hawthorne Ptl. Martin Boyd said he had been mistaken in issuing the summons.

After he gave Winters the ticket, he went back to the location where the pass was made and realized that Winters passed the other vehicle before the double yellow line in the road started.

All fire companies responded to a false alarm pulled at 2:08 pm from the Nelson Avenue and Lynack Road fire box.

A local 16-year-old was stopped by police for operating a moped in a careless manner, and it was later found that the youth was not licensed to drive and that the moped was not insured.

July 25
Mark Sasso, 110 Franklin Avenue, reported that several youths took his bicycle from the Franklin Field. Police checked the area but failed to locate the bike or any suspects.

Lower gas prices aren't helping station owners work-weeks. The consensus among the owners is that lower prices and staying open more hours have helped business to an extent, but not much.

While motorists, who still have vivid memories of the many hot hours they spent waiting in gas lines last year, are undoubtedly happy about the greater availability of gas and the slightly lower prices they'll be paying, gas station owners are not happy with the present situation.

Dan Lundberg, editor of a gasoline industry publication, was recently quoted in The Record as saying, "Reductions of a penny or two off the going price have always sparked gas wars in the past, regardless of whether gasoline was selling for 20 cents a gallon or for a $1.00 a gallon."

Most gas station owners in the borough feel gas price wars are likely. "It's definitely happening. Everybody's playing the game," said Bolt. Schmidt said price wars are "very imminent." They are "inevitable," says Shannon. Hoffman says that if gas wars do start, he's one who isn't going to enter the battle. "Why should I work for the gas company?" he said.

A 53-year-old Haledon man was seriously injured last Wednesday evening at 5:30 when the 1973 Dodge he was driving apparently went out of control and struck a tree in front of 313 Wagaraw Road snapping its rear wheel axle on impact.

Rollenhagen (Goffle Brook Shell) explained that the "reduction in selling volume and a lot of variation in price among companies (suppliers) is making it difficult for some dealers to compete."

Referring to the wide variations in company's prices he said that some stations "can sell gas retail for only a few cents more than we (speaking for most branded stations) can buy it wholesale."

According to law, dealers are allowed to make 16.8 cents profit on the gallon, but according to Rollenhagen, none of the dealers "are even close to that (margin)." One borough dealer said his prices were on the average 10 cents lower than what he's allowed to make.

Although Shell has not reduced its prices to dealers, Rollenhagen has reduced his. But he has found, as other local dealers have, that lower prices for gas are not sufficiently offsetting the volume.

He explained that years ago, with a lower price, the volume (sold) would increase; but now his lower price "hasn't done anything." He continued, "With smaller cars and less driving, by lowering the price of gas, the owner is just losing money." He added, "In recession times, with lower gas prices and keeping up with inflation — it's hard times for the dealers."

He predicts that there will be heavy competition among retail prices until at least fall or early winter when the supplies may tighten up again. He added that if the situation persists, "you're going to start to see a lot of (gas) stations going out of business."

Pikaard (Lafayette Exxon) has "no idea" how long the public can expect to see lower prices, nor how low prices might drop. "I'm not going to guess on that one. You don't know what can happen tomorrow."

What the present gasoline situation hints home to Shannon (Don's Auto Repair) is that there are a lot of "unanswered questions" in the oil, gasoline and automobile industries. "What he would like to have answered. For one, after last year's critical shortage, he wonders? "What, did they make all this gas overnight?"

A few guidelines and reminders for publicity chairpersons

Every now and then, it's worthwhile to list a few guidelines on the proper way to submit press releases to our newspaper.

The first thing to do is to provide the name of the organization for which the news item is being written. A letterhead from an organization or club will suffice. Next, perhaps even more important, provide us with a name of the person we should contact if a question arises. Also include a phone number — home phone and your number at work because most of our editing is done during the normal 9-5 workday.

Press releases should be typewritten, double-spaced. Never type copy all caps or single-spaced. We need room on the page to make editing marks. If copy cannot be typed, it does not mean we will not use it. Neatly written copy is acceptable.

