Departmentalized sixth grade approved

by Donna Sylvester

A plan to departmentalize the sixth grade was unanimously approved by the Board of Education, at a special meeting Tuesday. The proposal would require all sixth-grade self-contained classrooms to be departmentalized into two sections, which will travel as a group to teachers "specializing" in a particular subject.

Alarmed at the prospect of having two sections of 30 students at the Lincoln School, about 20 parents, phoned by the sixth-grade class mothers, showed up in protest at the meeting.

The board's attempt to avoid class sizes of 30 students at Lincoln by transferring students to Roosevelt School, received negative results from parents. From a survey of 60 sixth-grade parents at Lincoln, the board learned that parents would not be willing to transfer their children, providing their own transportation to Roosevelt — the school chosen to absorb a certain number of transfers.

Although he expected negative results, Superintendent of Schools Frank Chiofalo said one parent had asked to have his student moved and he thought there might be others who also wanted a transfer. He needed only a few parents to agree to transfer their children to bring the classes at Lincoln down to a more desirable size, Chiofalo said.

Protesting against the larger classrooms, parent and Manchester Regional High School teacher Jacob Faasse said: "The teachers can't do a job with 30 students in each class. You (the board) are wasting one year of my daughter's life that won't be replaced by her seventh-grade teacher."

"Thirty in a class is a crime," he said, "when the classrooms are built for no more than 24." He suggested that if the school has classes of 30 students the superintendent should double the salary of teachers, since they will be correcting more papers and doing more work.

"In all due respect," returned Chiofalo, "I don't see anything wrong with 30 in a class, if we have teachers that are competent and the building supervisor takes care of the school."

"How about 10 in a class?" he asked. Although everyone would like smaller classrooms, "you have to draw the line somewhere," Chiofalo said, "There's nothing wrong with 30."

Another parent, who said she expects trouble next year with departmentalization, asked what teachers had been chosen to teach the classes. They better be good ones she said, "A teacher could handle 30 children, only if the children were perfect."

However, Chiofalo explained that he hadn't been able to start selecting the teachers, since the board had not yet approved his plan.

Responding to that parent's prediction of trouble next year, Board Member John A. Pasquale III said: "I don't know if there will be a problem. We have to take care of that when the time comes."

"I think that departmentalization deserves a chance to get started or the school system will be going backwards," said Board President Frank Matthews.

Anticipating the problems with 30 in a class at Lincoln, Board Member Rae Ann Bender asked, what happens if new students move into the district and have to attend Lincoln school? Linda Missonellie wanted to know if some of the 10 students in a small group instruction class at Lincoln will, at some point, be mainstreamed into the regular classrooms, which already have 30 students each.

In response, Dr. Richard Nazzari, administrative assistant, said the school would then have to find another place to put those children in the small group class.

For parents upset over the larger class sizes, the board explained it has three alternatives with regard to departmentalization of the sixth graders at Lincoln: 1) to leave the entire Lincoln sixth grade self-contained and have students miss the so-called benefits of departmentalization; 2) to have the classrooms divided into three sections of about 20 students, the problem being that because of the formula-departmentalization is based upon — one of these classrooms would have to be self-contained; and 3) to have two classrooms of 30 in each.

After hearing the objections to having 30 in a classroom, Bender asked parents at the meeting if they would rather have one self-contained classroom and two departmentalized classrooms with about 20 in each.

Faasse wanted to know what the criteria would be to select students in the self-contained classroom.

The board then revealed that choosing the criteria for the self-contained classroom — the only one in the sixth grade in the entire school system — was a problem. Board members expressed their concern that the classroom will become stigmatized, if all the special-education children end up in one classroom.

Although the classroom might be good for those children considered to be too immature for departmentalization, those children will still have to face departmentalization in the seventh grade.

Disputing the idea of a self-contained classroom, Chiofalo said: "It's important that all the schools in the district are doing the same thing," since ultimately all the students end up in Hawthorne High School. We have programs existing now that are far more

Coach takes the stand, testifies about his arrest

by Donna Sylvester

"I felt I was treated like the greatest criminal the world has ever seen, like Jack the Ripper," said Frank Harrison, recalling his thoughts during his arrest on January 3, before he was advised of the charges against him. On Friday, Sgt. Michael Del Vecchio, one of the arresting officers from the North Haledon Police Department, testified that Harrison was sitting in a police car, when he abruptly said: "You're treating me like some kind of a sex offender, like a person who rapes women."

He was surprised at this remark, Del Vecchio said, since it reportedly came before Harrison was told he was charged with the sexual assault and slaying of a William Paterson College student.

Harrison an assistant football coach at the college said he remembered saying something to that effect, because he was getting the impression that the detectives thought of him as a dangerous criminal, "a man that was well-known and notorious like Jack the Ripper." "He raped all the women that he attacked," Harrison explained at the trial Monday, in front of a 12-member jury.

However, Harrison said he didn't recall using the words Jack the Ripper in his alleged comments to the arresting policemen.

When the police handcuffed him at Newark International Airport, where he was reportedly waiting to board a plane to Florida, Harrison said the only reason he could imagine for his arrest was that there was some law about the travel bag he had used to carry liquor bottle so that they would not break in his luggage. "The bag was rectangular and black and I thought maybe it showed up as a bomb on the x-rays for customs," he said.

However, Harrison said that when he asked Det. William Moran, from North Haledon, if he was arrested because of his travel bag, Moran reportedly said that they wouldn't bother to arrest someone for something so insignificant. That's one of the reasons, Harrison said, he began to think charges against him were more serious.

At the airport when he was handcuffed and six other policemen "covered" upon him, Harrison said: "It was revealed that the arresting officers had not in anyway abused Harrison. Instead, Harrison said they cashed in his airline ticket so that he wouldn't lose the plane fare and explained to another WPC coach, who Harrison reportedly planned to fly with to a coach's convention in Florida, about the arrest."

Although he asked what the charges against him were, Harrison said the officer refused to read him his rights or tell him the charges until they were at Port Authority. Assistant Prosecutor Barry Skwicksy said that policemen don't have to advise a suspect of his rights or the charges against him, until they begin questioning.

Also, Monday, Harrison testified that he was home applying eye drops to an infection in his retarded sister's cornea in the early morning hours of December 19, when the 25-year-old WPC female was sexually abused.

Asked if Harrison had stayed home to administer the drops, Harrison's father on the stand confirmed his story: "Of course, it's a big thing in our house when this little girl gets sick. She gets sick the whole family gets sick."

Two drivers injured in crash

Two drivers are still hospitalized following an accident that occurred Friday at approximately 6 p.m.

According to police, Robert Macinsky, 52, of Saxonia Avenue, Wyckoff was driving northbound on Goffle Road between Braen Avenue and Route 208 when his car swerved and jumped over the divider striking a truck operated by Willie Reardon, 33 of Godwin Avenue Paterson, a driver for Dennis K. Walker Trucking Co. of Hopatcong. The truck was carrying U.S. mail.

The Wyckoff Fire Department and Rescue Squad responded to the accident to free Macinsky from his vehicle. Both Glen Rock, and Wyckoff, along with the borough ambulance squad responded.

Macinsky is reported to be in stable condition in the Paterson General Hospital in Wayne, Reardon and a passenger, Virginia Colvin of Paterson were transported to St. Joseph's Hospital in Paterson. According to police, both occupants of Reardon's vehicle were injured.

Testimony by witness settles accident case

A case held over from the previous week was resolved on April 30th with the testimony of a witness, Jack Lambert of 10 Seventh Avenue was subpoenaed as a witness to the Utter Avenue accident in which Frank De Franco of 68 Hillcrest Avenue had charged Adeline Russo of 105 Sixth Avenue with driving with undue caution.

Lambert stated, "There was no place to go either hit her or go on the sidewalk." Russo was found guilty and fined $20 and $10 court costs.

Louis Bay, Chief of Fire Prevention Bureau pressed charges against Frank Kolsak, 71 Matland Avenue, Paterson and Dennis Mathews, 37 Central Avenue, Haledon for dumping insulation and other remains of a demolished trailerbody on property along Thomas Road, North. Dennis Mathews assumed complete responsibility for the April 15th incident while Kolsak stated, "I was only hired to cut up the trailer." All charges were dropped against Kolsak, but Mathews was found guilty, fined $25 and $10 court cost.

Restitution ordered

Prospect Park Hilda Gonzales of 555 Jackson Avenue, Elizabeth, a recent arrival to this country from Cuba, was fined $215 by Municipal Court Judge James Evers for driving while on the revoked list. Gonzales, who communicated with the judge through an interpreter, said his license was revoked eight months ago. He told the judge he did know "the laws."

Jeffrey Sisco of 17 Willie Street was fined $25 on a contempt of court charge. Sisco must return to court on a later date to answer to charges stemming from being a disorderly person and have drugs in his possession. He was originally scheduled to appear in court on March 25 but did not show up.

Deva Osman of Planten Avenue was fined $20 for disregarding a traffic light. He was also fined $10 for contempt of court for failing to appear at his original trial date.

Fined $180 and ordered to make restitution for damages in the amount of $190, Leonard Thomas of 23 Doremus Avenue, Paterson, told the judge, "I only have $10 in my pocket. Evers told Thomas, "I want $50 paid tonight. You go to the public telephone in the lobby and start making telephone calls." About an hour later, Thomas came back with the $50.

The defendant was found guilty of disorderly conduct in that he broke the windshield of a parked truck. Thomas told Evers he was angry and wanted to vent his anger. He said, "I was drunk and lost control of myself."

Evers said to the defendant, "Police officers take their lives in their hands whenever they make an arrest or answer a call. They don't need to take flak from people such as you." Thomas was ordered to pay the balance of his fine within two weeks.

Daniel Dooner, 50 Cumberland Road, Glen Rock was bought before the court on the charge of interfering with a police officer. Ptl. Richard Leyman, testified that while he was trying to attend to an injured victim due to a fight, Dooner was questioned about the incident. "He became abusive and interfered with our work so we brought him down to headquarters." Dooner concurred with the officer's testimony stating, "I didn't see nothing and I didn't know I had to answer him." The judge found him guilty and levied a $200 fine and $15 court cost. "It is every citizen's responsibility to cooperate with the police," said Judge Reenstra.

William Seidel, of 51 Second Avenue, pleaded guilty to charges of operating an unregistered and uninsured vehicle and was fined $75 and $25 court cost. Seidel was also charged with driving while on the revoked list. He stated that he had moved to California and had no knowledge that he was on the revoked list in the State of New Jersey. On the final charge, Seidel's license was suspended for 60 days.

Charges of assault with a deadly weapon against Martin Vander Molen, 50 Passaic Avenue were dropped by his wife, Barbara, who had signed the complaint.

Robert Grecco of 134 Kingston Avenue was found guilty of possessing a false license. Grecco was found in a parked car in the driver's seat of the vehicle on January 16. Paula Bergen of Glen Rock, an occupant in the car, and Grecco's mother both stated that the defendant does not drive because his driving privileges had been suspended. After reviewing Grecco's driving record, which consists of four pages, Judge Reenstra commented, "This is one of the worst driving records the court has seen" and found him guilty "beyond a reasonable doubt."

Adrian Pinnock, 116 Redwood Avenue, Paterson, was ticketed on April 21 for operating a vehicle without a license in her possession. She pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $20 and $10 court cost.

Charges of operating a vehicle with no registration or insurance card in his possession were made against David F. Verhulst, 238 Jefferson Street Paterson. He was found guilty and fined $70 and $25 court costs. Verhulst's license was also suspended for six months.

On April 18, Raymond A. Duran, 10 Graham Avenue, Paterson was observed operating his vehicle on portions of the Passaic County Park which are not designated for use of motor vehicles. He was fined $10 and court cost of $10.

Joann Pettinelli, of 6 Midland Avenue, dropped an assault complaint against JoAnne Donahue, 8-30 Harvey Avenue, Rochelle Park. "I've changed my mind," Pettinelli stated. A dismissal fee of $25 was assessed.

Two cases of assault with a deadly weapon

Two cases of assault with a deadly weapon were reported in the borough on Friday. The first incident occurred at about 11 am according to a Fair Lawn man, who told police that he was robbed, beaten, gagged and driven to East Rutherford where he was thrown from his van.

Nasim Rafailow, 26, of 13-25 Seber Road, Fair Lawn, reported on Monday to Hawthorne police that he had spent a day in the hospital, following the May 1 case. Rafailow related that he had parked his van in the center of town to make a phone call and went into Sportswear For Everyman. When he returned to his van, two men, one holding a gun, approached him.

The victim claims that he punched the gunman in the face, but that the second man struck him on the head and put him in the van. Rafailow says the two beat him, blindfolded and gagged him and bound his hands with a coat hanger.

The assailants then drove for half an hour before stopping and unloading some $1000 worth of sportswear which Rafailow had in the van. The pair then drove to East Rutherford where they beat the victim again and left him on Boyce Avenue. A witness in that community confirmed that the blue van had backed into a driveway in the area and that Rafailow had staggered out the street.

The Fair Lawn man was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Passaic where he was held overnight. In addition to the sportswear, about $800 was stolen from the victim.

The second incident occurred Friday night at about 9:30 pm in the parking lot of the Golden Steer, 67 Goffe Road. Police received a report of a man with a knife and another man with a gun. Through investigation, it was learned that a minor argument had taken place in the restaurant between Bruce Schroeder of Hawthorne and George Vehaquez, 21, of 106 Lafayette Avenue, Paterson.

Schroeder had exited the restaurant with his friend and his children, when Vehaquez ran into the kitchen and grabbed a large knife.

Vehaquez was running out the back door as off-duty Haledon Ptl. David Sutton was entering the restaurant.

According to Hawthorne police, Sutton identified himself as an officer and got between both parties, telling Vehaquez to drop the knife. When the assailant would not drop the weapon and "after several tense moments," Sutton pulled his revolver and ordered Vehaquez to put down the knife, which he eventually did. Vehaquez was charged with two counts of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and released on a combined bail of $4500. A probable cause hearing is scheduled in Little Falls for May 13th. The offense is an indictable one and will probably be referred to the Grand Jury for action.

inequitable than the class sizes of 30 at Lincoln School, he said.

Chiofalo went on to explain that not only will departmentalization be more cost-effective than teaching classes dwindling to 10 students, but it's also, he said, "the best way to educate children today."

Students would benefit, he said, from having instruction of teachers, who are specialized in one subject. "No teacher is an expert in everything," he said. However, under departmentalization an instructor will teach only one subject and develop specialized knowledge in his field, Chiofalo said.

The other advantage, he said, is that the school can offer a variety of subjects, that could not be offered under the old system of self-contained classrooms. New course offerings for the sixth grade include: science lab, home-economics, shop and interdisciplinary mathematics. Chiofalo said that interdisciplinary math would provide more practice in an area where students are found to be weaker.

It was also pointed out that although Lincoln can anticipate two classes of 30, there will be classes of 26 and 27 at Franklin School next year. In 1981-82, the same problem can be anticipated at Roosevelt School where the two sixth grades will have 29 students each.

When Faasse suggested that a total redistricting of borough school would be the answer, trustee Jack Meeter responded that in order to get workable numbers, some combination of Roosevelt and Jefferson may have to be considered in the future. Meeter said the solution to the class size issue is a middle school, an idea that met public opposition in recent years.

The motion to approve the sixth grade departmentalization also included Dr. Chiofalo's withdrawal of his recommendation to combine lower elementary classes at Jefferson and Roosevelt. This means that there will be two sections in Jefferson's fifth and first grades, three sections in Roosevelt's fifth grade and two sections in Roosevelt's second grade.

The board also agreed that parents at Lincoln School sixth graders would still have the option of transferring their children to Roosevelt, provided the requests are within reason and requests are made prior to the end of this school year.

No action was taken on a resolution which sets a dollar amount for the number of teachers that will be reduced in the 1981-82 budget. Pasquale reported that at the present time, the board can expect an estimated $35,000 to $40,000 to be returned to the taxpayers because of staff reductions. Three, possibly four teaching positions, will be eliminated.

Water rates are going up and we're not surprised

In our February 19th editorial, we informed our readers that one of the side effects of water rationing would be a loss in revenues to the local water department. We told you that using less would eventually mean consumers would be paying more, much like gasoline, fuel oil and other resources that are becoming scarce.

That prediction has become a reality, as an ordinance to increase the water rates was scheduled to be introduced at last night's meeting of the Board of Commissioners.

The quarterly charge for the average household is going from $7 to $12.15, covers the first 5,000 gallons charged to a consumer. The rate for each additional 1,000 gallons will be increased from 90 cents to one dollar.

Additional revenues will be created by the rate hike to make up the deficit of about $250,000 anticipated in 1981. In the first four months of this year, revenues are already down $65,000, which includes a portion of time prior to the state rationing mandates.

The peak period of use is approaching with the spring and summer months and it's a sure bet that consumption will be lowered, whether rationing is lifted or not.

According to Frank Lembo, the borough's public works supervisor, many of the industrial establishments in Hawthorne, some of our largest consumers, have learned to operate their facilities with less water. Once the rate increase becomes official, it's unlikely that consumption will increase. We believe the industrial users will continue to, conserve in order to make their operations more cost-effective.

Another factor that will keep consumption down is the ban on sprinkling, a restriction that is expected to continue even in light of current talks to remove the order rationing use to 50-gallons per-person-per-day. Hawthorne has traditionally had adequate supplies of water and residents have become accustomed to maintaining beautiful lawns.

The rate hike is understandable in view of the anticipated loss of revenues. We don't like paying more for our water, especially when our municipality can meet its needs.

The increase would be more palatable even if we could be guaranteed that the rates would decrease accordingly if and when the drought situation gets under control and things return to normal.

New Jersey pays candidates to run for office

I hate to say it, but the world is getting out about New Jersey. And, as usual, it's not complimentary.

The world is getting out in small town newspapers, like The New York Times in Peconic, Illinois, a town of about 2,000.

And it's getting out in big town newspapers like The New York Times, The Chicago Tribune, The Philadelphia Bulletin and The Washington Star.

The world, as best described by The New York Times recent headline, is "New Jersey Pays Candidates to Run." It's a story that tells small town Middle America how the primary race for governor here in the Garden State is being run this year. What the story basically says is just what the headline implies, that New Jersey's taxpayers are being forced to donate their hard-earned money to candidates' campaigns.

Under a new state election law, gubernatorial candidates in the New Jersey primary can receive up to $600,000 each in taxpayers' money to run their campaigns.

On April 23, a record 22 candidates, 14 Democrats and eight Republicans, filed their nominating petitions for governor. Twenty of those candidates are accepting taxpayers' money. Multiply that by the maximum available in taxpayers' money per candidate and you have a possible price tag on New Jersey's primary gubernatorial election at $12 million.

Twelve million dollars. That's quite a sum, even in these days of inflation. It's also quite a sum considering that in January, the gubernatorial election fund had only $1.3 million available for primary campaign funding and the legislature recently was forced to appropriate an additional $5 million out of the general treasury that state budget officials concede won't ever be paid back.

Twelve million dollars. Where is it all going? If you watch your television screens closely enough, you'll see. All of these millions of dollars are going to the big television stations in New York and Philadelphia. Almost every time you see a political commercial for a gubernatorial candidate, you'll be paying your tax dollars for it.

I say almost every time. You may see my face on that magic box, but you won't be paying to see it. That's because I have refused to accept the taxpayers' money to run my campaign. I didn't make this decision yesterday, when taxpayers started to become outraged when they realized what was being done with their money. I refused to accept their money back in February when I announced my candidacy for Governor.

This has put me somewhat at a disadvantage, especially since I am staying within the spirit of the election law and limiting individual contributions to a maximum $800 each.

Under the public funding law, a candidate receives $2 in taxpayers' money for every $1 he or she raises above $50,000 in contributions of $800 or less. In effect, I must raise $3 for every $1 raised by my opponents.

The public funding law further permits a candidate to drop out of the race after having spent his or her share of taxpayers' money without any stipulation that it be paid back.

I refused to use taxpayers' money — a move looked at by some with skepticism and by others with an air that says they are questioning my sanity — because I knew the 1980s represent a crucial decade for New Jersey. The winds of change, in the form of a new administration bent on making wholesale budget cuts I intend to fight, and blowing strong in the Washington air.

There are many vital state programs which may have to go begging because there is no money for them.

Not long ago, for instance, State Health Commissioner Dr. Joanne Finley told the Joint Appropriations Committee in Trenton that her department faces many losses, including $1.3 million for maternal child health services that will mean a cut in services to 11,000 families, and $2.4 million in drug abuse treatment. The latter cut, she said, will mean treatment for 5,400 fewer persons.

Dr. Finley told the committee that cuts in maternal child health services mean, "Some babies and maybe even their mothers will surely needlessly die as a result."

