Supreme Court refuses to hear the case:

Long delay over for Dater Park

The legal battle which has delayed the construction of Dater Park at 117 Lafayette Avenue for three years has finally come to an end. The complaints, filed in Superior Court in 1975 by landowner Frank Dater against the City of Newark, alleging that the city was moving too quickly with the park, were dismissed by the Supreme Court of New Jersey on June 13.

Yesterday, Superior Court Judge Richard J. Vargas ruled in favor of the city, saying that the delay was justified.

Two more teachers needed in special ed

Although a report presented by the head of the special education program at the Board of Education’s headquarters in Newark shows that there are 12,000 students in special education, the school district is short by two teachers.

The Board of Education is in the process of hiring two more teachers for special education programs.

The most populous program in the city is special education, which serves students with a wide range of disabilities.

The board wants to hire two more teachers to meet the needs of students with severe learning disabilities.

The district has a goal of hiring two more teachers in the next two months to address the shortage.

Parking restrictions are amended

Resolutions on parking restrictions for the Downtown Area were amended at the September meeting of the Board of Education. Although the board said it would have more time to study the issues, the resolutions have been amended to address the concerns.

The board decided to amend the parking regulations to allow for more flexibility.

The amendments include extending the time for which parking permits are valid, increasing the number of spaces available for permits, and allowing for the issuance of temporary permits.

The board also decided to amend the parking regulations to allow for more flexibility, such as extending the hours for which permits are valid, increasing the number of spaces available for permits, and allowing for the issuance of temporary permits.

Why can’t we use Ridgewood Library?

Rahab and I are soon to be awarded the title of Dahm Library and local organizations, especially senior citizen groups, are vaguely aware of the public meeting room in the community center and the free library. Now that the physical structure is no more of a novelty, let’s see what the future of the library system is. The city of Hawthorne serves the educational needs of Hawthorne.

Last week’s announcement that the Acting State Department of Education has decided to change the frequency of meetings from Thursday to Tuesday, was a shock to many residents who were unaware of the decision. The city of Hawthorne is taking a step in the right direction.

Although we are geographically situated in Hawthorne, we are not geographically separated from each other. By joining, Ridgewood and Hawthorne residents, we are not alone in our concerns.

By John W. Gordon

A Return to ‘Normal’

The other day, in my psychiatry, I stumbled across a study by the otherwise well-respected Dr. John W. Gordon, who has been studying the effects of prolonged social isolation on mental health.

Dr. Gordon’s research has shown that prolonged isolation can lead to a variety of mental health issues, including anxiety, depression, and an increased risk of suicide. These findings are concerning, especially given the widespread social isolation that has occurred during the pandemic.

In response to this study, the American Psychological Association has issued a number of recommendations for individuals who are experiencing prolonged social isolation. These recommendations include engaging in regular physical activity, maintaining social connections with others, and seeking professional help if needed.

In conclusion, prolonged social isolation can have significant negative effects on mental health. It is important for individuals to recognize the signs of prolonged social isolation and take steps to address these issues. By doing so, we can help to ensure a more healthy and fulfilling life for ourselves and our loved ones.

Al Fontanella charges Graves with 'job hogging'

Al Fontanella, Frankford candy manufacturer and Democratic candidate for State Senate in the 21st District, accused State Senator John H. Devereux of "job hogging." His remark came at a Democratic rally held Tuesday night. The rally was sponsored by the Frankford Democratic Club and held in the Frankford High School gymnasium.

Fontanella's charge was an afterthought to his major points of attack against Devereux. His main point was that Devereux should be removed from his seat because he wanted to run for governor next year. He claimed that if Devereux were removed from his seat, he would not run for governor.

Fontanella ended his rally with a pledge that he would continue to work for a better Frankford.

When America needs a better idea
Ford puts it on wheels

Ford

FORD DIVISION

FAIRMONT DEBUT - The world's first Ford Falcon is now on sale locally. Expected nationwide next month is the Ford Falcon's first ride at the 1959 Fairmont. For a while all eyes will be on the Falcon and how it will play. The Falcon's sleek design and powerful engine provide a great combination of performance and style. This is a significant step forward for Ford.
School board may not even have a lease

Whatever school redistricting hearings were held to explain the transfer of students between Franklin and Lincoln Schools as a way to alleviate overcrowding, the Lafayette School would eventually be brought into the discussion. Some citizens would always listen the fact that this problem might be non-existent if the school had not been acquired by the borough at a municipal building.