One of the biggest problems we have with handwritten copy is that names of individuals are often illegible. Readers often call to complain about misspelled names, but often this can't be helped. We sometimes receive news releases with a person's name spelled two different ways, even three variations in the same article.

When writing publicity or a press release for your club or organization, try to organize your thoughts clearly. Arrange the details in a concise and clear manner. Provide additional background information that you feel is valuable. Whenever possible, we include additional details that the daily papers cannot include because of space limitations.

Another issue that often results in communication problems has to do with photographs. We would prefer to take our own photos, but sharp, black and white prints supplied by you are acceptable. Polaroid prints and color photos lose quality when we make enlargements or reductions and other processes to convert a print into a form that can be used in newspaper printing.

We often receive requests for a photographer at an event the same day that the program will take place. Needless to say, it's often impossible to accommodate such requests. One week is sufficient advance notice, but we often need flexibility with alternate dates to get a photographer on the scene.

Our last point has to do with deadline. The best way to be sure that we receive your news item is to hand-deliver it to our office at 417 Lafayette Avenue. After hours, press releases may be left at the mail desk in Hawthorne Police Headquarters. Copy may also be mailed, but this has presented problems in the past. Often we don't receive the news in time for the edition for which it's intended.

Get your news to us in plenty of time before that Thursday's issue. Our deadline is Tuesday noon, but it's preferable that we get copy here by Monday.

comment Support urged for National Day of Prayer and Fasting

"What can I as one person do to restore America to the principles upon which it was founded?"

That's a question each of us is faced with today.

Each American shares the responsibility to make America great again. We must use whatever talents God has given us.

This can take many directions. Community work, church activity and political involvement are just a few.

However, there are two things all of us can and should do which are more important than any actions we could undertake. These are prayer and fasting.

Last October in Conservative Digest I wrote about the need for Americans to fast and ask God for forgiveness of our sins, ask for His protection, and give God thanks for His blessings.

I want to reaffirm my support for a National Day of Prayer and Fasting. I propose that Americans petition Congress to proclaim the Sunday before Thanksgiving as a National Day of Prayer and Fasting.

I suggest this particular day because this is traditionally a time when Americans give thanks to God for all the blessings that we enjoy.

It will be a true and appropriate commemoration of the Thanksgiving season. And I feel it will make the spirit of Thanksgiving more meaningful to us.

George Washington set aside a day for fasting and prayer when he was President.

America was founded upon a belief in God. Our motto, In God We Trust, reflects that belief. And as long as America held fast to that belief, God blessed us.

About 15 years ago, America's problems seemed to significantly increase. Civil unrest, racial strife, a lost war in Vietnam, illegal drug use, soaring inflation, attacks on the family, sex and pornography in the movies and on TV, a lack of presidential leadership, and a weak military and a strong and aggressive Soviet military are some examples of our major problems.

Today, world and national events look grim.

But as we look to the future, we shouldn't do so with worry and pessimism.

Also Abraham Lincoln, twice during the storm of our tragic Civil War, designated "a Sunday for prayer and fasting."

Twice during some of the darkest days of the American Revolutionary War, the Continental Congress declared a day of Fasting and Repentance.

But instead of worrying, why don't we as individuals and as a nation go to God and ask forgiveness for our sins?

Instead of worrying, why don't we pray that He protect America from its enemies and give us the strength and will to protect ourselves? Why don't we thank God for the benefits He has bestowed on us as individuals and as a nation?

Perhaps many of our personal and national problems have developed because we have forgotten to thank God for our blessings, our opportunities, our freedoms and our great country.

The power of millions of Americans praying together for a common goal can have a profound effect.

That's why I'm asking you to help establish a National Day of Prayer and Fasting.

