Departmentalized sixth grade approved

by Donie Davies

A plan to departmentalize the sixth grade was unanimously approved by the Board of Directors after a close vote of 6-1. The proposal would mean that all students would be assigned to classroom sections, each of which would specialize in a particular subject.

Amazed at the prospect of having three sections of 25 students each in the Lincoln School, about 20 persons, including the deputy superintendent of schools, attended the meeting in order to study the plan.

The board’s attempt to create five-size classes of 25 students in the Lincoln School is expected to give the Lincoln School a chance to spread out and get back in the running.

According to the superintendent, the new plan is expected to give the Lincoln School a chance to spread out and get back in the running.

Coaching takes the stand, testifies about his arrest

by Donie Davies

"I coached the team against the team that played in the national championship," the superintendent testified. "But that team, the Supremes, was too good."

When asked if there was any other team that could have won, the superintendent replied, "I don't know."

Responding to his parents' question of whether or not he had any regrets about his arrest, the superintendent said, "I don't know."

Two drivers injured in crash

Two drivers were injured in a traffic crash on U.S. 101 near the 101/80 interchange in California. The crash occurred at approximately 6 p.m. on December 15, 1984.

A Toyota Camry, driven by Robert Smith, 25, of Los Angeles, collided with a Ford Escort, driven by John Johnson, 28, of Santa Monica.

Both drivers were transported to the hospital in serious condition. Smith was treated for head injuries and Johnson for arm injuries.

The cause of the crash is under investigation by the California Highway Patrol.
Testimony by witness settles assault case

A case filed over from the preceeding week was settled out of court by agreement of the parties, it was reported. Judge Arthur W. Scott of Superior Court was a witness, and, according to the report, the case involved a suit by a certain defendant against a certain plaintiff, alleging assault and battery.

Restitution ordered

Restitution was ordered in a case involving the theft of property. The court ordered the defendant to pay restitution to the victim, and the amount was set at $200, which was to be paid in monthly installments.

Sixth grade program

The school board is considering a proposal for a sixth grade program. The proposal includes a combination of classroom instruction and field trips to various places of interest. The board is expected to make a decision on the proposal in the near future.

Water rates are going up and we’re not surprised

In our February 24th editorial, we referred our readers that one of the side effects of water rate increases would be the impact of these increases on the overall budget of the city. We noted that many city departments, including the Recreation and Parks Department, would be seeing increases in their operating budgets due to the increased water costs.

According to Frank Lamba, the city’s public works supervisor, the increase in water rates will affect all departments, from the parks to the recreation centers. "Our goal is to make sure that all departments are able to provide the same level of service with the new rates," he said.

Approximately 80% of the city’s budget is tied to water costs, so the increase will have a significant impact on the overall budget. "We are working with the city council to find ways to offset the cost of the increase," Lamba said.

The increase in water rates is expected to affect all customers, from residents to businesses. "We are working to ensure that all customers are aware of the increase and that they understand the impact it will have on their bills," said Tom Brown, the city’s utilities manager.

The increase in water rates is expected to result in increased revenue for the city, which will help offset the costs associated with providing water and sewer services. "We are working to ensure that the increase is sufficient to cover the costs of providing these services," Brown said.

The increase in water rates will go into effect on May 1st. Customers will receive increased bills in May, and the increase will continue throughout the year. Customers are encouraged to contact the city’s customer service department if they have any questions or concerns about the increase.

If you have any questions or concerns about the increase, please contact the city’s customer service department at (555) 123-4567.

Feenhan's beats Hook Supply, takes top spot in Division 2

Feenhan's has finally won its second consecutive title in the Division Two league. The team, consisting of 15 players, defeated Hook Supply 4-1 in the final game on May 2. The victory was the result of a hard-fought battle between the two teams, which had been neck-and-neck throughout the season. The championship win means that Feenhan's will move up to Division Three next year.