While some may construe that statement as over dramatic, there can be no debating that New Jersey is going to need all of its available resources to meet the multitude of complex challenges posed by the 1980s and beyond.

The state ought to be spending the money of its taxpayers on more worthwhile endeavors, than clever television commercials whose only future, for the most part, will be as trophies in someone's video cassette tape rack.

Karen Scalzitti accepts contract with world-famous Ballet West

Karen Scalzitti has accepted a contract with the world-famous Ballet West of Salt Lake City, Utah. Karen auditioned for Bruce Marks, artistic director and Sonda Sugai, assistant director, and was the only one offered a contract from 200 dancers throughout the Eastern states.

Rather than accept a scholarship with a local company or join a New York Repertory Company, which is the usual procedure from high school, Scalzitti chose to join the first company of Ballet West.

Six weeks will be spent at the internationally famous cultural community, Aspen, Colorado where performances are Tuesday through Saturday from mid-July to mid-August. The remainder of the year will be spent touring the United States.

The Hawthorne High School student has danced numerous roles with the Irine Fokine Ballet Company of Ridgewood where she has won six scholarships. Among her roles were the Snow Queen from Nutcracker partnered by Wally Alvarez of New York City; Kitri from Don Quixote partnered by Raymond Perrin who is now a soloist with the American Ballet Theatre in New York; Puck, from Midsummer Night's Dream; Odette the Queen Swan from Swan Lake, and many other principal roles choreographed by Irine Fokine. She has studied with Miss Fokine for nine years and with Jeremy Jves, formerly of the American Ballet Theatre, for three years.

Ballet West was founded in 1963 by William F. Christensen, one of the most distinguished men in American dance. It has emerged as one of the most vibrant and unique of international dance companies, and ranks fifth in America today.

'Bye Bye Birdie' at the high school May 8-9

by Parti Pietrafesa

On Friday May 8 and Saturday May 9 the students at Hawthorne High School will present the musical comedy "Bye Bye Birdie."

The program is under the direction of Ms. Dorothy Caulfield. The dance numbers were arranged by Donna Albanese and Barbara Van Hook and all musical numbers will be played by Laura Englehardt on the electric guitar and Lynn Holly on the piano.

Bye, Bye, Birdie is about Albert Peterson, a man in his early thirties, who runs the Almaelou Music Corporation and is manager of the sexy rock star and teen idol Conrad Birdie. When Birdie is drafted into the Army, Albert must think of a quick way to make some big bucks fast so that he can pay off Birdie's guarantee. Albert's faithful secretary, Rosie Alvarez suggests that Albert write a song entitled "One Last Kiss" and have Birdie give a "farewell kiss" to an average American girl. Fifteen year old Kim MacAfee is the girl chosen at random to receive the kiss from Birdie. Kim's new naive boyfriend, Hugo Peabody, is very upset by this and is determined not to stand by and let "the kiss" take place.

Bye, Bye, Birdie is filled with many memorable songs such as "The Telephone Hour," "Put on a Happy Face," "Rosie," "A Lot of Livin' to Do," and "Kids."

The cast includes senior, Brett Botbyl, as Albert; junior, Barbara Van Hook as Rosie; and senior, Donna Albanese as Kim. Other members of the cast include: Leslie Abousamra, Sheri Agnes, John Behnken, Mark Birch, Peter Birch, Peter Brescia, Collen Brogan, David Burkart, Jaime Cesa, Mariann Del Gaudio, Joyce Deming, Jim DiMaggio, Ronald Frederick, Buddy Green, Lindsay Holsten, Theresa LaRosa, John LeCoe, Donna Loscalzo, Rybin McCollough, Sue Merino, Cindy Meyers, Cheryl Mitchell, Justine Nazzaro, Patricia Pietrafesa, Kim Sherry, Julie Sysma, Laurie Tulenko, Robin Turner, Karen Veldcamp, Judie Williams and Mary Kay Wright. Tickets are on sale now by any cast member for $3.50 and may be purchased at the door for $4.

Travel program set

On Monday, May 11, at 7:30 pm, Shanthi Travel, Inc., of 300 Lafayette Avenue, in cooperation with Homes Lines, will present a cruise program at the Louis Bay 2nd Library.

Satya and Shanthi Srikonda, president and vice president of Shanthi Travel, and Peter Dietz, district manager of Home Lines, will show a film featuring the cruise ship Doric, which sails from New York to Bermuda during the spring, summer and autumn months and from Port Everglades, Florida, to the Caribbean in the winter. The film illustrates all aspects of cruise life: cabin accommodations, dining facilities, entertainment, recreation, etc.

The Srikondas, who have operated a travel agency in Hawthorne for four years, claim that there are many financial advantages to vacationing by cruise, since the ship serves as your hotel and all meals are included in the price of the cruise package. Dietz and the Srikondas will be happy to answer any questions concerning cruise ships and cruises.

The program is open to the public free of charge. For further information, please call the library at 427-5745 or Shanthi Travel at 423-4444.

Feehan's beats Hook Supply, takes top spot in Division 2

Feehan's Insurance has earned some respect.

Feehan's, formerly the Raiders, stumbled through a ho-hum 3-11 record last season, although the team showed signs of life during the season's second half.

With Sunday's 7-6 victory over defending champion Hook Supply in the Hawthorne Men's Softball Association, Feehan's jumped to the top spot in Division 2.

Fine defensive play by infielders Joe Bariso, Steve Hook, Sal Lapadura and Scott Wozney sparked the triumph. LaPadura clubbed two home runs while Mike Post added a home run. Stu Read collected three hits and Wozney added a pair.

Scott Cappozzoli slugged a home run for Hook Supply which had now dropped two straight encounters. Chris Dowling and Cliff Conkleton produced three hits each.

In other action, McGill's Express split a double-header with Seymour Pollack Opicians, taking the first game, 17-13, while losing the second, 11-8. Behind an eight-run third inning, undefeated Rolling Hills Landscape topped Division 3 rival Artwork & Graphics, 12-3. In addition, Rolling Hills defeated the Jaycees, 24-8.

Artwork rebounded with a 20-9 triumph over A. Dello Buono Construction Co. The Hawthorne Deli picked up its initial win by topping the Late Bunch, 22-10. Meanwhile, Minicozzi Construction picked up two victories, 9-4 over Arthur Groom & Co. and 16-4 over the Late Bunch.

Brian Wilken's three hits, along with Dave Scarber, Mike Mugo, Ralph Rinaldi, Ed Browley and John DeLaat, who added two hits each, sparked McGill's victory in the first game. George Yost Sr. collected four RBI in the loss for Seymour Pollack. John Salvemini and Pat Salvemini had three hits apiece.

In the second game, Bill Gnade went 4-for-4 while Dave Kleppe had three hits and four RBI, including a home run, as Seymour Pollack bounced back. Tony Binanti added three hits while Ed Fiore hit a two-run home run. Mike Mugo and Stan Kasica had three hits each for McGill's.

Marty Boyd's outstanding defensive shortstop, coupled with three hits each by Twinkle Toes Ruocco, Stan Aicla, Timmy Bergen and Joe Richmond, ignited Rolling Hills past Artwork. The winners pulled off a triple play in the bottom of the third inning. Frank Hollis and Tom DeMaio had two hits each for the Artwork team.

Gordon Muth went 4-for-4, hitting for the cycle, while Leon Bay and Steve Wassel had four and three RBI, respectively, in Rolling Hills' victory over the Jaycees. John Ferber picked up two hits, including a home run, and Al Gillett added two RBI for the Jaycees.

Gus Schell, Frank Kabrel and Mark Neri powered out three hits each while Joe Hollis had three RBI in Artwork win against A. Dello Buono. Jim Walsh, Bruce Nelissen, and Glenn Graham added two hits each. Bob Guggenheim, Kevin Fitzpatrick, Tom Fox, Andy Fox and Andy Weber collected two hits each for Dello Buono.

An awesome hitting attack, led by Bob Kurack, Richie Spages and Al Tracy, with five, four and four hits respectively, gave the Hawthorne Deli the victory over the Late Bunch. Vinnie Motolla contributed two hits, two sacrifice flies and seven RBI while Alex Wallington and Lloyd Gensel clubbed home runs.

Frank Nero and Kevin Hughes hit two home runs apiece for the Late Bunch. John Nessel, Terry Cahoon and Joe Orsmy had two hits each.

The seven-hit pitching of Joe DesLauries sparked Minicozzi Construction past Arthur Groom. DesLauries hit two doubles while Al Mattei had a double and triple for the winners.

Tony Miniaci's grand slam in the bottom of the third inning accounted for the A. Groom scoring. Chip De Nully had three hits, including two doubles, for A. Groom.

Four hits each by Joe Boyle and Lex Greenwood inspired Minicozzi over the Late Bunch. Mike Michalski added three hits and Mich Rinaldi added three RBI.

Billy Schuck had two hits for the Late Bunch.

Teacher reductions bring protest

North Haledon — Despite objections from the North Haledon Teachers' Association, the Board of Education voted unanimously to cut nine teachers, at a meeting held on April 27.

Because of a decline in enrollment of 50 students, five full-time positions will be terminated by June 30. At that time, there will be 41 teachers for 585 students.

Four part-time instructors will be reduced in force, also, when money runs out from state compensatory education and Title I funds. Teachers, participating in these programs, will be dismissed on or before June 30, as funds run out.

During the public discussion at the meeting, Alice Petkus, president of the Parent Teachers Association, asked the board to be realistic in the number of teachers it reduced. "We have a lot of the finest teachers. They provide individual instruction to a lot of kids," she said, "and once the teachers are let go they probably won't be asked back."

She also asked the board not to make class sizes as large as they were in the past.

Rather than cut teachers, Lynn Del Mauro president of the North Haledon Teachers' Association asked the board to consider alternative ways of financing.

Concerned about teacher cuts jeopardizing programs like Spanish, another resident said, "I sure hate to see the programs that we finally got after all these years lost."

However, Acting Superintendent Paul Ortenzio said he was determined not to see these programs cut. As for class sizes, he said the largest would be in grades five-eight, where 25 to 27 students will be in one classroom. It's undesirable, he agreed, for a class to exceed 33 or 34 students.

Another parent said she didn't believe the decline in enrollment was great enough to warrant many cuts. However, Board Finance Chairman Robert Scialla explained that the cuts were based upon more than just the recent decline in enrollment of 50 students. Over the years, he said, although enrollment has gradually declined, teachers were never dismissed, so that class sizes could eventually be reduced to a desirable size.

Firemen accept settlement

by Donna Sylvester

North Haledon — Hoping to avoid a court hearing, the volunteer firemen unanimously approved Friday the settlement offered by the Borough Council. Asked why the firemen approved the same settlement they had previously rejected at a budget hearing April 27, the firemen's lawyer Robert La Salle said: "They felt the pressure of the upcoming court hearing."

In court, last week, Superior Court Judge Peter Ciolino "did not seem very sympathetic to the firemen's position," La Salle said. At that time, Ciolino ordered the fire trucks back to the garage and scheduled a hearing on the matter for May 3. The firemen had parked the trucks in the municipal parking lot, to protest a cut of $2,000 in aid to volunteer fire departments. Although they were willing to fight fires, the firemen said they wanted to leave the maintenance of the trucks to the mayor and council, because of the budget cuts.

Another reason the firemen settled for less than they originally asked for, La Salle said, was because "they were anxious to get back to being firemen."

Under the settlement, aid to volunteer fire departments will be abolished and the $4,000 in that account will be transferred to the firemen's municipal budget. Another $3,000 will be allotted for a line item designated as rent and another $1,000 for supplies.

Since no money has actually been restored to the budget, La Salle said the firemen will have to do without certain things, they might otherwise have had. However, in case of an emergency, $2,000 has been set aside in the budget this year.

Prospect Park Patter

by Bert Nawyn

The borough council has scheduled another public meeting for next Monday to discuss a different route for the North Haledon sewer main. This route would take the sewer main through Manchester Regional High School grounds. Only one block of Brown Avenue, from Lakeshore Drive to North 17th Street, would be affected.

The route would then deviate from the rejected route in that it would go down North 17th Street to Fairview Avenue and then down Fairview Avenue to North Eighth Street where it would hook up with the Prospect Park main which carries the borough's effluent to the Warren Street interceptor in Paterson.

In view of the fact that the borough council had previously voted to deny North Haledon access to Brown Avenue, Councilman Martin Ver Hage proposed that the sewer main be routed down Lakeshore Drive between Fairview and Brown Avenues. The road in that location is a paper street. However, at the Fairview Avenue location it narrows down to about five to seven feet and becomes part of Molly Ann's Brook.

The route of the sewer main was advertised in local papers so that all residents and taxpayers in the borough should be aware of the proposed route.

North Haledon officials feel this is their last shot at getting their sewer system installed. They say that if a route is not finalized within the next month or two they will lose federal funds allocated for the construction. The federal government will pay 75 percent of the sewer costs. North Haledon's next opportunity will come in 1984 and at that time the borough will again have to compete for funds.

In the meantime, the borough has been mandated by the federal governments Department of Environmental Protection to install sewers as a health measure for its residents.

Prospect Park dog owners can have their pets injected for rabies at various locations in Paterson. The Paterson program is open to residents of contracting municipalities which includes Prospect Park. Locations closest to the borough are at Engine Co. No. 8, Union and Sherwood Avenues, on May 11, from 8:30 to 9:30 pm; Engine Co. No. 7, 128 Getty Avenue, on May 14 from 8:30 to 9:30 pm; Engine Co. 12, 36 Circle Avenue on May 16 from 12:30 to 1:30 pm; and Engine Co. 3, Lafayette and East 16th Street, May 17, from 10 am to 12 noon.

The borough council, at their last meeting, discussed at length the circulars which are thrown on residents' property by persons distributing them for large discount and department stores. It was stated that at times there are as many as six circulars on porches and sidewalks in front of houses. Residents, especially those living in absentee landlord houses, fail to pick up the circulars resulting in a littering problem, said one resident.

Mayor Nicholas De Graat acknowledged that the weekly distribution of circulars presented a problem to many residents whom he said, "Don't want them thrown on their property."

The mayor said he would inform the police to make charges of littering against persons who throw the circulars on front lawns where they can be considered litter. He said property owners could also make charges if they wish.

Rolando loses bid to overturn election

by Donna Sylvester

Haledon — Arnold "Doc" Rolando lost his bid to overthrow the school board election at Manchester Regional High School, at a hearing on April 27. A defeated write-in candidate, Rolando was unable to prove that a "sloppily-run" election had caused his defeat.

Administrative Law Judge James Ospenson ruled that although he could understand Rolando's disappointment, he had not established voting irregularities.

Without all the witnesses he had planned on calling to testify in his behalf, Rolando said he could not provide conclusive evidence that people had wanted to vote for him and couldn't. Since Rolando was notified only late Friday of the hearing in Newark on Monday, he asked for a postponement. "I could have filled the room with up to 100 people," Rolando said, if he had had more time.

However, Skwiersky asked Harrison why if his sister's eye infection was so important in helping him remember the night of December 18, Harrison had not mentioned it to the police. Skwiersky presented as evidence a calendar page of the month of December which the North Haledon police had reportedly marked Harrison alibi for the week of the attack.

On that calendar, a phone call to wish Harrison's brother, "Happy birthday," in Florida was marked on the 18th but nothing about his sister's eye infection. That's because, Harrison said, he "mistakenly" thought that he brought his sister, Mary, to the eye specialist and stayed home to care for her on the 17th.

However, the judge denied the motion for a postponement, noting that Board Secretary Robert Gillespie and attorney Alfonso DeSimone representing the board were able to attend.

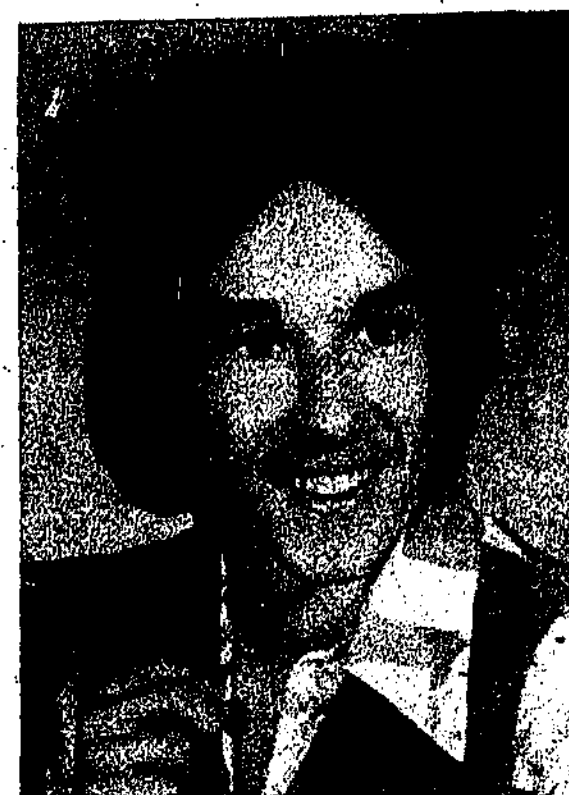

Furthermore, Rolando said, the judge ruled that written testimony, was not admissible as evidence since the witnesses, who wrote the statements were not sworn in and could not be cross-examined. Rolando was not permitted to testify about anything the witnesses had told him about the election procedures.

Since most law offices are closed on weekends, Rolando said, he was unable to contact a lawyer to argue his case. As his own attorney, Rolando said, he cross-examined Gillespie, who Rolando said he spoke with at the polls. However, Rolando said that Gillespie denied ever talking to him at the election.

Gillespie said the election was smoothly run, while Rolando described it as confusing. People weren't shown how to vote for a write-in candidate, Rolando said.

Also at the trial, the judge upheld a motion by DeSimone that Gillespie had acted in accordance with election statutes. Gillespie had announced that Rolando was disqualified from the election, since one of the signatures on his nominating petition did not belong to a registered voter.

A recount of votes cast in the election was held Monday, May 4 at the Dalzell in Paterson, where the voting machines are stored. Rolando said that the recount probably won't show enough additional votes in his favor to change the outcome of the election. Rolando received 42 write-in votes, while Carol Cosgrove, his opponent, received more than 300.

However, Hull accused Doran of a general attack on the credibility of the witness and ruled it is up to the jury to determine her credibility.

Since, Skwiersky said, at question throughout the entire case is the victim's ability to correctly identify her attacker, Skwiersky asked the judge to admit as evidence nude photos of the defendant. Despite Doran's objection that the pictures might "shock the sensibilities of the jury" and be "degrading" to the defendant, Hull allowed one of three pictures to be admitted as evidence.

Both lawyers were expected to present concluding arguments in the case on Wednesday.

Fuel-switching is no
nickel-and-dime
proposition.

Before you go to the unnecessary expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition. Not only will you have to purchase all new equipment and pay to have it installed, but you'll also be paying to have the old equipment dismantled. Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than to go to all the expense that conversion entails? Now, especially with the new 15-percent tax credit for modernization of oil-burning equipment recently authorized by Congress, modernization is a more economical option than conversion. Call your independent heating oil dealer. He'll tell you how to get more for your heating dollar, for less.

Three alarm fire:

House demolished in fire

Prospect Park — A general alarm fire swept through a four-family house on Hopper Street last week sending residents into rain-swept streets and gutting the house. No one was injured. The property is owned by Cornelius Bushoven of 450 Glendale Avenue, Wyckoff.

The fire is believed to have started in the second floor apartment on the right side of the house, which is occupied by Carol Caffrey and her five children. Firemen answered the alarm at 8:52 pm and sounded backpats at 2:15 am Wednesday.

Routed from the house at 49-51 Hopper St., which was constructed before the turn of the century, were, in addition to the Caffrey family, William Meima, the Edward Tanis family, and the Evette James family.

When firemen arrived at the scene, flames were breaking through the roof of the house and licking the walls of houses on each side of the burning building. Heroic work by firemen contained the blaze to the one building. Residents of 47 Hopper Street were forced to evacuate their homes until the fire was under control.

The Tanis family was alerted to the fire when his 12-year old daughter Laura ran yelling into the apartment. "I've lost everything I had," said Tanis. "I was cooking dinner, my son was watching the Yankee game, and the next thing I knew the house was burning up."

One of the first on the scene, Ptl. Fred Schwaner said, "I saw the flames and smoke belching out of the second floor windows and at first I thought we had two houses on fire."

The top front half of the building had separated from the roof and was standing at a 15 degree angle, ready to fall down, the next morning. Police and firemen who were at the scene speculate that the building may have to come down. The alarm was pulled by 14-year-old Valentina Rodriguez, a neighbor.

