MARCH
School candidates express their views

About 10 people attended the candidate meeting at the Hawthorne Community Center last night. It was the third such meeting for the candidates of the Hawthorne School Board, who are running for the upcoming election. The meeting was open to the public, allowing residents to ask questions and express their opinions on the candidates' platforms.

The following candidates were present:

2.
4.

One candidate, John Smith, a current member of the school board, expressed his support for the current policies and programs of the school district. He stressed the importance of maintaining a strong emphasis on academics and extracurricular activities. Smith believes that the current administration has been effective in improving the overall performance of the school system.

Another candidate, Jane Doe, advocated for increased funding for school infrastructure and technology. She argued that the current budget does not adequately support these areas, leading to outdated facilities and outdated technology in the classroom. Doe proposed a new model for budgeting that would prioritize these needs.

Citizens ask school board to make budget cuts

Citizens were urged to support the candidates who are committed to finding ways to cut the budget without compromising the quality of education. The candidates discussed various strategies, including implementing a zero-based budgeting approach, improving administrative efficiency, and exploring alternative funding sources such as partnerships with local businesses.

The meeting concluded with a call to action for community members to get involved in the upcoming election and to ensure that their voices are heard.

For more information, please visit the Hawthorne School Board website or attend one of the upcoming candidate forums.
Let the public give a budget "mandate"

It was refreshing to see some new faces at the school budget hearing held last Thursday. The fact that they numbered only about 30% of the student body, because we view them as the life of the party, it was encouraging to see the school board budget for spending so much money, was greatly appreciated.

We believe in an overwhelming mandate from the majority of citizens in attendance. The school board must find a way to make budget cuts. We were in the majority community. The day the citizens who shop at our newspaper offices. We learned that the majority of citizens support the school board in its efforts.

They don't need the outsiders asking for a good program within their ability to pay. After all, it's only 1600 kids that the board would be $20 per student to educate the bottom line. The reason we aren't providing education for this is also due more to poor administration, than to lack of state and state raising.

The school board figures that last year, we were told the budget was "necessary", "backfiring" etc., and that a half-million dollar surplus miraculously appeared. Who's kidding who? Our attempt to track and count every vote who vote to the polls next year is no longer majority "vote" on the school budget. The board members, themselves, have indicated that they will take a closer look if they get a "messaging" order from the people. Forget all talk of state mandates. We have the greatest tool for getting a mandate — the right to vote.

Let's see, NOW.

Boys Club is buzzing

The Borough's bicentennial celebration, which will be held on Sunday, March 20, is a big event for the Boys Club. In fact, the club has been buzzing with activity all week, preparing for the big day. The celebration will feature a parade, a carnival, and a concert, and the Boys Club is playing a big role in the festivities.

Residents are encouraged to participate in the festivities, and the Boys Club is offering a variety of activities, including a candlelight parade, a talent show, and a children's workshop. The club has also arranged for several entertainment acts to perform, including a folk music group and a comedy troupe.

The Boys Club is hoping that the celebration will bring in a large crowd, and they are looking forward to a successful day. "We're excited about the celebration," said Boys Club President John Smith. "We think it's going to be a great day for everyone who comes out to participate."

An editorial

Reorganized in a new direction

This year the reorganization of the Hawthorne Board of Education following the annual school election caused more than just changing the seating arrangement of the trustees. With the election of John Paskau as president and Frank Matthews vice president, the direction of the board took a definite step forward. The change was already evident Monday evening at the first meeting of the new term.

Though we do always agree with Mr. Pas- quaint's stand on the issues, there is one attribute we respect particularly - his ability to implement proper meeting procedures. His initiation of this method of organizing a meeting is in the other extreme of what we need to do.

Ever our whisperings at the press table was ga- bluted during the opening session, as was each and every occasion making the audience.

His opening remarks in which he asked the members of the board to avoid the use of per-cussive, might have been directed to the trustees. We believe the leadership should come from the elected officials, but rather than spend time worrying about which side initiated the problem, we're glad everyone's energy is being expended towards a solution. The public hearing on Monday was conducted in a professional manner and we're confident that respect will be shown by the trustees and citizens no matter how strong they may disagree on the issues.

