Anyone can play the revolutionary Hammond Chord Organ without taking one music lesson!

Until you have played the Hammond Chord Organ, you'll probably find the facts about it hard to believe. Yet every statement is true. Thousands of people who have never before played any instrument, who didn't know one note of music, actually played the Hammond Chord Organ the

How is it possible? This new kind of instrument is designed so that you play beautiful accompaniment chords by pressing a button with one finger; you play the melody from simple picture music (or standard music if you prefer); pedal notes are harmonized automatically. In a few days you'll perform pieces you once would never have attempted without lessons.

Even practice is fun! Hundreds of selections, both popular and classical, are included with your Hammond Chord Organ -you learn by playing the music you like. Hard to believe? Stop in, spend half an hour in private with the Hammond Chord Organ. Prove it to yourself. There's no obligation!

Many vocational day schools make a specialty of teaching the latest mining methods. The student can continue his course through college and into engineering post-graduate work. The coal industry has sponsored more than 100 scholarships to pay for advanced mining education and the number is growing. Some of these are restricted to miners or their sons, withter others are open to any outstanding applicants in the mining others are open to any outstanding applicants in the mining towns.

People who are unacquainted with modern mining may wonder why all this emphasis on education is either necessary or important—all the miner needs, they may argue, is a pick and shovel and a strong back. That was true once, but it is true no longer. The miner of today is a specialist, working in a complex, highly efficient inderground factory. He is the mining job faster, more economically, and more safely than shows a very done before. When Britain started her mining school, she was simply taking a leaf out of American mining's book.

ABOUT NEW INVESTMENT ADVANTAGES OF

UNITED STATES DEFENSE BONDS!

Four new earning features for your Series E Bonds!

The Series E Bonds you've bought since May I now pay you 3% interest, compounded semi-annually if held to maturity!

And you can still hold your bonds beyond maturity. The automatic extension privilege applies not only to the new Series E Bonds, but also to all old ones -- and every unmatured bond you own earns - higher interest for the extended period!

The Series E Bond is a better investment than ever — it has improved interest terms in the early years - and interest starts after six months.

The annual purchase limit is doubled — new $20,000 maturity value.

Now, invest more in Series E Bonds — through Payroll Savings where you work, or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank:

New Series J and K Replacing Series F and G!

Series 3-a new 12-year appreciation bond, available in denominations of $25 up to $100,000, sold at 72% of par value. It pays 2.76% compounded semiannually if held to maturity, and is redeemable after six months. Annual limit of $200,000 jointly with

The struggle for the Republican presidential nomination has really become a horse race. To all practical purposes, General Elsenhower and Senator Taft are running neck and neck so far as solidly pledged votes are concerned. Some eager partisans on both sides still claim that their man has a commanding lead and that the prize is practically in the bag but this is the sort of wishful thinking that is ever a part of the great game of politics.

Eisenhower is strongest along and near the Atlantic seaboard—as his extremely impressive victory in Massachusetts demonstrate of Taft, on the other hand, pulls his greatest weight in the mid-west and parts of the south. The Eisenhower camp was particularly elated by the fact that he attracted many Democratic voters as izable bloc of delegates when in November, and with six to be won in November, and this unity could be seriously unferented by mud-slinging between the fish on the proportion. This, they argue, should be the clinch. HAVE TO READ MUSIC Anyone can play the revolutionary Hammond

Until you have played the Hammond Chord Organ, you'll probably find the facts about it hard to believe. Yet every statement is true. Thousands of people who have never before played any instrument, who didn't know one note of music, actually played the Hammond Chord Organ the first time they tried. How is it possible? This new kind of instrument is designed so that you play beautiful accompaniment chords by pressing a button with one finger; you play the melody from simple picture music (or standard music if you prefer); pedal notes are harmonized automatically. In a few days you'll perform pieces you once would never have attempted without lessons.

Even practice is fun! Hundreds of selections, both popular and classical, are included with your Hammond Chord Organ-you learn by playing the music you like. Hard to believe? Stop in, spend half an hour in private with the Hammond Chord Organ. Prove it to yourself. There's no obligation!

white House career have raised no much bitter dissension, and brought into being so many tremendous issues, as the seizure.

The arguments of the assistant attorney general who represented the government before Federal Judge Pine in the first test of the legality of the seizure were unprecedented. He said that 'the President's powers are virtually unlimited, are not confined to those laid down in the Constitution and other written law, and that the courts have no right or authority to tamper with them. This obviously amazed the judge, who asked, "Do you mean that if the President empowered Mr. Sawyer to take you into custory, and execute you, you'd have no power to enjoin him?' The attorney had no answer for that one.

Judge Pine banded down a strong decision, which totally demolished the government's case, and ordered the return of the steel companies to their owners. Many people seem to believe that this decision was overruled by the Court of Appeals a few days later. That is not so.