Assisting the local fire department were engines from North Haledon and Haledon. A fire truck from Hawthorne was stationed in the Brown Avenue firehouse in the event another alarm sounded while the fire was being fought.

Firemen pumped water into the building for about an hour and a half.

Resident fined for car repairs

Prospect Park — What can you legally do to your car on the streets of the borough? The ordinance states that repairs can only be made to motor vehicles in emergencies.

The ordinance, adopted a number of years ago, resulted when police and borough officials observed vehicles in various parts of the borough undergoing motor repairs. Parts were laying on the road, tools were spread over the grass, cars were on the road up on cinder blocks, and many complaints were received from citizens because of the unsightly appearance.

Leo Garahan of 47 Brown Avenue appeared before Judge James Evers on a charge of repairing his car on a borough street. Garahan, who has a van and whose two-family house is on a lot with 25 foot width, told the judge that he was checking the fan belt and letting the anti-freeze out of his car.

He said, "There was not a tool on the road. I was working from the inside of the van. I have no place to check on my car except in the front of my house."

Judge Evers said, "The ordinance is explicit...no repairs on a car." When Garahan asked if checking the water in the battery constituted repairs, Evers replied, "According to the ordinance, yes."

Garahan paid a fine of $5 and costs were suspended. He told the judge he would not be required to go to someone's house in Ramsey to repair his car or check the fan belt.

Graves, Girgenti, Pellechia endorse Roe's campaign for governor

Congressman Robert A. Roe today announced the endorsement of State Senator Frank X. Graves and appointed the senator from District 35 as his Passaic County campaign manager. At the same time, Roe received endorsements from Assemblyman John A. Girgenti and Assemblyman Vincent (Ozzie) Pellechia.

Graves, a life-long resident of Paterson, accepted the appointment and expressed his excitement about the campaign. "This is only the second gubernatorial race that I have paid close attention to and I look forward to the excitement of carrying the message of the most qualified candidate."

"The background that Bob Roe brings to the June 2nd primary is one of experience on all levels of government. He is truly the only candidate that has served on every level and he will take to the office of governor the leadership that the state of New Jersey needs," he said.

A former freeholder director of Passaic County, Graves also served as mayor of Paterson and former council president. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia.

Concerning Girgenti, Roe said, "I am really grateful for the support of one of our outstanding young legislators here in Passaic County."

Girgenti, a resident of Hawthorne, was elected to the legislature in 1977. He has served on the assembly committees on county government and municipal government.

"Bob Roe has consistently recognized the needs of the citizens of Passaic County," said Girgenti. "More than the that, he is remarkably effective in meeting those needs as congressman for the Eighth District. As governor he will bring his special talents to benefit the whole state. New Jersey needs Bob Roe!"

"It is a real inspiration," said Roe, "to have the support of a man like Ozzie with such a great record of public service for Passaic County."

Pellechia, a resident of Paterson, is an international representative for the United Auto Workers. He serves as chairman of the municipal government committee and the pension study commission.

"With the state of New Jersey being in the mess it's in right now," said Pellechia, "Bob Roe is the only man who can handle this situation and bring us progress and stability. His integrity and compassion will be a great strength for all of us."

AUTO RACING SCENE

by Hank Nagelhou

Chris Berton became the fourth winner in as many weeks scoring an overpowering win in Saturday night's modified stock car feature race at the Orange County Fair Speedway in Middletown. The talented Mt. Arlington victor flashed his Kneisel built, Crows Head Shop powered Chevette past leader Brett Hearn, of Kinnelon, on lap 18 and ran unmoiled the rest of the way.

In a yellow flag filled first half, Hearn had grabbed the lead on a lap seven restart and looked like he might repeat his last week's dominating performance. But Berton had other ideas. He moved into second on the same restart and hooked up in a two car duel with the defending champion, leaving the rest of the field far behind. Once out front on the 18th, Berton continued to put distance between himself and Hearn. Point leader Richie Eurich came on strong for third with another of his patented from the rear of the field charges, outlasting fourth finisher Harry Behrent, as each of the top four have won all of the features thus far. Richie Smith registered his best finish of his season with a consistent fifth.

Rounding out the top ten were Chris Barger, Larry Broisma, newcomer Billy Waite, Kenny Wismer and Bobby Butcher.

Ralph Heotzler picked up his first win of the year in the 20-lap sportsman main. Driving Eric Ehrmann's #32, the 1979 champion took the lead on lap nine and stayed there the rest of the contest although, Karl Pittenger pressed him to the checkered flag in a super runner-up run. Third went to Bill Penny followed by Henry Sharp, Ralph Mariano and Mike Petraska.

Mayor Bay endorses Kramer's bid for governor

Mayor Louis Bay has endorsed the candidacy of Republican gubernatorial candidate Lawrence F. "Pat" Kramer, the Mayor of Paterson, in the June 2d Republican Primary Election. Bay, endorsed his fellow mayor during a reception recently honoring the GOP gubernatorial contender.

"Pat" Kramer knows from his experience as mayor the kind of problems local government faces these days as a result of mandate and regulations imposed by the bureaucracy in Trenton," Bay said.

"Beyond that, Pat knows the special problems the communities in Passaic County and, as governor, he would be sensitive to those problems and work to find solutions," he continued.

"The erosion of local power by state government during the last seven years has seriously undermined the ability of local communities to make their own decisions and control their own destinies," Bay added.

"Pat Kramer is committed to changing that situation and restoring home rule," he continued.

Kramer said he is "honored that one of the premiere officials in Passaic County has chosen to support my candidacy for governor.

"Mayor Bay is the kind of Republican who gives our party a good name," Kramer said.

Bay joins with more than 125 Republican mayors from around the state who have backed Kramer's candidacy for governor.

State water rationing rules lifted

Outdoor sprinkling still prohibited

The state water rationing order was lifted for Hawthorne, along with 44 other North Jersey towns last Wednesday. Hawthorne and Pompton Lakes, both municipalities which are supplied entirely by artesian wells, were only Passaic County municipalities to be included in the exemption.

The announcement came four days prior to heavy rainfall this Monday and Tuesday which dropped more than three inches on the area and increased the supply of key reservoirs to 90 percent of capacity.

The lifting of the rationing means that borough residents no longer have to comply with regulation mandating 50-gallons per day per person water consumption. The ban is still in effect, however, for the towns of North Haledon, Haledon and Prospect Park.

Restrictions for outdoor use have not been lifted and are likely to continue through the summer. The restrictions prohibit the use of lawn sprinklers and garden hoses to water lawns or gardens or to wash cars. State officials have this action on last year's situation. Although water supplies seemed ample last June, the reservoirs ran dry by September and it is hoped that the ban on non-essential outdoor use will help the situation.

According to Frank Lembo, the borough's public works supervisor, residents may water their gardens with a sprinkling can or wash their cars, using a bucket or a pail. He emphasized the fact the sprinklers and hoses are strictly prohibited. The only exception to this rule is for newly-installed sod, shrubbery or trees which may be watered for up to 150 days.

The same day that the rationing order was lifted, the borough commissioners introduced an ordinance to increase the water rates in the borough. The basic fee of $7 per quarter for the first 8,000 gallons used will be raised $5 to $12 per quarter. The rate for each additional 1,000 gallons consumption is being increased from 90 cents to one dollar.

Charges for meter installations, repairs, conversions and fire sprinkler lines will remain the same.

Superstars competition gets one more chance

by Donna Sylvester

If attendance doesn't improve this year, the Annual Outdoor Superstars Competition — started three years ago to build school spirit — will be discontinued at the high school. The Board of Education, which voted 8-1 to allow the event to take place June 1 or 2, is looking for at least 75 percent of the students to attend this year.

An alternate plan to decrease absenteeism keeping the exact date of the superstars competition a secret was flatly rejected by the board, at Tuesday's meeting. "Students couldn't be absent because they wouldn't know when the competition would be," Student Council Representative Jane Raso had suggested.

Before reaching a decision, the high school administration reminded the board that only last year, it had placed superstars day on probation, asking for 100 percent attendance or cancellation of the event. At that time, 375 students were absent, compared to the five-eight percent, who miss school on an ordinary day. Since the results of a verbal polling of students in gym class revealed that only 50 percent would participate in the event this year, Vice Principal Joseph Livatino said "I could not in good conscience endorse the activity with the rate of absenteeism that would follow."

Criticizing the survey, Student Council President Bob Pasquale said that the 50 percent said they wouldn't participate, but did not say they would not attend. "Participation and attendance are not the same thing," he said. Pasquale said that if all the students weren't polled, the results of the survey could be wrong. "Almost half the members of the student council said they had not been polled in gym class," Pasquale told the board.

"You're forcing students to do something they don't want to do," said Livatino about the idea of surprising students with the date of the event. Criticizing what he called a "sneak attack," Livatino said: "It's unfair to the teachers who have to have lessons prepared closing into final exams; it's unfair to mandate the activity for students."

The teachers wouldn't know what three days they would be teaching, during superstars week, but they would know they were teaching only three days, and would prepare lessons accordingly, said Pasquale.

"That's poor organization," responded Livatino. "Teachers would have to prepare lessons knowing that some day an announcement would come on saying, this is 'superstars day.'"

The board agreed that the "sneak attack" was not a good idea, but wanted to know what could be done to increase attendance, if superstars day was run, as it has been for the last three years.

To increase attendance, members of the student council said "that they would award more points in the competition to the class with the greatest attendance — a practice begun last year. If too many students are not in school, they could lose the event for their class."

To increase participation, gym teachers in charge of the competition have agreed to initiate more group activities so that 20 students could compete at one time. The student council will also restrict students from being in more than one or two events, in order to give everyone a chance to partake.

Sunday liquor and wine sales allowed:

Liquor store owners react to change

As a result of a new state law allowing liquor and wine sales on Sundays, many local liquor stores are expanding their hours. "I don't know if sales will increase, but we'll take a shot at it," said Bob Feliciano, manager of Rodolfo's Wine and Liquor Store, Hawthorne. Rodolfo's will be open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Sunday to bring in its share of the Sunday liquor customers.

"We might expand our hours depending on whether the sales warrant us being open," said Bob Cullen, employee of JR's Liquors and Bar, in North Haledon. Liquor and wine sales have always been allowed in North Haledon, but were superseded by the state law prohibiting such transactions on Sunday, said Borough Clerk Lucille Debiak.

Sunday liquor sales are also permitted in Haledon, but some confusion over the law there seems to exist. Even though Haledon Liquors was always open on Sunday selling beer, its owner Tom Grossi said: "Until I am told otherwise by the mayor and council, I will not sell liquor and wine on Sundays."

Clarifying the town's position, Mayor Sam Sibillo said: "As long as they stay open on Sunday anyway, what's the difference what they sell, if the state allows it."

The council had considered giving the liquor stores the right to sell liquor and wine on Sunday, he said, prior to the state's ruling. Now that the state has moved to revoke the blue law on liquor sales, the mayor said, there is no reason to pass such an ordinance. Unless the municipality forbids liquor sales on Sunday, they automatically become legal.

However, Sibillo will consider announcing the change at a council meeting or sending notices to store owners.

Another Haledon liquor store owner said he is pressured into staying open on Sundays, because of the law. Rather than increase his business, Jules Pellegrino of Franks Liquors says that the sales will just be spread out over seven days.

To the contrary, the owner of Rodolfo's in Hawthorne doesn't believe sales will bespread throughout the week. Feliciano explained that because he deal in transit trade his business may be better, as a result of the law. He is dependent on people passing by his store and not on people doing a set amount of shopping for one week, he explained. Therefore, he expects to do more business from the people driving to Goffle Brook Park, near his store, on Sundays.

Most store owners also report that liquor and wine sales are starting out slow because many people are still not aware of their option. To remedy that, the owner of Diamond Liquors, Hawthorne, is advertising the new store hours from 11 to 6 p.m. on Sunday. "It's really too early to tell if sales will increase. A lot of people are not even aware of the law," said owner Adele Friedman. "Even with advertisement, it's going to take a little time," she said. She will, however, open the store for the convenience of customers and not because she was pressured by the competition, said Friedman. We're just glad to provide a service to the customers. D.S.

Bench warrant issued for defendant who skips court

Under the condition that a swimming pool, said to be a health hazard in the borough, would be pumped and covered, Judge Donald Reenstra granted a postponement in the case against a resident. Charged with maintaining a pool at 45 Franklin Avenue in deteriorated and hazardous condition, Bruce Miller requested an adjournment so he could meet with his lawyer.

However, Housing Officer Chief Louis Bay said: "It would be a hindrance to the health of people in the area" to allow the pool to remain full of "slime" and "leaves" until the next court date.

Describing the situation further, Bay said not only does the pool produce a "stench," but it also provides a "breeding place for mosquitoes." In addition, he said a dead possum was found floating in the water and was removed by the dog pound at the borough's expense. He believes the possum had been there for a long time, Bay said.

Offering an explanation for the so-called stagnant water, Miller said he ordered a pool cover about a month ago, which could correct the situation, but has not yet arrived.

It could take another two months before the cover arrives, said the judge. Merely covering the pool is not enough, according to Bay who suggested the pool be pumped out. "My pump is damaged," Miller said. "I'd need a new one before I could pump it out." "I have put chemicals in the pool," he added.

If he doesn't leave at least half the water in the pool, Miller also said, the pool will cave in. However, Miller agreed to take whatever steps necessary to show the court, "the wheels are turning" towards correcting the situation, he said.

Although Miller is entitled to an adjournment under the law, Reenstra said that he couldn't allow a so-called health hazard to continue. Therefore, Miller has until Monday, when Bay will again inspect his property, to clean out the pool.

If the pool fails inspection, Reenstra said he will conduct a special hearing Thursday on the charges against Miller. Reenstra reminded the defendant that everyday the pool is reported in deteriorated condition, he could be issued another summons. The problem with Miller's pool also occurred last year, Bay said.

A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of James Carlock, after the defendant failed to show up in court at least five times for a hearing on charges of parole violations against him.

Almost every time Carlock of 268 Whitmore Avenue in Fort Lee was scheduled to appear in court, the judge said he received a "mysterious phone call allegedly from the defendant." One time, the case was adjourned because Carlock reportedly phoned the court, saying his mother had died, Reenstra said. The court, later, learned, he said, that Carlock's mother had indeed passed away, only three years before.

Another time, Reenstra said, Carlock allegedly told him, he was on a "secret mission" and therefore couldn't be in court. When Carlock finally did appear in court, the following week, Reenstra said, he collapsed and was taken to Valley Hospital in an ambulance.

Carlock's lawyer said the defendant told him over the phone, Thursday, that "he was somewhere in the area, but wasn't sure he could be in court."

In return, the lawyer said he advised Carlock that it was "imperative for him to attend the hearing." "Under no circumstances could there be another adjournment," he said, "since the case had been adjourned five weeks, already."

Under the gavel

"In all probability, he will be here next week, since he will be arrested," the judge said. "If you contact him in the meantime," Reenstra told Carlock's lawyer, "please tell him it would be in his best interests to turn himself in."

"He just needs a little encouragement," said a representative from the probation department.

Since Carlock has not shown up in court, his original bail of $1,000 has been revoked by the judge and increased to $2,500.

Charged with driving on the revoked list, Raul B. Sosa of 29 Mohawk Avenue was granted an adjournment. Pleading not guilty to the charge, Sosa requested a postponement of the case, saying: "I called Trenton and it will take another month to get enough evidence to tell whether I was on the revoked list."

"Take a bus or train or get a friend to drive you to Trenton," the judge advised. "Nothing will get done until you go down there. You could call or write as much as you want," he said. Since Sosa said he would take a trip down to Trenton the following day, the case was adjourned until May 21.

Michael Tesaro of 135 Sheridan Avenue, Paterson, pleaded guilty to driving without a driver's license in his possession. After Tesaro proved that his license had not expired, the charge of driving without a license was amended.

In his testimony, Tesaro said that although he had a valid driver's license, it was stolen on April 6. He reported the theft to the Paterson Police, he said, but had to wait for Trenton to issue a replacement. Since then, Tesaro said, he has received a driver's license.

On April 21, when he was ticketed by Ptl. Thomas Pomroy, Tesaro said he showed the officer a license that had expired because in 1979 because that was all he had.

The judge fined Tesaro $10 and $10 court costs on the amended charge.

Charles Sichko of 151 Ninth Avenue pleaded guilty to charges of driving a motorcycle without registration and liability insurance. Ptl. Thomas Pomroy testified that on May 1, Sichko was driving a motorcycle with someone else on the back. "Then when he saw me, he got off the bike," said the policeman.

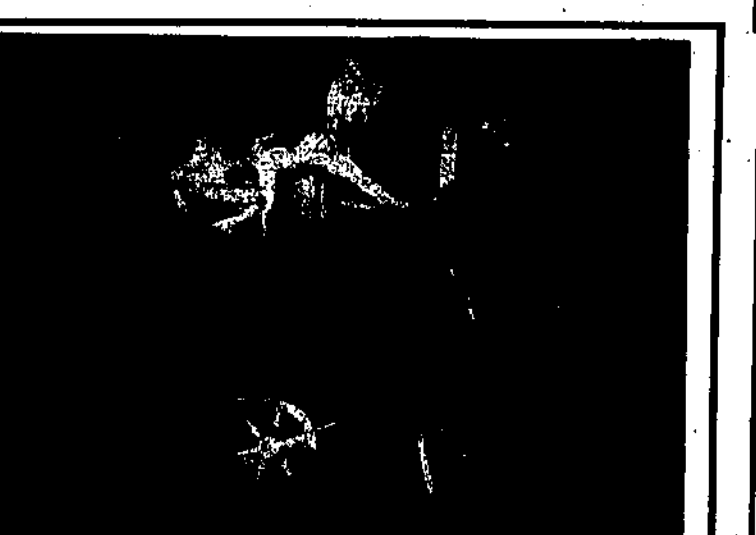

In his defense, Sichko said he had pushed the bike down to Kawasaki to get a part and decided to ride the bike on the way back. "I just bought the motorcycle a week ago today," he told the court.

For driving a motorcycle without registration, Sichko was fined $20 in penalties and $10 court costs. For driving without insurance, he was fined $50 and $15 court costs and his license was suspended for six months.

To charges of driving without a license and without current inspection sticker, Judy Wright of Highland Lakes, pleaded guilty. "I was unaware that my license had run out the day before, I never had problem before," testified Wright.

Because Wright was reportedly on her way to get her license renewed when she was ticketed on May 1, Reenstra fined her $10 penalties and $10 court fees. Since Wright's vehicle was without registered for just a couple of days, she was fined $20 and $10 court fees.

Mary Saylor, of 46 Haledon Avenue, Paterson, pleaded guilty to driving without liability insurance and a current inspection sticker on April 29. "She did have insurance until February and has it now on May 7, but not on the date the summons was issued," said Prosecutor Walter Dewey.

For driving without insurance, Reenstra issued a $50 fine and $15 court costs. He also revoked her license for six months, reminding Saylor that a six-month suspension is the minimum period allowed under the statute. "I have no choice about that," Reenstra said.

For driving with overdue insurance, Saylor was fined $20 and $10 court costs. The defendant told the judge this was her first offense.

To a citizen's complaint charging her with parking more than 24 hours on a borough road, Arlene Neuman of 2 Midland Avenue pleaded not guilty. She knows the car wasn't parked there more than 24 hours before the ticket was issued April 26, Neuman said, because she was allegedly at Klepper's Auto Service on Saturday afternoon.

Rather than take one person's testimony over another's, Reenstra subpoenaed the repairman at Klepper's to appear in court, Thursday, to testify as to Neuman's whereabouts. "It doesn't matter how important a case is in terms of what's involved, Reenstra said, "You are both entitled to full testimony."

The best thing to do in the future is not to park your car in front of Toth's house, the judge advised Neuman. "I live on a very busy block," Neuman said, "does that mean that if no other spots are open I shouldn't park there?" The judge said it only means that perhaps a confrontation could be avoided.

Kenneth Richer of 233 Diamond Bridge Avenue pleaded guilty to parking on private property without the owner's consent. Richer's landlord Jerry Faber pressed charges against his tenant, explaining it's written in the lease that tenants are to keep the rear parking lot of the building open for loading by commercial tenants. Several times, he said, Richer has parked on top of the basement doors of the building and he could not get them open.

"He's the landlord, it's his building and the no parking sign is as big as life," the judge said. But where else can I park at 2:30 Saturday morning, Richer asked. "I'm not going to tell you where to park, but the sign tells you where not to park," answered the judge finding her $25 in penalties and $10 court costs.

Zone changed for Rock Rd. tract

A zone change was unanimously approved by the Board of Commissioners last Wednesday for the property where Hawthorne Tank and Welding Works is located. The re-zoning from I-1 (industrial) to R-4 (garden apartments) clears the way for a multi-unit complex at the 50 Rock Road address.

