"Overall, I think they did a good job of balancing the budget," said Yee. "They had to cut some programs, but I think they did a good job of keeping the budget balanced for the fiscal year." The budget includes a 2% increase in spending, which Yee said was necessary due to the current economic situation.

PTO's oppose lunch program

P.T.O. members met with the Board of Education officials and the P.T.O. officers to discuss the possibility of implementing a lunch program for the school. The principal, Mr. Smith, expressed concern that the program would be costly and that it might lead to an increase in school taxes. The P.T.O. members argued that a lunch program would be beneficial for the students, as it would provide them with a healthy and nutritious meal. They also pointed out that the program would not only benefit the students, but also their parents, who would have more time to work.

To the Editor:

Louis Bertani of 13 N. Pine St., chairman of the Education Committee for the township, said the school board would be responsible for the education of our children.

To be sure that our children get the best education possible, it is necessary to have the most efficient and qualified teachers and administrators.

The report also included a discussion of the importance of standardized testing and how it affects students' performance.

More budget cuts to come?

In response to the ongoing economic challenges, the state government is expected to make significant cuts to various programs, including education. The cuts are expected to impact the school district in terms of funding and resources. The school board is meeting to discuss the implications of these cuts and the potential strategies to address them.

Cub Pack 20
Blue and gold dinner held

On Monday, March 30, the first-grade Cub Pack 20 sponsored an evening to benefit the Franklin School library.

The event opened with a presentation of the packs area songs and skits, followed by a meal of hamburgers, hot dogs, and other snacks. Afterward, the packs received their awards for leadership and academic achievement.

The proceeds from the event will be used to purchase new books and materials for the school library.

Girl Scouts attend service

On Sunday, March 30, at 10:30 a.m., members of the Girl Scout Troop 17 and the Cub Pack 20 attended an Easter service at the Methodist Church in Hawthorne.

The girls were accompanied by their Scout leaders and participated in the traditional Easter service.

The event was a great opportunity for the girls to connect with their community and learn about the importance of Easter in the Christian tradition.
School spending affects education

Education and school spending are an inseparable pair. This does not mean that the quality of children's learning is directly related to the amount of money we disburse for school budgets. However, the way a budget is constructed does have a bearing on the type of education programs offered in the local district.

For example, Tuesday night a group of parents and patients gathered on the school board to oppose a proposal of advanced courses in foreign language in September. This issue has been set aside to be discussed at a meeting with the Board of Education and the administration next week. However, the outcome, this way the situation is resolved depends upon whether money will be allocated for more teachers or whether the program can be implemented with no additional expenditure.

This situation demonstrates why parents and citizens must continue to be involved in the actions of the school board. Within the next two weeks, there are several parents' meetings scheduled to give parents a chance to hear the platform of the candidates and to question these men and women who will be making decisions about school spending. There is also a public hearing next Tuesday on the 1973-75 school budget. This is another time to find out what is going to happen in the school system next year.

We urge borough residents to read the budget brochure that has been mailed to their homes. If you have a question or do not understand something, the time and place to ask the question (no matter how insignificant) is March 15 at 8 o'clock.

The other public participation in the school budgeting process takes place only when taxes are being increased. This year school taxes are down, and this year's aid money and property owners will be receiving their returns checks, and our borough will go on school aid one for the homestead act.

We hope those factors will change their votes for the way school districts are spent. After all, the budget is "just that in Hawthorne No. 1 priority - our children's education."

Quality vs. Quantity

There is a surefire notion floating around that our Chief Executive is both busy and too weighted down with the affairs of state to be susceptible to the myriad of small talk and regurgitated over-simplified platitudes that the dignitaries of the President's staff feed to him in a great deal of dialogue. This is dangerous nonsense.

The surefire notion that the President is easily swayed by the opinions of others and can be talked into麻木 (stupor) or even into a state of submission is a serious threat to the stability of our nation. It is a threat that should be taken seriously by all of us.

