Worse fire I’ve ever seen" says Hawthorne Fire Chief

Borough assists at Paterson inferno

Dr. Irene Gerber:

Special services director joins system

As Mode

The Hawthorne Fire Company assisted Paterson in extinguishing a fire in the noontime of June 10, 1979. The fire, which started in a jewelry store on Main Street in Paterson, quickly spread to adjacent buildings, causing extensive damage.

Dr. Irene Gerber, a specialist in child development, has been appointed to the special services director position in Hawthorne, New Jersey.

The South Side of Paterson was on fire, with flames shooting from the roof of the jewelry store and spreading to nearby buildings. Hawthorne Fire Company personnel were joined by Paterson Fire Department and emergency medical services.

In an interview with the Hawthorne Press, Dr. Gerber expressed her excitement about the new role, saying, "I am thrilled to be part of the special services team in Hawthorne." She added, "I believe that every child has the right to a safe and healthy environment, and I am committed to ensuring that this happens in Hawthorne."
Elderly woman convicted of disturbing her neighbors

An elderly woman was convicted of disturbing her neighbors with loud music coming from her home. The incident occurred in the early morning hours on a recent Saturday.

During an investigation conducted by Police Officer David Johnson, it was determined that the elderly woman, Mrs. Smith, had been playing loud music from her stereo for several hours, disturbing the peace of the neighborhood. Mrs. Smith was subsequently charged with making unreasonable noise.

According to Officer Johnson, the music was so loud that it could be heard from several houses away. The neighbors complained to the police, who then investigated the matter.

Mrs. Smith was arraigned on the charge and pleaded guilty. She was sentenced to community service and is required to attend a noise control awareness program.

The incident highlights the importance of considering others when playing loud music, especially at night or early in the morning. The police are reminding residents to be mindful of their noise levels and to avoid disturbing their neighbors.

Windows broken at three boro businesses

Three businesses in the borough were broken into last night, with windows and doors shattered and cash registers robbed. The police are investigating the incidents.

At around 3 a.m., police were called to the Happy Diner on Main Street, where an alarm had activated. Upon arrival, the officers found the front window shattered and the cash register missing.

A few blocks away, at the Town Hall Hotel, the officers also found a broken window and a cash register missing. The hotel had been closed for the night, so it is unclear how the break-in occurred.

The third incident occurred at the Rosebud Restaurant, located on the corner of Main and Elm Streets. Again, the officers found a broken window and a cash register missing.

Police are reminding businesses to take precautions to prevent such incidents, such as locking doors and windows and installing security systems.

EDITORIAL

You can't judge a book by its cover

The New Jersey Assembly upheld your "right to know" last week when they overwhelmingly defeated a measure that would have done away with all but very limited publication of local ordinances. The legislation, which had already passed the Senate, would have required publication of the ordinance only if the bill was signed and concurred in by the governor. Although it is true that local municipalities would not be able to advertise for free if they did not have to be published in a complete form, the cost in loss of freedom could be substantial. In our own community, the expenditures for legal fees are not insignificant, because the quantity of ordinances is kept to a minimum.

To publish only a title or a summary would mean that anyone interested in finding the entire proposal would have to make trips to the borough's office or to get a copy. In some cases, the public might not know, for instance, that the proposed ordinance would affect a section of the community. We could go on at length about the impact of such legislation would have on the First Amendment, but we'll quote instead one assemblyman who summed the issue succinctly:

"You can't judge a book by its cover."

Parents may have to pay for children's misdeeds

The Hawthorne Avenue shops were vandalized this week when rocks and beer bottles were thrown through their front windows. These incidents are a reminder of the mounting problem that we have experienced - a rash of rock-throwing vandalism riding through towns at night.

A broken window might seem like an accident, a few bottles might seem like mischief, but when several businesses report damage in a short span of time, the problem becomes systemic.

There's one deterrent to these acts of vandalism suggested - a proposal for state legislation makes parents liable for the cost of damage done by their children. We urge all parents to be aware of where their children might be going. Lack of interest or disregard of the part of parents could have costly consequences.

Mark Smith, Paul Fiorilla excel in track

By Jim Kohl

Good individual performances by Hawthorne High School track team members Mark Smith and Paul Fiorilla were not enough to lift the dual meet against Paramus on Monday at the Hawthorne High School track. Despite the victory, the team was unable to score enough points to win.

Smith won the 100-yard dash, the 220-yard dash, and the 440-yard dash. Fiorilla won the mile run, the 880-yard run, and the mile relay.

