Vote scheduled for Tuesday, March 25th:

Hawthorne school campaign winds down

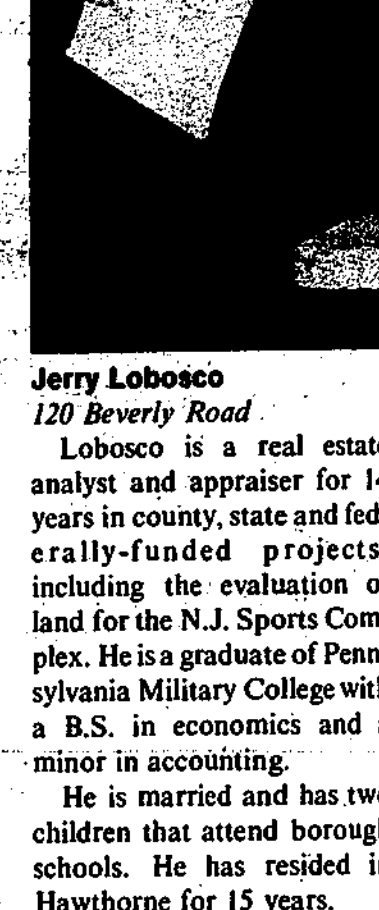

Ralph Chamberlin
720 Lafayette Avenue
The owner and operator of Osur's Market, he has served one term on the board and is seeking reelection with a team of three other candidates.

A graduate of Hawthorne public schools, he is married and has three children that attend school in the district. He served in the US Navy. During his time on the board he has chaired the textbook and supply committee.

Rich Leyman
131 Second Avenue
A lifelong borough resident, Leyman has been on the Hawthorne Police Department for nine years and the William B. Mawhinney Ambulance Corps for seven years.

He is a former computer operations supervisor and a former PBA president and chief negotiator. Leyman is married with one child in school and two preschoolers.

Frank S. Matthews
584 Lincoln Avenue
Matthews has served two terms on the board and has chaired the buildings and grounds committee and the administration committee. He was vice president for two years, served on various committees, and is now seeking re-election with the team.

He is a construction estimator for Homestead Roofing. A graduate of Paterson schools, he moved here in 1962. Matthews is married with one son in the high school and a daughter in college.

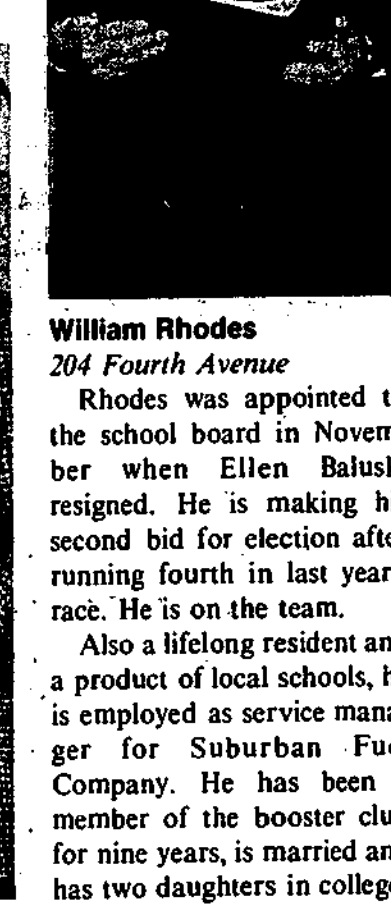

John Pasquale III
44 Oak Place
A borough resident since 1963, Pasquale attended Paterson schools and graduated Steven Institute of Technology with a degree in engineering. He is vice president of Liberty Machine in Paterson.

He has served on the board for six years, with two years as president. Married and the father of four sons, he is running unopposed for the one-year seat with the team.

William Rhodes
204 Fourth Avenue
Rhodes was appointed to the school board in November when Ellen Baluski resigned. He is making his second bid for election after running fourth in last year's race. He is on the team.

Also a lifelong resident and a product of local schools, he is employed as service manager for Suburban Fuel Company. He has been a member of the booster club for nine years, is married and has two daughters in college.

Jerry Lobosco
120 Beverly Road
Lobosco is a real estate analyst and appraiser for 14 years in county, state and federally-funded projects, including the evaluation of land for the N.J. Sports Complex. He is a graduate of Pennsylvania Military College with a B.S. in economics and a minor in accounting.

He is married and has two children that attend borough schools. He has resided in Hawthorne for 15 years.

Local businessman fined for water meter by-pass

A Hawthorne businessman was found guilty of by-passing the water meter in his screen filter company and fined $80 in North Haledon Municipal Court Monday night. The case was heard in the neighboring community after Judge Donald Reenstra disqualified himself from hearing the case in Hawthorne court because of prior representation on behalf of the defendant.

Raymond Talsma, of 17 Copley Court, North Haledon, is the principal of Absolute Filter Screen Co., 85 Wagaraw Road. He was charged with violating section 5 of ordinance 958 which prohibits the making or maintaining of any by-pass around a water meter.

Borough Prosecutor Walter Dewey called two witnesses — Fire Prevention Chief Louis J. Bay and Ray Gormley, water department office manager, to testify in this case. Bay related that on February 20, 1980, he was on the premises and observed a hose connected to the fire sprinkler system which by-passed the water meter.

This situation violated the fire safety code, according to Bay. Gormley told the court that he had been unable to get into the building to read the water meter and that the water department had been billing Absolute Filter the minimum rate which is $7 a month based on 8000 gallons. On February 20th, however, the building's maintenance man, Frank Della Porte had let Gormley on the premises to get a meter reading. The water department manager also observed the by-pass of the meter.

Both Bay and Gormley instructed Della Porte to plug up the by-pass and he complied.

The defendant testified that he had purchased the business from a prior owner and didn't know the by-pass existed. Talsma related that when he took over in April of 1978, half of the building had been torn down and the meter was in the part of the structure that had been demolished. A new meter was installed in November 1979.

Judge David Azar found the defendant guilty on the grounds that the by-pass had, in fact, been maintained. However, since there was no estimate of the amount of water that had been used, there was no way to order restitution. Azar stated that he believed the defendant did not know of the by-pass, but found him guilty because the situation did exist.

Talsma was fined $65 and $15 court costs. The ordinance, provides a penalty for each offense of up to $500, a jail sentence of up to 90 days or both. Borough officials warn that they intend to crackdown on any business that is found to be in violation of the borough's regulations on water use.

Escaped convict apprehended here

by Daria Hoffman
An armed escaped convict was apprehended by Hawthorne and Wyckoff police shortly after he burglarized a borough residence last Thursday. According to Hawthorne police, Dolores Bostrom, of 656 Goffle Hill Road, called headquarters to notify police that her home had just been burglarized and money, jewelry and silverware stolen.

The intruder was confronted by Dr. John Bostrom, who had arrived home for lunch at 12:10 pm. The man drew a gun, pointed it at Bostrom and a neighbor, Richard Rosendale, and fled into the wooded area.

Both Hawthorne and Wyckoff police covered on the scene and searched the area. After a chase, Wyckoff Sgt. Lynn Le Roy apprehended Ronald Thomas Carbone, 39, who also pulled a gun on the officer.

Carbone was carrying money and jewelry from the Bostrom house when he was arrested. Silverware and valuables were also recovered from the thief.

Wyckoff police took the suspect to headquarters, where he refused to give his name, but identity was made through the Passaic County Identification Bureau. Carbone, 39, was identified as an escaped convict who was serving a four to six year term at Rahway State Prison for an aggravated assault conviction. He escaped on February 14th.

He has been remanded to Bergen County Jail on three counts of aggravated assault, unlawful possession of a firearm and possession of a weapon with intent to use it unlawfully. He was also charged with burglary and theft in Hawthorne.

Public invited to H.S. drug awareness program

The public is invited to attend next Wednesday's drug awareness program at Hawthorne High School. Notices have been sent home to all students in the system urging all pupils grades six-12 and their parents to attend.

"The Games of Silence," a play involving a suburban family of four, will be presented by the Forum Players of West Allenhurst at 7:00 pm on March 26 in the Hawthorne School Auditorium. The play explores the issues of drug and alcohol addiction, the pressures of adolescence, and the breakdown of communications within the family.

After the 45 minute drama, a panel discussion will be held to answer questions from the audience on topics raised in the play.

Citizens of the year nominations sought

Jaycee Project Chairman Ed Gurriell announced that all nominations for citizen of the year award must be submitted by March 31. The Hawthorne Jaycees would like to honor an outstanding person and need the public's help in submitting candidates.

Nomination forms are available at the Hawthorne Library, Municipal Building, or Frank's Deli, on Lafayette Avenue or from Ed Gurriell at 427-2262.

HHS HAPPENINGS

Nine students from Hawthorne were among 500 from New Jersey high schools who presented the 32nd annual All State Opera Festival at East Orange High School on March 1. Local students were John Behnken, Alberto Bellotti, Mark Birch, Kim DiMaggio, Carl Eshmann, Donald Giannella, Glen McCail, Jane West and Tim Winter.

Mr. Bruce Townsend, HHS choral director, was the lineup chairperson for the festival. Student soloists and ensembles presented a concert version of Puccini's La Boheme.

Casapulla named R.A.

James M. Casapulla, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Casapulla, 39 North Highest Drive, has been selected to serve as a resident advisor at Tusculum College, Greeneville, Tennessee. Casapulla, a graduate of Hawthorne High School is a junior majoring in special education. Resident advisors are student members of the student affairs staff. Their responsibilities include peer counseling, assisting with academic advising, disseminating and enforcing college regulations, and planning and implementing residence hall programs. The group will begin training during the spring quarter, and will assume their responsibilities at the beginning of the 1980-81 academic year.

A tool box and tools, which had been stolen from a truck parked on Lafayette Avenue were recovered on the property at 82 May Street. The tools were returned to the owner, Peter Alonzi, 141 East 15th Street, Paterson.

March 13

Several incidents of vandalism took place at the Hawthorne Garden Apartments. Three windows and an outside light were broken.

March 14

Two juveniles, ages 15 and 13, were apprehended after they had allegedly stolen $74 from the office of the Goffle Brook Shell Service Station, 902 Goffle Road. Both youths were released to their parents pending the filing of complaints.

Dallas case goes to grand jury

Franklin of Paramus, John Andretta, Jr. of Nanuet, N.Y., and William Flanagan II of Spring Valley, N.Y., who was also an employee.

The five were arrested two weeks ago, when Hawthorne police and the Passaic County Prosecutor's Office concluded their investigation of the thefts which took place during the period from last July until January.

Also referred to the grand jury, was a charge against Vincenzo Gagliardo, 273 Broadway, Paterson, that he received stolen property.

Walter Penny, 189 N. Ethel Avenue, was fined $215 when he was found guilty of driving while his license was revoked.

Vince Diorio, 438 Buffalo Avenue, Paterson, was found guilty of leaving his car parked for over 24 hours. He was fined $5 and $5 for court costs.

Section 3. All persons employed during the year 1980 shall be paid at the rate of the annual salaries or rate of pay, not more than the said maximum established in sections 1 and 2 above, as the Director of the Department concerned shall fix and establish and record with the Board of Commissioners. Those employees covered by the New Jersey Minimum Wage Law shall be paid overtime as provided therein.

Section 4. There shall be paid to all Borough Volunteer Firemen who average an attendance of at least 33 1/3% for fire duty in the current year and who have been certified by the Board of Fire Commissioners as having met the requirements hereof and approved by the Director of the Department of Public Safety, $200.00 annually as a clothing allowance. There shall be paid to the Assistant Fire Chiefs an additional sum of $125.00 per annum for performing clerical duties in connection with their positions as Assistant Chiefs.

Section 5. Members of the Police Department shall receive longevity as follows: Five to seven years, two percent (2%); eight to eleven years, three per cent (3%); twelve to fifteen years, four per cent (4%); sixteen to nineteen years, five per cent (5%); twenty to twenty-four years, six per cent (6%); twenty five years and over, eight percent (8%). All Patrolmen in the Police Department (exclusive of superior officers) shall receive overtime compensation at the rate of one and one half times the normal hourly rate for working time in excess of eight hours per day or forty (40) hours per week to be calculated as follows:

a. 0-15 minutes - no compensation
16-30 minutes - .5 hour compensation
31-45 minutes - .75 hour compensation
46-60 minutes - 1.0 hour compensation
over 60 minutes each 15 minutes or part thereof shall constitute .25 hour for compensation.

b. When any overtime worked at the conclusion of the patrolman's regular eight hour shift does not exceed sixty (60) minutes, then the overtime shall be compensated in time off at the time and one half rate, but if such overtime exceeds sixty (60) minutes, then the entire overtime worked, and all other overtime, shall be compensated in pay as provided above.

