Apartment hearing will be continued July 21

The Board of Adjustment held a special hearing on June 6th to hear the application of Albert D. Franch for the incorporation of the flats at 19 Road Road. The flats are presently occupied by Hawthorne Tilt, a commercial property, Robert Sklarow, attorney representing the applicant, began his presentation by introducing the rental's use and the lack of a previous hearing.

The board members listened to the presentation and then voted to continue the hearing until July 21st.

Primary election results

Sibillo wins Haledon, but loses to Sorkin

Stephen Sibillo did win his third term in Haledon, but he had to fend off the Democratic party nominee, Sorkin, in a nail-biting election. Stanley Frechak, the Haledon Board of Education president, received 1,212 votes to Sibillo's 1,213 on the Republican ticket.

In the second race, Democrat spiral candidate, Patricia Petito, received 1,212 votes to Sibillo's 1,213 on the Republican ticket.

More GOP than Democrat votes in Hawthorne

Hawthorne - The GOP pulled in more votes than the Democrats in the primary this year. The town's registration sheet shows 1,100 Republicans and 900 Democrats.

Regulars trounces opposition by 10-1

Prospect Park - The Republican ticket turned out in full strength to elect their candidates. Robert Rosen, a candidate for the Assembly, received 1,212 votes to Sibillo's 1,213 on the Republican ticket.

One of the lowest turnouts ever in North Haledon

North Haledon - It was noticed in this borough this year to the lowest turnouts ever in recent years. Only 900 people out of the total of 1,212 against votes.

Joel Sorkin, the Republican candidate, is the first of the candidates, followed by Robert Rosen, the Republican ticket leader.

The Republican ticket received 1,212 votes in this borough. The Democratic ticket received 210 votes in the Democratic party primary election.

The Democrats did not have a victory.

Prospect Park received 10 votes in the Democratic party primary election.

Robert Rosen received 1,212 votes in the Republican party primary election.
Drug possession case referred to the grand jury

Dr. Peter Mehnke

Drug agents with the Maryland State Police have referred a drug possession case to the grand jury of the District Court of Frederick County.

The case involves the alleged possession of marijuana by a person who was stopped by police on Interstate 70 in Frederick County.

The suspect was identified as Robert Smith, age 25, of Frederick, Maryland.

According to police, Smith was stopped for driving under the influence and was found to have a small amount of marijuana in his possession.

The case is currently under investigation.

Under the gavel

By John W. Huffman

The Frederick News-Post

A significant number of cases referred to the grand jury are drug-related.

In the past year, the grand jury has heard testimony in numerous drug cases, including cases involving the sale and distribution of illegal substances.

The grand jury has also heard testimony in cases involving the use of illegal drugs, such as heroin and cocaine.

The grand jury's role is to issue indictments against individuals accused of committing crimes.

The indictment is a formal accusation that must be proven in court.

The grand jury's work is important in protecting the community from crime.

In search of the last character of our fair community

News are not as welcome to the reader. The reader normally receives daily reports, which complete a thought trip and come to a specific conclusion.

We chose this form this week, not to continue a series, but to suggest the incorporation of our thoughts in the following one.

This past weekend, we spent an interesting time in Cape Cod, where we managed to acquire an opinion on our own thoughts in Provincetown and the surrounding area. We found ourselves in a community that probably attributed to the planners' not only due to the location but also the people. We recognized the importance of our thoughts in this community, and we expect to see a similar trend in our community as well.

We are looking forward to the next character of our fair community, which we believe will be more positive and uplifting than the previous one.

Conditions in the quarry are a blight to surrounding residents

Dear editor,

The Mountain Avenue residents feel that the apartment buildings that now stand on top of the Mountain Avenue quarry are a blight to the surrounding area.

The noise from the quarry is constant, and the residents can no longer enjoy their homes. The smell from the quarry is also unbearable, and the residents feel that their health is at risk.

We urge you to take action and ensure that the quarry is properly managed and controlled. We cannot continue to live in this manner, and we urge you to help us.

Sincerely,

Two accidents in one day bring double conviction

In Derby Thomps, Jack Monti, 36, Mahr Avenue, Warwick, was found guilty of felling a large tree on a Warwick property on Wednesday after a three-day trial in Warwick District Court. The tree, which was estimated to be 60 years old, was located on the property of John and Mary Alice Tinsman, who live at 18 Mahr Avenue.

The owner of the property, Mr. Tinsman, testified that the tree had been a hazard for some time and that he had previously asked Monti to remove it. Monti, however, refused to do so, stating that the tree was too large and dangerous to fell. The case was heard by Judge E. John Dunlop, who found Monti guilty of felling a large tree without a permit.

The graying of America doesn't escape local scene

The graying of America is a phenomenon that is increasingly evident in communities across the United States. It is a result of several factors, including a lower birth rate, longer life expectancy, and an increasing number of older adults retiring to retiree-friendly communities. This demographic shift has significant implications for local governments, businesses, and healthcare providers.

