School surplus of $341,089.53 revealed in year-end audit report

A school surplus of $341,009.53 as of June 30, 1976 was revealed by the Board of Education at this week's regular meeting of the board. The surplus was revealed as a result of a year-end audit of the school's financial records, conducted by the firm of Accountants. The audit confirmed that the school district has accumulated a substantial surplus over the past several years due to careful management of resources and prudent planning.

During the year, the school district has increased its expenses in various areas, including salaries and benefits for staff members, but has also achieved significant savings through efficient use of resources. The surplus is expected to be used to fund capital improvements at some of the district's schools, as well as to provide additional funding for the district's operating budget.

The school district is pleased with the results of the audit and will continue to work towards maintaining a healthy financial position for the future. The district thanks the audit firm for their expertise and hard work in conducting this important review.

Dewey heads library board; Mrs. Grace Steinmetz retires

At the September meeting of the Main Public Library Board of Trustees, Walter A. Dewey was unanimously elected President. Dewey is a member of the Board of Directors of the Library and has served in various capacities at the Library for many years. Mrs. Grace Steinmetz, who has served as Secretary for the Board of Trustees, was elected Vice-President.

The Board of Trustees is grateful for Mrs.
Steinmetz's many years of service and wishes her well in her retirement. The Board looks forward to continuing to serve the community with the leadership of President Dewey and the support of the new Secretary, who will be announced at a later date.

The 'Magic Show' in Hawthorne

Now that the school budget surplus is a reality, take a good look at the figures in black and white (or purple and white). On page 13 in the audit, the figures read "true balance of $31,166.97. Read it for yourself - there's a copy of the audit report in the public library. Then watch how the figures become an illusion. At the meeting when the auditor gave his report, board members were already deciding that the surplus was a mere $10,000 and with single-handled, the term "unaudited" and "unaudited" surpluses were used off the bat that the public (without any due in front of cheating) had to be CA's to follow the discussion. The surplus disappears and reappears from various sources by an expert magician freezes than a rubber being pulled out a black hat. Even looking back at prior discussion about the projected surplus, we find many illusions in the world of economy. All these games, which were stated this year, are much more of a commentary than we could offer on the subject.

The following letter was forwarded to the Press for publication.

The Hawthorne Board of Adjustment

To the Editor:

I should like to make a comment on the article which appeared in the light of the New York Times on September 18, 2018, entitled "The Future of Education: A Global Perspective."

The article discusses the current state of education systems around the world and highlights the need for reform. It mentions the challenges faced by educators in providing quality education to all students, particularly in low-income areas.

As educators, we must be proactive in creating solutions to these challenges. This includes investing in technology and resources to improve access to education, as well as providing support and training for teachers to ensure they are equipped to teach effectively.

I believe the article raises important issues that we must consider as we work to improve our education system. Thank you for forwarding this letter.

Sincerely,

National has hit the trail with the controversial monument proposal. National Park Service officials are traveling the state to meet with communities and discuss the proposal. They are expected to visit Hesperia, Barstow, and Victorville this week. The monument would include a large rock formation that some locals oppose, citing concerns about its impact on the environment and local businesses.

Local woman plays at grand opening

Local residents and community leaders attended the event, which included a ribbon-cutting ceremony and performances by local artists.

Consumer federation endorses Bob Roe

Consumer Federation of America, the nation's largest consumer organization, has endorsed Bob Roe for the 34th District Assembly seat. Roe, a former consumer advocate, has pledged to protect consumer rights and promote fair trade policies. The endorsement follows a series of town hall meetings where Roe has discussed issues such as healthcare, education, and the economy.

Russo pledges release of state income tax

Assemblyman Russo announced his support for the release of the state income tax. He said that the tax is outdated and needs to be replaced with a fairer system. Russo also called for the elimination of the sales tax and the implementation of a progressive tax system to ensure that wealthy individuals and corporations pay their fair share.

Bess Doty wants concern for our senior citizens

Assemblywoman Bess Doty has called for increased concern for senior citizens. She said that the state needs to do more to support our elderly population, who are often the most vulnerable to cuts in government services. Doty has proposed legislation that would provide additional funding for senior centers and increase funding for home healthcare services.

Surplus falls within "undefined parameter of acceptability"

Editor's note:

The delivery is the conclusion of a series of press releases issued by Fred Courchaul, former chairmen of the board of the Tuesday before the Board of Education's annual meeting. The Board of Education is expected to vote on a $5 million surplus in the budget, which is currently at $24 million. The Board also proposes to cut $1.8 million from the budget, which would result in a surplus of $3.8 million. The Board has also proposed to cut $3.8 million from the budget, which would result in a surplus of $3.8 million.