Any police patrolman normally assigned to investigative duties will receive, in lieu of overtime pay, additional compensation based on $350.00 per annum over the amount stated in the salary plan.

Section 6. a. Members of the Department of Public Works and Water Department: All work performed in excess of eight (8) hours per day or forty (40) hours per week shall be considered overtime and shall be paid for on the basis of time and one-half (1 1/2).

b. Whenever an employee is required to work on a regularly scheduled holiday, he shall receive one and one-half (1 1/2) times his regular rate of pay for each hour worked in addition to his regular pay for that holiday.

c. In the event that an employee is recalled to duty during his regularly scheduled time off, he shall be guaranteed a minimum of two (2) hours pay at one and one-half (1 1/2) times his regular rate of pay.

d. A shift differential of .05 per hour shall be paid for the second shift (4:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight) and a differential of .10 per hour shall be paid for the third shift (12:00 midnight to 8:00 a.m.).

Section 7. All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this Ordinance and the same are hereby repealed, but only to the extent of such inconsistencies.

Section 8. This ordinance shall take effect upon publication and final passage as required by law.

Louis Bay, 2nd, Mayor
Anthony Ross, Commissioner
Arthur A. Breakaw, Commissioner

Notice is hereby given that the foregoing Ordinance passed first reading at a regular meeting of the Board of Commissioners of the Borough of Hawthorne, held March 19, 1980 and will be considered for final passage at a meeting of the said Board to be held April 2, 1980 at 8:00 P.M., in the Auditorium of the Temporary Municipal Building, 15 Garfield Avenue, Hawthorne, New Jersey.

Acting Borough Clerk

The public's not being fooled by team approach

Next Tuesday, Hawthorne voters have an important role in shaping the future of the borough's school system. At issue is whether or not to approve a $7.2 million budget and which candidates will be elected to represent the public.

At the top ballot position is Ralph Chamberlin, who is completing his first term on the board. No one can dispute the fact that he has served on more than one committee, however, he lists only one that he has chaired — textbooks and supplies.

Chamberlin seems content to sit back and makes no secret of the fact that his business does not allow time for daytime committee meetings or Saturday seminars run by the state school boards associations.

He avoids controversy which is all very well and good. However, this week's press release puts him out of his league when he suggests that the textbooks committee is responsible for new curriculum studies and improved course offerings.

Jerry Lobosco is a newcomer on the scene, but has one of the most impressive backgrounds of the candidates that have chosen to seek election in recent years. He has raised some pertinent questions about public involvement, adequate input before making board decisions and whether this year's budget will come up short.

His experience in working with state and federal funding could be a valuable asset to the school board. It would be interesting to see if he could provide the imagination needed to deal with today's fiscal constraints and state mandates.

Rich Leyman, a member of the Hawthorne police force, has based his candidacy on the added dimension that a police officer can provide in the area of juvenile violence, vandalism and drug and alcohol abuse. He has experience in public employee negotiations, has found time to volunteer in the local ambulance corps and borough youth groups.

Frank Matthews has served six years on the board and made himself known by consistently opposing the philosophies of the very men he has joined on this team of incumbents. By doing so, he has confused the public.

His area of expertise is buildings and grounds and has been a one-dimensional platform. Although the maintenance program is improving, the major referendum for safety work at Roosevelt School that's proposed for the near future, shows that there's a long wait to go.

William Rhodes, who was appointed to the board in November ran fourth in last year's race. Although his name appears with the team on a "re-elect" poster, he has not been voted in by the public.

Throughout the campaign, he has reiterated the point that he has gained insight into the workings of the board, but his reticence leaves us wondering as to what he could do to meet the challenges of the future, especially when compared with the credentials of the two non-team candidates.

Last but not least is John Pasquale, who is running unopposed on the one-year seat. This calculated move left him free to campaign for his teammates while touting about town that the board's nice just the way it is. It's a pretty euphemism, but with the hard-core issues facing board members today, a unified front can't carry all the problems to resolution. It also misses one very important point — there is nothing so good that it cannot be made better.

The candidates have had their say and this Tuesday it's the voters' turn. We have enough confidence in the public to know that they're not being fooled by this team approach.

The only area where we lack confidence in the voters is in the number who go to the polls on election day. Last year's underwhelming turnout was 11 percent state-wide. It did, however, show an increase from 1979, when less than 10 percent of those registered bothered to vote.

The time to speak out is March 25th. Make your feelings known about the budget, consider the direction the board is taking and choose the candidates who can do the most to turn things around.

Competent individuals needed

315 West State Street
Trenton, NJ 08605
March 13, 1980

Dear editor,

Over the past few years there have been too many variations upon the date of annual school elections. While these changes have been for good reason, many voters may not have been fully aware of election day. Last year, for example, only 11 percent of the voting population participated in the election.

As president of the New Jersey School Boards Association (NJSBA) and a member of the Manchester Regional High School Board of Education, I would like to speak on behalf of school board members across the state on the importance of participating in this election. Annual school elections provide us with a unique opportunity to influence a public institution — the system that lays the groundwork for the future of our children and our nation. And while the educational welfare of New Jersey's children is by far the most important consideration as we go to the polls, we cannot overlook the cost of public education which today stands at 3 billion dollars. Surely, voter impact on public education and management of the tax dollar is momentous!

Dedicated and competent people are needed on local boards — who will represent you at the local level. I urge every New Jersey citizen to participate in the annual school elections on Tuesday, March 25.

Sincerely,
Jeffrey P. Fischer
President

New Jersey School Boards Association

ups and downs

Thumbs Up

to the borough water department and fire prevention chief for the announced crackdown of those who abuse water service. With water shortages predicted for the future, this is an area that deserves careful scrutiny to preserve this local resource.

Thumbs Down

to the delay in the delivery of steel that is needed for the construction of the new borough hall. With spring just around the corner, it's too bad that the structural work can't get started so that the projected completion date won't be pushed too far into 1981.

Lobosco questions credibility of the school budget

"As pointed out by Mr. Leyman at the GOP candidates' night, the largest portion of the school budget is for salaries which are in negotiations and have not yet been settled," said Jerry Lobosco this week. "The public is being asked to approve $7.2 million, most of which is only an estimate of what the staff's raises will be."

"I cannot vote in favor of such a budget and I consider this one of the major issues of this campaign. The team is supporting a budget which has ramifications that are not yet known (salaries, fuel oil). Are they trying to hush the public into a feeling of false security? Are they, at a later date, going to have to come before the public and ask for more money? Or have they hidden additional money in the $7.2 million plan to cover additional expenses should they occur? How credible is the proposed budget at this time? Is this what the public can expect from a team effort? I am running as an individual and not as part of a team. I am running on my own qualifications and not on those of others.

"You have $7,200,000 which is the school budget. Who should you have to manage your investment? The answer is simple, you want the most qualified person you can find. You want a person who is experienced in handling that amount of money.

"I have a degree in economics, a minor in accounting, extensive training in management and have recommended and approved over $8 1/2 million dollars in real estate expenditures for the State of New Jersey, all of which was subject to constant federal audit. This experience and background will prove an asset to the board.

"I deal on a daily basis with the same type of frustrations that effect this board. For 15 years, I have been constantly put in a 'no win' situation, damned if I do and damned if I don't. I have handled these types of problems and have constantly resolved them to the satisfaction of those concerned.

"I review reports which are to be used in connection with governmental funding when applying for state aid. The reports must be in the proper format and must meet exact governmental regulations. If they are not accurate, funding will be lost. This experience in both state and federal projects will be invaluable to the board in applying for state aid. I constantly deal with these systems and their red tape.

"Community relations and public information are also issues of great importance. All matters should be openly discussed and the public should be encouraged to participate. The public should be given an opportunity to voice opinions prior to, not after, the vote has been taken. This is the only way the will of the community can be heard and their rights protected. I want everyone to know what the board is doing and why. If the board fully explained its action they would not be fearful of the public's questions and concerns.

"Another issue is that of planning. We are entering a new era, that of the 80's. We are facing new challenges, such as the state's mandated Thorough and Efficient education. We must think to the future. Hindsight can no longer cope with today's problems and pace. The future needs must be anticipated and planned for. We can no longer wait for a shortfall to occur when it is evident that it is coming."

"As a member of the school board, I will weigh the facts and judge the issues on their merits. It must be a system we can afford without being penalized."

State ruling favors Lobosco

63 Ridge Road
Hawthorne, N.J.
March 17, 1980

Dear editor,

Last week The Press published a letter which questioned the candidacy of two people running for the Hawthorne school board.

The writer felt that one of the candidates, Jerry Lobosco would be in conflict of interest should he be elected since his wife is employed as a teacher in the Hawthorne School system. The legality of this has been upheld in a decision handed down by the New Jersey State Board of Education on May 31, 1974.

Furthermore, I would think that having a wife as a teacher would be an asset. I once served in such a situation in which I was a member of the Board of Education in which my wife was employed. Her insight as a classroom teacher was helpful to me and often gave me a different perspective in matters where my knowledge was vague.

I am presently principal of Bogota High School and serve as a member of the Board of Trustees of Passaic County Community College. I am also chairman of the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools.

I feel Jerry Lobosco or anyone in the same circumstances should not be denied the privilege of running and serving on the Hawthorne Board of Education should they be elected.

Yours very truly,
Ronald J. Frederick

leave, which I can apply toward necessary seminars conducted by the New Jersey School Boards Association. I would challenge any board member at this time to compare his or her free time during the week, with the flexibility of my schedule.

I recently spoke to Prospect Park Chief of Police Anthony Ver Hage and Passaic County Investigator William Mullanaphy. Both of these men have served on the Manchester Board of Education and the service and experience extended by these men was a valuable asset to that board. Mr. Mullanaphy was a Prospect Park police officer at the time, and also had to deal with shift work. Anytime a situation arose where it was necessary to hold a daytime meeting, the board knew that he would be available because of his days off during the week or the personal time that he had accumulated. Chief Ver Hage told me that in neighboring communities the police consider it part of their job to have a police officer on that board. Communication between the local police authorities and the Board of Education were greatly extended. This kept both agencies informed of what situations were going on within their jurisdiction.

I hope that the voter who has not decided whom their choice will be for the three year seats would consider these facts. Many police officers in the state serve on local boards of education. Their presence benefits the jurisdiction, in matters such as juvenile delinquency, narcotic investigation, student safety, and vandalism. This is the meaning behind the phrase, "The Added Dimension that I can provide on the Hawthorne Board of Education."

Sincerely,
Rich Leyman

Team outlines past achievements and shares future outlook

The following is a press release by Ralph Chamberlin, Frank S. Matthews, William Rhodes, and John A. Pasquale III, who are running as a team in the March 25th election. "We wanted to share with the public not only our past achievements but our future outlook. Since we have always voted independently on issues and will continue to do so, we thought the public should see our individual viewpoints."

Ralph Chamberlin

"When I came on the board three years ago, I arrived amidst contract negotiations that were at an impasse. I was put on the negotiations committee that was successful in working out a three year salary and contract schedule that was one of the best in the area both for Hawthorne and its staff."

"I was placed on the cafeteria committee and I'm proud to say that we have one of the more successful programs in the area. Under the watchful eye of our director, we have brought our food program to a self-sustaining condition, including the director's salary and the purchase of an additional freezer."

"If reelected, I look forward to continuing my service to Hawthorne including the area of education that I serve as chairman of textbooks and supplies. Our staff has been very involved in new curricula studies involving new textbook adoptions. I want to see continued progress in our schools and am hopeful that the new advanced placement courses and the career exploration program in the high school will be both challenging and successful. I also feel the Franklin/Washington reorganization will give the students from those schools the same educational opportunities as in the three other elementary schools."

Frank Matthews

"Six years ago, we had just completed the major addition to Lincoln School. There were many loose ends that I had followed as a citizen and upon my election concentrated on helping clear them up. As a member of the building and grounds committee, we recommended that our board hire a supervisor of building and grounds to oversee our custodial and maintenance programs. We have been able to do many projects with our own staff that has definitely resulted in a savings to the taxpayer."

"As chairman of the administration committee, I was also involved with the development of our written policy manual, something long overdue in our district. This is an on-going project reviewed at the regular management team meetings of the board."

"When the board found itself faced with the school reorganization plans over the past few years, there were at least three or four differing views. The master plan presented to the board by our architects still left open areas for major decision. I was fortunate to serve on a special master plan committee with two of my colleagues, the end result of which was a master plan submission last year that clearly defines the program we are embarked upon."

