Perseverance Makes It Pay

When the handyman plans his business, his idea of his own growth and the growth of his business is his main concern. It may be, as he sees it, the only way to get ahead. But the same holds true for all of us. When we see that the way to make money is by working hard, we're not just working for the money. We're working for ourselves.

The man who has a business plan is more likely to succeed than the man who doesn't. He knows what he wants to do and how to get it done. He has a goal and he works toward it.
