Corpsmen gain two seats on committee

By Miss Madel

The conclusion of the 1978-1979 academic year will mark the start of a new era for the Hawthorne Post. The corpsmen, who have long been a part of the school's history, are poised to gain representation on the committee that governs the school's affairs.

A story with a happy ending

The corpsmen's victory is the result of a long struggle for recognition and inclusion. The movement began several years ago, when a group of corpsmen, frustrated by the lack of representation, decided to take action. They met with administrative officials and presented their case, arguing that the corpsmen are a vital part of the school's community and should have a voice in its governance.

The administration was initially resistant, citing budget constraints and other logistical challenges as reasons for rejecting the corpsmen's proposal. However, the corpsmen remained steadfast, continuing to press their case through various channels. Their persistence paid off when the school's administration finally relented, agreeing to create a new committee that would include corpsmen representatives.

The corpsmen are now in the process of selecting their representatives, and they are looking forward to working with the new committee to address issues that are important to them. They hope that their presence on the committee will help to ensure that the needs and concerns of the corpsmen are taken into account.

Tenants re-evaluating proposed ordinance

By Miss Madel

The city council approved a new ordinance that would require tenants to pay their rent on time. The ordinance was met with mixed reactions, with some tenants arguing that it was unfair and others expressing relief that the problem of late payments was being addressed.

The ordinance requires tenants to pay their rent by the 10th of each month, with a $20 late fee for payments received after the 10th. Tenants who are unable to pay their rent on time will have to pay the late fee, in addition to the rent they owe.

The ordinance was introduced in response to a growing number of tenants who were falling behind on their rent payments. The city council hopes that the new ordinance will help to improve the financial stability of the city by ensuring that tenants are paying their rent on time.

Master Plan hearing November 14

The Master Plan hearing is being held on November 14 to discuss the city's future development plans. The hearing is open to the public, and anyone interested in the city's plans is encouraged to attend.

The Master Plan is a comprehensive document that outlines the city's long-term goals and objectives. It includes plans for new developments, such as parks and recreation areas, as well as plans to improve existing facilities.

The hearing is an opportunity for residents to learn about the city's plans and to provide feedback on the Master Plan. The city council will consider the public comments when making decisions about the city's future development.
Car damage case thrown out of court

Under the gavel

The judge ordering the defendant's bond to be posted was the chief justice of the court. He had ruled that the case was too complex to try in this court and that a new trial should be held in another court.

The attorney general had argued that the evidence was too contradictory to be presented in a fair trial. The judge agreed and dismissed the case.

Press table tidbits

- In New Mexico, the state's highest court has ordered the immediate release of a man who was sentenced to life in prison for a crime he did not commit.
- A new study has found that climate change is causing an increase in the frequency of extreme weather events, such as hurricanes and floods.
- The U.S. government has announced plans to build a new border wall along the southern border of the country.

Electoral Day Tuesday: Remember to go to the polls

Haywood has no local elections next Tuesday, but our neighbors in North Carolina do. Haywood and Swain Prospect Park and have been consulting the issues and issues there. The meeting is being held on the third Thursday of each month at the Franklin Community Center. Meetings are open to the public and are held on the third Thursday of each month.

The next issue is in North Carolina elections, where the Haywood Advisory Board and the Haywood County Democratic Committee are holding a public meeting on Tuesday, November 2, at 7 PM at the Franklin Community Center. The meeting is open to the public and is being held on the third Thursday of each month.

Although we're not a political party, we're glad to support the candidates, especially those who have shown an interest in local issues. Our goal is to improve the quality of life for all residents, not just for the few who vote. The more people who vote, the better our democracy.

Praise for Roe

Newspapers of the world congratulate Roe on her victory in the Supreme Court case. Roe v. Wade has been hailed as a victory for women's rights and a step forward in the fight for reproductive rights. It has been hailed as a victory for women's rights and a step forward in the fight for reproductive rights.

Also for Girgenti

On October 20, 1973, Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall argued a case before the Court. It was a landmark case that would help to bring about the Roe v. Wade decision.

Additional charges filed

More charges have been filed against Roe and others. The charges include conspiracy to commit murder and other offenses. This is a serious charge and will likely result in a long prison sentence.

ups and downs

Thumbs Up

Great job on the new calendar! It's looking good and we're excited to see what's coming up. Keep up the good work.

Thumbs Down

It's a shame that the Haywood Times is not more involved in the community. It seems to be more interested in national politics than local issues.

