Do you know who...
 sauce is a popular choice, and it seems to be a staple in local cuisine. This week's issue of THE HAWTHORNE PRESS features a variety of articles and advertisements.

On the front page, there is an advertisement for Acme's Pantry Sale, offering a deal on frozen foods and fresh vegetables. The ad highlights items like Tuna Fish, Tomatoes, and Asparagus, which are at a discounted price.

Another advertisement promotes driving safely and features a New Jersey printing store. The store offers commercial printing services and specializes in business stationery.

The editorial section includes an article by Comm. J. Kirkman, Chairman of Unit Installation Dinner, who discusses the importance of unit coordination and leadership. The article emphasizes the role of leadership in maintaining discipline and order.

The Voice of the Taxpayer section features an article about Junior High Schools and delinquency, highlighting the challenges and solutions being discussed in New York School System. The article mentions several local schools and their efforts to address the issue.

The classifieds section includes notices for various events, such as a PTO dinner and a club meeting. There are also advertisements for local services, including a lawn care service.

The sports section features an article about a football team's upcoming game, discussing the team's strategy and planning.

Overall, the issue covers a variety of topics, from local events to national issues, providing a comprehensive look at the community's life and concerns.