Mary Beth's, succeeding auburn-haired Mary Beth Smith, will headline Feenhan's for the upcoming season. Smith, a former member of the All-Star team, will bring her wealth of experience and leadership to the team. The team's other notable players include Tom Smith, John Thompson, and Mike Jones.

The Division Two season was marked by close contests between Feenhan's and Hook Supply. The teams played three matches, with each winning one and the other two ending in draws. Feenhan's won the championship on goal difference.

The Division Three team will be selected from the remaining teams in Division Two. They will play a round-robin tournament to determine the new champion.

One more thing to note: Feenhan's has announced its plans to expand its facilities next year, with the addition of a new training center. This will undoubtedly help the team's chances of success in the future.

Attempt on the pope's life — a new age of barbarism

Yesterday's assassination attempt on Pope Paul VI, coming nine days after a similar attack on his predecessor, John Paul II, brought fresh reminders of shock and indignation throughout the world. The pope, the most popular of all popes in modern history, was entering St. Peter's Square in the Vatican when the gun went off. The last radio broadcasts we heard prior to our own were of the pope's thank you to the faithful who had turned out in Rome; two bullets had been fired from the pope's abdomen along with two sections of his intestine. Although surgery was underway, the pope's condition was better than originally expected. His death does not appear to be imminent.

Italian police had already apprehended one of the attackers, a Turkish-born national security officer. This attack, however, was not confirmed as we went to press and by the time our paper reached Boston, the telephoto media should have provided much more detail.

Pope Paul asked himself in his address to the faithful the day before: "What has happened to the world as the 'friendly pope' maniacsdéclared to be?" The assassination attempt marks the second time this pope has faced such a threat: in 1985, he survived an assassination attempt in Assisi. As he told the faithful, it shows that the violence is present in America in a problem that this is "a world-wide problem."

Pope John Paul II is expected to return to the main church of the Vatican this week. The pope may be present at the funeral of the late pope, who clearly and powerfully touched the hearts of many.

A round of applause for HS production

Dear Editor,

I remember fondly the wonderful productions at the High School in the past. I was a member of the rope-shy department in the 1960s. Now, I am a member of the HS staff. I see the same enthusiasm and dedication in the current production of "The Music Man." I attended the opening night performance and was blown away by the talent and hard work that went into putting on such a great show. The entire cast and crew should be applauded for their efforts.

Sincerely,

Jane Doe

A note of thanks

Your efforts have not gone unnoticed, and I am grateful for the learning environment you have created. The High School is truly a special place, and I am honored to be a part of it.

Sincerely,

Jane Doe

Cafeteria closed in Haledon

North Haledon — For the first time in the history of the North Haledon Cafeteria, which has been a popular lunch spot for high school students and closed the cafeteria for the rest of the school year.

The reason for the closure of the cafeteria, which had been in operation for 19 years, is due to a lack of funds. The school district decided to close the cafeteria due to financial constraints.

Local pastor, Reverend John Smith, stated, "The decision to close the cafeteria was not an easy one, but it was necessary due to the financial constraints faced by the school district."

The cafeteria, which was located in the high school, served breakfast, lunch, and dinner to students, faculty, and staff.

"We understand the inconvenience this will cause for our students, but we hope they will understand the necessity for this decision," added Smith.

The cafeteria will remain closed until further notice.

Fuel-switching is no nickel-and-dime proposition.

Before you go to the plumbing supply store or to change your heating fuel from one type to another, you should consider the following questions.

1. Is the price of the fuel you're considering going to save you money?
2. Is the quality of the fuel you're considering going to meet your heating needs?
3. Is the fuel you're considering going to be safe to use in your heating equipment?

If you're not sure about any of these questions, it's best to consult with a heating contractor or a heating fuel supplier.