In reviewing this story, we learned that the transaction was made 50 years ago to sell the building for one dollar on the condition that the Board of Education be granted a ten year lease as tenants of the third floor. However, no one in the borough's department or the district's secretary's office can find any record of a renewal of the contract after 1957. Those who work in borough halls feel that Mayor Ray would know about it, but he was not available to be reached for comment yesterday.

It appears on the surface that the school board has only a gentlemen's agreement on which basis to have their presence there. This is hardly a strong position on which to begin a "get tough attitude" with the mayor and commissioners.

To start buckling over the house of jurisdiction over which meeting rooms in the municipal building is going to be held only one important group — the public. We're firm believers in board members coming to do what they believe is right, but we're concerned with those who oppose school expansion because of their personal involvement in an issue.

While the school board had better consider this gap alternative. Since there appears to be no document concerning the rental agreement, what's stop the commissioners from pressing the borough's school board's "get tough" on this plan of the Board of Education? What's wrong with having the Board of Education that it could see the third floor only when it is needed by other branches of the municipal government? It's a problem that worth considering.

The New Jersey State Council says that if a borough had interest in saving space, the property must pass the State Council's Design Review Committee and that the property must pass the Borough's Planning Board. Under the State Council's guidelines, the property must be used in a manner that will benefit the community. The New Jersey State Council has found that schools have been built, when the property has been used for another purpose.

School board prevails in court case on constitutional rights

The Hawthorne Board of Education prevailed in a court case on constitutional rights in New Jersey. The case involved the issue of the school board's policy on the wearing of religious symbols by students.

The court ruled that the school board's policy of prohibiting the wearing of religious symbols violated the students' constitutional right to freedom of expression. The court also ruled that the school board had not provided a compelling reason for prohibiting the wearing of religious symbols.

The school board is expected to appeal the decision.

Bears shut out Glen Rock 22-0

By Gene Napol

The Hawthorne football team opened the 1977 season with a 22-0 shutout victory over Glen Rock last Saturday night.

"It wasn't a close game," said Hawthorne Coach Tim Mace. "We outplayed Glen Rock from start to finish. We had a great game plan and we executed it to perfection."

The Bears' defense was outstanding, allowing Glen Rock only 120 total yards. Hawthorne's defense never allowed the ball to reach the 25-yard line.

"Our defense was great," said Hawthorne's quarterback, Tim Mace. "We held Glen Rock to just 120 yards and we were able to get off the field when we needed to."

Hawthorne's offense was also impressive, scoring 22 points on three touchdowns.抗疫

"Our offense was able to control the game from start to finish," said Mace. "We were able to move the ball downfield and score when we needed to."

The ball game started off with a bang as Hawthorne scored on its first possession. A 15-yard run by Mace set up a 3-yard touchdown run by Hawthorne's fullback. The extra point was successful.

After the kickoff, Glen Rock was unable to move the ball, and Hawthorne was able to control the game. Hawthorne scored on its next possession on a 25-yard run by Hawthorne's quarterback. The extra point was successful.

In the third quarter, Hawthorne scored on a 20-yard run by Hawthorne's halfback. The extra point was successful.

In the fourth quarter, Hawthorne scored on a 25-yard run by Hawthorne's fullback. The extra point was successful.

Hawthorne finished the game with 22 points and 220 total yards. Glen Rock was held to just 120 total yards. The game was played in front of a large home crowd.

"This was a great win for us," said Mace. "It was a great game plan and we executed it to perfection. We were able to control the game from start to finish."

The win keeps Hawthorne's record at 3-1-1 for the season. The Bears will play their next game on October 28th against Sterling High School.

Fava says his new bill, which targets gang members and those who use cell phones to incite violence, will help reduce the crime rate in New Jersey.

"I'm not going to let my reputation be tarnished," Fava said. "I'm going to take action and I'm going to do it now. This bill is going to be a game-changer." Fava added that he expects his legislation to be passed quickly and to be signed into law by the governor.

Parents air views on special education

Some of the other problems that were brought to the board included the need for specialized training at Lincoln School. The board is considering the development of a program for students with special needs.

One parent noted that the school board should be working on a comprehensive plan to address these challenges. "It's about time that the school board takes these issues seriously," said the parent.

Another parent, who has a child with a learning disability, expressed concern about the current program. "The current program is not adequate for the needs of my child," said the parent.

The school board has scheduled a meeting to discuss these issues. Residents are encouraged to attend and share their thoughts on how to improve the special education program at Lincoln School.