This will symbolize America's desire to return to God. It will focus our attention on the reasons why God blessed us and challenges us today.

to the prospect of installing a float gauge in the Prospect Park water tank which will signal the Little Falls pumping station whenever the Hofstra Park tank level gets low. It seems absurd that there was no way for the PVWC to know that Prospect Park was out of water until it began receiving phone calls from irate citizens.

to the prospect of a statewide property tax. The Byrne administration has reportedly begun a study of the feasibility of such a plan. The measure would be an unfair penalty on homeowners, especially those who live in suburban areas like this community. Hopefully this proposal will be squelched before it even gets to the legislature.

Pet mouse wins blue ribbon in competition

Everyone laughed when Davey Walsh entered his pet mouse in the Bergen County 4-H pet show, but the Hawthorne youth had the last laugh. His grey and white mouse "Bashful" came home with a blue ribbon for first prize in the Leonia show held earlier this month.

When the 10-year-old asked his mother for a pet, she discouraged the idea of a cat or a dog because the family lives in an apartment at 254 Central Avenue. For his birthday last January, Pat Walsh began to look for a suitable substitute. Goldfish didn't seem to fit the bill, so she settled on a few mice. They were small, quiet and seemed to require little trouble in care and feeding. She and Davey settled on three mice, but lost one and later accumulated two more.

By April, two of the mice were expecting. On April 24th, Sy delivered a litter of 10 beautiful babies. Squaddy gave birth to seven baby mice the following day.

The Walsh family intended to give some of the mice to a pet store as soon as they were old enough, but in that time period, both mother and son grew attached to all of them. Some were favored more than others and when the Walshes spotted an entry blank for a pet show, they decided to enter one of their favorites in the competition.

"We're prouder than any dog or cat owner that won a ribbon that day," says Davey.

Hook gets playoff berth

McGill's Express erected a roadblock in the Johnny & Hanges playoff quest in Hawthorne Men's Softball action Sunday.

The Express team, sparked by the fine hitting of Stan Kasica and Dave Scarber, handed Johnny & Hanges a 12-3 setback.

The Hanges loss, coupled with a 44-11 win for Hook Supply over the Raiders, gave the supply company the Division 2 title and playoff berth.

With only one game remaining on the regular season schedule, Johnny & Hanges, Artwork & Graphics and McGill's Express are in contention for the final playoff spot.

In a key game this Sunday, Artwork clashes with Hook Supply. In addition, Artwork must make up a game with undefeated Minicozzi Construction.

In other action, Minicozzi Construction topped the Hawthorne Deli, 16-2, while Rolling Hills Landscape mowed past Van Beuzekom Appliance, 18-11.

Artwork & Graphics was awarded a forfeit victory over the Jaycees. Arthur Groom & Co. tallied 11 runs over the first two innings and continued on to defeat the Late Bunch, 16-7.

In the McGill's triumph, Kasica collected five hits in five at bats for four RBI. Scarber followed closely with four hits in five plate appearances.

Glen Rees and Tony Ruta each pounded out two hits for the winners, who led 8-2 after three innings. John DeLaat Sr., was the winning pitcher.

In addition, McGill's Express sparked defensively, formulating three double plays.

In the Hook Supply victory, Ben Podbielski had seven hits to bolster a 46-hit Hook offensive attack. Frank Zyskowski and Cliff Conkleton added six hits each, followed by Alan Scarmazzo and Larry Tobij with five hits each. Fred Novack contributed four hits.

Zyskowski and Larry Tili hit grand slams while Conkleton, Novack, Podbielski, Scarmazzo and Vinnie LaGuardia added home runs. Both LaGuardia and Scarmazzo hit for the cycle while Zyskowski finished with nine RBI and Tili had seven.

Marty Boyd headed the Rolling Hills offense with four hits. John Crotty added three hits while Paul Kirkman and Brian McAleese clubbed two hits each.

Boyd powered a home run for the winners and Roger Post went the distance for the mound victory.

Kevin Fitzpatrick collected four hits in four at bats for Van Beuzekom, including two home runs. Mark Del Colle banged two home runs and a double, followed by Wayne Schwartz with a home run and two singles.