Vandals cause damage all over town — none caught

Dr. Marc Mendel
October 25

A visitor to the town of Hayward this week was Joseph Di Giacomo of New Bedford, Mass.

A 9-year-old boy, whom police said was between the ages of 8 and 10, was arrested for malicious destruction of property in the town.

The boy was seen walking alone in the area when he was stopped by police who asked him what he was doing. The boy then admitted to the vandalism.

It is believed that the boy was responsible for the destruction of property in the area, including several car windows and mailboxes.

Police are continuing to investigate the incident and are looking for any additional suspects.

The town is working to repair the damage caused by the vandalism.

Bus flips over, but driver is acquitted

By Marc Mendel

A woman was killed in a bus crash in Southborough on Wednesday, according to police.

The driver of the bus, who was not identified, was charged with operating a vessel while under the influence of alcohol.

Police said the bus was traveling on Route 9 when it struck a pole and flipped over.

The crash caused minor injuries to several passengers.

The bus was carrying 20 people, and police said the driver was not wearing a seatbelt.

Update - Update Suspicious

By Marc Mendel

A police officer has been suspended without pay pending an internal investigation.

The officer, who was not identified, was accused of using his influence to influence an investigation into a possible criminal offense.

The investigation is being conducted by the department's internal affairs division.

The officer has been suspended without pay pending the outcome of the investigation.

Kearns takes issue with Blau's ads

North Haledon - Mayor Blau's recent ads攻击ing the candidates in the upcoming November 7 election have been accused of violating the town's ethics code and raised questions about the candidates' campaign strategies.

Kearns, a candidate for mayor, said that the ads were不公平 and misleading. Kearns said that they were intended to promote his own campaign and undermine the opposition.

"They are an attempt to confuse voters about my qualifications," Kearns said. "I believe that the ads are unfair and improper." Kearns added that he would lodge a complaint with the town's ethics board.

Blau's ads have been criticized by some members of the community for their aggressive tactics. Kearns said that he would take legal action if necessary.

State cites safety hazards

New Jersey - The state has cited several schools in North Haledon for safety hazards.

The state's Department of Environmental Protection has issued citations to several schools in the town for violating building codes and safety regulations.

The state has given the schools 30 days to correct the violations, or they will face further enforcement actions.

Incumbents answer charges by Democratic team

Prospect Park - Councillors Peter Adams, seeking re-election at next week's May 4 municipal elections, Monday charged that the proposed change in the police department's budget by the Democratic controlled city council, will result in added crime.

"The police department's budget is now out of hand," said Adams. "We spent $2.5 million on a new building and we were told it wasn't needed, and the police department has been told to cut down on their force."

"In the past, we were able to keep up with the demands of the community and the council was fair. But now, the council is not giving us the funds needed to maintain the police department."

"The police department needs more officers in order to keep up with the demands of the community."

Prospect Park - The councilman's vote for a special election for mayor of the borough was not unanimous, the councilman said he would be in favor of a special election.

"I voted for the special election to give the people a chance to vote on the issue," said the councilman. "I believe it is the right thing to do.

"But I also believe that the council should be more open to considering the needs of the community."

Congratulations, Carbone

North Hanover has a new mayor for the first time in 18 years. Bob Carbone, who was the top vote getter in the last municipal election, emerged with only about 30 votes more than Alvin Inf. In previous elections, we expressed the opinion that the longitude mayor could always go out of office with a friend. When the final election results came in, Bob told reporters that he had served as mayor 18 years and completed how the people were not satisfied. This is not our case. We heard many citi-

den who, who have no sit in the North Hanover race. The Republican party, led by the mayors in the state, has won in recent cases in which Democrats have played by the rules. North Hanover election was one of those areas where it wasn't easy to win, we may that the other way.

The GOP party is alive and kicking despite a Democratic tide that swept the state with the Brady Face vote. David Novotny, state Republican chairman, is heartened by the strong showing against incumbents like Andrew Magness and Edward Pancoast. The party also showed strength in the defense of Ellen Murphy in the 13th district.

The Pennsu County GOP is not as troubled. Two worded. Linus Hildeman and Joseph Bowers, who provided the leadership of the minority party in that state, could not maintain the Democratic turn. Not that the rank was impressive. Last year the Republican, under the leadership of

Bears shut out Waldwick 12-0

The Hawthorne Bears blanked the Waldwick Warriors under the Friday night spotlight in a nonconference game. The Bears gained the 12-0 decision, their fifth straight victory. The Bears, who are now 5-0, will host Ridgewood on Friday night. The Bears' defense was stingy, allowing the Warriors only 125 yards of total offense. The Bears scored on a 2-yard run by Mark Zuckerman, who later added a 36-yard touchdown run. The Bears' defense was led by Steve Johnson, who had 13 tackles.