Fiorilla also won the 220-yard dash.

"I was satisfied with my performances," Fiorilla said after the race. "I'm getting better every time."

Smith was pleased with his performances. "I'm getting better every time," he said.

"I don't think I did too good in the one over because I hit a bump and then I fell. I think I did about as good as I could do," Smith said.

In the mile run, Paramus High School won, 3-1.

Weekend fire destroys municipal building

The Hawthorne Borough Hall was destroyed by a fire this weekend, leaving municipal and school board offices in the town. A police investigation revealed a suspicious fire broke out in the kitchen of the borough hall on Saturday morning. The building, located at 100 Main Street, sustained heavy damage.

The heat and smoke from the building caused extensive damage to the surrounding area. The fire caused lost property from the destroyed building, including important records and documents. The municipality is working with insurance companies to assess the damage and determine the cost of repairs.

Efforts of the department

Local officials and some of the department officers were on the scene on Saturday morning and began working to determine the cause of the fire. The fire was contained to the kitchen area of the building and the adjoining offices.

The school board meeting was scheduled for Thursday evening, but was canceled due to the damage caused by the fire. The school board is currently assessing the damage and preparing to move to an alternative location for the next meeting.

Where to go for...

Tax office
Borough clerk
Police station
Health services, building permits, planning and electrical permits
Tax assessor
Vital statistics, welfare, health complaints
Department of public works or water department
Board of education
Board secretary
Superintendent of schools
Municipal meetings, municipal court and school board meetings

The building will be under police guard until the cause of the fire is determined. The borough and school board are working with insurance companies to assess the damage and determine the cost of repairs.

Too many fires

Two fires at either end of the same block within three weeks are enough to make even the most unimaginative mind wonder about the circumstances.ユൃ

There were no fire alarm systems; there were no witnesses; and public officials were quoted in the Sunday papers as giving the opinion that the fires were suspicious.

There are, however, double assignable reasons for prudence. The situation had been made known. Then, a state police arson investigator made an investigation of the municipal building and met with "Dr. Richard Shott," Petri, assistant director of the Hawthorne Detective bureau, and raised his voice, "We are not going to let this happen again!

The police, therefore, are being more vigilant. The investigation may be accompanied by an increase in the number of firefighters. The situation is not to be underestimated.

The cause of fire at Hawthorne Press, which was located on the same block as the Janet Hooper building, has not yet been determined, but no evidence of arson has been found.

The fire occurred at about the same time and the same day of the week. These similarities are, however, insufficient to prove that there is anything more than coincidence involved.

There is one important difference that should not be overlooked in comparison of the two fires and another is the fact that we are fire-conscious. Two days before the fire, the municipal building was inspected.

In the municipal building, this is the first time that there were people in the building (although in addition to the main structure). The question arises of possible arson in one of the business firms, this is an area which cannot be overlooked. We have in this borough already experienced the trauma of an individual who carried out a number of fires.

We have no anti-arson laws in this state. And we've had the last three fires.

Most of the residents in this borough are beginning to think about every time a fire alarm is sounded. Although we've experienced one of these fires directly, we're not insulated, we're not anxious. We urge all residents to be observant for any suspicious persons, especially in the early morning hours. Citrus mode the time of the police to play a part in preventing crime.

For one fact, we'd like to add our observation of the hard work and dedication demonstrated by both officials, school board members, the squad members of various local boards, the churches, police and ambulance corps which worked with municipal and school personnel in this time of disaster.
Bears lose 10-0 decision to Ramsey

At St. Peter

Probably the most satisfying thing that happened during last week's Loganville-Lynnville football game was the sight of coach George Oliver's team getting into shape for the coming season, and then the fact that the team won its first game. The Bears, who had a 1-9 record last year, scored touchdowns in the first and second quarters, and then held on to win against the Fighting Irish, 10-0.

Their opening touchdown came on the first play of the game, as Lynnville quarterback Mike Shaver fumbled the ball, which was recovered by Loganville's Buddy Jackson. Loganville's Mike Smith then scored from the one-yard line, giving the Bears a 6-0 lead.

In the second quarter, Loganville's Donny Johnson scored on a one-yard run to increase the lead to 10-0.

The Bears played well, with defensive back Timmy Walker leading the way with four tackles.

Chileah shooters lead high school boys basketball

At Eastview

The Chileah High School boys basketball team continued its winning streak, defeating Eastview High School 60-50 in a close game.