Pat Salvemini, George Kranich and George Yost led Johnny & Hanges with three hits a piece.

Chip DeNully and Ed Miniaci spearheaded the Arthur Groom stats with three hits, three runs scored and three RBI each. Gary Garner added two hits and three RBI.

Dave Feeney was the winning moundman. In addition, Feeney added two hits while Steve Buis and Tony Miniaci contributed two hits each. Dan Bello clouted a home run while Mark Van Ry, Chris Megalos and Billy "Tudor" Carafello had RBI.

Dave Simon, who hit two towering home runs over the left field fence, had four hits for the Late Bunch while Billy Schuck had two hits. Joe Ormsby hit a home run and finished with three RBI.

Mike Michalski had four hits, including a home run, for Minicozzi Construction, followed by Joe Boyle, who had a home run among his three hits.

Joe DeLaures, Ken George, Joe Michalski, Mike Osofsky and Ron Reheir added two safeties each. DeLaures was the winning pitcher, gaining his 11th and 12th strike outs of the season.

George played an outstanding defensive third base for the winners, snagging seven hard grounders in the hole.

Alex Wallington had three hits for the Deli, which led 2-0 after three frames. Bob Deyden, Richie Spages and Rusty Snyder contributed two hits each for the Deli.

All Stars chalk up wins against Fair Lawn, Packanack

The Hawthorne All Stars defeated Fair Lawn 4-3 last week for its fifth victory of the season. The hometown team came up with three runs in the bottom of the fifth to cop the victory. Mark Ptak led off and was safe on an error at first. Steve Dubinkas followed with a single sending Ptak to third. Duncan Outslay, George Kirchner and Mike Sasso also singled, driving in runs. Kirchner also went the distance for his third straight complete game victory. He struck out five and walked one.

On Thursday, Hawthorne defeated Packanack Lake, 11-0. Jim Stansfield, the winning pitcher, was also the hitting star. He collected two hits, knocked in three runs and was on base four straight times. In pitching, he retired the first 14 batters before giving up a walk. He had a no-hitter.

Pinebrook tallies

Experience paid off for Drew Fornoro Friday night at Pinebrook Speedway as the 29-year-old driver made two strategic moves to win his fourth feature for 1980 with the American Three-Quarter Midget Racing Association in Jack Kirsher's Konig-powered upright #27.

Fornoro, who started sixth, was in fourth by the first lap and remained there until halfway through the 35-lap feature. As the leaders Mark Smith, John Jenkins and Tom White came upon slower cars on the tight, 1/10 mile oval, Fornoro moved outside White and into third as White got stuck behind the slower cars.

Ten laps later Fornoro dropped low to take both Smith and Jenkins in one brilliant underneath pass going through the third turn. "I saw that Smith was slowing and Jenkins was running too close to him and getting out of shape. I dropped back a carlength, waited for the bobble and just took advantage when it happened," the current ATQMRA point leader explained afterwards.

With one lap remaining, leader Fornoro thrilled the crowds as he came to lap a tightly bunched pack of eight cars, using both inside and outside grooves he wove through the traffic with amazing speed and control. Jenkins finished second in Jim Rieder's Kohler-powered roadster followed by Dave Thompson in his father's Suzuki-powered roadster. Fornoro's younger brother, Nokie, took fourth in Pete Petraitis' "Crosley-powered upright with Mark King fifth in his Konig-powered roadster.

It was Old Timers Night at Pinebrook and during intermission beautifully restored antique racing cars paraded around the track. Next week the ATQMRA will stage an extra distance race of 75 laps. The starting time for the show is 7:30.

until the sixth inning when with two out, Bob Corsetto singled to right field. Mark Manley preserved the shutout when he fired the ball home to catcher, Carlo Pisciotto, who tagged out John Meehan from Packanack

Lake for the final out. Ken Iannaccone had two hits in the contest; Kirchner and Outslay also hit well.