Lot 3 in block 242 and lots 15 and 16 in block 233A are the only ones designated by the ordinance, no. 1360, which amends the borough's zoning ordinance. The ordinance was introduced on April 8 and was scheduled for a public hearing on May 6, although no one from the audience voiced an opinion on the matter.

Last year developer Albert Esoldi has proposed a plan to build a 36-unit apartment complex at the site. His application before the Board of Adjustment for a use variance was denied 5-2 last September. The board members based their decision on the possibility that a use variance might set a precedent for other conversions from industrial to apartment use.

Esoldi then took the matter to the Planning Board, which recommended the zone change to the commissioners on the grounds that it would upgrade the neighborhood.

Superstars

Chamberlain said: "Compared to a town like Hawthorne, where only 10 percent of the people vote, two-thirds of the students in the superstars competition is a much larger number. How can students who want the event go about getting others to participate?"

"Sixty percent of the students did participate last year. That means that a majority did want it," said Board Trustee Rae Ann Bender. "I don't want to punish them," she said as the board voted to give students another chance.

Board President Frank Matthews cast the only dissenting vote on the issue.

Attempt on the pope's life — a new age of barbarism

Yesterday's assassination attempt on Pope John Paul, coming just six weeks after a similar attack on our president, Ronald Reagan, brought reactions of shock and indignation throughout the world.

The pontiff, the most popular of all popes in recent history, was just entering St. Peter's Square in the Vatican when the shots rang out. The last radio broadcast we heard prior to our deadline reported that two bullets had been removed from the pope's abdomen along with two sections of his intestines. Although further surgery was underway, the pope's condition was better than originally expected. His life did not appear to be in danger.

Italian police had already apprehended two suspects, one of whom was a Turkish foreign national who told authorities he "just didn't care about life."

This data, however, was not confirmed as we went to press and by the time our paper reaches borough homes today, the electronic media should have provided much more detail.

Pope John Paul endeared himself to the hearts of Americans when he visited here. The reaction has been the same all over the world as "the travelling pope" made appearances elsewhere.

The assassination attempt marks the second time this year a world leader has fallen prey to a gunman. It shows us that the violence so prevalent in America is a problem that is world-wide in scope.

Public reaction was expressed concisely yesterday by the American cardinal who commented on the proliferation of guns in modern times, calling it "a new age of barbarism" — one which affects the whole state of society.

Praise for HS language department

59 Hutchinson Avenue
Hawthorne, NJ
May 7, 1981

Dear editor,

Recently along with our son, John we attended a reception for incoming freshmen at Georgetown University. While we were there, we got into a discussion with the admissions chairwoman about the fact that two seniors from the same high school with the same intended majors were chosen for Georgetown. The chairwoman told us that was a rare occurrence. She said that we must have a very strong language department at Hawthorne High School. We told her about our excellent teachers. Too often there is nothing but bad words about our teachers and when a chance comes along for some praise, we think it should be taken.

Our son, John, and Donald Giannella were two of 56 students chosen from 258 applicants in the state of New Jersey. There were 8,521 applicants to Georgetown from which approximately 1,200 freshmen were chosen. For the two to be chosen from so many has to say something for our school system. Because they both intend to major in language, it certainly has to say something for that department!

We don't know Donald's Italian teacher but John's French teacher, Mrs. Robin Craig, has been more than just a good teacher. She loves what she's doing and it shows. She's taught John to love the language and has made him quite fluent in it. Mrs. Craig is a gem of a teacher!

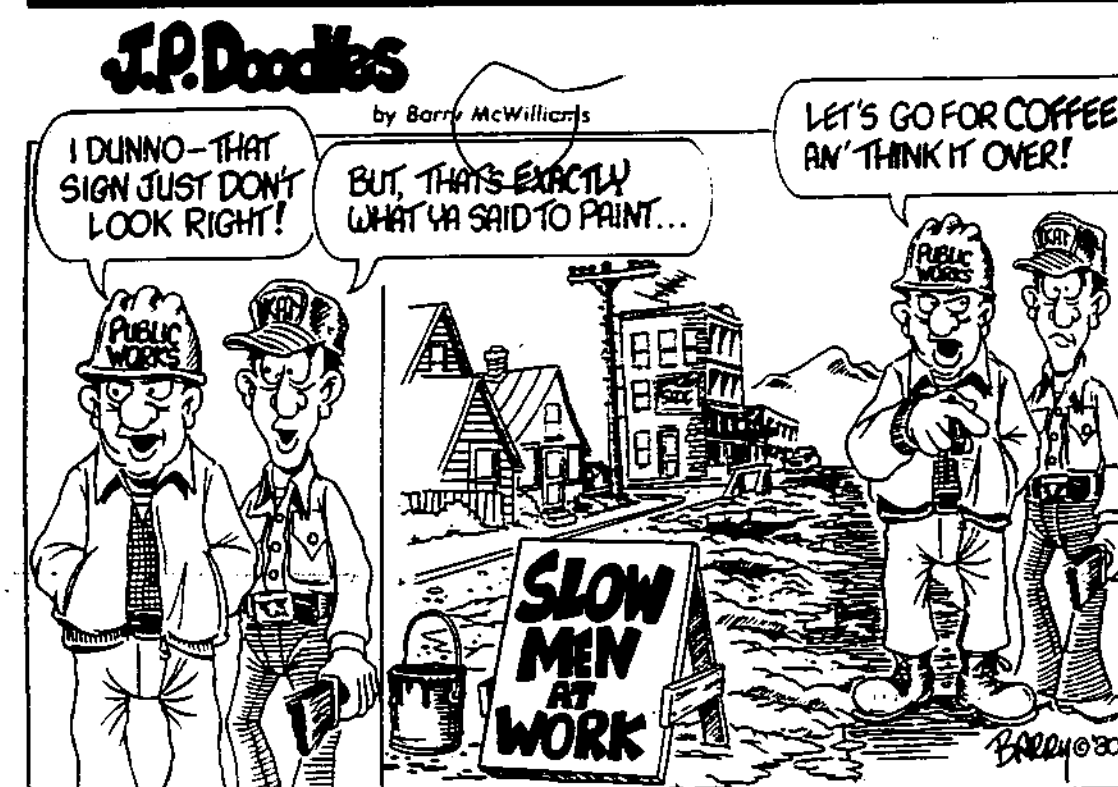

We believe in our school system and we hope the school board continues to hire and appreciate excellent teachers like Mrs. Craig and others, who inspire students and help them to be accepted at the best universities.

Sincerely,
Rene and Norma LeCoc

At this point in Hawthorne Softball Association action last season, Feehan's (then the Raiders), the Jaycees and Arthur Groom & Co. had a combined record of 0-12.

The times have changed. No longer divisional basement dwellers in the early going, all three squads appear to be strong contenders for divisional crowns or playoff spots.

All three picked up wins this week. The Jaycees, with perhaps their biggest triumph to date, topped McGill's Express, 14-6. Feehan's thumped the Hawthorne Deli, 16-4 while A. Groom & Co. hammered A. Dello Buono Construction Co., 15-0.

The Jaycees broke out in style with a 20-hit attack, led by Joe Piela with four hits, including two home runs and six RBI. Gary VanderVeer slugged out four hits and a home run while Joe Trotta added three hits.

Ray Hallock was the winning pitcher for the Jaycees. Rick Searber clubbed a solo home run for McGill's, which finished with 13 hits.

Feehan's exploded for five runs in the first inning and walked to the victory over Delt. Scott Wozney headed the offensive splurge with four hits for five RBI. Bill Post and Sal Lapadura contributed three hits each. Feehan's defense turned in two double plays.

Lloyd Gensel headed the Delt hitting with a four for four performance. Delt tallied four runs in the bottom of the ninth inning to break the shutout.

The stellar pitching of Gary Garner (2-1), who hurled a two-hit shutout, ignited Arthur Groom & Co., which led 9-0 after three innings, scoring seven runs in the third frame. Chip McNulty and Tony Miniaci had three hits each for the winners.

In other action, Minicozzi Construction shutout Hook Supply, 11-0, in a rematch of last season's championship series, won by Hook in three games. Artwork and Graphics continued with the third best record in the league following a 15-5 drubbing of the Late Bunch.

Hook Supply defeated A. Dello Buono, 10-3, before the losses to Minicozzi. Unstoppable Rolling Hills picked up two more convincing wins, crushing the Delt, 27-2, and taking Seymour Pollack Opticians, 9-3.

Mike Michalski and Steve Agnes contributed four hits each in the Minicozzi win. Association fans await the regular season meeting between Minicozzi and Rolling Hills on June 7.

Joe Des Lauries hurled a six-hitter to gain the shutout for Minicozzi, which had 21 hits. Larry Tobey and Ben Podbielski headed the hitting for Hook.

Dino Battista and Gus Schell had three hits each for Artwork. Bruce Nelissen (3-

1) gained the mound triumph. Glenn Cesa played a fine right field with sever. outs. Tony DeLuca and Billy Schuck led the Late Bunch hitting.

Scott Cappozzoli powered out three hits to lead Hook Supply past A. Dello Buono. Leon Bay produced three hits, including two home runs, for six RBI as Rolling Hills beat the Delt. Steve Wassel, Kevin Hogan and George Richardson added three hits each for the winners, who played errorless ball. Marty Boyd hit two home runs and

Sewer route voted for North Haledon project

Prospect Park — Monday night the borough council decided upon a route for the North Haledon sewer main which must go through the borough streets to reach the Warren Street interceptor in Paterson. The proposed route is down Lakeshore Drive from Brown Avenue to Fairview Avenue and down Fairview Avenue to either North Eighth Street or North Seventh Street, whichever is more feasible.

The vote was 5-1 with Councilman Robert Mulder casting the "no" vote. Oddly, Mulder made the motion for acceptance of the route. Questioned later on he said, "Just because I made the motion doesn't mean that I have to vote for it. I wanted to get the motion before the council."

Mulder had originally voted in favor of the Brown Avenue route for the sewer main as originally proposed by North Haledon officials. The vote on the council for this route was 5-1 against the route. At that time Mulder said the action of the council in discarding the Brown Avenue route was "being very small."

Monday night he conceded there would be little cost difference between the two routes. Residents who attended the meeting at the municipal building were told the cut in the road for the sewer main would be approximately two-and-a-half feet wide and four feet deep. "We expect to go along at the rate of 50 feet a day under the most adverse conditions. Under good conditions it could be greater," said North Haledon Engineer Gar Chew Lai.

North Haledon is mandated by the federal Environmental Protection Agency to install sewers. Lai explained that if a route to the Warren Street interceptor is not established this year, the borough could lose its federal funding. "The allocation for next year is one big zero. It's now or never for North Haledon," he said.

Approximately 10 of the residents present at the meeting resided along the Fairview Avenue route. John Vander Molen of 220 Fairview Avenue, who also protested vocally about the Brown Avenue route, objected to the project and said, "This will make a major disruption in the lives of the residents on Fairview Avenue. The best route with the least amount of disruption is down Prescott Avenue. We will not benefit at all."

Senior Citizen Sal Dapolino remarked, "North Haledon must have sewers, that's a federal mandate. The sewer main must run through Prospect Park. It's up to the mayor and council to select the best route. No matter what route they select there will be people inconvenienced. Do your job," he concluded.

James Van Sickle of 125 Brown Avenue and Clarence Wondergem, a partner in the Borough Garage firm on Fairview Avenue, asked how the installation of the sewer main would affect the Fairview Avenue firehouse and the auto firm. De Graaf said that, in the case of the firehouse, double work crews would be put into action. He promised the same to Wondergem for the Borough Garage location.

Evelyn Veenstra of 152 Brown Avenue said she was against the Brown Avenue route and also against the Fairview Avenue route. She questioned why Prospect Park officials were not brought into the original planning for the route. "It appears that it's difficult for them to get their act together. If they use Fairview Avenue, traffic will be shuttled to Brown Avenue. The best route is the Hofstra Park-Prospect Avenue route."

De Graaf explained that the borough owns only 15 feet of the width of Prescott Avenue and in that 15 feet there is already a sewer main, a storm sewer, gas and water mains. In addition, he noted, North 10th Place, North 9th Place, and North Terrace are all dead end streets and egress and ingress to those streets would be hampered. "Also, the Prescott Avenue route would double the cost of the sewer installation for North Haledon," he said.

De Graaf said the borough cannot stop the installation of the sewer main. "We can only delay it and that would work to the detriment of both borough," he pointed out.

To question why the North Haledon sewer main could not be routed to Belmont or Haledon Avenues, Lai explained, "Both these sewer mains are taking capacity flow. We requested permission to tie into the Passaic Valley Sewer Commission trunk lines. The only interceptor which could take an additional flow was the Warren Street interceptor. The only way to reach that interceptor is through the borough of Prospect Park. We have no other course of action."

De Graaf said that every precaution would be taken to lessen the inconvenience to action."

Coach found guilty of sexual assault

by Donna Sylvester

North Haledon — Found guilty of the December 19 sexual attack and slaying of a William Paterson College student, Francis Harrison — an assistant football coach at the college — will appeal the verdict to the appellate court. However, Harrison will have to wait until his sentencing, July 9, to file an appeal, said his lawyer, Jack Doran.

"I was shocked at the verdict," Doran said. "I can't see how in such a short period of time she (the victim) could get that much identification." By describing a certain speech pattern and the way he brushed back his hair, among other things, the victim identified Harrison as her attacker.

On the other hand, Assistant Passaic County Prosecutor Barry Skwiersky said: "I have no comment. The jury heard the case. They were out (in deliberation) for five and a half hours. They gave the decision a lot of thought." "Justice has been served," he said. As a result of the verdict of the eight-man, four-woman jury, Superior Court Judge Vincent Hull ordered a psychiatric evaluation of the assistant coach, who was employed at WPC pending the outcome of the trial. He revoked the bail of $25,000 sending Harrison to the Passaic County Jail to await his sentencing.

De Graaf said the borough cannot stop the installation of the sewer main. "We can only delay it and that would work to the detriment residents. He said that one-inch steel plates would be placed above the trenches to insure that residents could put their cars in the garage, that curbing and lawns would not be affected, and that North Haledon would be responsible for one year after the sewer installation for any damage to water or gas mains. "After the year has elapsed," he continued, "the entire road will be resurfaced and you will have a new street."

James Bothyl, chairman of the North Haledon sewer committee, stated that the sewer main would be installed with the least amount of inconvenience to residents.

Coach found guilty of sexual assault

Harrison faces up to 65 years in prison and a maximum fine of $307,500, on charges of kidnapping, aggravated assault, aggravated sexual assault and possession of a weapon for an unlawful purpose. Another charge, making terroristic threats, was dismissed last week.

Before reaching the verdict, the jury listened to Skwiersky's argument that Harrison's parents had lied about the whereabouts of their son on the night of the assault in order to protect him. He was home applying eye drops to the infection in his retarded sister's eye at 11:30 pm on December 18, the Harrisons testified. Explaining that they would have heard the family car if it left their Brooklyn home since their bedroom is over the garage, Harrison's mother and father testified that he was home all night.

However, Skwiersky asked why they had not told the police their alibi and questioned whether it could be that the story had not been yet invented?

In Harrison's defense, Doran said that the victim's powers of observation were impaired by a couple of drinks and lack of sleep. Harrison identified from a lineup of 14 pictures, a victim of mistaken identity, according to Doran.

First time in history:

Cafeteria closed in No. Haledon

by Donna Sylvester

North Haledon — For the first time in the history of the school system, the Board of Education has laid off eight cafeteria workers and closed the cafeteria for the rest of the school year. The action was approved by a 6-2 board vote, at a special meeting Monday.

The reason for the termination of the lunch program, with only one month remaining in the school year, is due to a $7,100 deficit in the cafeteria account. If the board allowed the deficit to continue, it would have only grown larger, said Acting Superintendent of School Paul Ortenzio, explaining that the salaries of the cafeteria workers still had to be taken from the cafeteria account, even if expenses were reduced.

Asked if instead of closing the cafeteria, enough money could have been taken from other accounts to cover the deficit, Ortenzio said he didn't know if that was possible. Relaying the financial condition of the school system, Ortenzio said that if the schools finished the year without a deficit, it would be by a very slim margin. Although the board reportedly has a $15,000 surplus, he said, it still has to cover a $20,000 deficit left over from last year. In other words, the board will have a $5,000 deficit unless it comes up with some money soon.

Although the cafeteria had financial problems for a while, Ortenzio said, the board probably didn't consider the cafeteria finances pressing enough for action until now. In fact, the cafeteria account always had a surplus, Ortenzio said, until asbestos created a shutdown in the High Mountain School cafeteria for about a year.

Further depleting the money in the cafeteria account, was the transfer of the salary of the cafeteria manager to the cafeteria account, which is supposed to be self-sustaining, he said.

Although the board was first unsure whether it could temporarily cancel the lunch program for children whose lunches are subsidized by the state, the cafeteria is now closed. Because less than 5 percent of the school children are in the state lunch program, Ortenzio explained that the school doesn't have to provide student lunches.

As far as he knows, the lunch program will continue in September and layoffs will be only temporary, Ortenzio said.

In criticism of the cafeteria closing, Borough Finance Chairman James Rutenberg said, at a council meeting Wednesday, that if the school had laid off only one cafeteria worker in September, the closing of the cafeteria could have been avoided.

Prospect Park Patter

by Bert Nayon

As the fire department completes its fund-raising campaign, it's a good time to say a few words about the role of a volunteer fireman. The campaign raises funds for equipment. Anyone who has not been contacted for a donation and who wishes to contribute may do so by calling John Hunt, Bob Wier or Ron Trommelen.

Within the past few weeks, borough firemen have had two tough calls. One blaze started with gasoline in the basement of a North Sixth Street residence. The other gutted a four-family house at 49-51 Hopper Street. The structure had to be razed and now there is only an empty lot at the site.

While the firemen must often risk their lives to fight fires, it's even worse when they hurry to answer a call only to find out that it's a false alarm. Ten out of the 18 alarms sounded last month were false. Five of these came in during early morning hours.

When the fire box is pulled, the firemen respond to an actual fire. There is no time for delay...the supper is left on the table unfinished...sleep is interrupted in the middle of the night...time is lost from the job...all because of a false alarm.

Prospect Park probably has more fire boxes per square mile than anywhere in Passaic County. There's 40 corner fire alarm boxes besides those in industrial buildings and schools.

If there's a box near your corner, keep a watch on it. If you see someone suspicious hanging around the box, call the police. There's no reason for 10 false alarms in one month. Your help is your way of showing your appreciation to the firemen.

And here's a little other note. If the borough had a paid fire department the increase in taxes could be substantial. Saving lives is all important, but firemen also save us money. Next time you see a fireman...just walk over to him and say "thank you." He'll know what you mean.

There are placed in the borough, especially on North Eighth Street and Brown Avenue, where repeated resurfacing has caused the road to be leaved with the curb. When it rains, water flows from the road onto the sidewalk. One more resurfacing and the road will be higher than the curb.

There's also another problem this condition generates. One night, a few weeks ago, Barbara Elvin of 285 North Eighth Street came home and parked her car across from her home on North Eighth Street on the side of the American Legion, where the road is equal with the curb.

On most roads, when you hit the curb you sort of turn back into the road. Ms. Elvin didn't do that. The front wheel of her car went from the road, over the curb, and onto the sidewalk which abuts the curb. She got out of the car on the driver's side and crossed the street to go home, not realizing the front wheel of her car was on the sidewalk.

Elvin paid $10 in municipal court for having the front wheel of her car on the sidewalk, even though it might have only been an inch or two.

North Eighth Street is a county road. The county has an obligation to either raise the curbs or install new curbing. It has parked on North Eighth Street and gone over the curb with my front wheel on the sidewalk and never realized it. It's a problem the council should tackle at one of its workshop meetings.

The windows in the municipal building council chambers must have glazing on them so that no one can see into the chambers. It's a state mandated order that requires this. Now the windows are that high that no one either on the street or in the council chambers can look through them so you might think this is a foolish order...but it isn't.

The windows will be glazed to protect Municipal Court Judge James Evers. You will recall several years ago that a judge, sitting in court on the second floor of the Wanagee borough hall, was shot in the back and killed by someone who had just an hour or so appeared before him.

Since that time the order has been in effect. It's a good order and the windows will be glazed either this week or the next.

The Prospect Park Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary will hold a cake sale at the Haledon Foodtown on Friday, May 8 from 10 am to 3 pm. The women will also be selling plants and homemade chocolates.