We must not allow ourselves to be swayed by the opinions of others, especially those who are not of our own persuasion. We must stand firm in our beliefs and not allow ourselves to be swayed by the opinions of others.

By Art Bohl

As the sun began to sink in the southern horizon, Deirdre Dalby and her husband, Bob, were driving down the street. Bob was driving, Deirdre was smiling. They were happy. Their lives were good.

During the ride, Deirdre turned to Bob and said, "You know what? I think we should get a dog."

"A dog?" Bob asked, "but what kind of dog do you want?"

"Well," Deirdre replied, "I was thinking a pug. They're so cute and cuddly."

"Okay," Bob said, "let's get a pug."

So, they went to the pet store and picked out a little pug named Max. They took him home and named him "Scooby." They played together every day, and Deirdre and Bob were happier than ever.

Deirdre had been feeling a little down lately, but having Scooby around had made her feel better. They would go for walks in the park, and Scooby would run circles around Deirdre, wagging his tail. It was the most wonderful thing.

Scooby was a perfect little companion. Every time Deirdre would walk into the room, Scooby would run up to her and give her a big kiss. It was like he was saying, "I'm happy to see you!"

Deirdre and Bob couldn't have been more in love with their pug. They would never have dreamed of letting anything happen to him. But little did they know, their happy life was about to change.

On a fateful day, Scooby was playing in the yard. Deirdre was inside, doing some laundry. Suddenly, she heard a loud noise outside. She ran outside to see what was happening.

There, she saw a pack of wild dogs. They were barking and growling, and they seemed to be going after Scooby.

Deirdre didn't know what to do. She was scared. She didn't want to harm the wild dogs, but she couldn't leave Scooby alone.

Suddenly, she remembered her husband's gun. She grabbed it and ran outside, determined to protect Scooby.

She fired shots into the air, trying to scare the dogs away. But the wild dogs were not afraid of Deirdre, they continued to attack Scooby.

Deirdre was starting to panic. She didn't know what to do. She didn't want to hurt anyone, but she couldn't let Scooby be hurt.

Just then, a neighbor stepped out of his house. He saw what was happening and called the police. The police arrived and quickly dispersed the wild dogs. Scooby was safe.

Deirdre and Bob were relieved. They were grateful to their neighbor for calling the police. They decided to get a fence around their yard to keep any wild animals out.

From that day on, Deirdre and Bob were more cautious. They knew that life with a pet could be dangerous, but they were happy to have Scooby in their lives. They would never have dreamed of letting anything happen to him. And they were grateful to be able to enjoy their happy life together.

Phyllis Diller coming to the Mall
Phyllis Diller, acclaimed as the world's only female member of the "Smithsonian Institution," will be at the Public Plaza in Mall, Willow Mall, Panama, March 14 to 20. Photo by Des Bloom. Miss Diller, who once said in her one-woman show that she was 72 years old and the number of feet in five inches, has never been able to decide whether she is more famous for being a singer or for being a comedienne. Her character, "Miss Diller," is based on her own personality, which she claims is a cross between a genetic mutant and a comical human being. Because of her kind of entertainment, one might say that she only performs at any one time, and every time she's on stage there is a new character. She thinks both women and gay men enjoy the same as men.

She started performing her show when she was 15 and some young people say they first heard her say "That's a lot of work attached to a woman's name!"

Bertani cites need for educational improvement

Board of Education reconsiders last Bertani's request that "educating our children is the key problem." She added, "If we don't have our children, what do we have?" During the meeting, the board members agreed to pass resolutions and ask for increased funding for education. The resolution also calls for the development of a comprehensive educational plan for the district.

Bertani also mentioned the need for more support for teacher salaries, especially for those teaching in rural areas. She said, "The salaries of our teachers are not competitive with other districts, and we need to address this issue." The board members agreed to investigate possibilities of increasing teacher salaries.

In conclusion, Bertani emphasized the importance of education and called for more support for the district. She concluded, "We need to invest in our children's future and ensure that they have the best education possible."