Counsel unhappy about work-day layoffs

Prospect Park - Workaday drudgery was the order of the day for the employees of the Grand Opening of The Pasta Factory on November 9, 1978.

The event was heralded as the opening of a new era in the city's culinary landscape, promising to introduce innovative recipes and a fresh perspective on Italian cuisine. However, the reality of the situation was less glamorous, as many employees found themselves faced with unprecedented challenges.

According to reports, the work environment was fraught with difficulties, with long hours and demanding tasks leaving little room for personal growth or development. The lack of recognition for the hard work put in by the employees was a significant source of frustration.

A spokesperson for the Grand Opening of The Pasta Factory stated, "Our goal was to create a positive and productive work environment. However, the circumstances we are facing are beyond our control. We are committed to working closely with our employees to address these issues and ensure a better future for all involved."

Despite the challenges, the Grand Opening of The Pasta Factory remains steadfast in its commitment to excellence. The team is dedicated to providing customers with the highest quality products and services, and they are determined to overcome the current obstacles.

Interference charges fly high

The Pasta Factory - Following the recent announcement of a significant increase in interference charges, the Grand Opening of The Pasta Factory has been forced to review its pricing strategy.

The Interference Committee for The Pasta Factory has recommended an increase of 10% to cover the rising costs associated with the interference charges. This decision has been met with mixed reactions from customers, who have expressed concern that the increase may impact their ability to continue patronizing the establishment.

In a statement, a spokesperson for The Pasta Factory said, "We understand and appreciate the concerns of our customers. However, the increase is necessary to ensure that we can continue to provide the high-quality products and services that our customers have come to expect."

The Grand Opening of The Pasta Factory encourages its customers to continue supporting the establishment, emphasizing the importance of maintaining a cohesive community.

The Pasta Factory - Grand Opening of The Pasta Factory has taken place, marking a significant milestone in the city's culinary history. Designed to bring together a diverse range of tastes and flavors, the establishment aims to redefine the Italian dining experience.

With a focus on fresh ingredients and traditional recipes, The Pasta Factory is committed to offering a unique and authentic dining experience. The menu features a wide selection of pasta dishes, as well as a variety of pizzas, salads, and desserts, all prepared with care and precision.

The grand opening was attended by a capacity crowd, who were treated to a special performance by a local band and a ribbon-cutting ceremony officiated by the mayor. The atmosphere was electric, with guests enjoying the vibrant and lively ambiance of the new establishment.

As part of the celebrations, The Pasta Factory offered a special introductory offer, providing guests with a complimentary glass of wine with the purchase of any meal. This gesture was well-received by the patrons, who were grateful for the attention to detail.

The Grand Opening of The Pasta Factory looks forward to a bright future, with plans to expand its menu and offerings in the coming months. The establishment is committed to providing customers with the best possible experience, and it is already receiving positive reviews from those who have visited.

With its commitment to quality and authenticity, The Pasta Factory is expected to become a go-to destination for food lovers looking for a taste of Italy in the heart of the city. The establishment is looking forward to welcoming all guests to enjoy its unique offerings and join in the celebration of this exciting new chapter in the city's culinary landscape.

Elmo's back and that's all

By Florio Evangel

Elmo, the beloved red monster from Sesame Street, was recently diagnosed with a medical condition that has caused him to lose some of his iconic features. The condition is known as Elmo's Back, as it affects the red coloration of his body.

Elmo's Back is a condition that has been affecting Elmo for some time, but it was only recently diagnosed by medical professionals. The condition affects the pigments in Elmo's skin, causing a reddish tint to fade and appear more pink in certain areas.

The condition is not life-threatening, but it has caused some concern among fans of the beloved character. sesame street, elmo, children, children's television, elmo's back, medical condition, sesame street character, cultural icon, television icon, children's entertainment.
Teachers’ trials referred to prosecutor

The trial of two Hawthorne High School teachers who made a police report in 1978 that caused the death of a student has been referred to a prosecutor.

The school district has filed a $50 million lawsuit against the two teachers, seeking damages for the student's death.

The teachers, who were accused of misconduct, have been placed on leave pending the outcome of the trial.

The student's family has filed a separate lawsuit against the school district, alleging that the teachers failed to report the student's behavior.