"Ironically, the resulting plan was born out of differing independent views, but the outcome was a unified solution that shows what cooperation and experience can promote."

"If elected, I would like to see the fruits of our labor implemented. We face a continuing need to upgrade our facilities, as well as our programs, to provide the means for our children."

William Rhodes

"As an appointed member, seeking election to the board, I feel especially fortunate that I came on the board at a time critical to the naming of a new superintendent and the preparation of the 1980-81 school budget."

"The superintendent search and hiring experience was one that saw us interview five candidates and then, with individual member input, arrive at a decision. There certainly were differences of opinion, but never any that were insurmountable after good discussion. My first exposure to this board during such a process made up my mind for me to seek election, hopefully keeping this board together to continue serving with the man we unanimously hired as our superintendent."

"The budget process was another unique experience. When I saw the original draft, some $240,000 over cap, I never thought we would make it. The sessions were a lesson in what open-mindedness and cooperation among administration, staff and board members can accomplish. We made cuts while not only maintaining programs, but even providing additional gifted and talented education, an outdoor science program for the seventh graders and the inception of a girl's soccer program."

"I would like to continue being a part of our school board so I can contribute to the future of our children. I welcome the challenge that lies ahead, knowing that individual opinions and viewpoints can be shared with one another and a conclusion reached that is in the best interest of the student, staff and public."

John Pasquale III

"Although I am unopposed in this election, I am taking a very active role in the reelection of my colleagues because this board has come together this past year with nine individual points of view, reaching conclusions that have meant progress for our school district."

"When I came on the board six years ago, we had a special education program that was considered by many to be barely adequate. We decided to engage a director of special programs and under her able direction, we have a program that is recognized as among the best in the area. Our board has faced an ever increasing budget in the special education area but has realized its importance and has not withheld its support."

"During my first year on the board, school expansion programs were being completed. As a professional engineer, I was allowed to chair the expansion committee, with my fellow board members listening to our advice, giving their opinions and bringing the items to a conclusion that disposed of the remaining issues in an expedient manner."

"My two years as president saw the beginning of the discussions on school reorganization. There were many differing opinions. Later, as head of the special master plan committee, we brought the plan to conclusion and presented it for adoption to the board. This experience was probably the single most gratifying one I had during my tenure since it showed how a board with opposing views could overcome personal differences for the good of the community."

"Finally, having experienced a successful budget cap waiver appeal a few years ago, and in my role as finance chairman the last two years, I feel our board has given the people of Hawthorne the most for its money. In this day of mandated programs and inflation, no one can promise a tax rate that will not rise, but we can offer you a budget as we have this year; one that meets the needs of the children, and stays within the state spending limits. I am personally proud of how this board worked during the budget process, responded to sound recommendations but would not give in on any issue that seriously impacted education."

"It should be no wonder then that I seek reelection, not only for myself, but for my colleagues. I enjoy the feeling of serving on a board that may offer different opinions but which decides issues by majority vote and then moves on to the next. If my desire to see his board continue again for another year is considered selfish by some, then I ask them to let our record speak for itself."

"Where have any real issues surfaced? Has any candidate been able to point out a serious flaw in our decision-making process? I maintain that while I do not personally profess to the 'no news is good news' theory, the people of Hawthorne do make themselves heard if a real issue does arise."

"I ask, therefore, that you not only vote for me, but also support the team so that we can continue giving Hawthorne educational government derived from the individual opinion of nine members whose first thought is for the children of the borough. I also urge your support of the budget to maintain our school programs."

"In conclusion, the four of us appeal to the public for unified support. There has been accusation of a political power struggle, of the formation of a power bloc. Anyone who comes to our meetings knows that our voting record is far from unified. The uniqueness of our group is that it is an alliance whose sole purpose is to achieve reflection to keep our Board of Education working in a positive direction."

Haledon voters face $1.3 million budget

Haledon voters will be asked to consider a 1980-81 budget of $1,376,127 in the March 25th election. The school board race has six candidates vying for three positions.

Three of the candidates, Leonard Smallheer, Bruce Terwilliger and Dorothy Faber, who are backed by a group called "Concerned Taxpayers for Education" failed to show up at a candidates' night sponsored by the PTA on Monday.

Two of the remaining candidates are incumbents, Judy White and Robert Cauda. White is the current board president. Cauda, served one year as president and another as vice president. Both are six year veterans.

North Haledon budget projects no tax rise

Eight candidates are vying for four positions in the North Haledon school election. They are Richard Mevogli, Sabino Porro, Martin Bosland and Nicholas Baldo, a group that would retain suspended Superintendent of Schools Robert Kiamie to his position.

Incumbents Tony De Franco, Joseph Salloum, and Bonnie Terlizzi are joined by newcomer Pat Cantania as a group that opposes Kiamie's return until tenure charges against him are heard. Terlizzi and Porro are contenders for the one-year term. The others are vying for three 3-year positions.

The 1980-81 school budget calls for total expenditures of $1,623,806 with no tax increase. However, $25,000 that was restored to the current budget may have to be raised in the 1980-81 tax rate.

At the public hearing held on March 11, none of about 30 persons in the audience asked any questions about the fiscal plan.

North Haledon voters have three polling places, Memorial School, Fire Co. No. 1 on Belmont Avenue and High Mountain School which will be open from 2 to 9 pm.

Lobosco, Leyman attend school boards seminar

Two Hawthorne school board candidates attended briefings run by the New Jersey School Boards Association earlier this month. Jerry Lobosco was pictured on the front page of School Board Notes while attending the March 1st session.

Rich Leyman was present at the March 8th session at the Meadowlands Hilton. Conferences covered topics on campaign laws, methods of board operation, community-board relations, staff-board relations, collective bargaining, the budget process and the board members' code of ethics.

The sixth contender is Joan Giglio, a former reporter the mother of two children, who stresses the importance of the 13 years a child spends in school.

Smallheer, a former councilman, is the husband of trustee Anna Smallheer and a contracts administrator with Components Tool and Manufacturing, Fairfield.

Faber, another former councilwoman, runs a family-owned furniture business.

Terwilliger is a freshman communications major at William Paterson College.

Haledon voters should report to the Absolum Grundy School, 120 Barbour Street, between the hours of 2 and 9 pm.

Five candidates running in Manchester Regional race

Manchester Regional High School Board of Education passed its $2.9 million budget for 1980-81 by a vote of 7-1.

The budget includes, no capital outlay figure, tabling previously discussed repairs to the school's roof. Robert Gillespie, board secretary, says the taxable portion of the budget represents a 6.6 percent increase over the 1979-80 budget.

The tax rate increase for the borough is expected to be two points. In Haledon the hike is expected to be 16 points and in North Haledon, 18 points.

Gillespie said 56 percent of the school costs will go for instructional materials and salaries and the remaining 14 percent represents fixed costs. The increase of 6.6 percent results from increased fuel costs, increased transportation costs, and legal costs. The budget eliminates soccer and fencing programs, originally included.

Incumbent Jeffrey Fischer, president of the New Jersey School Boards Association and former Manchester school employee, Alice Zanic, are vying for one Haledon position in the Manchester High School Board of Education.

Three North Haledon contenders for two positions are Edward Petkus, an assistant professor of elementary education; Roy Norbe, a special education teacher at Westwood, HS; and Eleanor Gaffney, an incumbent, a guidance counselor at Eastside High School.

Four contenders in Prospect Park

Prospect Park voters will go to the polls next Tuesday to elect three candidates out of four running for full terms on the Board of Election.

Seeking reelection is Robert Purdon, six-year board veteran and vice-president of the Board of Education. Purdon is chairman of the board's negotiation committee.

Other candidates are Richard Napp, of North 16th Street, John Witham of Haledon Avenue and John Sico of North 10th Street.

In addition to electing three trustees, voters will decide on the school's first budget to top $1 million. However, taxpayers will only shoulder $978,160 of that amount, which represents a six-point tax hike.

Witham is an engineering unit head at Singer Kearfoot, Little Falls. Napp is a sales representative with Coastal Auto Leasing of Ridgewood and has two children in the school system. Sico, who holds a master's degree in math from Montclair State College, teaches at Eastside High School and at Rutgers University.

Incumbents Harriet Jane Cavill and David Luitjens are not seeking reelection.

Changing fuels is more expensive than just a phone call.

Before you go to the expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition.

And now, due to the state's tough new conversion prerequisites, conversion is even more costly. In addition to the new heating equipment needed, you'll have to have six inches of insulation installed in your ceilings; new storm windows and doors and day-night thermostats put in.

Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than go to all the expense that conversion entails?

Lentine leads Monday action

by Turk

Pete Lentine came up with 213-223 and a 607 series to lead Lakeview Farms to a three game win over my team, Turk's Maitre D's. C. and G. Tavern took all three games from Gertrude's No. 2 team. Dick Hoffner had 201-204-602 in a losing effort for Gertrude's.

The Golden Steer Restaurant took two games from Gertrude's Beauty Salon No. 1 team. Tony De Lallo had 247 to save one game from Gertrude's. C. and G. Tavern lead the action by two full games over the Golden Steer. Gertrude's Beauty Salon and Lakeview Farms are tied for the third spot four full games back in Monday night action.

Bernardo and Pearson pace league

by Bill Boyle

Stan Bernardo of the Double "J" Tavern broke loose Monday evening with a 225-252-669 to lead his team to a triple win over De Lucia's Funeral Home. Assisting Bernardo was Joe "Mad Dog" Sin-cavage with a 211-523. Jack "Papa" Pearson unloaded a 263 (588) to spark first place Ocean Industries to two wins and a tie against Brown Chemical. Paul Choma had a 214-548 for the winners while George Demartelare had a 221-558 for the losers.

The Hawthorne Press continued their winning ways by knocking off the Clifton Moose twice. The two wins moved the Press into a tie for fourth place, a far cry from 13th a few weeks ago. Passaic Citizen, with Bud Weed's 207-553 and Jimmy Kecks 203, knocked off the second place Saint Anthony Men's Club "B" team twice. Joe Messina had a 215-555 and Ernie Messina a 224-543 for the "B" team. John Bruggeman (208) sparked S & R Masons to two wins over Parker Inn and Chuck Shannon (203-545).

The Saint Anthony "A" team, behind Van Mann's 211-544 and Dave Brace's 202-581, overcame Pat D'Amelio's 213 and Coy Mincey's 203-547 to knock off the Cadillac's twice. The nights action

Prospect Park Patter

by Bert Nawyn

President Carter wants to cut the federal budget by $18 billion and every Prospect Park property owner will feel the results in the loss of revenue sharing funds. During the presidency of Richard Nixon, the federal revenue sharing was instituted as a way of returning to the local municipalities funds which taxpayers give to the federal government. This will mean a loss of over $33,000 a year for Prospect Park taxpayers.

The borough presently uses much of the revenue sharing funds to pay for the collection of garbage which costs about $55,000 a year. This year $27,000 was plugged into the cost of garbage.

The loss of over $33,000 in revenue sharing funds next year will mean an increase of 11 tax points for property owners who will have to pay for the loss through their real estate taxes.

Whether Congress will go along with the President's proposal is a moot question. In this election year no member of Congress up for reelection is interested in raising taxes of property owners...so, we will have to wait and see.

Although this is being written on Tuesday, I have a feeling that the proposed hearing on police brutality charges on Wednesday will be postponed. The entire matter should be referred to the prosecutor's office since charges made by all parties could be construed as criminal in nature.

The prosecutor's office has the investigative staff to conduct a thorough investigation of the matter. A hearing by the mayor and council could only result in more disruptive measures by all parties concerned.

There is no reason why the mayor and council should be at the center of this controversy, no matter what action they take, they will be damned if they do or if they don't. It's a no win situation and the best solution is to put the whole matter in the lap of the prosecutor.

Municipal Court Judge James Evers has already referred all charges to the prosecutor's office. Decisions from the mayor and council, resulting from the hearing, could be at odds with the decision resulting from the investigation by the prosecutor's office and this would be a disaster.

So, expect a postponement of the hearing

Prosecutor's ruling awaited on police assault charges

Prospect Park — Municipal Court Judge James Evers last week ruled that the various charges against Bachir Taouich, 142 Brown Avenue, and Fadio and Souheil Hagour would be dismissed if the prosecutor's office decided not to recommend a grand jury investigation.

The charges against the three resulted from an incident with borough policemen on March 1. The trio, all Circassians, alleged they were victims of police brutality and a few days after the altercation over 200 Circassians demonstrated in front of police headquarters. Souheil Hagour was ticketed for having an unregistered vehicle, using fictitious license plates on the car, willfully disabling and abandoning a vehicle, and having no insurance for his car. The car was at 292 Prescott Terrace when it was ticketed.