No spraying for gypsy moths

Gypsy moth eggs and larvae are now considered controlled pests in New Jersey. This year's damage was below the healthy level. Since the discovery of the moth in 1950, the gypsy moth has been declared a pest of serious concern, and its presence in the state is regulated by the Department of Agriculture. In 1986, New Jersey became the first state to pass a law allowing for the spraying of gypsy moth larvae in response to an infestation. The law permitted the spraying of gypsy moths in residential areas, and the spraying continued until 1992. Despite these efforts, the gypsy moth population has continued to grow. In 1995, the state imposed a new ban on the spraying of gypsy moths, and the population continues to grow unchecked.

Dramatic and dynamic characters and scenes from Shakespeare's "Othello" are being portrayed in a special presentation being held at the Hawthorne High School. "Pooper scooper" law enforced

In an effort to eliminate the mess created by dogs, the town of Hawthorne has passed a law requiring dog owners to "pooper scooper." This law requires dog owners to pick up their dog's poop within 24 hours of defecation.

The law was passed in response to complaints from residents who were fed up with the mess created by dogs. The law was met with mixed reactions from dog owners, who were divided on whether the law was necessary.

The law was enforced by a special team of "pooper scoopers," who were hired by the town to patrol the streets and pick up the dog poop.

The 19% solution is no solution at all

On Tuesday, June 2, New Jerseyans will go to the polls to nominate party candidates for Governor and for all 120 seats of the State Legislature. New Jersey is one of only two states in the nation where the people actually vote for their state legislature. Due to a constitutional amendment in 1947, one of the state's two houses, the Senate, is elected by the people at-large. The other house, the House of Assembly, is elected by the people in each county and the cities, towns, and boroughs. In order to reach the convention, a candidate must win the state-wide primary. While the primary is the most important election of the year, it is also the least understood. The primary is a winner-take-all electoral system, where the candidate with the most votes wins. This system has been in place in New Jersey since 1947 and has become the defining feature of the state's political landscape. The primary is designed to filter out candidates who do not have broad support across the state. This is in contrast to the general election, where candidates are chosen by delegates at a state convention. In the primary, candidates are judged on their ability to mobilize a broad base of support. This has led to the emergence of a two-party system in New Jersey, with the Democratic and Republican parties dominating the political landscape. The primary is a key component of this system, as it allows candidates to build a broad coalition of support. However, this system also has its drawbacks. The winner-take-all primary means that a candidate who wins a narrow majority of the vote can win the nomination, even if they are not the choice of the majority of voters. This can result in candidates who are not the most popular choice winning the nomination. Additionally, the primary system can result in a lack of diverse candidates running for office, as candidates from minority groups may not have the resources to win a primary. The 19% solution is no solution at all. The primary system is not a solution to the problems of the current political system. It is a flawed system that needs to be reformed. The primary system should be replaced with a more inclusive system that allows for a broader range of candidates to run for office. A system that is more representative of the voters' preferences would be more effective in solving the problems of the current political system.

Three towns to appeal Manchester school budget

By Donna Doghecia     THE HAWTHORNE PRESS     May 20, 1981

Three towns—South Hawthorne, Haledon and Paterson—have decided to appeal to the State Supreme Court their deficit budget. The highest deficit is in Paterson, which has a deficit of $9.6 million.

South Hawthorne, with a population of 2,000, has a deficit of $1.8 million. The deficit in Haledon, with 5,000 residents, is $4.8 million.

The towns have decided to appeal because they believe the State has not been fair in its allocation of state aid. They claim the aid formula is outdated and does not take into account the needs of the towns.

TOM KEAN ... a political leader with good news for New Jersey!

Newsweek

A Litmus Test in New Jersey

The New Jersey Republican primary on June 2 promises to be the year's first test at the polls for Ronald Reagan's economic ideas. This week Tom Kean, the Republican front runner for the New Jersey governorship, plans to unveil a supply-side program modeled on Reagan's: it would cut business taxes in half, reduce the state sales tax by 20% and slash government spending. As they gear up for the 36 statehouse races due in 1982, both Republicans and Democrats will be closely watching voter reaction to the Kean plan, which was drafted by advisers to New York Congressman Jack Kemp and economists from Rutgers University.
