Neighborhood Playmakers in Seventh Season

The 1943-1944 dramatic season of the Neighborhood Playmakers marks the seventh year of this popular Hawthorne group which was organized by Mildred Merchant.

The Playmakers have become very popular from one end of the State to the other with the type of plays they present. They are the different organizations that have benefited by the plays.

The Playmakers were among first organizations to purchase War Bonds.

For the start of the new season, the Playmakers are preparing one-act plays that will be presented in various parts of the State during the Third War Bond Drive.

The Playmakers are "Work for America" and "American Citizens."

Vida Smith of Ridgewood, one of the Playmakers' most popular leading ladies of the stage, was assigned by Director Merchant to chairmen before she left for vacation. Pat Ferro or Bill Merchant in "The Bishop's Mameluke" and Vida Smith became a Playmaker several years ago and since completing her apprenticeship has captivated audiences throughout the country. She is best remembered for her work as Victoria Van Buren in "The Bishop's Wife" and also appeared in "The Bishop's Mameluke" and "Ladies in Retirement."

Art Travers and Muriel Smart, two of the newest members of the group, had many starring roles will help Mrs. Smith keep the show moving.

Pat Ferro, who made his debut with the Playmakers several years ago in "The Night of Jan. 19," will be back again in "The Extra Bits" which he will be in one of the leading roles in "Doy's Work for America" and play which starts Oct. 10.

Both of these plays will be directed by Mrs. Merchant and Miss Muriel Smart, who is the assistant director in charge of staging.

The Playmakers who will appear in these productions will be Anita Goss, Carol Smart, Christine Ferri, Muriel Smart, Art Travers, Bill Merchant and Pat Ferro.

The dog apparently had made the three-day trip from Phoenix, Ariz., and appeared none the worse.

New Way to Find Range Of Vision From Air

NEW YORK—Plots of Pan-American Clippers have worked out a new way to find range of vision which can be seen from various altitudes. They say that the range of vision of a man at 10,000 feet altitude multiplied by 1.225 miles.

From 10,000 feet, the range is 20 miles; from 10,000 feet, 122 miles, and from 25,000 feet, 394 miles.

Widow's curse are multiplied when the settlement of her husband's estate adds up to these: Appoint The Citizens Trust Company, 140 Marcus street, Paterson, as your Executor.

Playmakers Plan N. Y. Theater Party

The Neighborhood Playmakers are looking forward to a New York theatre party in October when they will visit the Rosy Theatre to see "Gas Foster Roxy".

The local Playmakers plan to take her to dinner following the show and if it can be arranged to attend a matinee.

The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Anita Cesa, Arthur Travers, Vida Smart, William Smart, Mrs. Smart, Caroline Ferrer and Marion Winters.

Friends of Miss De Searmes who would like to attend the party with the Playmakers are most welcome and are asked to communicate with any of the committee members.

The players are getting ready for presentations of their play, "Gas Foster Roxy", at the "American" Thursday evening at a program meeting of the Hawthorne Women's Club i the local Town Club rooms.

The club members will meet for rehearsal this evening at the home of William Merchant, 165 Burns Vista Avenue.

Messengers Lead In Softball Series; Defeat Police 4-0

The Messengers took the lead Friday night in the played for the championship of the Civilian Defense Softball League by defeating the Hawthorne Police team by a score of 4 to 0.

Sharing the spotlight with Fantiuzzi was his teammate, Pat DeMasi, who had a hard double to rightfield.

The two teams will meet again this evening at 6:30 p.m. at the Goffle Brook Park field at Reservoir. Two other teams will decide the championship which is still a tossup. The two teams

GOV. EDISON LAUDS WOMEN WORKERS

Mrs. Dorothy Stendie, head checker of The Grand Union Super Market at Clinton, N. J., represented food distributors in a personal interview with Governor Edison.

WEST ORANGE, N. J.—The problem of war price stabilization, long a concern of war workers, was discussed as a "front" topic in an interview with Governor Charles Edison's critics here with war workers, representatives of Government Agencies, and pressmen from coast to coast, who presented all sides of the question regarding plant shortages among war workers.

Referring to the main difficulties faced by women war workers, Governor Edison stated that it might be the "inequality of the compensation paid to men and women" that made it impossible to accommodate the shortage of war workers.

'Shell Shock' Now Called 'Anxiety'

New Method of Treatment

Mends Broken Nerves.

WITH THE ARMY IN SICILY

The civil affairs section of the American Seventh Army is putting into practice a new method of "mending broken nerves" or "anxiety." But it's the same old battle disease. It results from repeated attacks of fear, too many big percussions, too little rest, and other things, all mixed in together. Some of them all night if not all day.

In the early days of the war, the Army doctors called it "shell shock." Then they transferred it to psychiatric wards as "their nerves broke," and so on.

Now a new method of treatment on the battlefield itself has been found.

Army doctors state that 20 per cent of the battle casualties are due to "nervousness" or "anxiety."

They have returned to the old methods of "resting the nerves" and have been out of the war for all time and many would not have recovered.

The Army medical corps now gives them a daily ration of vitamins, directly behind the lines. They are put to bed, they are given a hot bath, and then men are buried to sleep and clean up the streets. As soon as possible they are sent back to the front again.

So far they have no rest schedule, but the problem has been to fatten it out in the surrounding areas.

Although most high-ranking Farceitan officials have had to do their share of "resting the nerves," they have been terming the problem of war workers as a "job well done."

Answers to "IT'S TIME YOU KNEW" by LAWRENCE

The U.S.S. Salt Lake City is a heavy cruiser. There are 250,000 veterans of World War I now fighting in the armed forces of the United States. Watchmakers who became well-known inventors include: Robert Fulton invented the Steam Boat, Otto Mergenthaler - the Linotype, Elias Howe - the Sewing Machine, Matthias Baldwin helped develop the locomotive. Today, watchmakers are producing an amazing quantity of war material. This includes Altimeters, Rate-of-Climb Indicators, Black Navigation Watches and Clocks, Jewel Bearings, Concretes and Telescopes for aerial forces.

It is impossible for a horse to win the Kentucky Derby twice, since the race is for three year old horses only.