In addition Souheil was charged with resisting arrest and with causing bodily injury to Ptl. Frederick Schwaner.

Fadio Hagour, wife of Souheil, was charged with causing bodily injury to Ptl. Schwaner and with hindering the arrest of Souheil Hagour.

Taouich was charged with causing bodily injury to Ptl. Richard Estok, to Ptl. Bruce Conroy, to Ptl. Frederick Schwaner, to Ptl. Jerome Rotsaert and with hindering police in apprehending Souheil Hagour.

Haledon Happenings

March 16

A 23-year-old Passaic man was arrested and charged with a total of nine offenses. Police were looking for a 1979 Pontiac believed to have been involved in several accidents. Its driver was suspected of being under the influence of alcohol. Odell Dunham, 100 Paulson Avenue, was spotted in North Haledon. Haledon Ptl. Frank Atherton responded and blocked an outlet road in order to apprehend Dunham. According to the police report, Dunham then "attempted to run him over."

Both Haledon and North Haledon police chased Dunham to High Mountain Road and Route 208 where he was apprehended. Dunham tried to escape on foot. He was handcuffed, placed in the police car but jumped out, while being taken to police headquarters.

He was again apprehended and in North

Haledon was charged with three counts of aggravated assault. In Haledon, he was charged with driving under the influence, leaving the scene of an accident and aggravated assault. Dunham was taken to Passaic County Jail in default of bail.

The Haledon Fire Department extinguished a fire at a small wooden shack in the woods of Camp Ventans, approximately 100 yards in from Mountain Avenue.

The Haledon police department will begin canvassing borough residents to insure that all dogs are properly licensed. Every household will be checked, and those who do not have licenses for their dogs will be issued a summons.

Licenses, which should have been obtained by January 31, are available in the borough office weekdays from 9 am - 5 pm.

every person in the borough will be counted.

It is estimated that for every person missed in the census count, the borough will lose about $20 in federal and state aid...that's what it means to have an accurate count. While most persons will return the census form, there are those who will ignore it and fail to mail it in. Mayor Nick said the Housing Inspector Al Maas is conducting an informal census of the borough so that the final figure can be correct.

Congratulations to Haledon's new Police Chief Vincent Quaglietta who has been acting police chief since July 16 when Chief Roy Martin stepped down. The appointment was well deserved and there is no question that the police department will be enhanced by the appointment.

Census jobs open

Roy Norbe, head of the North Haledon Committee for 1980 Census, has announced there still are positions available to residents of North Haledon 18 years and older, to assist with the 1980 census. Applications are available at the municipal building. For full details call either 881-1078 or 881-1139.

N.H. council introduces budget

The North Haledon Council has introduced a $1.6 million budget for 1980, which is $83.49 under the state mandated budget cap of five percent. The fiscal plan will raise taxes by about five points or $15 for an individual house assessed at $30,000.

Current expense is pegged at $1.5 million; capital improvements, $18,000 and debt service, $70,670. About $270,000 in surplus has been applied to the plan and $525,480 will have to be raised by taxes, an increase of $485,198 over last year. More than $1.1 million in revenues are anticipated in state and federal sources.

A public hearing on the budget has been scheduled for April 9th.

Eastern Christian receives grant

Eastern Christian School Association has been named the recipient of a grant for over $225,000 from the Stringer Foundation. The grant will be used to establish a fund for scholarships for students who wish to pursue a career in the field of nursing.

The Stringer Foundation was originally established by the Kerr family from Ridgewood for the purpose of supporting nursing students. For many years graduates of Eastern Christian High School have benefited from this foundation in that a sizeable portion of their college expenses have been paid by the foundation. During the present school year, 12 of the 17 recipients of Stringer Foundation grants are graduates of Eastern Christian.

The trustees of the Stringer Foundation have recently decided to discontinue the Foundation. To accomplish this, they have distributed the remaining assets equally to the Valley Hospital in Ridgewood and to Eastern Christian School Association.

The Board of Directors of Eastern Christian School Association has decided that, for the present, they would

Prospect Park resident assaulted near home

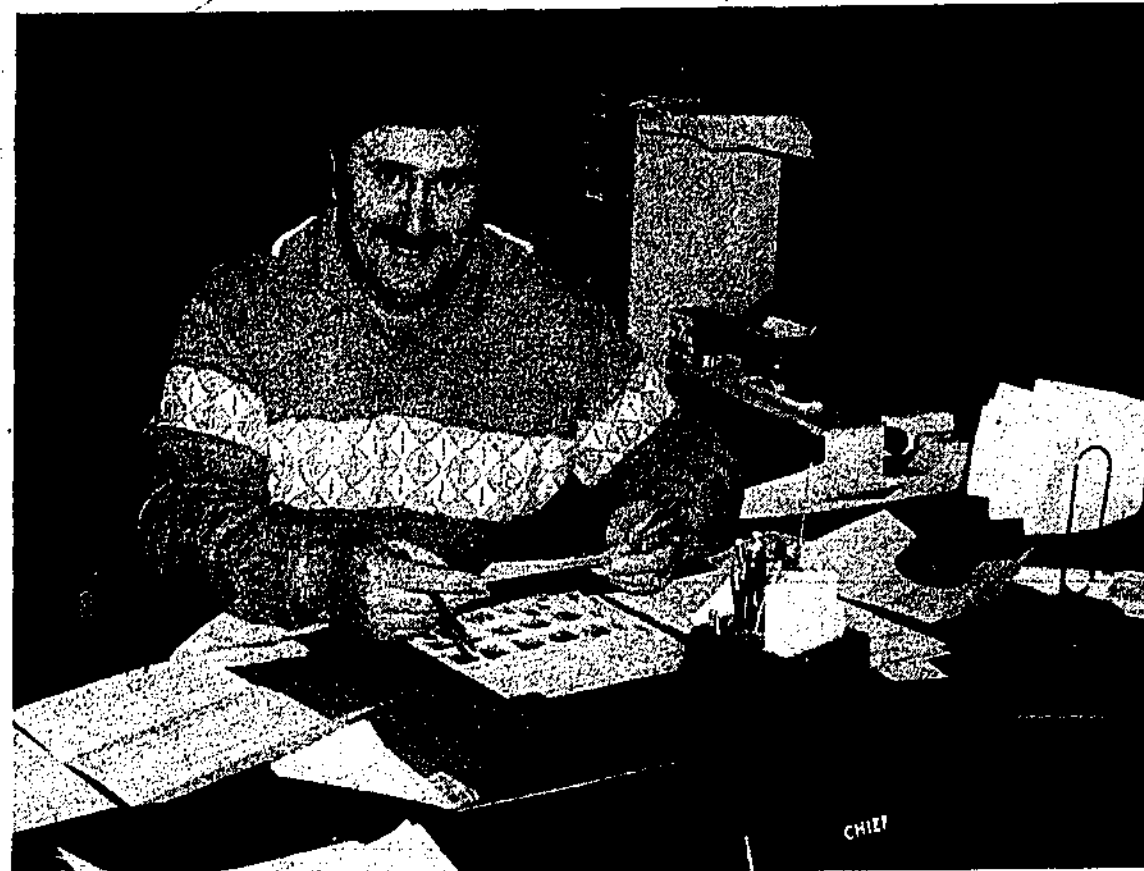

Prospect Park - A North Seventh Street resident was attacked and mugged a few feet from his home Friday night. George Keiser was walking in front of 276 North Seventh Street when he was attacked by three black males.

According to police, the three men attacked Keiser from the back. Nothing was taken from him. The victim was treated at the Greater Paterson General Hospital for bruises and released. The three attackers ran away.

Fine for pulling fire alarm

Prospect Park — Kenneth Copleton, of 2-13 Bergen Avenue, Fair Lawn, was fined $325 by Municipal Court Judge James Evers for pulling a false fire alarm from the box on Struyk Avenue. The case had been heard sometime ago by Judge Evers and sent to the Passaic County prosecutor's office. However, the offense was not indictable and the case was returned to municipal court. Copleton pleaded guilty and will pay off his fine on the installment plan.

Quaglietta appointed police chief

Vincent Quaglietta takes over as police chief in Haledon.

by Daria Hoffman
Vincent Quaglietta was appointed chief of police of Haledon at the borough's council meeting last Wednesday night. Quaglietta, who had been deputy chief for a year prior to since February 1979 has been acting in the capacity of police chief since the August 1 resignation of former chief, Roy Martin. "It was a long time coming," said Mayor Sam Sibilio about the appointment after Quaglietta was officially sworn into the position. Months ago, Sibilio had additional seven years part-time as a special police when he first started out. Thinking back to that time, Quaglietta said that he didn't foresee reaching the position of chief — the highest position of a police department. But, he admits, "I had hopes."

Those hopes now realized, Quaglietta's priorities for Haledon's police force are the "defense and protection of the citizens, and the preservation of their property and rights." Some of his immediate plans to "better serve the community" include getting more policemen on the force, instituting a detective bureau and updating the communications and filing systems.

In discussing the future of the department, Quaglietta mentioned that bullet-proof vests for all police officers, purchased with money raised by the Manchester Junior Women's Club's recent raffle, were expected to arrive soon. Quaglietta, who is a member of the Passaic County Chiefs Association and the Haledon P.A.L. takes on the position of police chief with much training and experience behind him.

His police education includes courses with both the FBI and the state police in police command and administration and supervision, and training in surveillance techniques and advanced identification techniques. He is also a graduate of courses in the investigation of homicide, sex crimes, arson and other crimes.

Quaglietta and his wife, Judy and two sons, Jimmy, 17 and David, 15, live at 376 Southside Avenue.

Wright cited by Marines

Marine Corporal Christopher P. Wright, 84 Parmelee Avenue, was cited at a meritorious mast for his outstanding abilities at the R and D Center of the Marine Corps Tactical Systems Support Activity Complex at Camp Pendleton, California.

Wright, a graduate of Hawthorne High School, entered the corps in August 1977. After basic training at Parris Island, he was assigned to electronics and communications school in California. Upon completion of studies, he was chosen to serve with a select group of four marines at the R and D Center at MCTSSA.

He has also participated in functional integration testing with private sector engineers in Colorado Springs, Colorado and Yuma, Arizona. He engaged in testing the Hawk Missile System with the 2nd Light Anti Air Missile Battalion and expects to participate in the upcoming 3A testing which will be conducted in El Paso, Texas; Cherry Point, NC and Valejo, California.

While Quaglietta has been a full-time Haledon policeman for 19 years, he served an indicated that he and the council wanted Quaglietta to fill the position, and that the only reason for the delay was financial. Although Martin resigned in August, he was to remain with the department in an advisory capacity, and on the payroll, until January of this year. The prospect of paying the salaries of two chiefs of police was the only reason for the delay.

At the meeting, Sibilio said that during Quaglietta's 19 years as a police officer in Haledon "He has been a credit to the department and the borough" and that the appointment was "well-deserved."

Missions conference set for next week

The 1980 Missions Conference at the Hawthorne Gospel Church starting on Sunday, March 23, will have Peter Stam of the Africa Inland Mission speaking at the two morning services, 8:30 and 11 o'clock. Edward Schuit, also of A.I.M., will be heard in the evening at 7 o'clock. In addition, different missionaries will talk at all of the services on Sunday and in the Sunday School classes for all ages, starting at 9:45 a.m.

Monday, March 24, will be a day of prayer with people of the church praying for specific needs of the world. On Tuesday, there will be gatherings in homes for discussions with missionaries. On Wednesday evening at 7:30 there will be a church-wide meeting in fellowship hall with Joseph Conley of Regions Beyond Missionary Union speaking.

"Missionaries," a women's missionary fellowship at the church, will sponsor a women's luncheon on Thursday at 11:45 with a number of missionaries as their guests. Friday night will be family night with a buffet supper in the pavilion at 6 o'clock, after which the crowd will be divided into different age groups to meet with the missionaries. On Saturday, youth night, the young people of high school and college/career age will meet together for fellowship and a pictorial presentation entitled, "Look To The Fields." Refreshments will be served.

On the closing Sunday morning, March 30, Pastor Herrmann Braunlin will speak on "God's Global Plan" and in the evening Peter Stam will give the closing message. The Hawthorne Gospel Church is located on Route 208 in Hawthorne. Everyone is invited to attend.