The visiting team from Chileah started off strong, leading by as many as 15 points in the first half. Eastview fought back strongly in the second half, but Chileah's defense held firm, allowing the team to come out on top with a 10-point victory.

Coach Mike Martinez was pleased with his team's performance, saying, "We played well defensively and executed our plays. The team worked hard and came out on top."

The service was attended by a large crowd of friends and family, including members of the local community. The mayor spoke about Dr. Smith’s contributions to the city, and praised his dedication to public service.

Cancer prevention

Cancer continues to be, in the words of an outstanding biologist, Dr. Lewis Thomas, "the ever and away the most difficult problem confronting medicine today." Yet he and experts all over agree, that thousands of cancers, many of them now fatal, can be prevented.

The paradox of the cancer situation today is that the biggest cancer killer of all — lung cancer — is one of the most preventable, even more than slightly preventable.

Here is what is known about prevention of cancer and here is what each individual can do about it:

Scientists estimate that about 100,000, or 35,000 fatal deaths each year can be prevented.

About 90,000, or 30,000 of these are caused by cigarette smoking and more than 10,000 of these deaths are directly attributable to smoking.

About 5,000 fatal cancers of the throat and nasal organs are caused by a combination of smoking and heavy drinking and avoiding both of these will give that many lives.

Eating has been associated with some types of cancer. Knowledge about this is not as precise as in the case of tobacco as a cause of cancer. Still, many experts say that only 10,000 deaths from colon and rectum cancer might be avoided by a prudent diet that cuts down on fats, increases fiber and plenty of fruits and vegetables, as well as fish, poultry, and lean meat.

About 5,000 cancer deaths have been attributed to occupational causes, such as asbestos and radium, and fatal leukemia is linked to the control of dry cleaning, of benzene, and some pesticides.

Cancer rates have been rising in all age groups, and in women as well as in men over 35. The American Cancer Society undertook the biggest population study in the history of public health, the Cancer Prevention Study. Much of what we know about preventing cancer comes from this historic study.

When a volunteer comes to your home and seeks support of the cancer crusade, take a trip from the American Cancer Society and do what is in your power to prevent cancer.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

As a member of the League of Women Voters, I strongly urge you not to publish the article on the study of the new-look schools in the May 11 issue. The study was sponsored by the Department of Education, but was not conducted by the department.

I cannot believe that the money was spent on this study, and they are now trying to use it in public schools. The information is not accurate and it does not reflect the true needs of our students.

Thank you.

Rent control ordinance sought

by Herb Mehl

The Hawthorne Tenant Association has long sat tight in the headquarters of the Group for Fair Rent Control, a voluntary organization here. But the times are changing and the group is now in favor of a rent control ordinance. The group presented a proposed ordinance yesterday evening to the Hawthorne Board of Commissioners. The meeting was held in the City Hall and attended by about 50 people. The group called for a rent control ordinance to be presented to the City Council for consideration. The ordinance would place a limit on the amount of rent that landlords can charge tenants. The group believes that this is necessary to protect tenants from unfair rent increases.

The group's proposal includes a number of provisions. It would establish a maximum rent increase for each tenant, based on their income. It would also limit the amount of rent that landlords can charge for repairs and improvements. The ordinance would also require landlords to provide tenants with a written statement of their expenses and the amount of profit they are making from the rental property.

The group's proposal has been drafted by a team of lawyers and experts in the field of housing law. The group believes that the ordinance is necessary to protect tenants from unfair rent increases and to ensure that landlords are not profiting from their tenants' hard-earned wages. The group is committed to working with the City Council to ensure that the ordinance is passed and enforced.

EDITORIAL
A sound decision

Since it is becoming increasingly more difficult to get qualified individuals to seek public office, we applaud a recent decision by the Passaic County Prosecutor to prosecute the school board in the city of Passaic. The latter received a $100,000 judgment by a city resident group that the board had been paying its staff illegally because the Passaic board had failed to issue a 13-month period instead of a 13-month schedule.

Berard Ives Humphrey’s letter to that board stated that there was no evidence of personal gain or criminal intent and no evidence of any finding or defense of the law.

We applaud the following decision most significant: "The criminal law and procedures should be reserved for criminal misconduct and not used to harass public officials or as a vehicle for reaching civil disputes." Responsible citizens should be encouraged to seek public office. They will not find themselves targeted for criminal prosecution because of possible mistakes or misjudgments.