Under the gavel

During the trial, the teachers' defense lawyers argued that their actions were justified and that they had no reason to believe the student's death was a result of their misconduct.

The case is scheduled to go to trial next year.

American Education Week - visit our schools

The time is here for schools to join the celebration of American Education Week. An opportunity to demonstrate the importance of education and the contribution of schools to the communities they serve. It is a week to recognize the dedicated efforts of teachers and administrators in providing quality education for all students. The theme for this year is "Creating Opportunities for All Children." This year, American Education Week is scheduled for November 19-25. It is a time to celebrate the achievements of our schools and the contributions of our educators.

Public interest in education is necessary. P. Paul Ross, president of the New Jersey Board of Education, stated in a recent interview, "The thing that will make everything work is the cooperation, interest and input of the public. There's a big requirement for input from the public."

We don't think input means having "no say in great." Cooperation is needed at all levels. The cooperation of all is essential in making our schools better places to learn and to grow.

It is only natural that when groups of parents assemble and discuss the educational programs that presently exist, the matter is further compounded by teachers who maintain their parents aware of situations that are not at all "ideal." But it is also true that mothers and fathers of our students, that a solution is being sought.

Council suing Urban Farms over taxes

North Halsted. The Norman Shulman and son in law attorney representing the city, said the city was holding off on any action against the former owners of the property. The former owners of the property were Urban Farms, a company that had been operating on the property for several years. The city was seeking more taxes on the property, which Urban Farms had not paid.

The city had previously filed a lawsuit against Urban Farms, seeking to recover taxes owed on the property. The suit had been dismissed by the court, but the city had not given up on its efforts to collect the taxes.

The city's action was not directly related to the agreement to sell the property, but it did highlight the city's concern about its tax base. The city had been facing budget cuts and was looking for ways to increase its revenue.

Agreement sought to reduce flooding in Haledon area

Haledon, NJ — The Haledon Board of Adjustment has approved the installation of a flood prevention system on a property located on the corner of Main Street and Route 23. The system will include a series of detention basins to hold stormwater and prevent flooding.

The system was proposed by the property owner, a developer who plans to build a new residential development on the property. The developer was required to install the system as a condition of the site plan approval.

The system will consist of two detention basins, each 100 feet long and 50 feet wide. The basins will be designed to hold up to 1,000,000 gallons of water.

The cost of the system is estimated at approximately $250,000, with the property owner responsible for the cost. The system is expected to be completed within two years.

Prospect Park Patter — Local election aftermath

Newark, NJ — The Newark Board of Education has announced the results of the election for the Board of Education members. The new board includes five members, four of whom are new to the board.

The results of the election were announced at a special meeting held on May 10. The new board members are:

- Mary Johnson
- John Smith
- Elizabeth Brown
- Michael White
- Sarah Green

The vacant seat on the board was filled by the appointment of a new member, who was confirmed by the Board of Education.

The appointment was necessary after a previous member resigned from the board. The new member is expected to serve for the remainder of the term.

Council withholding school funds pending review

Newark, NJ — The Newark Board of Education has suspended funding for two new schools that were approved by the city council. The two schools are part of a larger plan to expand school capacity in the city.

The board has suspended funding for the two schools after a review by the city's auditor revealed that the schools were not in compliance with state regulations. The auditor found that the schools were not ready to receive students and that the city had not provided adequate funding.

The suspension of funding is likely to delay the opening of the schools, which were scheduled to open in fall 2023. The board has stated that it will work with the city to address the issues and ensure that the schools are ready to open.

A boro woman gets older, we get wiser

This week's free page story about a middle-aged woman who will be celebrating her 102nd birthday on Wednesday, September 21st, is so heartwarming, so touching! It's not because she'sWeb's story about a woman who will be celebrating her 102nd birthday on Wednesday, September 21st, is so heartwarming, so touching! It's not because she's so old, but because it's a story that could happen to anyone, anywhere. It's a story that reminds us of the importance of family, of love, and of the simple things in life.

The woman, who has lived a long and happy life, is celebrating her birthday with her family and friends. She is surrounded by loved ones, and everyone is celebrating her special day. It's a reminder that we should all take the time to appreciate the little things in life, and to celebrate the people we love.

The story is a true testament to the power of love and family, and it's a reminder that we should all take the time to appreciate the little things in life. It's a story that we can all relate to, and it's a story that we can all celebrate.

The woman's life is a story of resilience, of strength, and of determination. She has overcome many challenges, and she has done it with grace and dignity. She is a true inspiration, and she is a reminder that we can all do great things if we put our mind to it.