Tennis courts may be closed temporarily

by Donna Sylvester

North Haledon — Rather than pay to maintain the municipal tennis courts for only three applicants, the borough council will decide whether to temporarily close the courts at Wednesday's public meeting. "People are using the courts, but they're not buying permits," said Council President Peter Sliotmaker, at a discussion session of the council.

Sliotmaker suggested that closing the courts will "bring the matter to a head so that those who are really interested will buy permits."

However, the council shouldn't take action to close the courts, until the recreation commission has taken a similar action, according to Marty Bosland, a member of the recreation commission, who at this time is against closing the courts. "Suppose you do close the courts and no one buys permits. That leaves one year without tennis courts," he said.

At the last meeting of the recreation commission, Bosland said, a decision was made to talk to tennis buffs in town to see if they had some ideas about getting people to buy permits and improving the tennis program.

Also at the discussion session, the council read the recreation commission's request for permission to charge organizations and leagues not involved in borough recreation activities for use of the ball fields. The suggested fees would be $5 for day games; $5 for tennis sessions and $40 for use of the fields at night. Night games are more expensive, because the electricity used to light each field costs about $15 an hour, one recreation commissioner said.

The recreation commission, whose 1981-82 budget was cut from $12,000 to $2,000, is considering charging for the use of fields by outside leagues as a way to make money, Bosland said. North Haledon children involved in recreation programs, pay $15 registration fees, Bosland said, while outside leagues pay nothing for use of the municipal fields.

Because it only has enough money to purchase a bare minimum of equipment for sports, Bosland said that the recreation commission is becoming involved in all kinds of fundraisers to get more money for the children's sports.

However, the council was unsure whether the recreation commission could charge for the use of property owned by the borough. It asked the borough attorney to find out if any money made on municipal fields, would have to go to the borough.

Even so, Bosland said that there are ways of getting around that law and restoring more money to the recreation budget.

The recreation commission asked the council to find out if coaches were covered by any municipal insurance policy, in the event of an accident on the fields. Although coaches are covered under the municipal insurance policy if they are injured due to the borough's negligence, Borough Clerk Lucille Debiak said, that a coach would not be covered under the policy if he was hit on the head with a ball. Since there are about 50 coaches for baseball and softball alone, the prospect of taking out insurance on every coach in every sport is staggering, the council members said.

In another request, the recreation commission wanted to know if its own financial secretary could receive and disburse recreation funds rather than clear those funds through the borough treasurer. The present system involves a great deal of paperwork, Bosland said, since a voucher must be written out for every expense. For instance, it will take about a month for the caller at the recreation commission's square dance to be paid, Bosland said, because the funds must first go through the borough treasurer.

If it could disburse its own money, the council said that the recreation commission would be autonomous like the library. However, since the recreation commission was created by the council, it's unknown whether the commission can disburse its own money.

The enforcement of laws prohibiting the use of mopeds, bikes and skateboards on recreation fields, as well as the improper disposal of beer cans, was asked by the recreation commission. One sign at the field prohibiting such activities is said to be in poor

Council stands on budget cut

The North Haledon council will not back down on its recommendation for a reduction of $45,000 in the school budget despite an appeal by the Board of Education. Finance Chairman James Rutenberg said the board was playing games, trying to get the council to compromise with them on budget cuts to save legal fees.

The board of education, he said, is an example of "mismanagement and irresponsibility," because it doesn't follow the rules. Everytime the board has a deficit, he said, it makes an emergency appropriation never putting the appropriation on the ballot, as required by law.

The council also refuses to compromise on cuts of $150,000 in the Manchester Regional High School Budget. At a hearing last Wednesday in Trenton, Rutenberg said that Assistant Commissioner of Education Vincent Calabrese and he went through each line item (Continued on page 12) the Manchester budget, ending up with over $150,000 in reductions.

He has no idea of the outcome of Calabrese's decision, which will set the tax rate for North Haledon.

Rutenberg said. However, Rutenberg said he would recommend that the three sending districts take court action, if they are unsatisfied with the judge's decision.

Fuel-switching is no nickel-and-dime proposition.

Before you go to the unnecessary expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition. Not only will you have to purchase all new equipment and pay to have it installed, but you'll also be paying to have the old equipment dismantled. Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than to go to all the expense that conversion entails? Now, especially with the new 15-percent tax credit for modernization of oil-burning equipment recently authorized by Congress, modernization is a more economical option than conversion. Call your independent heating oil dealer. He'll tell you how to get more for your heating dollar, for less.

Inventor in Pennsylvania has come up with a device that he says will prevent the common cold, or at least shorten it: a clip that closes the nose. The inventor says temperature rises inside the nose "alerting body to produce antibodies."

Vitamin E therapy may make lumps and other symptoms of benign breast disease disappear, say doctors from John Hopkins University School of Medicine and Mt. Sinai Hospital in Baltimore, who tested it in a recent study.

Studies of twins who were reared apart point to the importance of heredity in depression and phobias as well as in many physical traits and illnesses.

AUTO RACING SCENE

Hearn repeats at Middletown

by Hank Nagelhou

Brett Hearn of Kinnelon, became the first two-time winner Saturday night at Middletown's Orange County Fair Speedway, taking the lead from Ramsey's Bill Wilson on the 25th lap of the 30-lap modified stock car main event.

Kevin Kolka took the lead for the first three laps but then faltered as Butch Tittle took over. He stayed on top until the 10th lap when Wilson became the leader. Hearn led it briefly for one lap, the 15th, when Wilson got by him to run out front again. But Hearn was not to be denied as he became the front runner again on the 25th. The close action then centered on top until the race from the 7th lap on in the #342 but became involved in a 19th lap accident with Ralph

Gary Balough, making a surprise appearance in the Ferruzzi #73, finished 5th after being involved in an early accident and forced to the rear. Penalties showed him to be officially 9th after the race. The infraction came from jumping on a re-start. Harry Behrent, Butch Tittle, Larry Brolsma, Sammy Rogers, Balough and Dave Kneisel rounded out the top ten.

In the companion 20-lap sportsman feature, Steve Makocy, of Park Ridge, notched his first victory of the year. Makocy, starting 12th in the lineup, won it on the last lap as he outran a gallant bid by Jimmy Tuit, Sr., to post his first career win. He led the race from the 7th lap on in the #342 but became involved in a 19th lap accident with Ralph Heutzler and Andy Belmont. All three were behind Makocy at the time. None of the three finished in the top 6.

Steve Botcher wound up second over John Strupp, Steve Yurchak, Mike Ricci and Bobby Houck.

Qualifying begins Saturday at 10 am at Dover Downs International Speedway Route 13, Dover, Del. for the 40 car starting field for Sunday's Mason Dixon 500 for NASCAR Grand National stock cars. Last year's winner, Bobby Allison, along with Cale Yarborough, David Pearson, Neil Bonnet, Richard Petty and a host of other top driver's will be paying for the lions share of the $120,000 purse. Race time for Sunday's long distance grind is 12:05.

AUTO RACING SCENE

Hearn repeats at Middletown

by Hank Nagel
Brett Hearn of Kinnelon, became the first two-time winner Saturday night at Middletown's Orange County Fair Speedway, taking the lead from Ramsey's Bill Wilson on the 25th lap of the 30-lap modified stock car main event.

Kevin Kolka took the lead for the first three laps but then faltered as Butch Tittle took over. He stayed on top until the 10th lap when Wilson became the leader. Hearn led it briefly for one lap, the 15th, when Wilson got by him to run out front again. But Hearn was not to be denied as he became the front runner again on the 25th. The close action then centered on 2nd place with Rich Eunich getting that spot as Chris Berton and Wilson poured on the heat.

Gary Balough, making a surprise appearance in the Ferruzzi #73, finished 5th after being involved in an early accident and forced to the rear. Penalties showed him to be officially 9th after the race. The infraction came for jumping on a re-start. Harry Behrent, Butch Tittle, Larry Broisma, Sammy Rogers, Balough and Dave Kneisel rounded out the top ten. In the companion 20-lap sportsman feature, Steve Makocy, of Park Ridge, notched his first victory of the year. Makocy, starting 12th in the lineup, won it on the last lap as he outran a gallant bid by Jimmy Tuit, Sr., to post his first career win. He led the race from the 7th lap on in the #342 but became involved in a 19th lap accident with Ralph Heutzler and Andy Belmont. All three were behind Makocy at the time. None of the three finished in the top 6. Steve Bottcher wound up second over John Strupp, Steve Yurchak, Mike Ricci and Bobby Houck. Qualifying begins Saturday at 10 am at Dover Downs International Speedway Route 13, Dover, Del. for the 40 car starting field for Sunday's Mason Dixon 500 for NASCAR Grand National stock cars. Last year's winner, Bobby Allison, along with Cale Yarborough, David Pearson, Neil Bonnet, Richard Petty and a host of other top driver's will be vying for the lions share of the $120,000 purse. Race time for Sunday's long distance grind is 12:05.

The foreign language students at Hawthorne High School recently took part in various activities to celebrate International Foreign Language Week.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Maria Galeota, chairperson, and the other teachers of the foreign language department, posters with sayings in many languages were made and put around the building. Students also researched and reported on a variety of career opportunities involving foreign language skills.

In the main corridor of the high school, the trophy case was colorfully decorated with artifacts from all over the world. Among the objects on display were dolls, native costumes, foods, books and other mementos and personal items all donated by students and members of the faculty.

Even the cafeteria participated by changing the menu to honor different countries. Foods such as arroz con pollo, wiener schnitzel, lasagna, and moussaka were among the delicacies served for lunch along with appropriate music to accompany the meal.

The activities led to a better understanding of the need for more foreign language study in this country since all cultures are an important part of everyday life.

Guernic endorses Kramer

Lawrence F. "Pat" Kramer, Republican gubernatorial candidate, yesterday won the endorsement of Raymond Guernic, president of the Hawthorne Republican Unit.

Guernic said that his decision to support Kramer was based on his advocacy of home rule and his tough stand on crime. "Pat Kramer's views on government are consistent with the type of government the people of Hawthorne are used to and like."

As mayor of Paterson, Kramer held the line on property taxes, or reduced them for six consecutive years. He also established a Crime Victims Advocate program and was cited by the FBI for reducing crime.

"We in Hawthorne believe that it is a model suburban community," Guernic said.

O'Byrne to receive 'man of the year' award

Freeholder Edward G. O'Byrne has been selected for the 'man of the year' award by the New Jersey State Organization of Cystic Fibrosis. The award will be given at a dinner at the Bethwood in Totowa on Saturday, May 16 at 7 p.m.

O'Byrne, son of the late Paterson Mayor Edward O'Byrne, received his law degree from Seton Hall Law School. He attended local schools and St. Peter's in Jersey City where he received his Bachelor of Science degree.

Serving with distinction in the U.S. Army during the Viet Nam War, O'Byrne received the Army Commendation Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster. From 1967 to 1969 he served as assistant Passaic County prosecutor and later as first assistant public defender of the Passaic region.

O'Byrne was first elected freeholder in Passaic County in 1970 and has been reelected for three additional terms. In 1972, 1976, 1977, 1978 and 1981 he served as freeholder director of the board.

A member of the Passaic County Bar Association and the New Jersey Bar Association, O'Byrne and his wife, Barbara, and their three children reside in Totowa.

Chairman of the dinner is Dr. James Gleeson, superintendent of the Passaic County Technical and Vocational High School in Wayne. Gleeson received the same award in 1980. Reservations for the dinner can be made with the New Jersey State Organization of Cystic Fibrosis at the state headquarters office on 41-43 Paterson Avenue, Paterson, or by calling 956-8127.

Graves supports increased time for MV inspection

Seantor Frank X. Graves today announced the support of the Director of Motor Vehicles, Joan H. Wiskowski, to take 400,000 cars a year, off the motor vehicle inspection lines.

The program recommended by Graves, would increase the initial inspection on new vehicles from two-three years. Graves said that the American car is no longer a hobby but is a luxury combined with a necessity.

The origin of ownership is no longer one-two years, but up to four years. Cost and care of operating said vehicles has taught the Americans to take better care of their vehicle and not to try and burn it out.

Graves estimates that two-three million gallons of gas would be saved a year; hours on motor vehicle inspection lines should be decreased significantly by reducing over a third of a million cars a year from the lines.

The Director of Motor Vehicles, in her letter to Graves, said the division would seek revisions to the N.J. Administrative Code to adopt the three year inspection period on new motor vehicles.

Graves paid high tribute to the director for developing this program calling it one which will be accepted by the public for saving a lot of inconvenience.

Parents invited to drug program

"Parents, Peers and Paraphernalia" is the topic of a program that will be held tonight at Passaic County Vo-Tech High School. The guest speaker, Gerri-Silverman, drug awareness chairperson of the Millburn PTA, will share the knowledge and insight she has gained from her anti-drug crusade.

The program, which begins at 7:30 pm is being sponsored by the Passaic County Advisory Committee on Violence, Vandalism and Drugs and the county PTO's and PTA's. Parents are encouraged to attend. There is a one dollar admission.

Drought is officially over, for now

Tuesday marked the unofficial end to New Jersey's drought as state officials lifted water rationing restrictions for the remaining 97 communities not covered in the May 7th order.

For Hawthorne, where the 50-gallon-per-person-per-day rationing ended two weeks ago, the revised restrictions mean that residents will be permitted to use hand-held hoses to water gardens, grass, shrubbery, plants, wash cars or other household objects. The use of automatic sprinklers is still prohibited. Frank Lembo, the borough's public works supervisor, reported that the amended order stipulates that hand-held hoses must be equipped with a shut-off nozzle.

Using water to wash down pavement and the serving of water in restaurants, unless requested by the customer, is still prohibited. Lembo stated that drought restrictions can be instituted on a day's notice if state officials kind that water consumption is becoming excessive. However, he said that increased use is not showing up in Hawthorne since the rules were eased.

"People have learned how to conserve

Revisions under discussion for kindergarten, HS graduation

by Donna Sylvester

A change in the cut-off date for students entering kindergarten to require that they be five years old by October 15 instead of December 1, was suggested by Superintendent of School Frank Chiofalo, at a meeting of the Board of Education, last Tuesday. The present entrance date allows too many children into school, who aren't ready for it, he said.

A problem with a younger child being not ready for school may not be noticed until the first grade, Chiofalo said, adding that many of these children become remedial problems later on. They may feel they're not as good as the other children and carry an impression of negativism with them for the rest of their lives, he said.

Presenting his case for an earlier deadline, Chiofalo said that the kindergarten teachers voted unanimously in favor of the change.

Asked if some provision would be made for the exceptionally bright child by Board Member Linda Missonelle, Chiofalo said, "Our main concern is the total group, not the number of children who just made it in by December 1."

"I know of many children who had November birthdays and are excellent students," she stated.

Since there are not that many children born in the time span of 45 days between October and December, Chiofalo said that the gifted children can be dealt with after they get into school and demonstrate their ability.

Board Vice President Jack Meeter asked for more definite facts about how gifted children progress at a later date and a comparison with entrance dates set by other school districts, before the board votes on the recommendation at the next board meeting.

In other matters, the New Jersey Department of Education has set new graduation requirements, many of which have already been met at Hawthorne High School. In the area of history, Hawthorne High School exceeds the state's minimum requirements.

In addition, starting with the class of 1985, high school students must demonstrate mastery in reading, writing and computation in tests on basic skills. Any student who fails to meet basic skills requirements will be given remedial help.

Further affecting graduation requirements are new attendance policies proposed by the high school administration. To pass a course, high school students can be absent not more than 20 days a year. A student who is absent a maximum of 21 days from a full-year course will receive a failing grade. Considerations will be given to students with illness or death in the family.

Police investigation continuing:

Youth injured in assault

by Pam Hickman

A 13-year-old Hawthorne High School student was assaulted by a group of youths on Lafayette Avenue near Palermo's Pizzeria on May 8th. Joseph Leggio of 130 Hawthorne Avenue was rushed to the Greater Paterson General Hospital in Wayne shortly after the 10:38 pm incident by the William B. Mahoney VFW Ambulance Corps.

The youth was treated for injury to his right eye, a fractured nose and a fractured cheekbone. Some type of metal object may have been used in the assault, but police have been unable to confirm exactly what the object was.

An investigation is being conducted by Hawthorne's detectives, Sgt. Richard Short and Ptl. David Noble. Out-of-town youths are suspected of being involved in the incident.

No spraying for gypsy moths

Hawthorne, unlike some towns in the surrounding area, will not be sprayed for gypsy moth control this year. The issue was brought out publicly at the last meeting of the Board of Commissioners when Robert Bruno of 111 Eighth Avenue protested the borough's inaction on this matter.

Bruno said he had gathered 100 names on a petition to ask the board to look into a problem which these citizens felt had "reached epidemic proportion."

Mayor Louis Bay 2nd disagreed with the citizens' assessment of the problem and told Bruno that even if there were a problem, the borough has no money in the budget to do anything about it. The mayor said that if it would cost a couple of thousand dollars, there wasn't $3000 available in the budget for spraying.

Bay said that he had had his own property sprayed at a cost of $60, adding that the borough doesn't have that kind of money. The mayor suggested that an affected property owner could spray his own area. Bruno said he had already begun spraying at his home, but feared the area could be infested again if the entire town were not sprayed.

According to Frank Lembo, the borough's supervisor of public works, the state has a program of matching funds for spraying gypsy moths, but it does not mean an entire town will be sprayed.

The state only designates certain sections of a town, areas where trees are located.

Since the spraying has to start now and since the borough has not budgeted for this expense, there's not much chance of implementing a program at this time.

Charged with marihuana possession, pair gets probation

A Midland Park man charged with writing a bad check for $75 to the Hawthorne Municipal Court pleaded guilty Thursday before Judge Donald Reenstra. "You can be tried at another court, if you think you'd have a better chance," offered Reenstra, who arranged for Richard Felter of 29 Woodside Avenue to be arrested. Despite Reenstra's warning that he could be sentenced to six months in the Passaic County Jail, Felter pleaded guilty with an explanation. "The money wasn't in the bank account, but I expected it from other sources," he said. When these sources failed to come through with the money, Felter said, he didn't return to court, because he had "no money and no explanation."

"Writing a check without money to cover it is not wise, but writing a bad check to this court of which I am judge is the most unwise thing," Reenstra told the defendant. "It makes more sense to call the court about a problem, then be arrested," he said.

Escaping a jail term, Felter was fined $50 penalties and $15 court costs.

The case against a Ringwood man, charged with careless driving resulting in the injuries of three persons, was postponed for at least one month. Because of what the judge called the extremely serious nature of the charge, Herbert Milligan of 73 Mine Road was advised to seek the representation of a lawyer. His guilty plea, which came prior to the judge's decision, was revoked. If Milligan is convicted, he will face a prison sentence — mandatory under the statute because of the injuries reportedly involved.

In prior testimony, Ptl. Peter Vander Velde reported that Milligan drove through a stop sign, hitting two cars in front of him. Milligan is also charged with driving, while his driver's license was suspended.

Mark Sloomaker of 110 Tuxedo Avenue pleaded guilty to charges of possession of under 25 grams of marihuana, while parked in a vehicle on Goffle Road. Because it was his first offense, Sloomaker was given two years probation. Also parked on Goffle Road, Michael Mallanda of 110 Buena Vista Avenue pleaded guilty to possession of under 25 grams of

Parent fined for son's truancy

Prospect Park — Valerie Snow, of 15 Struyk Avenue, was fined $35 for not sending her son Jason to the local public school. Snow was told by visiting Judge David Azar that she could be fined $25 for each additional day the 10-year-old boy is kept out of school.

Principal Ernest Oakes said Monday that the youth did not come to school Thursday or Friday and that he was not in school Monday. He said, "I did receive a letter from the mother that the child was with his father who lives in another community. It's something we now have to check out."

Oakes stated that the Snow youth had attended school one-third of the time since September. He said, "Out of 104 school days, Jason attended only 39 days. His mother refused to send the child to school and refused to discuss the situation with me."

Mrs. Snow said her son never attended school before she moved to Prospect Park. She said the boy has chronic emphysema, asthma, and other ailments and had always been tutored. She said the boy had been in and out of hospitals all of his life and in 1977, a doctor had said the boy should not attend school. She did not produce the letter and said the doctor had moved out of the area.

Oakes testified that the school doctor and another physician had said the boy was capable of attending school. He said this was stated as recently as May 12.

In finding Mrs. Snow guilty, Azar said the youth must attend schools and that it "is the parent's responsibility to see that he does attend school." He continued, "From all the evidence before me, I can find no reason why Jason should not attend school."

Under the gavel

marihuana. Another charge, possession of a hashish pipe in a motor vehicle, was merged with the first charge, the judge deciding that both the marihuana and the pipe were for the same purpose. Mallanda was given one year probation for what he called his first offense.