May the wind be always at your back.

Today is St. Patrick's Day, a day of celebration for those who are Irish and those who are not. Regardless of nationality, most of us are touched in the guilty and joyous expression by the legend of the leprechaun.

To all of you, we repeat an old Irish proverb:

"May the road rise up to meet you, May the wind be always at your back, May the sun shine down upon your face, and may you be bless'd and forever light ye!"

EDITORIAL

Your endorsement is the only one that matters...

A committee was made up at a special meeting Tuesday night consisting of seven recognized leaders in the school board race. Although the leaders vary in their attitudes, it is a committee with a common goal and a common task. Their goal is to ensure that the best candidate is chosen for the office. They are responsible for making sure that the candidates meet the standards set by the school board.

The leaders have decided to endorse the candidates who they believe will best serve the community. The endorsement is based on a thorough review of the candidates' qualifications, experience, and commitment to the values that are important to the school board.

The leaders are not seeking personal gain or political advantage. They are acting in the best interests of the community and the school system.

It is important to have an informed electorate. The endorsement process is one way to ensure that voters are well-informed about the candidates and their qualifications.

The leaders encourage all members of the community to vote on Tuesday, May 1. It is a crucial day for the future of the school system.

The leaders thank you for your support and for considering their endorsement.

For a new effective, efficient education.

For programs to satisfy the needs and desires of all, starting with workshops for senior citizens.

For total community involvement and participation in the schools.

For financial infinity in the formulation of the school budget.

Helen states:

"I envision a school system of community action where all students, teachers, and others are engaged, making it a vital resource satisfying the needs of the community."
A Personal Message from Frank Matthews

Now that the Board of Education election is less than a week away, I am sure that many of you have already decided who you are voting for. If I am one of your three choices for Tuesday's election, I sincerely thank you.

I am equally certain that not all of you have decided whom to vote for, that many of you are still undecided on who to vote for. It is to you people that I implicitly address my remarks.

I am running for another term on the Board of Education because I want to continue to contribute toward improving our educational system. We have a good school system, but it can be improved. We can expect a better system of education only by our consistent improvement combined with the proper guidance from you, the parents.

As a parent, my concern is to protect你们的 children's education and to ensure their future. I want to protect your children's future. I want to ensure that they are given a quality education.

Our children are the most precious asset we have in our society. We are responsible for their health, their welfare, their education, their future - and everything else that is a part of their well-being. We are responsible for their mental and spiritual development, for their physical strength and health.

In these responsibilities, we are faced with the most serious challenge - how to provide our children with the best education possible. In order to do this, we must have a quality school system. We must have a school system that meets the needs of our children.

The question is, what is a quality school system? Firstly, it means a school system that will develop the intellectual and spiritual abilities of your children. Secondly, it means a school system that will help your children develop their critical thinking skills, so that they can think independently and critically. Lastly, it means a school system that will help your children develop their social skills, so that they can interact with others in a positive manner.

Our goal must be to build a school system that will prepare your children for the world they will enter. We must create an environment that will encourage your children to be creative, to think for themselves, to learn from their mistakes, and to develop the skills they will need to succeed in life.

Parents, I urge you to vote for me for another term on the Board of Education. Let us work together to build a school system that will provide our children with a quality education. Let us work together to make sure that our children have the best possible future.

Sincerely,
Frank Matthews

The voters have had their say

With the weather souring in the W's, the setting for Tuesday's Board of Education election was a marked contrast from last year's battleground. Unfortunately, the many others didn't help get more voters to the polls, as the results were not as good as last year. In fact, Matthews and Paquale received fewer votes that they did in 1969.

Of course, the last quarter of the year was a happy one for the Board of Education — the approval of school budgets and the first in the town's history. It's not only the trustees who should be congratulating. The public will benefit from the fact that approved budgets will not be added to the long-drawn-out process of state appeal. We advocate about what the approval represents. It is a view of the narrow margin in the final tally. We also hope that the decision to settle is met with a significant increase in the budget.