The fact that Paskau's election was by unanimous vote is another plus for the school board. It indicates that they can put together without having a row of rubber stamps.

We also hail Mr. Matthews' election to vice president as a victory for the taxpayers. In the last two years under Mr. Matthews, the Board of Education has consistently voted "no" on any budget increases this council feels are unnecessary. We hope it's not too late to find some way to cut the costs of educating our children. The theory that "increased spending equals better education" will have to be abandoned and the school board will have to find the way.

Half of football coaching staff resigns

The resignation of Joe Baer and dehiring of Joe Curran by the Hawthorne Board of Education has put the entire school district in a state of shock.

A school official described the dis任命 as "a disaster." The principal of the school district, Mr. T. Curran, said that the resignation of the two coaches was not due to any misconduct on their part, but rather due to personnel reasons.

During the past school year, the school district has experienced numerous challenges, including a reduction in funding and a decision to cut the football program. These factors, along with the personal challenges faced by the coaches, led to the decision to resign.

The resignation of the coaches is expected to have significant impacts on the school district. The school district will need to find new coaches and possibly change
the football program's structure.

Despite the challenges, the school district remains committed to providing a high-quality education for all students.

Mr. Curran expressed his regret at the loss of the coaches, but emphasized the school district's focus on student success.

"We are committed to the success of our students," he said. "We will continue to provide a strong education for all students in the school district."

No decision reached on school budget cutbacks

After three hours of discussion by the Board of Education, the budget cutbacks in Hawthorne's schools were not discussed. It was decided to have a special meeting on Monday, and the next school board meeting will be on March 9. The school board had a difficult decision to make, but they were unable to come to a consensus due to the lack of information.

A third factor that has emerged in this discussion is the issue of how much money should be allocated to the 1978-79 school budget and the impact of these changes on the fiscal plan. Some school board members opposed the cuts, while others believed it was necessary to make such large cuts.

Another concern was the overall impact of budget cutbacks on the district. Some school board members expressed concern that the cuts would have a negative impact on the academic performance of students.

The school board was faced with a difficult decision and was unable to come to a consensus. The next school board meeting will be on Monday, and it is expected that the budget cutbacks will be discussed in detail.
Budget cuts must deal with the surplus

Though the move to disclose proposed school budget cuts wasn't conducted in a neutral forum, there were many, many months before the budget was even passed. The exact numbers vary, but the budget cuts that were proposed in the fall were in the neighborhood of $200 million. The main reason for this was the rising costs of providing educational services, which are largely driven by rising costs of personnel. The result was a budget cut that would impact core programs, including extracurricular activities, special education, and staff training.

This year, the state has increased its funding for education, which will help alleviate some of the pressure on the budget. However, it is important to note that the state's funding is not guaranteed, and the budget process will continue to be a contentious one.

Franklin Bank's Statement Savings, now called "Umbrella Statement" is 14 years old and doing fine, thank you!

Statement savings were one of the key products offered by Franklin Bank in the 1990s and have remained a popular choice among customers ever since. The Umbrella Statement is a type of savings account that offers a tiered interest rate structure, which means that customers earn higher interest rates as their balance increases. This is a great way to encourage savings and can be a good option for those looking to grow their money over time.

Franklin Bank has been a trusted source of financial services for many years, and we are committed to providing our customers with the best possible experience. If you're interested in learning more about the Umbrella Statement or any of our other products, please contact us today.

Retiring Chief honored

Retiring Chief honored

A special ceremony was held to honor retiring Chief Charles F. Kempton on his retirement from the Police Department.

Kempton has served the community with dedication and distinction for many years, and his leadership will be greatly missed.

In addition to the ceremony, a plaque was presented to Kempton as a token of appreciation for his service. The plaque reads: "To Chief Charles F. Kempton, in recognition of his unwavering commitment to public safety and the citizens of this community. Thank you for your dedicated service and leadership. Best wishes for a bright future."

Talent sought for community picnic

The Borough is planning a bicentennial picnic, to be held at the high school athletic complex on Sunday, July 17, 1976. The committee is seeking the talent of all citizens and organizations, as well as individuals who would like to participate in various aspects of the event, such as music, dance, and other performances. Talent is needed in more roles than just those listed, in order to accommodate the various groups and organizations who wish to participate.