A 15-year old from Paterson pleaded guilty to riding a moped without liability insurance and riding with two persons on the vehicle. "I wasn't going to ride it, before I got the insurance. I just took it out that one day," said Kalus Gorjan of 178 Carbon Street. His mother called a week before about getting insurance, but the insurance man hadn't called back, he said.

For driving without insurance, Gorjan was fined $25 and $15 court costs; for driving with two persons on a moped, he was fined $25 and $15 costs. I don't want your father to pay the fines, the judge told Gorjan, explaining that the only reason his license hadn't been revoked was because his father had promised not to let him ride the moped, until he had insurance. "If you appear in court again, I will suspend your license. Don't come back," warned the judge.

A Linden corporation will be held in contempt of court, if an official fails to show up on the next court date. This will be the second notice for Emm Ess Metals, Co., Inc. of 220 Urbanwitz, charged with misuse of plates and failure to produce on display rear license plates. Although a representative of Emm Ess Metals didn't appear in court Thursday as scheduled, the judge said he couldn't arrest a corporation.

A charge of driving without a license, rendered against an unconscious victim of a motor vehicle accident, was dismissed

Thursday from court. Ptl. Peter Vander Velde requested withdrawal of the charge, after he discovered the defendant, Vincent J. Hartung of 21 Nixon Court, did have a driver's permit, when ticketed on April 4. At the time of the accident, the police officer said he was unable to reach into the defendant's pocket to check his license, because Hartung was unconscious.

For allowing the possible breeding of mosquitos in the stagnant water of a swimming pool, Maria Sosa of 29 Mohawk Avenue pleaded guilty. Sanitary Inspector Mary Codispoli said that the water had been drained from the pool, as the judge ordered, but the heavy rains had partially refilled it. Sosa was then advised to obtain a pool cover for the remaining pool water or remove the pool liner.

Sosa said that she was going to buy a filter to clean the pool, but Judge Donald Reenstra said that he couldn't allow mosquitos to breed in the meantime. The problem must be taken care of in the next couple of days, he said, "The most important thing is that it's cleared up, since it affects everyone in the neighborhood."

Considering the expense of a filter and other repairs, Judge Donald Reenstra fined Sosa $50 and $15 court costs. If the problem isn't alleviated in one week, Reenstra said, a health inspector could issue a summons for each day of continued violation.

The testimony of a witness found Arlene Neuman of 2 Midland Avenue not guilty of parking her car more than 24 hours in front of a neighbor's house, as charged in a citizen's complaint. John Sarious of Klepper's Auto Service testified that Neuman had driven her car to the shop on Saturday, April 25, the same day it was reported in front of the house of Al Toth of 7 Midland Avenue. Subsequently, the charge was dismissed, the judge ruling that the complaint was made in good faith. "I don't expect you to sit there 24 hours a day," he told Toth.

In the future, Reenstra advised Neuman not to park her car there, if she can avoid it. "And I don't expect anyone to park over 24 hours," he added. The case was adjourned last week, so that both parties would have the benefit of a complete hearing. "Justice is served. That what's important," Reenstra said.

Fuel-switching is no nickel-and-dime proposition.

Before you go to the unnecessary expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition. Not only will you have to purchase all new equipment and pay to have it installed, but you'll also be paying to have the old equipment dismantled. Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than to go to all the expense that conversion entails? Now, especially with the new 15-percent tax credit for modernization of oil-burning equipment recently authorized by Congress, modernization is a more economical option than conversion. Call your independent heating oil dealer. He'll tell you how to get more for your heating dollar, for less.

Permissive negotiations would cost us more

Last Thursday, the state legislature's inaction gave the public a reprieve on the controversial negotiations bill known as S-750. The proposed law, one which would restore the category of permissive negotiations to the public bargaining sector, is not dead. The fact that it didn't come up for a vote in the State Senate last week only means that the issue has gone back to committee, from which it is certain to surface again before this November's election.

The measure has received intense lobbying from labor unions which represent public employees, most notably the NJEA. At present, public employees negotiations have to deal with only two areas which are labeled mandatory and illegal. The mandatory items are terms and conditions of employment, such as working hours, fringe benefits, salary, sick leave, etc.

The illegal areas are class size, school calendar, teacher transfer, staffing or number of employees. S-750 would clear the way for such items to be put on the bargaining tables as permissive areas in their contract talks. The implications of this bill, as far as teachers' are involved, could mean that school board would have to discuss an issue such as maximum class size. If the board were to agree in this regard and set a maximum size of 20 students, the board could not put 21 students in a class.

The real losers, aside from the school children, would be the taxpayers, who would have to foot the bill for these additional teachers, classes and other items.

The most forceful argument against S-750 came from the Supreme Court of this state which removed permissive area of negotiations in the Ridgefield Park decision a few years ago.

The court ruled that school boards, councils or other elected officials do not have the right to give away their governmental or policy-making powers to their employees over the bargaining table. The court also cautioned the legislature to carefully consider potential difficulties before taking any action to authorize permissive negotiations.

We hope that the legislature does just that before the bill comes up for a vote.

A welcome to North Haledon

Almost every incumbent New Jersey legislator will have constituents next year that he does not have this year, and some of this year's constituents will be in someone else's district.

Every state legislator will have to make some adjustments to cope with the results of re-apportionment, which was made final last week when a judge dismissed challenges to the plan from Essex and Atlantic counties. Other challenges may follow, but indications are that little will change.

Legislators who must make adjustments in their thinking and their re-election campaigns, to accommodate new towns in their districts or to compensate for the loss of certain areas, are the lucky ones.

Some incumbents have been pushed right off the ballot by the intra-party maneuverings that followed major changes in their districts. But the greatest number of people affected by the redistricting plan, and therefore the group of people who face the greatest adjustments, are the voters themselves.

Hundreds of thousands of New Jersey voters will find unfamiliar names on their ballots this year and foreign numbers next to their districts, because they are no longer in the same legislative district.

To many, this will be a disappointment. A large number of people tend to develop long-term relationships with their representatives.

Spraying is necessary

40 Llewellyn Avenue
Hawthorne, NJ
May 11, 1980

Dear editor,

I have read in the paper that Hawthorne is not going to have the trees sprayed this year, as it would cost $3,000 and that some folks are against spraying with Sevin. They do not have to be sprayed with Sevin, as there are two other sprays that are supposed to be just as good, Orthene and Bi Dippel.

There are a great number of trees in the borough that are dead and should be cut down. If the trees are not sprayed, we might have a lot more, which would cost much more than $3,000. I believe the owners in Hawthorne would like to see the trees sprayed to save them.

Sincerely,
George G. Williams

When will it end?

Dear editor,

In recent weeks the world has been plagued with two attempted assassinations and other violent acts, such as the murdering innocent policemen while they were doing their job. Where will this all end? I wonder if it will end or just get worse. Where has kindness gone in the heart of men? Where has love and respect for family gone?

Since we have taken the Lord's Prayer out of the public schools (in the early 60's), since we have almost made a mockery of God and country, since there has been a relaxation of morality, our country has gone downhill especially in its standing in the world. How many friends have we left? Do other countries look up to us? Our country may still be number one, but at the rate we are going, it won't last long.

This Memorial Day, let's all take a good hard look at ourselves and our values. Let's shake hands with our neighbors and demonstrate concern for our country and one another. If we all do something, there will be a return to all the things this country has stood for.

Sincerely,
Bette Koorenman

there still is unfairness and injustice.

I know there are people who feel as though they have been sold into slavery because they are going to be represented next year by someone they didn't vote for and don't know. In some cases, I am that someone.

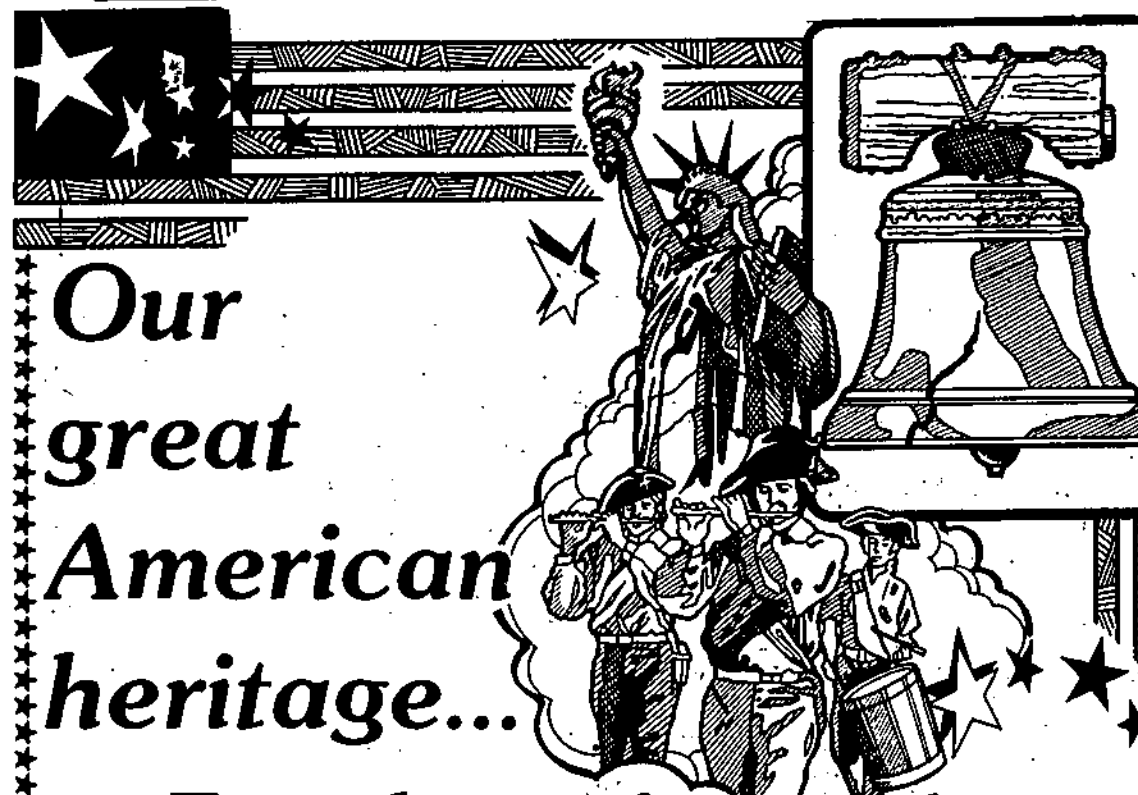

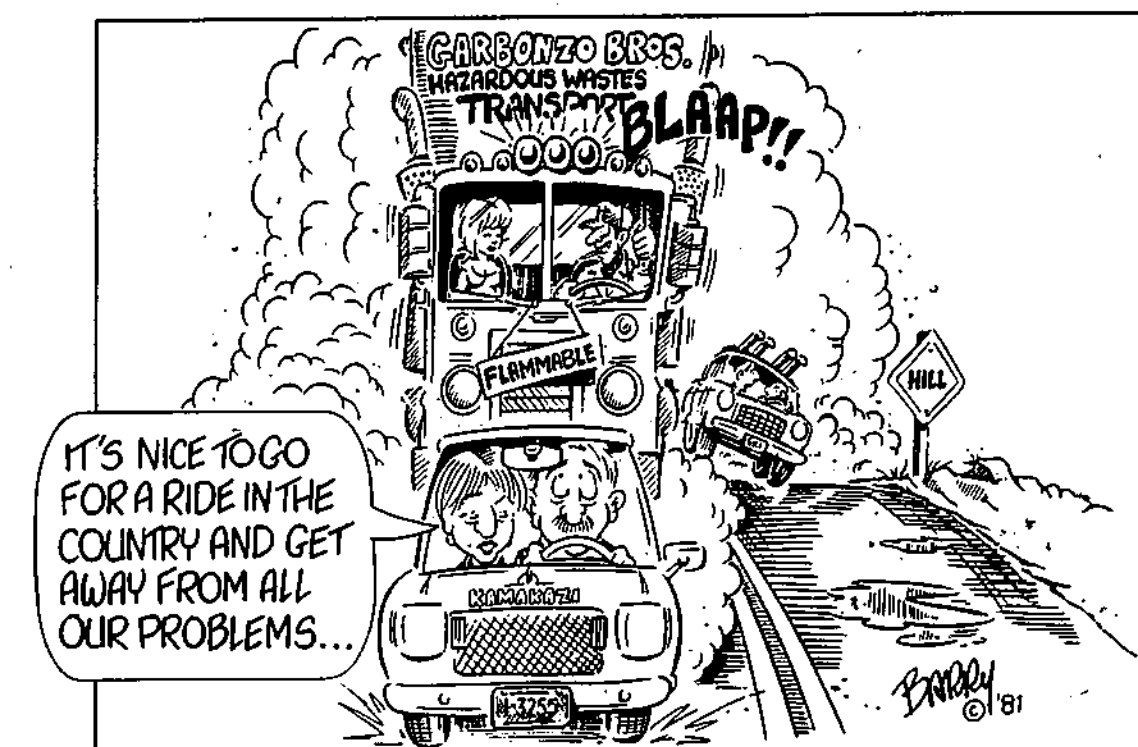

And there are good, competent, honest legislators who had very solid support in their current districts, but who don't stand the slightest chance of getting re-elected because of the drastic changes that have been wrought in their districts.

For every major project we undertake to adhere to a basic principle, there is this kind of fallout; someone gets hurt.

All we can hope to do is cope the best we know how with the results, work our hardest to elect the best legislature we can, and be thankful this only happens once every 10 years.

Travel information available at the library

As summertime approaches, everyone's thoughts turn to vacation plans. Whether vacation plans are for the shore, the mountains, California, South America or Europe, the first stop should be at the library.

The Louis Bay 2nd Library has acquired many new travel guides to help in planning trips. For domestic travel, there is a new 1981 set of Mobil Travel Guides, covering the Great Lakes Area, the southwest and south central area, the southeastern states, California and the west, the northeastern states, the Middle Atlantic states and the northwest and Great Plains states.

For foreign travel, there is the new set of Fodor's Guides: Europe, South America, Canada, Mexico and the Caribbean. These guides provide the latest information on what to see and do as well as on where to stay and dine. The most recent Mobil and Fodor's Guides may be consulted in the reference section of the library.

In addition, senior citizens will be interested in Caroline and Walter Weintz's Discount Guide for Travelers over 55, which is available for circulation.

Rock concert tonight will benefit Multiple Sclerosis

Stargazer, a dynamic new hard rock group from Fair Lawn, will appear at Orrie de Nooyer auditorium, Bergen Technical High School, Hackensack, on Thursday, May 21 at 8:30 pm in a benefit concert for the Bergen-Passaic National Multiple Sclerosis Society. Last March Stargazer performed to a sell-out audience of 800 raising over $1,100 for the MS Society.

The band, started in the summer of 1980, features leader Mike Halper, 18, on bass guitar; Matt Halper, 14, on lead guitar; and Al Schatzberg, 17, on drums. All three are students at Fair-Lawn High School. The band added two singers early this year; Tom Wise, 19, of Fair Lawn and Janine Schwarz, 16, of Englewood.

The group describes their music as "British Heavy Metal." We're not a party band or the type of group that plays at dances," Mike explains. "Most popular groups around here do Top 40, disco and new wave. We do songs that many of the groups don't do. It's a change for us and also the audience." Much of their material comes from Led Zeppelin, Van Halen, Deep Purple, Rainbow, Judas Priest and Rush.

The two hour theatrical performance boasts a light show and numerous costume changes. "We hope to play schools, parties and concerts in the future," Al explained. "Benefit concerts for the Multiple Sclerosis Society help raise money for a worthy cause and at the same time give us great exposure. Our music is hot. It's just a matter of time before we take off."

Tickets for the May 21st concert are available through the Bergen-Passaic MS office, 179 Cedar Lane, Teaneck, N.J. 07666, 201-836-5716. The cost is $3 in advance or 3.50 at the door.

Wos was the grand winner and King, a member of the Hawthorne High track team, finished first among women.

Jennifer King sets records in league for 1500 & 3000

Last Thursday evening in the BPSL Girls Track and Field Championships at Hawthorne, Jennifer King won both the 1500 meter and 3000 meter distance events, setting league records in both races. Her time of 5:00 for the 1500 meters bettered the old mark by five seconds and her time of 10:58.2 for the 3000 meters shattered the old mark by 12 seconds. Her double victory in the distance events was quite an accomplishment and is unprecedented in girls championship competition in the BPSL.

King completed this year's league competition undefeated in both the 1500 and 3000 meters.

Other outstanding performances by the Hawthorne team were turned in by Lauren Van Der Eems and Dorothy Witte. Van Der Eems placed second in the 100 meter hurdles and third in the 800 meters. Witte placed fifth in the 400 meters with a career best time of 63.0 seconds.

The Hawthorne Jaycees have served notice to the Hawthorne Softball Association — "Attention! We are for real!"

Sunday, the Jaycees split a double-header with Division 3 opponent Artwork & Graphics, last season's wild card playoff team. The Jaycees won 5-4 while Artwork won, 10-8.

In other action, Feehan's Insurance continued its fine play, defeating two divisional opponents, McGill's Express and Seymour Pollack Opticians, 15-5 and 9-6, respectively.

Defending champion Hook Supply picked up two wins, topping Seymour Pollack, 9-3, and the Hawthorne Deli, 18-5. The Deli defeated Arthur Groom & Co., 16-9.

Commentary on voting down a school budget

by Bert Nawyn

There has to be a better way! Voters in this borough and in Haledon and North Haledon last month voted down the Manchester Regional High School budget. The budget was turned down by a three-to-one vote and that should be pretty impressive for anyone who has to give the budget further review.

Prospect Park Patter

The budget with Manchester Regional trustees, stated there was "too much fat" in the budget and recommended a reduction. The mayor and councils of Prospect Park and North Haledon felt the budget should be reduced by $200,000.

Manchester Regional officials felt the cuts were too deep and appealed the matter to New Jersey Commissioner of Education, Fred Burke.

You guessed it, Vincent Calabrese, assistant to Burke, ruled last Wednesday that the current expense account of the budget, $3.25 million, must remain "as is" with no reduction. Calabrese did remove $10,000 from the capital expense account. However this is peanuts and represents practically nothing.

So, what's the sense of voting on the Manchester Regional budget. There is no sense at all. The only thing that can be done, at next election time, is to elect board of education candidates who are more responsive to the residents of the communities. Are all the voters who turned thumbs down on the budget wrong and the Manchester officials right? Are the three mayors of the towns and the councilmen... 21 elected officials, all wrong in their figuring that the budget could be reduced and it had "too much fat" as one official said?

North Haledon Councilman Jim Ruitenbergh put it very bluntly when he said of the State Department of Education, "They just ignored the wishes of the voters of the three towns who defeated the budget on April 7. I don't think we should let Trenton run our town and tell our voters what to do."

Ruitenbergh, a certified public accountant, was one of the most critical opponents of the Manchester budget and attacked in a line-by-line basis.

Sam Sibilio, mayor of Haledon remarked, "I'm very disturbed." Mayor Nicholas De Graaf, who attended the budget sessions at Manchester and received from his council a unanimous vote to reject the budget, said, "What's the sense of voting on a budget if your vote means nothing. You might as well stay home."

There is talk by the officials of the three towns of taking Calabrese's ruling to the Appellate Division of Superior Court. We think this should be done. We have always been disturbed by the State Commissioner of Education's power to decide whether or not budgets should be reduced after they have been defeated by the voters at the polls. It smacks of a conflict of interest. After all, who wants to cut down on his own bureaucracy?

Congratulations to Janet Koster of Planten Avenue and to Donna Carrozza of North Haledon. Both girls, students at Manchester Regional High School, were selected to participate in the New Jersey All-State Chorus. Trials were held on April 4 at the Roxbury High School.

Both will be in Atlantic City on November 11, 12 and 13 and take part in the concert in Convention Hall, Steven Kupka, Manchester High School choir director, said he was highly pleased that two of his students were selected for the All-State Chorus.

Truer words were never spoken. Rep. Robert A. Roe, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, speaking Saturday night at a dinner sponsored by Cystic Fibrosis Organization, said that if all the taxpayers' money allotted to candidates for governor, were directed instead for protection of policemen, every policeman in the state could receive a bullet proof vest.

Roe said, "You, the taxpayers, are paying for this election campaign. I refused to take any of your money. Under the new election laws, each candidate could receive up to $600,000. This amounts to over six million dollars. Can you imagine what these monies could do for crime prevention and protection of policemen. I think it's a shame that your money is being wasted in this manner."

The congressman, in refusing to accept any state funds, said he would stay within the spending limits and raise funds for his campaign through his own personal endeavors.

Freeholder Director Edward O'Bryne received the man of the year award. Over 250 persons attended the dinner at the Bethwood in Totowa.