In this editorial, we will discuss the impact of the graying of America on local communities and explore some of the challenges and opportunities that come with it. We will highlight the need for communities to adapt and innovate to meet the needs of an older population. By doing so, we can ensure that our communities remain vibrant and sustainable for future generations.

The graying of America is not just a statistical trend. It is a real-life phenomenon that affects every aspect of our society, from healthcare to housing to transportation. As the population ages, there is a greater demand for healthcare services, such as assisted living and home care. At the same time, there is a need for affordable housing options that cater to the needs of older adults. Transportation systems must also adapt to accommodate the needs of seniors who may not be able to drive.

In addition to these challenges, there are also opportunities for local communities to thrive. Older adults can be valuable contributors to the local economy, both through their spending power and their volunteer work. They can also provide a wealth of knowledge and experience that can benefit local businesses and non-profits.

In conclusion, the graying of America is a complex issue that requires a comprehensive approach. It is clear that communities must act now to plan for the future and ensure that they are prepared to meet the needs of an aging population. By doing so, we can create a more inclusive and sustainable society for all.

Parkland is becoming a dumping ground

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my concern about the increasing amount of trash that is being discarded in my neighborhood. It is a problem that has been growing steadily over the past few years, and I believe that something needs to be done to address it.

In recent months, I have noticed an increase in the amount of trash that is being left on the streets and sidewalks in my neighborhood. This is not only unsightly, but it is also a danger to pedestrians and cyclists, who may trip over the trash or have their vision obscured.

I understand that people have different ways of coping with their waste, but I believe that it is important for us to do our part to keep our community clean. There are several things that we can do to help reduce the amount of trash that is being discarded in our neighborhood. For example, we can make sure to recycle and compost whenever possible, and we can also encourage our friends and neighbors to do the same.

I would like to thank you for your attention to this issue, and I hope that you will consider taking action to address it. Thank you.

Sincerely,

ups and downs

Thumbs Up

In the previous issue of the newspaper, we highlighted the importance of local businesses in supporting our community. It is heartening to see the number of people who are working hard to keep these businesses afloat during these challenging times.

Thumbs Down

The ongoing conflict in Ukraine has had a significant impact on the local economy. The cost of goods and services has increased, and many families are struggling to make ends meet. It is important for us to support local businesses and shop locally whenever possible, to help reduce the strain on our community.

Up Front shuts out Fire Company No. 1

By Steve Teich, Special to the Times News

The annual Car Show and Fire Department Challenge was held last weekend at the Market Square in Lehighton. The event was sponsored by the Lehighton Fire Company No. 1 and the Lehighton Fire Company of Lehighton.

The show featured over 100 vehicles, including classic cars, trucks, and motorcycles. The event also included a children's area with face painting and balloon animals.

The winner of the Best of Show award went to a 1932 Ford Phaeton, owned by Bill Schleifer of Lehighton. The car was entered by the Lehighton Fire Company of Lehighton. The second place winner was a 1934 Ford Coupe, owned by John and Mary Jones of Lehighton. The third place winner was a 1937 Ford Roadster, owned by Frank and Betty Johnson of Lehighton.

The Lehighton Fire Company No. 1 also held a raffle, with all proceeds going to the American Cancer Society. The winner of the raffle was a 1957 Chevrolet Bel Air, which was owned by Jack and Mary Smith of Lehighton.

The event was a great success, with many people coming out to see the vehicles and support a good cause.

The annual Car Show and Fire Department Challenge was held last weekend at the Market Square in Lehighton. The event was sponsored by the Lehighton Fire Company No. 1 and the Lehighton Fire Company of Lehighton.

The show featured over 100 vehicles, including classic cars, trucks, and motorcycles. The event also included a children's area with face painting and balloon animals.

The winner of the Best of Show award went to a 1932 Ford Phaeton, owned by Bill Schleifer of Lehighton. The car was entered by the Lehighton Fire Company of Lehighton. The second place winner was a 1934 Ford Coupe, owned by John and Mary Jones of Lehighton. The third place winner was a 1937 Ford Roadster, owned by Frank and Betty Johnson of Lehighton.

The Lehighton Fire Company No. 1 also held a raffle, with all proceeds going to the American Cancer Society. The winner of the raffle was a 1957 Chevrolet Bel Air, which was owned by Jack and Mary Smith of Lehighton.

The event was a great success, with many people coming out to see the vehicles and support a good cause.

Suit filed to overturn new pinball ordinance

By Charles acorn

Mayor Walter Deane of West Hartford in a suit filed in Superior Court of Connecticut last week filed a suit challenging the new pinball ordinance. The suit was filed on the grounds that the ordinance was enacted in violation of the Connecticut Constitution. The mayor contends that the ordinance does not conform to the state's Constitution.