Pisciotto hit a double to left and was on base three times. Hawthorne's ninth annual invitational tournament starts Friday at 6 pm. The hometown team will play its first game on Saturday vs. West Paterson at 10 am.

Prospect Park Patter

by Bert Nawyn

It appears that the water crisis is over, at least for awhile. But while it lasted, it caused problems for officials of the borough. Even the mayor was without water.

It's not that we can't do without a little water, it's the issue of what to do in case of a fire.

Emergency measures had been instituted and they included tapping into Haledon and Hawthorne hydrants in case of fire in areas near those towns. Also on immediate call was the water tank truck of North Haledon Fire Department.

Mayor Nicholas De Graaf caused a ripple of laughter at Monday night's council meeting when he said, "I received many calls about the water shortage. One woman asked if she could come to my house to take a shower because there was no water in her house. I replied, 'Sure, you can come over and stand in the shower, but I don't have any water either.'"

De Graaf said, "She couldn't understand that the mayor was in the same predicament as everybody else."

Last week's situation was unique, according to De Graaf. He said it was not the first year youngsters in Paterson had opened hydrants and it was not the worst year for such occurrences.

"The first time, a few weeks ago, when we ran out of water, I could understand the reason. The Passaic Valley Water Commission had diverted millions of gallons of water to Jersey City to take care of a shortage there. But last week the water shortage did not make any sense."

The borough was out of water Sunday and almost all of Monday.

Over 90 percent of the borough was without water for over 10 hours on Monday and portions were without water on Sunday.

De Graaf said he had been in consultation with engineers at the Passaic Valley Water Commission, had conferred with Paterson Mayor Pat Kramer and other Paterson officials. He said, "All I was told was that the PVWC was pumping in more water into the mains supplying Prospect Park but that the water was not reaching us."

De Graaf said that one suggestion be made to PVWC, that a main water line be run direct from the pumping station of the PVWC at Little Falls to the water tank in Hofstra Park, was turned down as impractical.

The water tank at Hofstra Park, the highest location in the borough, holds 127,000 gallons of water.

Calling the water shortage "a crazy situation," De Graaf said, "The water situation in the borough simply did not make any sense. Yet we had it. The PVWC can't explain the shortage at this time. They are investigating."

The mayor paid tribute to Paterson police and firemen who at risk of damage to equipment and physical injury monitored hydrants in Paterson. "It's difficult to catch a person turning on a hydrant and I'm thankful that when a few were caught they were dealt with by the judiciary, which recognized the potential hazardous situation to the borough."

The Passaic Valley Water Commission does not know that Prospect Park runs out of water until they begin receiving phone calls from irate residents.

De Graaf said this situation could be eliminated when the PVWC installs a float gauge in the large water tank which will signal Little Falls pumping station when the water level gets low.

Referring to the numerous phone calls received by him and by those at the municipal building, the mayor said, "It doesn't do any good to swear and curse over the phone because of a water shortage. We have experienced much of this during the water shortage. There is no reason to abandon our good manners. I have instructed the borough clerk when someone begins cursing over the telephone, to say, 'Sorry, we are aware of the problem and are working on it' and then to place the receiver on the hook. No one has to take abuse because of a situation not of our own making."

Prospect Park's county taxes went down $10,000 to $363,796, while Haledon's county taxes went up $99,000 and North Haledon's went up $53,000, according to the Abstract of Rates released by the Passaic County Board of Taxation this week.

The decrease in the borough's county taxes, which are used to pay county costs such as operation of court houses, welfare, Preakness Hospital, etc., results from the borough's stable equalization ratio.

The equalization ratio this year in Prospect Park went down less than one percentage point. However, this will not be the case for 1981. The borough's last revaluation was in 1969 and became effective on the tax books in 1970, 10 years ago.

Two family houses in the borough, constructed 10 years ago, are now selling upwards of $75,000. One on North 16th Street recently sold for $95,000 and another on Struyk Avenue sold for $86,000.

There is also residential property in the borough on the market, selling for a price of over $115,000. The 1968 valuation on this property is $38,000 and if the property is sold for $115,000, it would result in a drastic impact on the borough equalization ratio.

