THIS year marks the 75th anniversary of the invention of the first practical incandescent electric light, which was developed successfully by Thomas A. Edison on October 21, 1879, at Menlo Park, N. J. This is Light's Diamond Jubilee. Mr. Edison's lamp paved the way for the development of today's modern electric system which has progressed to its present highly efficient state. Electricity serves you day and night in homes, in stores, in factories and on farms.

The use of electricity on the farm has become increasingly valuable in New Canning is an agricultural indus-try that provides thousands of farm-ers with an indispensable market for an appreciable part of their produc-tion of perishable fruits and vegetian of persistate firsts and vegetables.

Mr. D. L. Anderson, buyer of the American Stores Company, Philadelphia, Pa., has pointed out that the vegetables bought and processed by canners amount to more than talf of the total tomage of all vegetable crops grown in the United States.

For example, in the period 194953, the canning industry bought and sacked the production from an average annual 1,768,000 acres of the 11 vegetables for which U. S. Department of Agriculture acreage figures are available.

On the average, about four-fifths of all tomatoes harvested are canned, about three-fourths of the beets, two-thirds of the sweet corn and peas, and about one-half of the 2sparages.

Mr. Anderson asserts that the caming industry also provides a valuable market for perishable finits. On an average, almost 60 percent of sour cherries are canned, and almost half the peaches, pears and arresults. and apricests.

In Plorida, where the great bulk of U S carnaed citrus originates.
30 percent of the total production of oranges and over 50 percent of the graphism go into cans, in the form of heat-sterifized juices and sections. Together with its allied industries — the mammacturers of caming the canning industry rovides employment for hundred outsands of

Among the more ridiculous aspects of the rapidly closing political changing is the Democratic elation over, the "reversal" in Alaska's election of October 12. In 1952, Alaskans elected twenty Republicans and four Democrats to the territorial House, and this year did the exact reverse.

The popular Congressional Delegate, E. L. (Bob) Bartlett returns to Washington for the sixth time to represent the Territory by a margin of two-and-a-half to one.
