Why Do They Want to Put A&P Out of Business?

The answer to the question is that the powerful associations have filed suit against A&P because they believe it is not an efficient and competitive business. The complaint alleges that A&P has been engaging in anti-competitive practices, such as securing and maintaining a monopoly in the food industry.

To this charge we plead guilty. We do not deny that we have been successful in putting other competitors out of business, but we do not believe it is our fault. We believe that the American people want us to be successful, and we are doing everything we can to provide them with the best possible service.

Low Prices Don't Hurt Anyone

The American people have been suffering for years under the high prices and unfair practices of A&P. We believe that it is a matter of public interest to expose these practices and to make the public aware of the benefits of competitive business. We believe that the American people want to see a fair and just competition in the food industry.

Do You Want Higher Prices?

We believe that the American people want to see a fair and just competition in the food industry. We believe that the American people want to see a fair and just competition in the food industry. We believe that the American people want to see a fair and just competition in the food industry.