So, let's all celebrate the woman's 102nd birthday, and let's all take the time to appreciate the little things in life. Let's all take the time to celebrate the people we love, and let's all take the time to appreciate the simple things in life.

Dedicated to the memory of a great woman who has touched our hearts.

$500 in stereo equipment stolen

by Alex Mockoff

Nearly 500 worth of stereo equipment was stolen from the home of Mrs. Fred Grobman in the early evening of Saturday. The break-in was reported to the police at 9:45 pm and officers were at the scene within minutes. Mrs. Grobman noticed that the stereo equipment was missing when she returned home from a trip to the beach. The stereo equipment was valued at $500 and included a turntable, speakers, and a radio.

UPDATE-UPDATE-UPDATE

Civil suit sought in boy's death at 42nd St. and 7th Ave. at 42nd St. and 7th Ave.

Although the Police Department's own investigation has concluded that the death of a 13-year-old boy was caused by a traffic accident, the parents of the boy have filed a civil suit against the driver and the city of New York.

The parents of the boy, Joseph Brown, Jr., age 12, were in the process of crossing 42nd Street at 7th Avenue when he was struck by a car. The parents allege that the driver of the car, who had failed to yield the right of way, was negligent in causing the accident.

According to the parents, their son was crossing the street at a crosswalk when a car failed to yield the right of way. The driver then hit the boy with the car. The parents further allege that the driver of the car failed to stop and that the boy was not wearing a helmet.

The parents are seeking $500,000 in damages from the driver and the city of New York.

December trial for appeal

December 10 has been set as the starting date for the trial of Michael J. Fier, a former police officer who was a plaintiff in a case involving the alleged discrimination against minority groups in New York City.

Fier, who was an officer for 23 years, filed a lawsuit in 1970 alleging that he was refused a promotion because of his race. The case was settled out of court, but Fier has since filed an appeal in the New York State Supreme Court.

The trial is expected to last for two weeks and will be held in the courtroom of Justice John A. Considine in the State Supreme Court.

Another snow job for New Jersey taxpayers

Monday's entrance was nothing compared to the job proposition given New Jersey residents by the state legislature last week. "We've got to fix the roads in New Jersey," said Senator Michael McGinley, "or our state's going to be a total disaster." McGinley was referring to the $1 million in road improvements promised by the state to be completed by the end of the year. The $1 million was to be divided among all 40 states, with New Jersey receiving the largest share, $170,000. McGinley explained that the funds would be used to improve the state's roads, which he claimed were in dire need of repair.

Despite this claim, New Jersey residents are skeptical of the promises made by the legislature. "It's a classic case of empty promises," said one resident, "they always say they're going to do something, but never actually get around to it." Another resident added, "I'm not sure how we're going to pay for this. We're already paying a lot of taxes for the roads, and now we have to pay for this too?"

The state legislature has promised to use the funds to improve the state's roads, but it remains to be seen whether these promises will be fulfilled. "We've seen promises before," said one resident, "and they never come through." A group of residents has organized a protest to demand that the state legislature follow through on its promises. "We're tired of the promises," said one protestor, "they need to show us action, not just words." The protest is scheduled for next week, and residents are encouraged to attend and show their support for better roads in New Jersey.

Bears share first place in league, face state finals this Saturday

By Ann Tena

Thanksgiving Day's opening game saw the Midwest Bears starting their district play with a 36-18 victory over the Linn County Bears. This was the first game of the district season, and the Bears were off to a good start. The Bears went on to win their next three games, and their record is now 3-1. The Bears are currently tied for first place in the league with the Linn County Bears. This is the first time the Bears have won the first game of the season, and they are looking forward to their next game against the Linn County Bears.

North South - a fabulous sedan

Men's basketball league

The North South sedan was a hit among the spectators. Its sleek design and impressive performance made it a crowd favorite. The sedan is expected to be released in the next month, and it is already gaining popularity among car enthusiasts.

Joby Rowell, a member of the basketball league, was excited about the car's performance. "The car is amazing," he said. "I've never seen a sedan that can do what this one can do." The car's powerful engine and smooth ride made it an instant hit among the spectators.

How to get to Lenape Valley

To get to Lenape Valley, take exit 18 on the New Jersey Turnpike. From there, take the exit onto Route 17. The next exit will take you to Lenape Valley. Follow the signs to the parking lot. The parking lot is located on the right side of the road. Parking is free for the first two hours. After that, there is a small fee.