Horizon club to meet

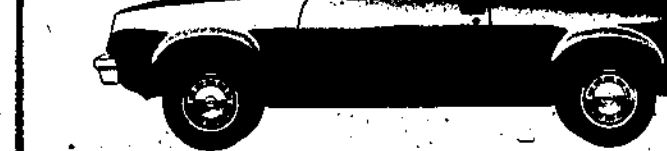

by Kay Liddy

St. Anthony's Golden Horizon Club will meet on Friday, March 28 at 1:30 pm in the school cafeteria. Charles Guarraia will preside at the business meeting. Members are reminded that openings are available for the Wildwood Crest trip, June 1 to 5. Sister Loretta Agnes, S.C., of St. Joseph's Hospital & Medical Center, will show slides of her visit to the Passion play held at Oberammergau, Germany, in 1970. This play is a reenactment of Christ's final days on earth and is presented by the townsfolk every 10 years. It has become the most renowned religious spectacle in Europe.

Mele takes over Tides

The Tides, a catering operation on Belmont Avenue, North Haledon, was recently purchased by Hawthorne resident and caterer, John Mele. Mele, who purchased the landmark from Ben Nestico, has no plans to change any of the Tides' operation or its personnel.

Nestico built the hall 15 years ago in the wooded setting and has hosted innumerable weddings, parties, political celebrations and club meetings. He indicated that he has no plans but to retire and reflect on his years in the business.

David Hauser

Hauser promoted at NJ Bell

David T. Hauser of Hawthorne has been promoted to district staff manager-network services, for New Jersey Bell Telephone company in Madison. He had been a staff manager in the company's data systems group in Newark.

In his new position, he will be responsible for mechanization of the company's repair services and maintenance of private branch exchange services and traffic trunks.

Hauser started his Bell System career in 1953 when he joined Western Electric Company as an installer. He was transferred a year later to New Jersey Bell, where he became a splicer's helper in the company's Paterson district.

In 1968 he was promoted to the position of analyst in the company's data systems department in Newark. Two years after, he became systems analyst, and was promoted in 1973 to staff manager, a position he held until assuming his present duties in Madison. Hauser and his wife, Carol, have three sons and live at 22 Barker Avenue.

Golden year for Barones

James Barone and his wife, Dorothy of Ridgewood celebrated their golden wedding anniversary recently at a dinner party at the Hawthorne Elks Club.

The party, given by their children, James Jr. and Anna May Barone of Highland Lakes, Ronald Baron of Paramus and Kenneth and Ruth Kimble of the village, was attended by 110 well-wishers including the couple's nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

A six-piece Dixieland Band entertained and, as a surprise gift from the Barones' nieces and nephews, John and Elvira Warn of Oakland, 35 singers from the award-winning Sweet Adelines, in full costume, sang a medley of tunes from the recent world competition which they won. Barone, who was born in Paterson, and the former Dorothy Showdy, a native of Ridgewood, met while he was a soda jerk at Ridgewood Drug and she worked in a paint store on Prospect Street. They were married February 26, 1930 in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church and spent 30 years in Hawthorne before moving to Ridgewood and subsequently to Paramus where they now live.

He was a vice president and co-owner of the Ridgewood Drug Co., which closed its doors last June and was at the time the oldest business in the village.

He is a member of the Ridgewood Kiwanis, the Half Century Club and the Hawthorne Elks.

LOBOSCO ELECT VOTE BD. of ED. March 25

- He's for efficient, fiscal management in these inflationary times. (The most for every tax dollar).
- He's experienced in working with State and federal funding; has had to account for over $58 million in expenditures.
- He wants the best education we can afford without burdening the taxpayer, especially senior citizens.
- He's tired of passive, non-committal attitudes on the board.
- He wants open discussion with the public and parental involvement. He wants to hear public opinion before, not after, the board takes its vote.

Purdon, Witham win

Prospect Park - Borough voters Tuesday approved the local school budget and knocked down the Manchester Regional High School budget. The increase in the local budget represents six tax points and in the Manchester budget, two tax points.

Six-year veteran board member Robert Purdon was top vote-getter with 126 votes. Newcomer John Witham was elected with 125 votes and Richard Napp with 99 votes. John Sico lost with 69 votes.

The local budget passed with 84 to 57 votes and the Manchester lost with 95 no votes and 92 yes votes.

N.H. incumbents elected

North Haledon - Anti-Klan Board of Education candidates were victorious in Tuesday's Board of Education election. Voters dumped the school budget, which represented no increase in taxes, by a vote of 492 to 348.

Winning election by a better than two-to-one majority were Barbara Terlizzi, incumbent, for a one year term, against Sabino Porriano, 796 to 331 votes.

Incumbents Anthony De Franco received 718 votes; Joseph Salloum, 688; and newcomer Patricia Catania, 731 votes, to easily win reelection. The losing candidates were Martin Rosland, 509; Nicholas Baldo, 469 and Richard Merogioni, 405.

Jeff Fischer unseated

Haledon - New Jersey School Boards Association President Jeffrey Fischer Tuesday lost his bid for reelection to the Manchester Regional High School Board of Education, a post that boosted him to the presidency of the state association.

The Manchester budget was soundly defeated by a three-to-one vote.

Fischer lost to Alice Zanuck by a vote of 384 to 314. Both were candidates in Haledon. In North Haledon Roy Norbe garnered 746 votes; Edward Petkus, 707 and Eleanor Gaffney, 455.

The school budget and three incumbents went down to defeat in the Haledon school race. On the current expense portion, the 347 voters cast ballots against the fiscal plan, while 184 favored it. Capital outlay lost 338-193.

Incumbents Judy White, Joan Giglio and Robert Cauda lost to Dorothy Faber, Leonard Smallheer and Bruce Terwilliger. Results were: Faber, 374; Smallheer, 368; Terwilliger, 349; White, 322; Giglio, 321 and Cauda, 308.

Almost 20 percent of Hawthorne's registered voters went to the polls Tuesday in a school election race that pitted a team of four incumbents against two newcomers. Unopposed candidate for the one-year seat John Pasquale received 1266 in his third reelection bid.

Two of his teammates Ralph Chamberlin and Frank Matthews retained their seats while William Rhodes, who was appointed to the board in October, was unseated by Rich Leyman, one of two challengers making their first bid for elective office. Jerry Lobosco, who ran fourth, was edged out by 51 votes as he took on the team.

Chamberlin garnered 1148 votes for the top spot, followed by Matthews, 1048; Leyman 1036; Lobosco, 985 and Rhodes, 836. The school budget passed by a slim margin. The current expense portion of $6.8 million was approved 722-671 while the $109,000 capital outlay appropriation was voted in 708-685.

A total of 1964 residents out of a possible 9896 came to the polls for a 19.8 percent voter turnout.

Richard Leyman was the top vote-getter in the Lincoln and Franklin School districts. In Lincoln, he received 212, followed by Lobosco with 187. In Franklin, he received 115 with Lobosco running second with 106.

In the high school Leyman tied Chamberlin at 180 votes each, while Lobosco ran just six votes behind with 174. Chamberlin took Roosevelt's Hutchinson and Alexandria districts and Jefferson School as follows: 194, 197, 191. Leyman ran second in Roosevelt's Alexandria with 175 while Matthews ran second in the other two districts. Matthews, a six-year veteran, took only one district — Washington School with 100 votes.

Lobosco with 985 votes lost an election with more votes than last year's second and third place contenders received as winners. In 1979, Frank Petrucci received 852 votes and Jack Meeter, 738.

The school budget was passed in the high school district, Franklin School and Jefferson School but was defeated by the voters in Washington, Roosevelt and Lincoln School areas.

Undercover investigation leads to arrest for local cocaine sales

On Tuesday, Acting Passaic County Prosecutor Joseph A. Falcone, announced the culmination of a three-week investigation into cocaine trafficking in the Borough of Hawthorne.

Robert Sigler, age 18, and Edwin Sigler, age 39, of 205 Westervelt Avenue, were arrested as a result of alleged sales of cocaine to an undercover agent from the prosecutor's office narcotics section.

The investigation commenced as a result of complaints received by the prosecutor's office concerning unusually heavy traffic at the Westervelt Avenue address. The investigation revealed that a "brisk business" was being done by the pair, the customers being mainly juveniles.

The undercover officer succeeded in making several purchases of suspected cocaine, and, during the course of his involvement with Robert Sigler, he became acquainted with his father, Edwin Sigler. The elder Sigler was allegedly the "brain" of the operation and was supplying the alleged cocaine to his son for sale.

Approximately $500 in cash, two handguns, approximately $500 worth of suspected cocaine and various items of narcotic paraphernalia were seized at the Westervelt Avenue address. Two juveniles were also taken into custody by the arresting officers.

The arrests were made by members of the prosecutor's office narcotics unit, as well as members of the Hawthorne Police Department.

According to Hawthorne police, the investigation also led to the arrest on Tuesday of a West Paterson man believed to be involved with the Sigler's sale of narcotics. Twenty-two-year-old William Wilson, 19 Mercellus Avenue, was charged with conspiracy.

Falcone stated that investigations of this nature may be extremely difficult to conduct if the proposed budget cuts for my office go into effect. The proposed budget cuts would require a drastic cutback or elimination of the services provided by the narcotics gambling and organized crime unit.

Bail was set by Municipal Court Judge Donald R. Reenstra in the amount of $6,000 for Robert Sigler and $26,000 for Edwin Sigler.

Forgery charges referred to the grand jury

Charges of theft and forging checks against two West Orange men, Arthur Dorey Jr., and Nicholas Quartuccio were referred to the Grand Jury Thursday night in Municipal Court, as a result of the preliminary hearing.

The two men were arrested March 6 after they allegedly had attempted to cash stolen checks at the Alexander Hamilton Savings and Loan Association. Police said that Quartuccio and Dorey were wanted by Morris County police for cashing bad checks in that area, and are believed to be part of an extensive check cashing ring.

Two tellers testified during Thursday's hearing, Donna Zagra and Theresa Peters. Zagra identified Quartuccio as the man who gave her a check to cash. She said she recognized the check to be a stolen one and did not cash it. Peters testified that about ten minutes later, another man presented her a check she recognized as stolen. She identified Dorey as that man.

Judge Donald Reenstra, based on that testimony, found there was "probable cause" to refer the charges to the grand jury.

Dorey, 21, of 25 Overlook Avenue, is charged with theft, fraud and uttering a forged check. Quartuccio, 23, of 34 Hazel Avenue, is charged with theft and uttering a forged check.

Charges of burglary and theft against Ronald Carbone, the escaped prisoner who was apprehended March 13th in the borough were referred to the grand jury.

Joseph Healy, 41 Brown Avenue, Prospect Park, was sentenced to 45 days in jail and fined $200, when he was found guilty of driving while his license was suspended. The penalty is the minimum allowable for that offense when there is personal injury involved.

According to testimony in the case, Healy and Helene Piwnica, 130 Ivy Lane, Fair Lawn, were involved in an accident January 5 on Wagaraw Road. Piwnica testified that she was unconscious after the accident and claimed she was taken to the hospital by a witness to the accident, where she was treated in the emergency room. She said her injuries included a blackeye, a lost tooth and dizziness.

Hawthorne Patrolman Martin Boyd, who investigated the accident testified that Healy did not have a license with him. Boyd subsequently requested a copy of Healy's driving record sent from the N.J. Division of Motor Vehicles.

The document, which was submitted into evidence indicated that Healy's license had been suspended on May 25, 1976. There was no indication it had ever been restored.

Healy's attorney Albert Ferro, argued that the charge against the defendant should be that of driving without a license, and not the more serious offense of driving while his license was revoked. Ferro presented into evidence a letter from the N.J. Division of Motor Vehicles. It was a notice of the suspension of Healy's driving privileges. Ferro pointed out that the letter specifically states that the suspension was to last three years and six months from April 23, 1976.

He held that ever since October of 1979, Healy's license was no longer revoked. Although the defendant had not reapplied for his license, Ferro said, he could have gotten it any time after that date if he had applied. In making his finding, Reenstra said that was a "big if." He found Healy guilty and said that "until a license is restored, and until the driver is notified of its restoration, the license is still revoked and the driver still cannot drive."

Although the 45-day jail sentence was mandatory for the offense since personal injury was apparently involved, Reenstra allowed the sentence to be served on weekends from Friday night to Monday morning.

Daria Hoffman

under the gavel

Michael Casapulla, 39 N. Highest Drive, was found guilty of driving an uninsured vehicle. He received the minimum penalty for the offense - a $50 fine and a six-month revocation of his driver's license.

Sixto Mercado, 67 Belmont Avenue, Paterson, was found guilty of driving without having a N.J. driver's license. He was fined $10 and $10 costs for the violation.