What is an undefined parameter of acceptability? A parameter that is used to determine if a school budget surplus falls within the "acceptable" range. We are still pursuing more information about the budget surplus. The School Board is working on the budget for this year and it will be presented to the public in the near future. The budget surplus will be used to improve the school facilities and to provide additional programs for the students. The School Board is committed to making the best decisions for the students and the community. The school is working hard to provide a quality education for all students. The budget surplus will be used to improve the school facilities and to provide additional programs for the students.

Shocked about surplus

Lowell, N.J.

This is the first time I have ever written to the Press. However, I feel that the very high surplus that is being built up by our school district is becoming unreasonably large. I have compared the budget of the board of education for this year with the budget for last year. I realize that there has been an increase in the number of students, but still the surplus should not be so high. The surplus for last year was $20,000, while this year it is projected to be over $50,000. This is simply not justifiable.

Readers of the Press may be interested to know the following information.

- The surplus is due to an increase in the number of students.
- The district's budget for this year is $250,000, with $50,000 in surplus.
- The district's budget for last year was $200,000, with $20,000 in surplus.

In favor of private clinics

Mrs. Malmrose, Chairman

I was interested in your letter to the Press on the subject of Bickerdike Clinic. I believe that private clinics should be encouraged, not discouraged. The Bickerdike Clinic is a respected institution, but there are other private clinics that provide quality care.

The advantage of private clinics is that they are more flexible and can respond to the needs of their patients. They can also provide more specialized services that may not be available at a large hospital.

I urge the Board of Education to consider the benefits of private clinics and not to discourage them.

Senior Citizen News

By John Purcell

The October 17 meeting of the Senior Citizens of the Village of Hawthorne was attended by 35 members. The meeting opened with the playing of "God Save the Queen" by the Village Band. During the meeting, the Mayor of Hawthorne, Mr. John Sawyer, and the Village Manager, Mr. John Smith, were introduced. They welcomed the members and discussed the upcoming events.

The meeting was then called to order by the President, Mr. Jameson. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The treasurers report was read and accepted. The President then called for any discussion or business to be transacted. Several members shared their experiences and ideas for future events.

The meeting adjourned at 12:00 noon.

The next meeting will be held on November 21st, at 11:00 AM in the Village Hall.

Variance granted . . . variance denied

In order to renovate the Prospect Park Furniture Building, 25 Fountain Avenue, the building manager must first secure the necessary permits and approvals. In this case, the Prospect Park Furniture Building is requesting a variance for an expansion that includes the addition of a new floor. The request for the variance was submitted to the Planning Board, which will review the proposal and make a decision.

Mayor expresses 'surprise' on credit for park bridge

Mayor Larry Caskey, of a small town in New Jersey, has expressed his surprise at the lack of credit given for the construction of a bridge over the nearby river. The mayor claims that the project was a major local initiative and that it has benefited the community significantly. The mayor's claim has sparked a debate about the allocation of credit for local projects.

Can you afford Jimmy Carter?

How much will he increase your taxes?
During the campaign, Jimmy Carter said he would increase the taxes of everybody earning over the median income—which is only $13,000 per year. He now says he really didn't mean that. What did he mean? Certainly the spending programs he proposes will have to be paid for by someone. Has it ever been anyone other than you?

How much will he increase the cost of living?
Even Jimmy Carter's own chief economic advisor has publicly admitted that the rate of inflation will take a jump if Carter's big-spending economic policies go into effect. President Ford has held the lid on spending by use of the veto. He has cut inflation in half. Just think of what would happen under a "President" Carter to the cost of those meat-and-potato items that you buy every day.

Will you be able to afford a home?
Jimmy Carter has proposed that the home mortgage deduction be eliminated from the income tax. This is the same deduction that enables millions of Americans to own their own home. Senator Henry Jackson, a fellow Democrat, declared that Carter's proposal "threatens the destruction of the working and middle class American family. If Jimmy Carter has his way, American homeowners will pay $6 billion more in taxes."

What will his spending programs cost you?
Jimmy Carter has endorsed the Democratic platform, which he and his supporters helped to write. According to independent estimates, it would cost the taxpayers well over $100 billion the very first year. Taking the lowest possible figure—$100 billion—this platform would cost a family of four earning $15,000 an additional $600 per year.

The more Americans think about it, the more they realize that they can't afford Jimmy Carter for even one year, much less four. On November 2nd, they'll be voting for President Ford.