Comments are in order for Tunis Verblauw and Fred Schwaner. Verblauw completed 10 years work on the local Board of Education, many of those years as president. It was through his efforts that expenses were kept to a minimum and that the quality of education in the local school was maintained. Fred Schwaner, who finished his probationary period as a patrolman, was given status as a permanent policeman in the borough. Schwaner, who graduated from the police academy with high honors, lives on North 17th Street.

Dombrowski sworn in as North Haledon chief

by Donna Sylvester
North Haledon — Cameras flashed and about 150 persons rose to congratulate Edward Dombrowski, appointed North Haledon Chief of Police, at a meeting of the mayor and council last Wednesday. Councilman James McDowell said that he was impressed with the leadership qualities of Dombrowski who for the past 10 months had taken charge of the department in the absence of former police chief John Peene.

In making the appointment, McDowell commented on the numerous citations bestowed upon Dombrowski by the mayor and council and the Police Benevolent Association and the certifications Dombrowski managed to earn in every major field of law enforcement through in-service training. Also, at the meeting, the former police chief was honored with a plaque, presented to him for 26 years of service on the police force.

The promotion didn't come as a surprise to Dombrowski who since he joined the force in 1966, moved through the ranks from police officer to detective to deputy chief. As acting chief of police, Dombrowski was next in line for the appointment, which Passaic County Prosecutor Joseph Falcone reportedly said was much deserved and long overdue.

With this appointment, Dombrowski at age 38 has achieved most of his goals in both his career and in the department. "Throughout your career, you work hard to accomplish what you set out to do. This is the top," said Dombrowski, who wants nothing more than to work in the community where he lived most of his life with his wife and two children.

Having functioned as police chief for the past 10 months, Dombrowski said he has already accomplished 90 percent of what he set out to do. Since he took the reins as acting chief, Dombrowski has been credited with creating a tremendous improvement in department morale. The officers are willing to work. They don't just come here, because they have to, Dombrowski said. The policemen even attend classes, he said, in their own time at the Passaic County Police Academy — creating what the department's newest recruit, Larry Rudesyle, has called "a staff of well-educated officers."

In addition, the department has been recognized for having, this year, the lowest crime rate in Passaic County. Dombrowski attributes this to "good patrol observation," explaining that "a police department, like a business, is only as good as the people in it." The department is comprised of "young and aggressive officers" who patrol to prevent crime, he said, rather than wait for calls from residents reporting muggings or thefts, like the big cities do.

Another achievement is a clearance rate of nearly 100 percent in the department, meaning that almost all crimes that happen in North Haledon are solved, said Dombrowski commenting upon the department's "fine" detective bureau.

Dombrowski will continue to strive for an ongoing public-relations program and better public awareness of what the police department's role is in the community. As a part of a plan to build public awareness, Dombrowski has instructed officers to become acquainted with residents on the streets and talk to businessmen about their problems. "I want a policeman to be out with the people and not just a figure in a car," said the chief.

He also wants to build better relationships between the police and teenagers, so that the latter won't hesitate to turn to the police with their problems. Also, intended to increase public awareness, a program to teach crime prevention to senior citizens will start Friday and a bicycle-safety course for children is being planned, Dombrowski said.

Expecting an increase in population over the next five years to add to the problems faced by the department, Dombrowski is working on a plan, with input from the officers, to determine how the department should meet those problems. This plan, including projections for staff and other resources to be needed in the next five years, will be presented to the mayor and council upon completion.

Looking ahead, Dombrowski — the youngest police chief in Passaic County — said that since his work will now be largely administrative, he may come to miss some phases of active police work, but has many competent men to do the job.

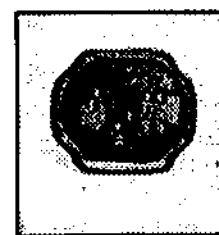

Police Chief Edward Dombrowski.

North Haledon tax hike estimated at 105 pts.

by Donna Sylvester

North Haledon — An increase of 105 tax points is estimated for the 1981-82 tax year — the biggest portion coming from the municipal tax levy, which has increased by 44-tax points. "This is the largest tax hike I can remember," said Tax Assessor Cornelius La Fleur, who calculated that the owner of a house assessed at $30,000 will be paying $315 in additional taxes this year.

"I don't think they'll be very happy about the increase. People are never happy with more taxes," La Fleur said. Beginning in August with the next tax period, residents will be paying a 105-tax point increase, retroactive to January 1, 1981. Right now, taxpayers are paying 1981-82 taxes based on figures from the previous year. Since taxes have increased since 1980, taxpayers will now have to make up the difference.

With sharpened pencil and pad, Finance Chairman James Rutenberg had managed to cut the tax increase down to an estimated 93-tax points. However, his efforts to lower taxes were hindered, he said, by the decision of the State Board of Education Commissioner Fred Burke, who restored $140,000 to the Manchester Regional High School budget, out of the $150,000 originally cut by the council. He has no idea why so much money was restored to the Manchester budget and will appeal the commissioner's decision to the state appellate court. Of the three sending districts to Manchester High School, both North Haledon and Haledon have agreed to appeal the decision. Rutenberg is still awaiting word from Prospect Park, but said he can make the appeal, even without the consent of that municipality.

The North Haledon Board of Education is also appealing the decision of the Borough Council to cut $55,000 from their budget. However, the outcome of this appeal will not affect this year's budget, since the Borough Council has already approved, at Wednesday's council meeting, the municipal budget, including the $55,000 cut — estimating a school budget increase of nine tax points. If the borough loses the appeal, any money restored to the North Haledon school budget will have to come out of the 1982-83 municipal budget.

Considering the 105-tax point increase in the borough, Rutenberg said, he will have to decide whether to lay off more municipal employees than the anticipated two full-time staff members and one temporary. In the next couple of weeks, he said, he will meet with La Fleur to project the borough's cash flow, determining how much money will be on hand to meet payrolls. At that time, he may know whether municipal workers will have to be dismissed.

Employees who remain may receive a raise of seven and a half percent and policeman an eight percent salary increase, as introduced at Wednesday's council meeting by a unanimous vote. A public hearing on the salary ordinance is scheduled for June 10.

Four days in jail for assault

Prospect Park — A Haledon man spent four days in jail last week after being found guilty on an assault charge. Robert Nundroff, of 305 Belmont Avenue, was also fined $50 by Judge David Azar, visiting magistrate.

Nundroff was told by Azar that he was "far from a decent neighbor...far from a decent human being" and that he "intentionally caused incidents to occur" which harmed his neighbor, Kenneth Whalen.

Whalen and Nundroff were tenants in a two family house at 410 North 10th Street. Whalen charged that on December 23, 1980, Nundroff pushed him several times and called him every "dirty name in the book."

Nundroff testified he did not touch Whalen but used some harsh language.

Whalen then testified that on February 21 this year, Nundroff spit in his face, grabbed him by the neck, scratched his neck, clawed his face, threatened to kill him and damaged the front door. Whalen said that when the police arrived on the scene there was "blood on the floor."

Nundroff, who has long hair, testified that Whalen grabbed him by the hair, held him down, and only then, did he scratch Whalen. Whalen stated that his left eye was damaged and hemorrhaged after the scratching.

Nundroff admitted that he spit in Whalen's face but said that he was provoked by an obscene gesture Whalen had made to his girlfriend. Nundroff filed a counter complaint against Whalen, charging assault from the hair-pulling incident. Azar found Whalen not guilty.

At one time during the trial Nundroff was told to sit in his chair and keep still. The young man had gotten up and started talking while the judge was listening to Whalen's testimony.

Nundroff was given a 30 day jail term but 26 days were suspended. Said Azar, "You're going to jail for four days and let's hope you learn a lesson through this. You've got to learn to live with people."

Nundroff cried, "I just got a job and I'll lose my job if I don't show up tomorrow. Replied Azar, "That's your problem. You should have thought of this before."

Library friends to meet

Following a short business meeting for the election of officers, a step-by-step demonstration of silk flower arranging will be presented by Marie Filippio. Questions will be answered and refreshments will be served. All are welcome to attend this free program.

"Why are my PSE&G energy bills higher?"

As a business and a consumer, PSE&G has to go to the market and face the same inflationary prices that you do. And as the cost of items we must buy goes up, the cost of the electricity we produce and the gas we deliver must also go up.

FUEL COSTS MORE!

Imported fuel oil is a big expense in generating electricity. And natural gas and coal prices are also going up. Today, PSE&G spends 45¢ of your energy dollar just to buy fuel, natural gas and electricity from other utilities.

Unfortunately, PSE&G has no control over escalating fuel costs. But we do have control over the type of fuel we can use to meet New Jersey's future energy needs. That's why PSE&G is investing large sums of money to produce electricity more economically.

CONSTRUCTION LOANS COST MORE!

PSE&G must borrow funds at the current high rates to finance the construction of generation facilities needed to meet our customers' future energy requirements.

In 1981, PSE&G will pay over 500 million dollars in construction costs, most of which will go to finance the construction of our Hope Creek nuclear power plant.

Costs for construction and financing may seem high, but PSE&G must make a large, initial capital investment in order to convert to cheaper forms of energy like nuclear power. This will further reduce our dependence on costly foreign oil and will offset higher energy costs in the future.

TAXES COST MORE!

PSE&G spends 18¢ of your energy dollar to cover local, state and federal taxes. Our customers

Brian Bates of 212 Emeline Drive and James A. Perrotta of 39 Marlyn Street, North Haledon, are among 313 students who have qualified to compete for $4000 in scholarship monies in the second annual WYNN Radio/Coca Cola Scholarship Competition. A written exam will determine three eventual scores. These monies can be applied to any form of post-secondary school education, but will be awarded only upon proof of enrollment for the 1981-82 academic year. Current events and general knowledge comprise the subject matter for both tests. Each test required the students to answer 150 objective questions and to compose a topical essay. A $2000 grant will be offered to the student who obtains the highest score on this second test. Two additional awards of $1000 each will be offered to the competitors who obtain the second and third highest scores. An apple a day, etc. . . . Now researchers have found that pectin (abundant in apples) reduces cholesterol levels in the blood, lowers blood sugar in diabetics, and does other good things, too.

Why do animals lick their wounds? ## A handful of residents protest water rate hike

by Donna Sylvester

The day after water-use restrictions were relaxed in Hawthorne, the mayor and commissioners voted unanimously to increase water rates. Effective July, residents will be paying a quarterly charge of $12 for the first 8,000 gallons of water. This is an increase of $5 over last year's quarterly rate. For each additional 1,000 gallons of water, $1 will be added to the overall charge.

Alarmed at the prospect of residents paying more just because they had conserved water, Philip Call of 348 Rea Avenue said at Wednesday's meeting, "This is an offshoot of the past water crisis. You are punishing us for conserving water, as asked by the governor."

However, Commissioner Arthur Brokaw, who introduced the ordinance, called this a "gross misstatement," saying that water rates would have been increased, even if there was not a water shortage. In fact, a rate increase is one year overdue, he said, considering that the last increase in 1977 was expected to be only enough to cover costs for the next three years.

The water company just barely finished 1980-81 without a deficit, he said, as profits reportedly dwindled from $97,000 in April of 1980 to $54,000 in that month of 1981. Even with profits of $97,000, Hawthorne Water Company would not be able to stay out of the red this year without another increase, since labor, electricity, chemicals and insurance have all gone up an average of 45 percent, said Brokaw. Public utilities, like water companies, are not allowed to have deficits, he said.

Another resident who protested the ordinance, Ed Tallia of 18 Hawthorne Avenue, complained that the burden of 71 percent of the increase would be absorbed by the users of the least amount of water — most of whom are senior citizens, he said.

"We as senior citizens use the least amount of water. I don't see why we should have to pay the most," said Charlie McGurk of 250 Rea Avenue. Ed McGurk of 241 Pasadena Place suggested that the maximum users should bear more than 11 percent of the rate increase. Another resident accused the mayor and commissioners of "dangling a carrot on the end of a stick" by making it more profitable for people to use more water. "The people who wash three, four cars, have built-in swimming pools" should pay more, he said.

"We're watching the buck for everyone regardless of age," Brokaw said, insisting that the increase will not hit senior citizens the hardest. Industries, which use a great deal of water will now pay $1 for each additional 1,000 gallons of water. Under the old ordinance, after the first 192,000 gallons they paid 90 cents, after the next 800,000 gallons they paid 80 cents and for over 1 million gallons they paid 70 cents per 1,000 gallons.

The only people who will be paying the minimum charge of $12 for 8,000 gallons are those in households of one or two persons, who don't sprinkle their lawns. Most will be paying more than the minimum charge, he said.

Furthermore, "Even if you didn't use a drop of water, $48 a year isn't a lot, considering the costs of running the system" which includes servicing the account, changing the water meters and maintaining fire hydrants, Brokaw said.

Compared to other towns, the homeowner still gets a bargain with Hawthorne water, he said, since the same 8,000 gallons of water that costs $12 a quarter in Hawthorne would cost $19.76 from Passaic Valley and $31.49 from Hackensack. "Do you feel your good artesian well water should be less than what comes out of the Passaic River," he asked.

In response to suggestions that water rates could be increased only temporarily until Hawthorne Water Co. made up for profits lost during the shortage, Mayor Louis Bay 2nd said: "There could be a price roll back only when Public Service reduces its costs and people start working for less money." The mayor and commissioners continued to insist that the rate hikes aren't due to the shortage and are necessary to meet water department costs.

'Pooper scooper' law enforced

by Donna Sylvester

In what is believed to be the first case of this nature, Judge Donald Reenstra enforced the "pooper-scooper" law, which requires a person who permits a dog to defecate on public property to pick up after it. Wilhelmina DeVries of 300 Florence Avenue was found guilty of what the judge considered "not the greatest crime in the world, but somewhat disgusting," in a municipal court hearing, Thursday.

A citizen's complaint against DeVries was filed by a neighbor Janet Van Beuzekom of 35 Victor Place, who said she saw the defendant walk one of five dogs in the park on May 15, then checked and found that the dog had defecated there, even though DeVries had been previously warned to pick up after her two animals. This action was witnessed by her two children, Van Beuzekom said.

Walking over to the park — willed to the borough and maintained by borough workers — Van Beuzekom said she was told by the defendant: "The park does not belong to me, it's not my business." DeVries reportedly said she was "holding something" for her neighbor to smell, pointing to four storage bags filled with dog dirt, which were piled around a telephone pole in the pump-house park.

While DeVries admitted bagging the dog dirt, she said it was the only way she could convince Van Beuzekom she had been picking up after her dogs.

Accusing Van Beuzekom of harassment, the defendant said: "She's been gunning for me. Her children stand on the corner, yelling 'mommy' and she walks over at a distance. How does she know what my dog did?"

"I'm an innocent person. My dogs never run loose," she said. Since she has a fenced-in area in her backyard for her dogs to defecate, she said the only reason she goes to the lot, since the cops told her about the ruling, is to exercise her dogs.

The judge, however, found the testimony of DeVries to be less believable, fining her $10.

Mother fined for daughter's absences from school

Helen White of 68 MacFarlan Avenue pleaded guilty to allowing her 14-year-old daughter to be habitually absent from school. Out of a possible 159 school days this year, Tina White was absent 71 days. She was out of school May 11, 12, 13, 14, 16, 18, 19, and 21, said Dr. Gerald McDonnell, principal of Franklin Elementary School. "In the past three years, the other school administrators and I have made every effort to have the child attend," he said.

They filed a complaint in October 31, 1980, resulting in the court ordering regular school attendance and counseling at a Wayne youth center. Since that court order was not effective in improving White's attendance, McDonnell said the case has ended up in the Hawthorne Municipal Court.

Although the girl is in the eighth grade, McDonnell said, he doesn't know what her future in the school system will be, since she was promoted by default. When she is in school she does "fine work," scoring 98-100 on tests McDonnell said, but it's hard to judge her potential with such a high rate of absenteeism he said.

"This is extremely serious," ruled Judge Donald Reesstra. "The girl's entire future is going down the drain." "As mother and guardian, it's your responsibility to get your child into school. I don't know how you're going to do it, but she's got to be there," he said. Earlier, White told the court that even though she calls her daughter every day to go to school, the 14-year-old won't get out of bed. "I tried talking to her, I hit her," she said, "but nothing works."

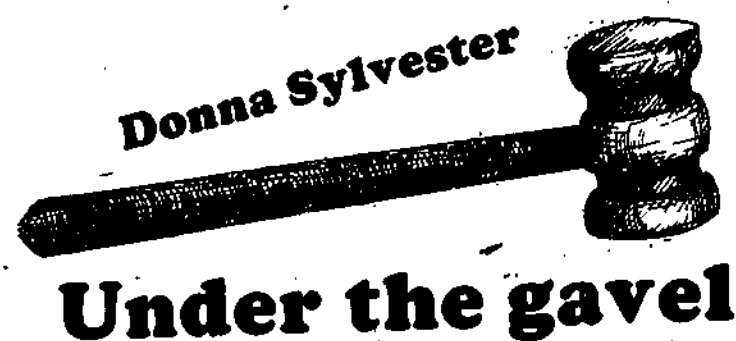

Since it was her first offense, White was fined $25 and $10 costs. It's going to be expensive for your daughter to keep missing school, the judge said, since each day is another offense and fines can go as high as $100.

Chris Finn of 99 Waldron Avenue, Glen Rock, was found guilty of assaulting two persons with a bar stool at The Parker Inn. "I saw a person with a bar stool running towards the door, but had no idea he was running at me," said Robert O'Keefe of 420 Weymouth Drive, Wyckoff. As he was leaving the bar, O'Keefe testified he was smacked on the forehead with a bar stool, which caused him to fall over a railing that was six feet high, breaking bones in his arm and rendering him unconscious. His friend, Gerald Hansen of 757 Fillmore court, testified that Finn also hit him with the bar stool, when he walked back up the steps of the tavern. Both men were assaulted about 10 minutes after playing an electronic-bowling game with Finn and his friends at the inn. O'Keefe reportedly made some remarks about his opponents going over the foul line, after losing the game.

A witness for the defense, Steve Bogert, testified that the bar stool was never lifted higher than O'Keefe's stomach and therefore couldn't have hit him in the head. The defendant's father testified that he overheard the state prosecutor, who was representing O'Keefe and Hansen, caution them about what to say at the hearing. The prosecutor reportedly said that the two would be in a more favorable light because they weren't represented by an attorney. However, Prosecutor Walter Dewey said he had cautioned them only to tell the truth — "the whole truth and nothing but the truth," he said.

After listening to all the testimony, the judge found Finn guilty of assault and considered sentencing him to the Passaic County Jail. "I'm sorry that all did happen," Finn said, "I didn't realize what I was doing. I had been drinking. I was totally wrong." Trying to keep his client out of prison, attorney Ralph Ferro reminded the judge that the charge was not aggravated assault, since O'Keefe fell over the railing as a result of a relatively "minor assault." Finn is going away to school in another three months, the lawyer said.

Narrowly escaping a jail term, Finn was fined $250 and $25 costs and ordered to give $25 to the Violent Crimes Compensation Board for each assault. Finn was placed on probation for two years which will not be supervised. "This is not going to happen again," said the judge, adding that it came very close to being aggravated assault.

A Pennsylvania man was found guilty of assaulting his ex-wife Judy Paruta of 40 Ashley Street. A counter complaint filed by Joseph Paruta of 1305 Norwood House Road, Downingtown, PA, was dismissed.

Recounting March 31 — the night of the assault, Judy Paruta testified her ex-husband brought her two children home after visitation hours. He punched her in the jaw, sending her backwards and causing her son whom she was holding in her arms, to fall to the ground, Mrs. Paruta said. She banged her head on the pavement of the driveway and scraped her right arm up to the elbow. After the swelling in her face didn't go down with ice packs, Judy Paruta went to the hospital for facial x-rays, he said.

In his complaint, Joseph Paruta claimed that Judy had punched him several times, even spit in his face, while he did nothing but take his children's belongings from the car. She was angry because the children were home 20 minutes late from a christening he said, and continued shouting obscenities at the woman in the car with him.

He admitted causing his wife to fall on the driveway, but said it accidentally occurred when he lifted his arm in self-defense to block her punches.

The judge found Joseph Paruta guilty of assaulting his ex-wife, but took into consideration when passing sentence the fact that she might have irritated the situation by screaming and yelling. Although Paruta could have been sent to jail, the judge instead fined him $100 and $15 costs. In addition, he must give $25 to the Violent Crimes Compensation Board.

The children are the ones who suffer, the judge said, because these scenes can leave emotional scars.