Immunization clinic set for April 1

The regular monthly immunization clinic for infants, pre-school and school age children will be held on Tuesday April 1 at 4 pm in the Board of Health office, 15 Garfield Avenue, Hawthorne. The following immunizations will be administered: D.P.T., measles and polio.

The Rubella vaccine for German Measles will be given to children between the ages of one through 12 years of age only. Mumps vaccine is available for children from one to six years of age. If there is any history of allergies, parents should consult their family physician.

Borough Nurses, Lucy Patacki, RN, and Catherine Gentner, RN, urge those who will attend, to please call for an appointment at the Board of Health office, 427-4011. Dr. Vincent Feliciano, MD, physician to the Board of Health will be in attendance.

No minor shall be permitted use of the tennis courts after 5 pm unless they are accompanied by an adult with a season badge. All badge holders must be residents of the Borough of Hawthorne and show proof of residence.

No season badges will be issued to guests who must be accompanied by a resident badge holder. Guest badges cost $1.50 per hour for adults and 75 cents for juniors.

Census to begin tomorrow

Finance Commissioner Anthony Ross has issued an appeal to all Hawthorne residents to answer the 1980 census which should reach borough households tomorrow. The census questionnaires should be filed in and returned by April 1.

Ross stated: "The number of people who are counted in the census will have a direct effect on the amount of federal monies that the Borough of Hawthorne will receive. Among other things the count also affects the amount of money Passaic County will receive for educational purposes.

"Census information is strictly confidential. Only the Census Bureau has access to this information. Federal law forbids giving it to anyone or any agency including the Internal Revenue Service, the F.B.I. and the C.I.A. The records remain confidential for 72 years.

North Haledon offers help with census

The 1980 census questionnaire will be received in the mail on Friday, March 28 according to Roy Norbe, chairman of the North Haledon Committee for the 1980 census. Residents should fill it out, and depending on instructions, either mail it back by April 1 or hold onto it until a census taker picks it up.

Norbe also announced that there will be staff on hand at the municipal building on Saturday, March 29 and Monday, March 31, from 1 to 4 pm to be of assistance by phone or in person. All information will be confidential.

Census bureau workers are under oath not to reveal answers.

It is essential that each form be completely filled in. The population count will be on the basis for assuring every American equal representation in the House of Representatives, many state legislatures and in local redistricting. Census findings will be used to give communities their fair share of more than 50 billion dollars spent annually through government programs. Every person missed by the 1980 census means a minimum loss of $230 a year in federal aid for this community.

Recreation supply bids awarded

Bids for summer recreation supplies were awarded by the Board of Commissioners at the March 19th session. For football and L'il League supplies, the total contract of $8431.92 went to Levy Brothers of Paterson. The materials for summer recreation and soccer were awarded to the Sports Nut of Hawthorne at $2292.21.

Salary ordinance introduced

The 1980 salary ordinance was introduced at the March 19th meeting of the Board of Commissioners and will be considered for final passage on April 2nd. It calls for negotiated raises of about seven percent for DPW workers and patrolmen with most borough employees' salaries increasing the same amount.

Tennis badges go on sale March 31

Tennis Badges will go on sale March 31, at the borough hall, D.P.W. Office, 15 Garfield Avenue. The hours are from 9 am to 12:00 noon and 1 to 4 pm Monday through Friday. Prices for season, which begins April 5, are $12 for adults; $5 for juniors (high school under 18 years of age) and $3 for minors (grammar school).

Commissioners plan to receive bids

The Board of Commissioners will receive bids on April 16th for the following: new water filter media, chemicals for the swimming pool, asphalt products for the roads and resurfacing of the borough tennis courts. The commissioners also authorized the engineer to do the work required to install a sanitary sewer from Grandview Avenue to Horizon Terrace.

Ordinance for field lighting

An ordinance authorizing the construction and installation of electrical floodlighting at the Franklin Field and the Wagaraw field was introduced at the same session. The plan calls a capital improvement in the amount of $20,000. A public hearing on this ordinance is scheduled for April 2.

Hydrant flushing begins March 31

The Department of Public Works announces that the semi annual hydrant flushing program will commence Monday March 31 and continue until Wednesday April 30. Residents may notice some discoloration of their water during this period of time, according to Ray Gormley, office manager.

Big city politics threaten integrity of school election process

The way we see it, the real loser in Tuesday's school election was the Hawthorne voters. After the "dirty tricks" that were tried in this year's campaign, we wonder what Hawthorne citizens will even entertain thoughts of becoming candidates. It's a sure bet that they won't be beating the doors down to subject themselves and their families to this type of smear campaign.

With a self-ordained crusader pouring out large sums of money for a desperate advertisement in the daily press, then compounding the situation by sending a copy of the same bombastic political propaganda in letter form (including an additional paragraph that launched a personal attack on the editor of this newspaper) what chance would an unsophisticated candidate now have in his first bid for public office?

A few years ago, it was not uncommon in Hawthorne for a housewife or a businessman to make a decision to run for the board, purchase a few signs and send a couple hundred postcards to run a school campaign in our frugal little borough.

Now big-city politics have crept across the river and threaten the democratic process.

Thousands of dollars were spent in the past few weeks for a non-paying position that requires untold hours away from one's business and family.

Is this the trend for local school elections in the future? If it is, it has done little to advance the cause of citizen involvement in the public school system.

This election only goes to prove that some of the people can be fooled and that money can influence some of the voters, maybe even some of the candidates.

However it has also proved that a comparable number of voters were not impressed with the unlimited campaign spending nor fooled by such blatant maneuvering.

We congratulate the people who went to the polls on Tuesday. Their better-than-average interest in having a say about how our schools are run is an optimistic force that will work to maintain the integrity of the school board election process.

Maitland Ave. residents protest

128 Maitland Avenue
Hawthorne, NJ
March 22, 1980

Dear editor,

We residents of Maitland Avenue are mad as hell and we're not going to take anymore!! For too long we've been silent on issues that affect our way of life — issues and conditions that were forced upon us by the ruling lords of this borough.

I am referring to that monument to better government that we've been saddled with — the Hawthorne Boy's Club.

We did not protest when it was built but as

Lincoln custodian responds to Tomasi

Dear editor,

In the March 13th issue of The Hawthorne Press, there was an article which mentioned "isolated incidents of health problems" at Lincoln School and bathrooms without soap dispensers. The situation was brought up by Mr. Tomasi, the PTO liaison.

The custodial staff wants Mr. Tomasi and the PTO to know that it is aware of the need for soap for health reasons. Dispensers were there, but were ripped off the walls in both the boys and girls rooms. Soap has now been put in each bathroom and is thrown into toilet bowls and urinals, broken into pieces and used to write obscene words on mirrors and walls. My staff is spending more time trying its best to make the bathrooms presentable.

each day and each incident passes it is apparent that we should have. It was bad enough that this end of town had become the "playground of Hawthorne," with the pool, tennis courts and Franklin Field, but the Boy's Club has proved to be the supreme test of our passive resistance.

The latest incident occurred on Wednesday March 5 when a 14-year-old boy, apparently trying to impress his friends, decided to take a car that another under aged youth had stolen from his mother and drive it around the block.

The young man sped around the corner from May Street onto Maitland Avenue, lost control of the car, rode up the sidewalk smashing a set of concrete steps and plowed into a parked car.

Though, luckily, no one was hurt the potential for tragedy was evident. If the boy had righted the car and sped uncontrolled down the street he could have easily killed a neighbor walking along the sidewalk or even one of the children coming home from the Boy's Club.

I do not wish to persecute this youngster, but the fact remains that since the club has been built our once quiet neighborhood has been lost to us.

Parents and teenagers, dropping off children, zip up and down our street as if it were a drag strip. We've had to contend with turned over garbage cans, broken windows, bottle-throwing, late night noise and other malicious mischief. Does someone have to get killed before this town and this newspaper wake up to the injustices being done to us?

Putting soap in the lavatories has created a problem. Children using the soap leave it dirty to be used by others. Healthwise it's not a cure. I'm sure all parents, as well as the administrator of Lincoln School, would like to keep our children free from disease.

I would like to make Mr. Tomasi aware that dispensers are forthcoming. When they arrive, they will be mounted as soon as possible. How long they will last is another question.

The Lincoln School custodial staff takes pride in its work and I want to commend my staff for its patience in dealing with this problem.

Thank You,

Charles Federico

Elks to honor winners

Local and district winners in the Hawthorne Elks' poster contest will be honored at a dinner-dance on March 29th. On the district level, Kim Chamberlin won first prize for grade eight; Steve Gruninger, second prize seventh grade and Audrey Roughgarden, third prize, seventh grade.

On the local level eighth grade winners were Chamberlin, first; Anthony D'Allesandro, second and Diane Peters, third. Seventh grade winners were Gruninger, first; Roughgarden, second and Nancy Delaney, third.

Guests at the awards dinner will include Mr. Harold Pomper, principal of Roosevelt School and his wife; Mr. Vincent De Ieso, Roosevelt School art teacher, and his wife, who have supported this project.

The organization will also honor the Elk of the year and the citizen of the year.

Missionary conference set

The 1980 missionary conference continues this week through Sunday, March 30, at the Hawthorne Gospel Church. Today, Mrs. Lee Kingma, of Africa Inland Mission, will present a challenging message for women at a ladies luncheon at 11:45 in fellowship hall. Jeannine Galenkamp will be the soloist.

On Friday, at 6:30 pm there will be a buffet supper for the entire family. Emiliano Namuco of Send the Light will provide special music and Rex Worth, of the same group, will give a special report. After this, there will be a special children's hour for children of preschool age to grade six with Pat Taylor, of North Jersey Bible Clubs. Paul Troper, accompanied by Rex Worth and Emiliano Namuco, all of Send the Light, will address high school students. The adults will hear a challenge from Peter Stam, American Home Director of Africa Inland Mission, and also the main conference speaker.

Saturday, March 29 at 8 pm will be college/career night. Troper, Worth and Namuco will speak to these young adults and Brian Martel of Sudan Interior Mission will report on his work in Ethiopia.

On Sunday, March 30 at the two morning worship services, 8:30 and 11 o'clock, an up-to-date report will be given by Lee Swain on his work in South America and the missionary message, "God's Global Plan," will be presented by Pastor Braunlin. During the Sunday school hour, starting at 9:45 am missionaries will be speaking in the classes for all ages. During the evening service, Rev. Richard Bailey of International Missions will give a report on Iran and Peter Stam will give the concluding message of the conference.

Mascari chairs workshop for teachers

J. Barry Mascari, of 26 New York Avenue, a psychology instructor at Teaneck High School, made a workshop presentation entitled "The O.K. Teacher: Using Transactional Analysis" at the 11th Northeast Regional Conference for the social studies on March 7 in Boston.

The conference theme "Educating in the 80's" addressed major issues confronting parents and social studies educators this decade. Almost 3,000 social studies educators and concerned colleagues, including nationally known leaders in education attended the conference.

Barry was elected 1980-81 program chairperson for the Northeast Regional Teachers of Psychology Organization. He is also editor of the Greater Bergen Council for the Social Studies Newsletter. During the next year Mascari plans to begin a private counseling and therapy practice in Hawthorne, specializing in childhood and adolescent problems.

Grand Prix this Saturday

The Hawthorne Caballeros Drum and Bugle Corps will sponsor their eighth annual Grand Prix Concert on Saturday, March 29, at 8 pm, at Orrie DeNooyer Auditorium, 200 Hackensack Avenue, Hackensack.

Exhibitions will be presented by the following corps: Blue Max, Brooklyn, NY;

Royal Brigade, Meadowlands, NJ; Skyliners, New York City; Buccaneers, Reading, PA; Archer-Epler Musketeers, Upper Darby, PA and Caballeros, Hawthorne.

Tickets are $5.00 and may be purchased at the door or by calling Joseph Campos at 796-7185, after 6 pm.

He had games of 252, then threw 10 strikes in a row for a big 187 game and the great 719 series to lead Gertrude's No. 2 team.

Tony DeLallo bowled 208-233-619. The Golden Steer Restaurant took all three games from Lakeview Farms. C. & G. Tavern and my team Turk's Maitre D's both won one game and tied the other to round out the Monday night night action.

College star making it big on Broadway

by Phil Coffey

Since the Olympics have ended, there has been much speculation about the professional futures of the American hockey players. Many have signed NHL contracts while others have passed up professional careers. Although the members of the Olympic team have gathered sudden attention about the status of college players in the professional ranks, there has been a slow but steady influx of college players over the years. One such player is currently patrolling right wing for the New York Rangers on a line with Phil Esposito and Don Maloney. The man is the tall, lanky Dean Talafous, a native of Duluth, Minnesota.