The value of property in the borough continues to rise and this has two effects, one on county taxes and the other on state aid for schools.

When you receive an audit report from your auditor without any recommendations you can rest assured that you've done a good job. That's what happened to Tax Collector Marian De Vries. The report was received by the mayor and council and caused Mayor Nick De Graaf to exclaim, "This is the first report we've had without recommendations for improvement. It's an excellent example of a job well done and Marian is to be congratulated."

Democratic Council candidate Joseph Margariello probably thought it was a good idea, but at the previous council meeting Mayor Nick De Graaf turned down the proposal.

Margariello donated an electric grill to the borough, to be used at Hofstra Park, whenever the park was being used by organizations or groups. The Democratic Club had their outing at the park Saturday and the grill was used for the first time.

Margariello recommended that the borough accept the grill as a donation and that the council be responsible for its use, giving permits for the use of the grill, taking deposits if necessary, and making sure the grill was kept in good working condition.

Mayor De Graaf asked, "Suppose someone gets burned or hurt using the grill. Who is responsible, the borough or you?" The donor replied, "The borough." De Graaf said the insurance problems should be resolved before the borough accepts the offer. He also indicated that the use of the grill by organizations would add work for the borough clerk.

Prior to the donation, all organizations using the park, provided their own equipment. When the pavilion was originally erected, grills were installed. However, within months the pavilion was vandalized and the equipment destroyed.

Manchester bd. certifies charges against teacher

Haledon — Manchester Regional High School Board of Education has certified and forwarded to the State Commissioner of Education charges of allegedly hitting a student against veteran instructor Robert Crossley.

Crossley, who has taught in the high school for 17 years, is accused of striking a senior student during an argument in one of his classes on May 8.

The board voted 6-3 to certify the charges made by Principal Robert Spreen after an hour-long heated closed session. Voting against forwarding the charges were trustees Frank Catania, Roy Norbe and Edward Petkus. The board's discussion during the closed session reportedly centered on the issue of whether the youth had provoked the teacher.

Spreen said he had spoken to the high school senior's mother the day after the incident and that he did not expect any litigation from the student's family. Crossley has not been suspended, pending action on the state level.

Robert Gillespie, acting superintendent, said that a quick decision is expected from the administrative law judge to whom such matters are usually referred.

Two hit and runs reported

Prospect Park — Two cars, at different locations, were struck and damaged by hit and run drivers over the weekend. Both cars were packed on North Sixth Street.

Lucas appointed

Patricia Lucas, a Wayne school teacher, was appointed to the Haledon Board of Education at a recent meeting. The 5-2 vote fills a vacancy created by the resignation of James Cioletti.

Trustee Dorothy Faber nominated Lucas and Lucille Ruocco seconded the motion. Board members James Grady and Bruce Terwilliger voted against the resolution. They favored former board member Thomas Maselli. Lucas, Maselli and Brian Fischer, also a former board member, had submitted their names for consideration.

Lucas, a sixth-grade teacher at Anthony Wayne Junior High School, has been a borough resident for 14 years. She is a member of the Wayne school district curriculum committee, has taught in Wayne for 16 years and was an educator for 30 years.

Garden State Farms store to re-open September 1st

Prospect Park — There's going to be a new jug milk store in the borough and it will be at the same location as the one which was enveloped in some much controversy only a short time ago.

The former Garden State store at the intersection of North 11th Street and Brown Avenue will again cater to the dairy needs of the community beginning September 1. The store has been vacant for the past few months. However, it's a safe bet there will be no controversy surrounding the operation of this store. It will be managed and operated by members of the Preakness Christian Reformed Church as a non-profit business with all proceeds ultimately going to Eastern Christian School Association.

Mrs. Jean Berkhout of North Haledon, will be general manager of the store. Her father-in-law was the late Dr. Peter Berkhout who served as the borough's health officer for years.

All proceeds will ultimately go to the Eastern Christian School Association.