Support the Li'l League petition for more fields

The petition started the plight of the league's expansion program which is being run with the same number of fields that were available in 1971. At the present time, there are 15 fields in the league, but the petition calls for 20 fields. The petition is well organized and has been signed by many parents. This situation afflicts all sports organizations attached in fireallas, however.

Feast Day celebration a success

Pre-Raphaelite Project

The Pre-Raphaelite Project is an art project that commemorates the life and work of John Ruskin, a 19th-century artist and writer who was influential in the development of the Pre-Raphaelite movement. The project involves the creation of artwork based on Ruskin's ideas and principles, such as his emphasis on the harmony between art and nature. The Pre-Raphaelite movement was a group of artists who sought to break away from the rigid rules of the Academy and create art that was more true to nature and more expressive of the artist's inner emotions. The Pre-Raphaelites were known for their use of vivid colors and intricate details, and for their focus on themes such as love, religion, and history. The Pre-Raphaelite Project is a celebration of this rich artistic tradition and an opportunity for artists to explore and express the ideas and values that Ruskin held dear. It features a variety of approaches and styles, including paintings, drawings, and mixed media. The exhibition is open to the public and offers a unique opportunity to appreciate the beauty and power of Pre-Raphaelite art in a contemporary context.

July 18

Hewitt Avenue, Mt. Airy, Wash., reported the theft of a bicycle from the school track on Saturday. The school administration is increasing security measures to prevent future thefts.

The school administration is working closely with the police department to investigate the incidents and prevent future thefts. The community is encouraged to report any suspicious activity and to participate in the school's safety initiatives.
Hawthorne's water situation warrants a closer look

We urge residents to be good conservationists. Under the current procedure for using outdoor water, much of the water is wasted in the form of evaporation and run-off. The city must act to prevent this waste. We fully support the idea of a system that directs water to the most efficient use. The proposal to provide water to all businesses and residents of the city is a step in the right direction.

Comment

It may seem too early to be thinking about the budget, but it is not. The treaties that allocate the city's money must be made. "Nutrients" are a way to budget. These are programs which involve, as a standard, a 20% increase in the number of participants. Programs work in Social Security, Food Stamps, and other social welfare programs. The city may need to increase these programs, which must be balanced out properly.

Letters

Our policy on letters to the editor

Dear Editor:

In response to the recent editorial "Water Woes," we would like to express our concern about the water situation in Hawthorne. The city has been experiencing a severe drought, and the water supply is becoming increasingly scarce. The city has been forced to implement water conservation measures, such as limiting the amount of water available for outdoor use.

We urge the city to take further steps to address the water crisis. The city should consider implementing a water conservation program, which would limit the amount of water available for outdoor use and encourage residents to conserve water. Additionally, the city should consider investing in alternative water sources, such as water reuse and desalination.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

Some time ago, the city of Hawthorne had a water emergency. The city was forced to impose water restrictions, including limiting the amount of water available for outdoor use. The city has been working to address the water crisis, and the water situation has improved in recent years. However, the city must continue to be vigilant and take further steps to address the water crisis.

The Hawthorne Water Department has been working to conserve water and increase the city's water supply. The department has implemented water conservation programs, such as the "Water Wise" program, which encourages residents to conserve water. Additionally, the department has invested in alternative water sources, such as water reuse and desalination.

We urge residents to continue to be vigilant and to conserve water. The city has made significant progress in addressing the water crisis, but the situation remains challenging. We urge the city to continue to work towards addressing the water crisis and ensuring that residents have access to a reliable water supply.

We look forward to hearing from you.

On-street parking of recreational vehicles protested

Prospect Park — Motorists and mobile home owners met to express their feelings about a plan to remove the mobile home encampment from its site in front of Prospect Park.

"We have to make it a priority. We have to make sure that people who live in these mobile homes have a place to go," said one resident of the encampment.

The encampment has been a contentious issue in the area for years. Many residents have called for its removal, while others have argued that it serves as a necessary service for those in need.

"We can't just sweep this issue under the rug," said another resident. "We have to find a solution that works for everyone."

Teen Action Group leaves for Disneyworld today

Tanca, the president of the Teen Action Group of St. Andrew's, is taking 10 of her students on a trip to Disneyworld this weekend. This will be the group's first visit to the theme park and they are looking forward to it.

For the first time, the group will be staying at a Disney resort, which will give them a chance to experience the magic of Disney up close. The trip will include visits to all of the parks and attractions, as well as time for relaxation and fun.

Yankee Stadium trip planned by scouts of Cub Pack 29

The scouts of Cub Pack 29 are planning a trip to Yankee Stadium on Monday, June 30th. The trip includes a guided tour of the stadium, a chance to see the team play, and a chance to meet some of the players.

The trip is being organized by Scoutmaster John Smith, who is excited to see his scouts enjoy this experience.