In 1973, Talafous led the University of Wisconsin to its first NCAA hockey title. In the championship game, Talafous scored the winning goal for Wisconsin thus closing his college career. Talafous turned pro later in 1973, when he became the first American player chosen in the amateur draft. The Atlanta Flames made Talafous their fourth round choice. He did not remain in the Atlanta organization long. After 18 games in 1975 he was traded to the Minnesota North Stars where he spent four seasons.

At the conclusion of the 1977-78 season,

Talafous felt he needed a change of scenery. He was offered the same contract by both the North Stars and the Rangers but opted for Broadway. His signing went virtually unnoticed by the New York media because of the attention that was paid to free agents Ulf Nilsson and Anders Hedberg. However, by the end of his first season as a Ranger, most people were well-acquainted with the work of Dean Talafous. He impressed Ranger fans with his willingness to work and his versatility. He played all three forward positions and also took a shift as a penalty killer. In 68 games as a Ranger, Talafous scored 13 goals and was credited with 16 assists. Certainly these statistics do not reveal the contribution Talafous made to the improvement of the Rangers last season. He was not afraid to fight for the puck in the corners and his strong, tenacious checking style made him an instant favorite of Ranger fans.

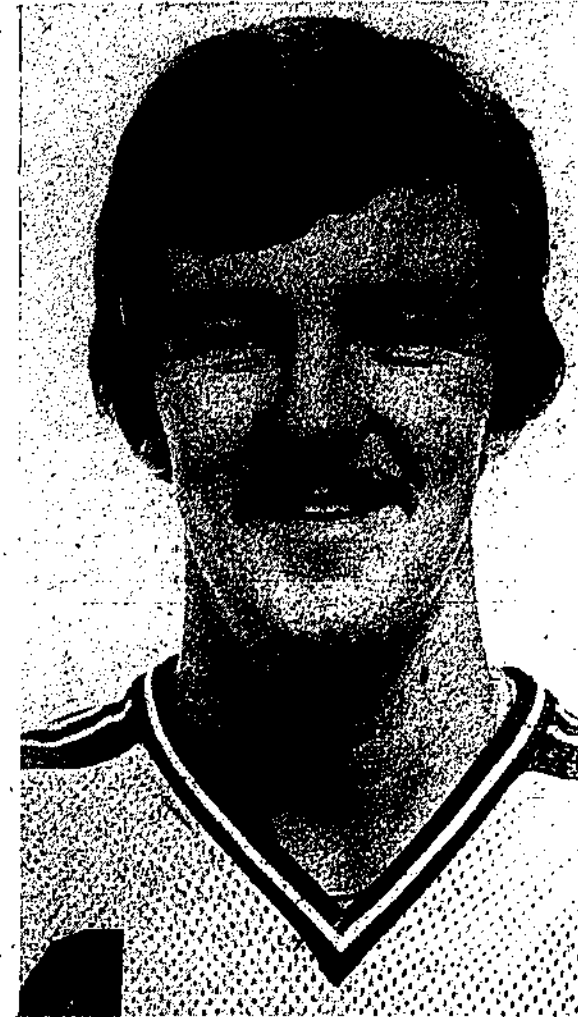

While last season should have been considered a successful Broadway debut, it was tainted by a late season injury that kept Talafous out of the Stanley Cup playoffs. He had suffered a pinched nerve in his neck. The injury was not deemed serious at first, but became more severe and required Talafous to spend two weeks in traction. The injury was still slow healing and he had to spend an additional six weeks at home.

This season did not start out terribly well for either Talafous or the Rangers. The pinched nerve was still a problem and he was out of the lineup more than in. Coincidentally, the Rangers went through a prolonged dry spell during the season, but now the situation appears to have turned around. Talafous returned to the lineup a month ago and the Rangers have taken off. He is being used on a line with Phil Esposito and Don Maloney. His performance here pushed Don Murdoch out of the starting lineup and helped land him in Edmonton.

Now with Talafous skating the right side, the line's defensive performance has increased dramatically. Also his strong work along the boards and in the corners has helped Phil Esposito reach the 30 goal mark for the 13th consecutive season.

Talafous has proved that there is a place in professional hockey for the college player. He may not be as famous as the members of the Olympic team, but he has proved to be a hit on Broadway.

Pasquale will be feted at dinner

Pierre Benoit, president of the Lou Costello Sportsmen Club, has announced the club's annual honoree dinner dance for Saturday, March 29th, at the Camelot in Wayne. The dinner will provide continued free use of the gymnasium facilities for youngsters. John Pasquale has been selected as the 1980 honoree.

Rich Tulner gets honorable mention

Rich Tulner has received honorable mention for the all-suburban hoop team. He is the only Hawthorne player cited.

Four HHS wrestlers named all stars

Rich Miniccozzi was named to the first team wrestling all stars in the BPSL league. A sophomore, he wrestles in the 101 weight class.

Robert Scalzitti, a freshman, 108 weight division and Frank De Franco, a senior, 122 weight division were named to the second team.

Daniel Bonifacio, a junior, 129 weight division, was named honorable mention. Teams were selected by the league's coaches.

An interview with Floyd Vivino 'Uncle Floyd'

by Cathy Allen

"I was born with the desire to enter show business," said TV personality Floyd Vivino, star of the Uncle Floyd Show which is seen weeknights at 6 pm on Channel 68. Vivino recently took time out from his busy schedule to discuss his first show business jobs, the format of the original Uncle Floyd Shows, and the changes the show has gone through in the intervening years.

Vivino was born in Paterson on October 19, 1951. As a youngster he wanted to be a circus clown. Vivino's parents never made a living from show business but did have experience in the field. His father, Jerry, played the trumpet in the U.S. Army Band and his wife Emily performed with community players. "My parents never pushed me to go into show business, but gave me the opportunity through piano lessons. I started taking classical piano lessons at the age of six and continued until I was 13. My piano teacher said I would never become a concert pianist," he said.

In 1970 while still in high school, Vivino wrote a column called "That's Entertainment" for The Hawthorne Press. "I loved writing the column and met many people through it," he commented. "Nobody loves Hawthorne as much as Bill and Linda Missonellie. They are Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne."

Following graduation from high school, the TV personality became the announcer for a magic act called Manzini-The Eighth Wonder of the World. Manzini and I toured 15 states and Canada," related Vivino. "We were on the Mike Douglas Show twice." During this time Vivino was also an announcer at carnivals, amusemark parks, and circuses throughout the United States and played the piano at bars and nightclubs.

In November 1973 he got the break he had been working and hoping for. "I moved back to New Jersey at the end of the year and asked UA Columbia Cable TV if they needed somebody to do a kiddie show. The station was looking for someone at the time and gave me the job. It took me two or three days to pick a costume. I chose a hat, bow tie, and sports jacket because I wanted to look like a real person." A few months later Vivino was hired to do a kiddie show on Channel 68. "I was very happy to have the two jobs because I have previously auditioned for many other jobs that fell through."

The Uncle Floyd Show, then a one man show, premiered on January 29, 1974, from 6:30-7:00 pm on UA Columbia. All shows were taped. In September of 1974 the Channel 68 Uncle Floyd Show premiered. It was telecast live from 5-6 pm. Both shows were seen weeknights. Vivino supplemented his income by performing at birthday parties with Oogie, his popular puppet, for $15.

The Uncle Floyd Show was aimed at the five-year-old child. In fact, 20 nursery school children attended each taping of the UA Columbia show. "The kids were not impressed and couldn't wait to get out of the studio," commented Vivino. They were used to Sesame Street and we couldn't compete with it. I did notice that older brothers, sisters, and parents were sneaking in to watch the show. "During the first year ratings were not good. Only 1,000 people watched the UA Columbia show each day while 5,000 people tuned in on the Channel 68 show daily."

The Uncle Floyd Show recently started its seventh season on television. It is shown in the states of New Jersey, New York, and Connecticut and now has an average daily audience of 125,000 people. Vivino explained the format of the current show. "The program has a dual aspect; it is aimed at little children and an over 18 audience. Approximately 25% of the viewers are under the age of 16; 50% are between the ages of 16-21 and 25% are between the ages of 21-28. Our show uses satire and gives news about the local area. We don't give a message or get into religion, drugs, show. I hope I'm preserving a piece of America by playing the songs." Changes have been made in the format. There are now six cast members and contests are no longer held.

Vivino writes 80% of the material used on the program. There are no rehearsals. The cast members talk about the script beforehand on the phone. Five weekly shows are taped within a span of four hours during one evening each week.

Vivino recently recorded, arranged, and produced a record which has become a cult object. "Dr. Demento of WPIX-FM has played one side of the disc called 'Deep In The Heart Of Jersey' during his nationally syndicated radio show on Sunday night. Every week people from all over the United States vote for the top five 'funny records.' On January 20, 1980 the song came in second place."

A few months ago he had a small part in a Warner Brothers film called "Moondog." Paul Simon wrote the movie and also starred in it. "I played a tough guy," revealed Vivino. "The movie is a rock musical and rock and roll groups like Sha-Na-Na perform in it. The picture will be released on December 1, 1980."

When he's not writing scripts or taping the Uncle Floyd Show, Vivino sells advertising space for the program and works one day a week on a mail order business. "Uncle Floyd novelty items are sold through the mail. Tee shirts, bumper stickers, and badges are some of the items available. Four hundred fanclubs have been organized in this area. Anyone can form a club and there is no charge to join. Uncle Floyd's audience is the biggest street gang ever assembled. They are pioneer types by seeking out Channel 68. The show has a brilliant and intellectual audience."

Vivino concluded the interview by explaining why he thought the show has become so popular. "Every card was stacked against the program when it started. I wore the wrong hat, bow tie, and taped the show in a small studio. Everything was wrong but turned out right. That's why it works."

or sex. Some of the format from the early show remain. Oogie still appears; pictures sent by viewers are put on a wall; birthday greetings are given; and I play songs from the 1920s and 30s on the piano at the end of the

TAG show May 2

The Teen Action Group has announced that the Uncle Floyd Show will be presented live on stage at St. Anthony's auditorium on Friday May 2 at 8 pm. Although billed as a children's TV show, The Uncle Floyd Show has grown in popularity over the years with the high school and college crowds.

Tickets are priced at $3.50 and can be purchased at the door or in advance from any Teen Action Group member.

PBA Local 114 issues press release:

Policemen chide mayor for his recent action

Prospect Park - Police Benevolent Association, 114, which includes Haledon, North Haledon and Prospect Park, have taken Police Chief Anthony Ver Hage and Mayor Nicholas DeGraaf to task for the roles they played in the recent episode between the police and the Circassians and Syrians of the borough during a demonstration in front of police headquarters three weeks ago.

In a prepared statement, president of the local PBA, Harold Engold, said, "The members of the PBA Local 114 are appalled with the action of Police Chief Anthony Ver

Hage of the Prospect Park Police Department.

"Chief Ver Hage has seen fit to formally charge a member of his department with conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman."

Engold said that both he and his investigating committee have reviewed all written investigative reports relating to the incident, leading up to the formal charges levied by Chief Ver Hage.

He said, "It is inconceivable to believe that the mayor and council of Prospect Park, after reviewing the same information available to us, could even consider a guilty verdict in this case. Unless, of course, there could be an ulterior motive. All of our members know that Ptl. Jerome Rotseart served as chairman of the Prospect Park bargaining unit, for collective negotiations, for 1980 salaries of policemen in Prospect Park.

"Based upon our review of all the written accounts of the incident, it is our opinion that the primary action leading up to the formal departmental complaint against Ptl. Rotseart, was the pressure brought about by the recent demonstration of Syrian and Circassian nationals."

"Our members most seriously question the fairness of any 'disciplinary hearing' held before the mayor and council of Prospect Park, especially after our learning of the mayor's recent visit to the Paterson General Hospital."

"In his visit, the mayor took the trouble to visit Mr. Bachia Taouch. Mr. Taouch has been criminally charged by members of both the Paterson Police Department and the Prospect Park Police Department, for numerous criminal complaints arising from the same incident involving Ptl. Rotseart."

"At the same time the mayor could not afford even a minute to stop by Ptl. George Cahill, a member of his own police department, who is currently recuperating from injuries sustained in the same incident, while making a legal arrest."

"In a recent newspaper article, the mayor attempted to defend his lack of concern by stating that he did not want to talk to anybody about this until the hearing is held. We must wonder what he did when he visited Mr. Taouch? We also wonder how many other individuals the mayor has visited who have been criminally charged by members of his police department, in the past."