Jesse Jamison of 167 North 3rd Street, Paterson, pleaded guilty to driving on the revoked list. Ptl. Joseph Tobey said that he asked for identification and Jamison showed him a North Carolina driver's license. However, Tobey said he remembered the defendant from a previous court hearing, during which he was also charged with driving while on the revoked list, and ticketed him the following day, which was February 5.

The judge fined Jamison $300 and $25 costs, explaining that since he was in court many times before on similar charges, the minimum penalty wasn't sufficient. The only reason I'm not sending you to jail, he said, is because you have seven children to support. However, Jamison promised the judge that this would be his last court appearance, since his daughter is graduating from high school and going to college.

Stephen Danzi of 281 East 21st Avenue, Paterson, pleaded guilty to careless driving, explaining that he was rushing to meet his wife in labor at his mother's house, when he got into an accident, hitting a parked car. Asked about his driving record, his lawyer William De Marco said: "He drives for a living and has quite a few speeding tickets." Danzi was fined $25 and $15 costs, in addition to any action taken by the Division of Motor Vehicles. Also charged with failing to repair a tail light on his vehicle, Danzi was fined $10 and $10 court costs.

Charged with driving with two persons on a moped, John Hall of 177 Hillcrest Avenue pleaded guilty. When ticketed on May 1, Hall said, he was riding a friend, who had injured his leg. This was his first summons, said Hall, who has been operating a moped for a year and a half. A fine of $10 penalties and $10 court costs was assessed.

Fuel-switching is no nickel-and-dime proposition.

Before you go to the unnecessary expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition. Not only will you have to purchase all new equipment and pay to have it installed, but you'll also be paying to have the old equipment dismantled. Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than to go to all the expense that conversion entails? Now, especially with the new 15-percent tax credit for modernization of oil-burning equipment recently authorized by Congress, modernization is a more economical option than conversion. Call your independent heating oil dealer. He'll tell you how to get more for your heating dollar, for less.

The 19% solution is no solution at all

On Tuesday, June 2, New Jerseyans will go to the polls to nominate party candidates for Governor and all 120 seats of the State Legislature. New Jersey is one of only two states in the nation electing a governor this year and is the only state to elect both a governor and the entire state legislature.

Despite the national spotlight focused on New Jersey, it is likely that not more than 19% of the state's voting age citizens will actually cast ballots on June 2. That was the turnout in 1977, the year of the last gubernatorial primary. This year there are thirteen Democrats and eight Republicans competing to become their party's gubernatorial nominees. With a large field of candidates and fewer than one million votes anticipated, the impact of each person's vote is more obvious than ever.

New Jersey Secretary of State Donald Lan pointed out that "Impressively high voter turnout, such as that experienced in the two recent French presidential elections, reflects the vitality of the democratic form of government. Yet a low voter turnout has become a disturbing way of life in New Jersey and throughout the United States. Unless people begin to take the candidate selection process seriously they will continue to express dissatisfaction with the choices which others will make for them on primary day."

That dissatisfaction is often translated into low turnout at the general election and a negative feeling toward government, politics, and public officials. The time to break this cycle of alienation is now.

We live in an imperfect world and as long as candidates are human they will not be perfect, either. But we can make American politics better by taking a more active role in building responsive political parties which consistently nominate candidates of high quality. The first step which an individual can take in this direction is to vote in the primary election.

Any registered voter may vote on election day. The polls will be open from 7 am to 8 pm.

Roe should do well in Prospect Park

Dear editor,

The gubernatorial primary race is slowly coming to an end and next week it will all be over. There's been many changes in the election laws and one of the most significant is that independent voters can now vote for the candidates of their choice in the primary. Before this election, a voter had to be either a registered Democrat or Republican to vote in the primary.

Bob Roe, one of the leading Democratic candidates for governor, has always polled exceptionally well in Prospect Park in his congressional races, often winning the contest by a two-to-one majority. Yet, Republican registered voters in the borough outnumber Democrats by almost four to one.

It's obvious that in the general election, independent voters, who make up the majority, cast ballots for Roe.

Well, in this primary election they can do the same. However, at the polling booth, independents must declare themselves as a Democrat and the next day they can immediately switch back to their independent status by sending voter registration cards to the county board of election. The registration cards are easy to come by. They can be obtained at the municipal building.

So, the only persons in the borough and throughout the state who cannot vote for Bob Roe are those registered as Republicans ... everybody else can.

Four years ago when he ran for governor in the primary, Bob Roe got 90 percent of the vote...34,000 votes in Passaic County. If he is to win the primary this year he must get about 50,000 votes...that's the goal in Passaic County.

The Roe forces are counting on the independent vote, throughout the county and the state, to swing the election to their candidate. I have a feeling that for the first time Bob Roe will be the top primary vote-getter in Prospect Park.

Sincerely,
Bert Nawyn

For Kramer

Dear editor,

Remember what The New York Times said about Lawrence F. "Pat" Kramer? We do. And we couldn't agree more.

The Times said that Pat Kramer is "...the candidate Democrats fear most." And not without reason.

Pat has an outstanding track record as a businessman, cabinet member and mayor of 14 years. He has never lost an election.

Pat Kramer is probably the only Republican candidate who can beat the Democrats in November. You know it. We know it. The Democrats know it. So does The New York Times.

A vote for Pat Kramer on June 2 will get the Republican Party to Trenton where it belongs, in November.

Sincerely,
Joseph Riva

You Can Help Bring Bob Roe Home To Govern New Jersey

In times like these picking a Governor may just be one of the most important decisions we can make in New Jersey.

With 21 candidates of both parties all promising the moon it's difficult to figure out which one deserves to be Governor.

Since a politician can promise just about anything in a CAMPAIGN maybe the best way to judge them is not on what they SAY they'll do but what they've ALREADY DONE.

Let's look at Bob Roe. Experience? At every level of New Jersey Government. City Council, Mayor, Director of The County Board Of Freeholders, Commissioner of Conservation And Economic Development in The Dick Hughes Administration. And For 7 Terms, Roe Has Been a Member Of The Congress Representing New Jersey In Washington.

And how has Bob Roe done in Congress? A National Leader in Water Conservation, Economic Development, Job Creation, Protection Of Seniors' Rights, Energy, Crime Fighting And Of Course The Environment.

Bob Roe's effectiveness in fighting for New Jersey was confirmed by his own colleagues in the New Jersey delegation who voted Roe the single most effective New Jersey Congressman.

Auto racing scene

by Hank Nagelhouse

Tom Hager returned to Middletown's Orange County Fair Speedway in spectacular fashion Saturday night to capture the 50-lap modified stock car feature race. After a several week absence, Hager's Garden State Truck Plaza #76 convincingly outran the rest of the 32-car field enroute to his first win here in five years, the last one also being a 50-lapper. Runnerup Richie Eurich, who regained the point lead as three time winner Brett Hearn, of Kinnelon, was eliminated in an early race skirmish, was a straightaway behind the hard charging Easton Express at the checkered flag. Trailing Eurich across the line were Richie Smith, Midland Park's Larry Broisma, driving the Hawthorne Chevrolet #5 to another top five finish, and Chris Berton.

Over in the sportsman division, Wayne's Mike Petruska sprinted to his second victory of the season, taking over from Red Muir on the 19th lap of the 20 circuit main event. Muir settled for second ahead of Jeff Yasinsac, Mike Ricci and John Strupp. Second generation driver Steve Bottcher has taken a slim one point lead in his quest for the sportsman crown while Eurich retook the modified point lead. Racing continues every Saturday night with street stock action at 4:30 after which the sportsman and modifieds take to the track at 6:30.

Varsity wins BPSL league title

The Hawthorne Bears baseball varsity captured the Division II title of the BPSL Thursday with a 4-0 victory over Lodi. The local squad has a 15-8 record for the 1981 season.

In the Passaic County Baseball Tournament, the fifth-seeded Bears defeated Clifton 10-1 in the semi-finals. The resounding victory marked Hawthorne's seventh game in nine days behind the five-hit pitching of Bob Nolan. The right-hander has won four of his last five starts.

John Chiriac, right-fielder, hit a pair of singles and one double for six RBI. Nolan and Chris Ellerbrook hit back to back solo homers in the third inning and Ralph White added two RBI on two singles.

Last week the boys defeated Passaic County Tech 6-4 behind a three-run triple by Chiriac in the first inning.

White and Ellerbrook combined for three homers in an 11-8 win over Lodi. Ellerbrook was the winning pitcher in relief for Nolan.

Music therapy is being used at the University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City to relax women in labor. (Postscript: the same music seems to soothe the baby in later months.)

An insect sting kit should be part of the first-aid supplies of anyone sensitive to anaphylactic shock from bee or wasp stings, say doctors. Schools and camps should have them, too.

New computerized system helps anesthetist monitor breathing of patient. Spectrometer measures patient's inhaled and exhaled gases and relays data to a screen and printer.

Quick, low-cost, accurate kit uses an enzyme to confirm diagnosis of the viral or bacterial source of a patient's illness.

Boro resident making trip to California on moped

by Pam Hickman

Prospect Park — A 22-year-old borough resident has left on a trip from New Jersey to Southern California. The extraordinary aspect of this trip is that Robert A. Enyart, of 91 Savoy Place is making his travels on a moped.

"I'm estimating that it could take me five weeks but I'm going to take my time and stop at a lot of parks and do a lot of camping. I plan to cover 100 miles a day," he said about the trip for which he departed on May 18.

Enyart's destination for this adventuresome trip is a church called Calvary Chapel where he will visit Pastor Chuck Smith who's on WWDJ AM at 5 am and 6 pm.

"Gas and oil will only cost about $36. Aside from flat tires, and brake adjustments, there should be no major repairs. However I did get the names and numbers of 35 moped dealers along my route if I need help. The Moped Association of America, located in Washington D.C. was very helpful in explaining which roadways allow legal access for mopeds. I plan on paralleling Route 50 across the country."

The equipment that Enyart will have with him includes camping gear, a tent, a sleeping bag, and a fishing pole. "I plan on eating off the land as much as possible," he stated.

He spoke of the advantages of this type of travel compared to others going to West Virginia, for example. There is nothing more than five hours of trees along the side of the road. But on a moped you can experience the land and enjoy what nature has to offer in each state along the line.

When questioned about the amount of danger in his trip Enyart responded, "I know there's a certain amount of risk, such as meeting up with thieves. But I feel that God will keep me safe. I'm sure it's all up to Him and what's in His will."

Enyart lived in Hawthorne for 10 years and attended St. Anthony's School. He then went to Manchester Regional High School and on to Nyack College, majoring in theology for one year.

Enyart will be traveling on a Motocane moped which he feels is "the best for the trip."

After spending the summer in California working, "I may sell my moped and save some money from working, buy a plane ticket and come home in luxury."

"Hopefully," Enyart concluded, "People will realize that mopeds are not just a passing fad but a valid means of transportation that are here to stay."

Prospect Park Patter

Garbage costs may increase

by Bert Nawyn

The borough could be hit for more costs in its garbage disposal contract when the only two landfills in Kearny close on May 31. Prospect Park's garbage is dumped here and other arrangements will have to be made when the facility closes.

Beginning in June the garbage will be crushed in the Hackensack Meadowlands Development Commission's second trash baler. The additional cost to the borough is unknown at the present time.

When Councilman Bob Mulder brought this fact to the attention of the council at its last meeting, Mayor Nick De Graaf exclaimed, "This is going to cost us extra money...money we have not included in the budget. How can they do this without talking first to us and determining whether we can afford it."

The reason is that the HMDC negotiates with the trash hauler and not with the community. The hauler then bills the borough for the extra cost.

At the present time the contractor pays $3.70 a ton to dump in the Kearny open landfill. At the baler it presently costs $8.70. Garbage collection, which now costs $60,000 a year, would double the garbage pickup cost to $120,000. That's about 18 tax points.

The only relief in sight is a proposal by the HMDC to charge $5 a ton. This flat fee is coming up for a hearing before the end of the month.

Anthony Scardino, executive director of the HMDC, stated, "The proposal of $5 a ton will really mean only a minimal hike and if you take Paterson as an example, rate averaging will increase the garbage collection cost by only $2 per household per year."

One baler is already being operated by the HMDC and the second baler would take trash and garbage from Passaic and Hudson Counties. The garbage is compressed into solid units the size of a large refrigerator. These solid blocks can then be used as foundations and "stone walls" along sea and ocean fronts such as Liberty Park.

No matter what is done, it's going to cost the borough more. The cheapest cost is estimated at about $4,000, based on the projections given by Scardino.

This is the season for beefsteak dinners and there's an outdoor beefsteak scheduled for June 6 at Terrace Lake on Route 23 in Butler. In the event of rain, the beefsteak will be held in the huge pavilion on the grounds. The affair starts at 7 pm. Reservations can be made with either Hubert Dyk of 77 Struyk Avenue or Bert Nawyn of Brown Avenue.

It's hard to believe, but the Empire State Building is 50 years old this month. You can see the building from the look-out pavilion in Hofstra Park where there's a magnificent view of the New York skyline.

Remember when the building was built. We've been to the top many times throughout the years and the view on a clear day is breathtaking. Just for a few statistics on the building, King Kong was the only one to climb to the top of the Empire State Building...there were 25 persons who jumped off or out of the building to their death...and on Saturday, July 25, 1945, at 9:50 am, the pilot of a B-25 bomber, lost in the fog, crashed into the 79th floor, setting the building on fire and killing three in the plane and 11 in the building.

Three towns to appeal Manchester school budget

by Donna Sylvester
North Haledon — The three sending districts to Manchester Regional High School consented Tuesday to appeal State Board of Education Commissioner Fred Burke's decision to restore $140,000 to the 1981-82 school budget. The Manchester budget was voted down by the people on election day and cut by the mayor and council of each municipality, said Mayor John Carbone of North Haledon, but the commission "restored" it for the board of education, he said.

Learning the hard way that a license must be signed

Prospect Park — Harold Obert of 94 Passaic Avenue, Hawthorne, learned the hard way that when a person receives a driver's license from the State of New Jersey, the first thing he should do is sign it. Obert, who was stopped by the police for a routine check, did not have his driver's license signed.

The fine was $30 since the defendant failed to appear for the trial originally scheduled for April 29. When Obert stated he was unemployed, visiting Municipal Court Judge David Azar gave him until June 10 to pay the $30. He warned, "If it's not paid by June 10 you must come back in court."

John Derosa of 151 Watching Ave., Hawthorne, pleaded guilty to driving without a license. When Azar asked the defendant how long he had been driving without a license, Derosa said, "I've had a permit." He told Azar he again has a permit. Derosa was fined $70.

Ethel Kaufman of 51 Linda Vista Avenue, North Haledon, parked in a prohibited area on the wrong side of the street on Lakeshore Drive and was fined $10. Kaufman explained she did not see the "no parking" sign since she had parked on the wrong side of the street. She remarked, "It was crazy circumstances."

Anita Veal of 362 East 28th Street, Paterson, was fined $75 for not having license plates displayed on her car in the proper places. Veal said a license plate was propped up in the back window but apparently fell down. The defendant asked how long she would have to pay the $75. When Judge Azar asked her when she was last paid, Veal replied, "I don't know." Azar replied, "In that case pay the fine by Friday." Veal shot back, "I'll pay it tonight."

North Haledon, the two towns in person and officials from Prospect Park over the phone agreed to appropriate money for the services of Borough Attorney Vincent Rigoli of North Haledon and a consultant to argue the appeal. Since it would cost more for each municipality to hire its own lawyer, the towns agreed to pay a percentage of the legal fees, which will not cost more than $10,000.

Based on its share of the Manchester budget, North Haledon will pay not more than 55 percent of the costs of litigation; Prospect Park will pay not more than 26 percent; and Haledon — a figure not approving Friday the appropriation of money for an appeal.

Also at the special meeting, the towns reached accord on the amount they want cut from the Manchester budget, if they win the appeal. At the budget hearing before Assistant Commissioner of Education Vincent Calabrese, Haledon was seeking $200,000 in reductions, while the other two boroughs wanted $150,000 removed. "Whether the towns could agree (on a figure) is a matter of history," said James Rutenberg, the finance chairman of the North Haledon Borough Council.

Three Paterson men apprehended

Prospect Park — An alert patrolman last week spotted a car stolen in Paterson and apprehended three men accused of assault and battery. Ptl. Fred Schwaner was turning into Haledon Avenue from North Sixth Street about 2 o'clock in the morning when he spotted a yellow car traveling up Haledon Avenue. Earlier in the night he had received a report of a yellow stolen car.

Schwaner stopped the vehicle at the intersection of Haledon Avenue and North Seventh Street and arrested Michael Pace of 189 Twelfth Avenue, Leroy Thomas of 16 Matlock Street, and Andre Pancer of 270 Broadway, all of Paterson.

The trio is accused of stealing the car of William King, of 166 Burgess Street, Passaic, and assaulting the man. They were also given a summons by Schwaner for unlawfully taking the vehicle and will appear before Municipal Court Judge James Evers on June 27. All three were remanded to the county jail.

Schwaner was assisted by Sgt. Howard Zuidema and the Paterson police.

'Pooper scooper' ordinance enforced

and $5 court costs, because it was her first offense. If it happens again, the judge said, she will get more than the minimum fine.

In an interview Wednesday, Van Beuzekom said that a problem with dogs defecating in the park on the corner of Victor and Florence has reportedly existed for more than 20 years. "One neighbor said it was a problem, when her kids were growing up," said Van Beuzekom — a resident of the area, known as Grand View Manor, for the last seven years.

"It's such a lovely neighborhood, it's unfair for children who want to play ball" to come home with their shoes covered with dog dirt that has to be removed, said Van Beuzekom who decided to take action against people who went so far as to drive their dogs in cars to the park and to let the canines do their duty. Sometimes the dogs can't wait until they get to the park and defecate on somebody's front lawn, she said.

"We just wanted everyone to cooperate," said a neighbor Diane Amoruso of 116 Cornell Avenue. "I had a dog for three years and I picked up after it," she said, explaining that with a plastic device, called a pooper scooper, people can pick up after their dogs without touching anything.

"It's not fair to single out one person, when others do it too," Van Beuzekom said, "but most neighbors were cooperative," when asked to clean up after their dogs so that children could use the park.

Their first course of action was to speak to area residents and put signs up around the park, warning that allowing dogs to defecate on the property was prohibited. The neighborhood children, having learned in school to act on what's wrong, made signs out of poster paper, she said, but someone took the signs down. A sign was erected Thursday by the borough, reminding residents to curb their dogs, but that's not the same thing, she said.

Next the children considered walking around with signs or starting a petition to give the issue more publicity, but decided against it.

The issue shouldn't end with a fine for one woman, Van Beuzekom said. "It's such a nice town I want people to think twice about it." "The police will enforce the law more if the citizens do," she said, adding that the law is enforced in New York City.

Library news

Children's films tomorrow

As part of the last Friday film series, the Hawthorne Public Library has scheduled three short films for children on May 29 at 3:45 pm. The films are entitled: The Marble, Mary Kate's War, and Pancho.

In The Marble, a fantastic adventure develops when a boy loses his prize marble.

Of historic interest, Mary Kate's War is the story of Mary Katherine Goodard, postmistress of Baltimore and publisher of the Maryland Journal. In February 1777, she published a letter which got her into serious trouble with the Baltimore Whig Club. In the resulting confrontation, she upheld the right of freedom of the press.

Based on the book by Berta and Elmer Hader, Pancho is the delightful tale of a young Mexican boy who succeeded in roping and capturing a wild bull which had terrorized his village.

The program is open to all children free of charge.

National parks program

On June 1, at 8 pm, the library will present Grand Canyon and John Muir's High Sierra, two films depicting the natural beauty of our national parks.

Grand Canyon, a very colorful and exciting film, shows that the canyon is a universe in itself and that a living river is vital to keeping it alive. At the same time, it is a plea for the preservation of America's wilderness heritage.

Yosemite National Park is the scene of John Muir's High Sierra. Magnificent color photography, accompanied by exquisite music and eloquent commentary, pays tribute to the mountains, valleys, streams, flora and fauna of the park. The films are free and open to the public.

TOM KEAN ... a political leader with good news for New Jersey!

A Litmus Test in New Jersey

The New Jersey Republican primary on June 2 promises to be the year's first test at the polls for Ronald Reagan's economic ideas. This week Tom Kean, the Republican front runner for the New Jersey governorship, plans to unveil a supply-side program modeled on Reagan's; it would cut business taxes in half, reduce the state sales tax by 20% and slash government spending. As they gear up for the 36 statehouse races due in 1982, both Republicans and Democrats will be closely watching voter reaction to the Kean plan, which was drafted by advisers to New York Congressman Jack Kemp and economists from Rutgers University.

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY, JUNE 2

Paid for by Walter R. Dewey, 81 Hillcrest Avenue, Hawthorne, NJ 07506