Plans are to open the store six days a week, from 9 am to 8 pm according to Mrs. Berkhout. She said, "We are busy now lining up suppliers and getting the necessary equipment to operate the store. We'll do our best to stick to the September 1 opening date." All workers will be from the Preakness Christian Reformed Church which is located on Valley Road, Wayne. During the past year, the church had 44 children in Eastern Christian Schools at an annual tuition of $62,040. Parents of the church next school year will pay $1,660 per student. A family with three children in the school system would be required to pay $4,980 in educational costs. To help pay the educational cost, parents will be able to work in the store on a regular basis. Other volunteers of the church will also help in the operation of the store.

Last year, Krauszner's Dairy of Edison took over operation of the store which was owned for many years by Peter Sandfort of Garden State Farms. Controversy erupted when Krauszner's opened for business on Sunday in violation of a borough ordinance.

A court battle followed. In the meantime, over 1000 residents signed petitions asking that the store be closed on Sunday. Krauszner's won the court battle to retain the Sunday opening but when the lease ran out, the owners of the premises refused to grant a renewal and Krauszner's closed.

The total value of the windshield wipers is estimated at $28.48.

July 23

A 1979 Tomos moped, valued at $500, was stolen from an open garage at 49 Cliff Street.

Street, who was driving the 1971 Ford involved, told police her brakes failed at the start of the downhill slope.

According to the police report of the accident, there was a 216 foot skid mark to the point of impact, and the brake pedal was found pushed to the floor.

In addition to the 33-year-old Miranda, also injured were 54-year-old Francis Pavone, 859 Main Street and 35-year-old Carmen Cintron, 316 Grand Street.

July 25

An arrest warrant, with bail set at $5,000, was issued against Robert Tart, of Saddle

According to Haledon Police, Persico was treated at Greater Paterson General Hospital. Upon his release he arrived at police headquarters to sign complaints and give details of the assault to police.

According to the report, he had been visiting a friend Jeno Bono, at 52 Cedar Cliff Avenue. Persico was standing in the driveway talking to Bono when the suspect, Tart, who had also apparently been visiting Bono, came running at Persico from behind the shrubs in front of the house, taking his knife from a sheath on his belt.

Persico reported that Tart stabbed him in the left shoulder and hand, and then ran behind the house.

Persico got into his truck and again Tart came running towards him. He allegedly told Persico "I only want to talk to you," and again assaulted Persico through the window.

Persico rolled up the window and saw Tart run into a wooded area behind the house. Persico said he drove away and pulled into the Paterson Foodtown parking lot and called the police. Paterson police then summoned Haledon police to the scene.

At headquarters, Persico told police the incident may have stemmed from another incident two weeks before when, Persico claimed, Tart threatened to kill him for an unknown reason concerning his motorcycle.

Mohammed Karah, 288 Belmont Avenue, reported the theft of his gold-colored Huffy bicycle, valued at $61. The bike was left on the sidewalk next to the Haledon Deli, while Karah went into the store.

Another bicycle, a boy's black 26-inch Bandit, was stolen from a shed in the backyard at 473 Haledon Avenue. The bike, valued at $80 belonged to Elman Martin of that address. His mother Polly reported the theft.

The shed was reportedly left open, and the bike was taken sometime during the night.

July 27

A grass fire in front of 411 Haledon Avenue was already out when police arrived in response to the fire report. A six-foot long stretch of tall grass between the road and the sidewalk was burned.

The Hawthorne Boys' Club, as part of its summer program will sponsor a bus trip to the Nets Basketball Clinic on August 7. The bus will leave the club at 12:30 and arrive at the Giants Stadium to be part of a special basketball clinic arranged to allow the members to play, get autographs and receive merchandise from the Nets. Members should sign up at the front desk.

Trips to Liberty State Park, Bear Mountain Park, the Museum of Natural History, and the Sandy Hook Oceanography Center are all planned for August. Information on any trip is available at the registration desk of the club.