"The mayor further stated, 'I know I should go to see Patrolman Cahill, but I don't want to disrupt the course of justice.' The members of PBA Local 114 cannot believe that by stopping by to say 'hello' or 'how are you' the mayor could deter the proper course of justice."

"We are especially offended with the fact that the mayor attended the preliminary hearing on these criminal charges against Mr. Taouch, Mr. Hagour and Mrs. Hagour. A member of our local even witnessed his shaking their hands and sitting with them during court session."

Engold said that members of Local 114 have given their complete support, both financially and morally, to Ptl. Rotseart. He added that the local has solicited and been assured of the full support and cooperation of the Passaic County PBA Conference and the New Jersey State PBA in complete support of Ptl. Rotseart.

Prospect Park Patter

Time again to close the gates

by Bert Nawyn

It's been going on through the winter months but with spring and summer coming on it's bound to get worse. On Sunday, Brown Avenue was like a freeway with cars cutting through the Manchester Regional High School grounds for a short cut to Church Street.

The steady stream continued despite "No Trespassing" signs at the Prospect Park and Haledon entrances.

It's time to keep the gates closed on weekends. The system used by the Manchester Board of Education last year worked fine for residents on Brown Avenue and caused no traffic tieups on Haledon Avenue. The gates were closed on weekends and every day during the summer.

During the winter months the gates remain open because heavy snowfalls could force a delay in gaining access during times of emergencies. But it's spring and the warmer weather is here.

Kindergarten registration will be held in the borough's only public school on Tuesday from 9 to 11 am and from 1 to 3 pm. To be eligible, a child must have been born on or before October 31, 1975. Parents must bring all medical records and birth certificate at time of registration.

On Easter Sunday, at 7 pm the 25-voice male chorus of the Sixth Reformed Church, 21 Pleasant View Drive, North Haledon, will present, "The John Gerson Cantata. 'Hallelujah, What a Savior.' Following the service, a time of Christian fellowship and refreshment will be held.

A New Jersey first

The first college-based department of environmental science in the United States was established at the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station, of Rutgers University in 1921. The experiment station is marking its 100th anniversary this year.

When buying a new car...

Don't get
into car-dealer
rustproofing!

Some car dealers in this area actually "rustproof" new cars as they receive them from the factory. And then expect you to pay top dollar for it.

Don't buy that!

Because you don't have to pay for any "option" you didn't order. Especially when you have no way of telling how good it is... or isn't.

Let's face facts. Rustproofing is just a sideline with your car dealer. Quality and workmanship—two necessary ingredients for lasting protection against rust—just aren't the same as that offered by your Ziebart Dealer. Compare for yourself and you'll see why Ziebart is the name America trusts for protection against rust.

So... just tell the car salesman "No thanks." Your new car is going to get Ziebart Rustproofing. Then call us for an appointment. "It's Us, Or Rust."

Health insurance seminar planned by Haledon chapter AARP

Plans for the recently announced National Health Insurance Seminar under sponsorship of Haledon Chapter 2997, American Association of Retired Persons, are being finalized, according to Margaret Moore, president. "We have been in contact with our national office in Washington," she reported, "and confirmed our schedule to include a speaker either from the capital or state offices with a slide/lecture presentation and a discussion period." If necessary, the seminar will be extended to a second session, she indicated.

The date or dates will be announced in a few weeks. The program will be hosted by the chapter's legislative committee under the chairmanship of Fred Moore. A review of proposed national health insurance plans, their benefits and the role to be played by senior citizens in promoting such legislation will feature the seminar.

Naomination of officers for 1980-81 of Chapter 1997 will take place at the April 24 meeting at the Cedar Cliff United Methodist Church at 1:30 pm. Elections will be held on May 22. A birthday buffet will precede the April session at noon. Peg Milson is in charge of reservations which may be made by calling 742-9547.

Scientists have isolated a sleep-producing protein molecule from goats. Now that they know what they're looking for, it shouldn't be long before they find the human counterpart. It would provide a safe sleeping aid.

Keeping blood sugar under strict control seems to protect diabetics from eye damage such as cataracts, according to research at Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis.

Don't drink at the disco—researchers have found that a combination of alcohol in the system and loud noise is more damaging than loud noise alone.

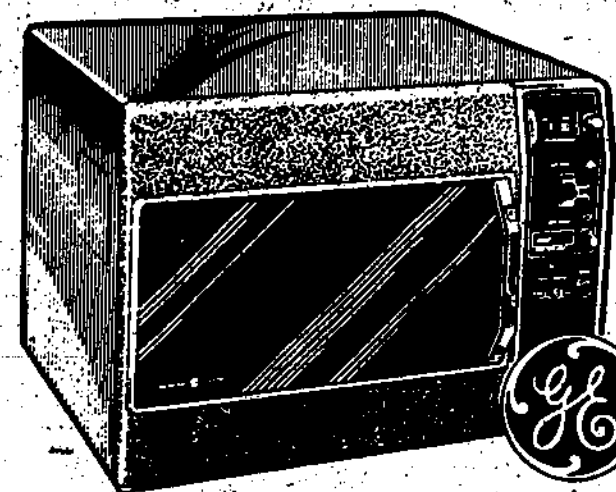

Instead of surgery, a urologist at Chicago Medical College is using a slim probe outfitted with an electrode to "crush" kidney stones into small fragments that can pass naturally.

Sick children in Lafayette, Ind., can get a "prescription" from the library's children's room: books, magazines, records, and craft ideas.

The Jefferson School PTO will sponsor a four seasons party on Wednesday April 2 at 7:30 pm in the all-purpose room of the school. Bingo, prizes and refreshments will be featured.
Tickets are $3.50 each and attendance is limited to 200. Anyone interested in attending should contact Ellen Baluski at 427-9698 or Bernice Sinning at 427-8430.

Easter plant sale April 4 and 5

The annual Easter plant sale of the Hawthorne Elks 2260 Ladies Auxiliary will be held on Friday, April 4 and Saturday, April 5 from 11 am until 5 pm at the lodge hall, 131 Wagaraw Road.

Antique show set at Don Bosco Prep

The Mothers' Guild of Don Bosco Prep High School will sponsor an antique show for the benefit of the library/media center building fund on March 29 and March 30 from 11 am to 6 pm.

Fifty or more dealers will assemble under the direction of Irene Stella, inside Immaculate Hall. Coffee, sandwiches and snacks will be sold in the school cafeteria. Admission is $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. This press release will entitle bearer to a 25 cent discount. The school is located on North Franklin Turnpike, Ramsey, east of Route 17.

Arts and crafts show March 27, 28 and 29

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Passaic County will sponsor their annual arts and crafts show at the West Belt Mall on Thursday, Friday and Saturday March 27, 28 and 29.
There will be thousands of items including stained glass, leather and plastercraft, jewelry, dolls and much more, in every price range, for young and old alike just in time for your Easter giving.

Roast beef dinner

A roast beef dinner will be served by the Sixth Reformed Church Booster Club at Eastern Christian School on Saturday, March 29 from 5 to 7 pm. The donation is $4.50 for adults and $2.25 for children. Tickets can be purchased at the door. Proceeds will benefit the Eastern Christian Schools.

Easter Egg Hunt

On April 5 the Hawthorne Girl Scout Community Association will hold its annual Easter Egg hunt in the Diamond Bridge area of Goffle Brook Park.

All children participating in this event must bring their own Easter baskets. Prizes will be given to the children collecting the most eggs in various age groups. Times for this event are scheduled as follows: 10:30 am, pre-schoolers (ages two and three); 11:00 am, pre-schoolers (ages four and five); 11:30 am, kindergarten; 12:00 noon, first grade; 12:30 pm, second grade; 1:00 pm, third grade.

In the event of inclement weather, this event will be cancelled.

Spring Flea Market

The Hawthorne Girl Scout Community Association is sponsoring their annual spring flea market on April 27 at the Elks parking lot on Wagaraw Road. The sale will include antiques, used treasures, plants and home-baked items. Spaces may be rented for $10. The rain date will be May 4. Anyone interested may call chairman Alice Haycock at 427-8952.

Fashion show set

An unique fashion show will be held by St. Anthony's Parish on May 21st at the Wayne Manor. Fashions will be provided by the Little Folk's Shop, Dave Warren's Men Shop and Jacqueline Scott Fashions. Women and men from the parish will serve as models. Children from St. Anthony's School will participate, coordinated by Mrs. Marie Ziegarelli.
Another feature at the fashion show will be an Art Exhibit given by the Frame Up, supervised by Joyce Miller.

Mrs. Joan Ella and Mrs. Dee Casapulla are co-chairladies of this event, "Family Affair." Tickets can be obtained from Mrs. Millie Rinaldi and Mrs. Diane Boldezar. Donations of hand-craft articles will be accepted by Mrs. Rita Fitzsimmons and Mrs. Joanne Kurdock.

Easter bunny visit

The Hawthorne Jaycees and the Little Folks Shop of Hawthorne will sponsor a visit by the Easter Bunny on April 5. Parents are invited to bring their children to Raymond Rhodes' parking lot.

Fish & chips dinner

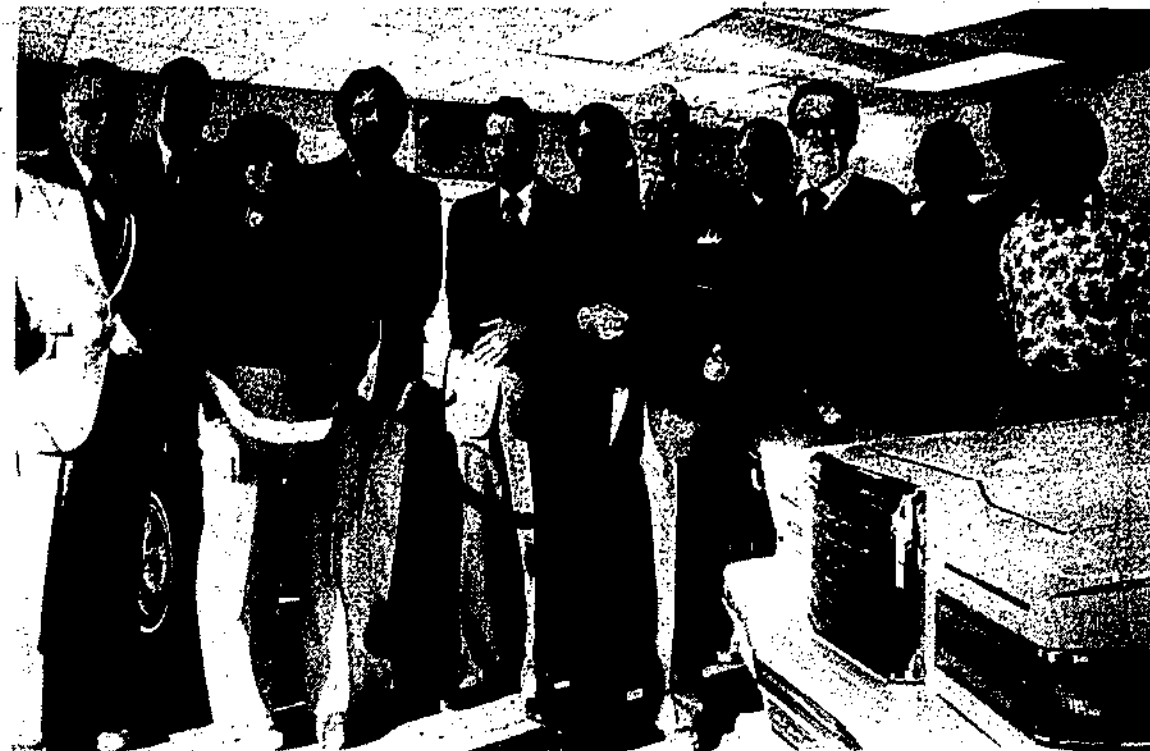

The First Presbyterian Church of North Haledon, located on Squaw Brook Road, will hold its annual fish and chips dinner on Thursday, April 10 from 5-7 pm. Tickets may be reserved by calling the church office at 423-1333. A limited number will be sold at the door.

Paper recycling

The Hawthorne Jaycees will hold their monthly paper recycling Saturday, March 29 at St. Anthony's parking lot from 8:30 am until 12:30 pm. This month's proceeds will be donated to the Hawthorne Jaycees. The Jaycees, an active civic group sponsor the annual spelling bee, baby photo contest, craft fair and last year sponsored a 24-hour Cut-A-Thon to raise $1,000.00 for Camp Jaycee, a camp for handicapped children and adults. For further information on pick-ups, please call Ed Klein at 423-3045 after 6 pm.
