Passaic County Kenny Fund Appeal Leaders Confer on Last Minute Details

Community chairman for the 1957 Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation fund appeal in Passaic County, which opened on Tuesday, Aug. 20, were gathered over the prospects following a conference at the home of County Chairman Charles Duerksen at Pompton Lakes.

The campaign in New Jersey will continue through September 20. Goal for Passaic County is $20,000 toward the state figure of $250,000 and the Eastern Area goal of $474,000.

In addressing the community chairman, Mr. Duerksen reviewed briefly the objectives of the Kenny Foundation and what it is accomplishing, especially in the Sister Kenny Institute in Jersey City Medical Center. The Foundation now provides treatment and rehabilitation for other non-communicable disabilities in addition to polio. Mr. Duerksen reminded that polio is still far from defeated and he emphasized the large number of old cases in need of treatment and rehabilitation. The Kenny treatment is given "without charge," the Foundation depending upon public contributions for support.

Nicholas M. Klitch, New Jersey state director for the Kenny Foundation, presented a film, "Rehabilitation," outlining the Foundation's work.

CD Directors Notified of Mock Raid, Sept. 18th

Local Civil Defense directors all over the state have been notified to sound their air sirens on Wednesday, September 18, in the middle of Civil Defense Week by Acting State CD Director Thomas S. Dugan. The public will not be required to take shelter, however.

The purpose of the test is to begin bringing the sirens to the attention of the public and to train them to distinguish between the "false cover" and the "alarm." Also it was pointed out by Director Dugan that an opportunity is provided for local directors to analyze their siren coverage.

In a directive out of state headquarters, local CD officials are urged to enlist the aid of town officials and local government personnel to assist in determining whether their respective auxiliary warning devices are adequate.

There will be no announcement on the attack warning system in this town, Dugan said. Therefore, local directors will sound sirens on a synchronized clock basis.

A 3 p.m. alert signal will be sounded and the Take Cover will be set off at 3:10 p.m. This alert signal will be repeated at 7 p.m. (Continued on Page 4)

Hurricane Precautions

In case of an emergency move, if you don't have a garage, park your car on the street, close the windows tightly, set the hand brake, put the car in gear but don't lock it if you are parked on the street. Emergency workers might have to move it.

Keep away from windows at the height of the storm.

Find out where you can procure dry ice or natural ice to use in case of loss of electric power. Have as little perishable food in your refrigerator as you can. If you have a freezer, it will be in case of extended power failure. Check the location of the nearest food freezer unit in the event you have to move your perishables.

If you have a freezer, set it at maximum freezing level as much as possible before the arrival of the hurricane. If you avoid opening it, it is fairly safe. You can keep frozen meats and vegetables without thawing for at least 3 days.

Save newspapers to wrap garbage in, in case garbage collection is interrupted.

If your water supply is interrupted, boil water from faucet.

Don't telephone unnecessarily.

Leave the line open for emergency calls.

Store a three-day supply of canned food in a safe place along with a can opener. Have paper plates, cups and spoons.

Check gutters on house to be sure they are not clogged with leaves.

After the storm is definitely over, move about with great caution. Beware of broken electric wires. Trees, buildings, bridges and open streets and woods may be in weakened condition.

Check your cellar stocks and move if possible to avoid water damage.

Check on supply of sand bags. Brief your employees and neighbors for supporting for emergency work in the event communications break down.

Check on matches, candles, lamps, portable radios, flashlight and batteries.

Check windows and gutters.

Check on a source for pump and portable generators.

Check on handy tool supplies: saws, crowbars, pick axes, etc.

Despite all our efforts at preventing juvenile delinquency we have not been able to prevent a small percentage of our youngsters from becoming involved with the law.

It was to a method of saving these youths that the New Jersey Youth Study Commission addressed its second year of hearings and research.

Our basic conclusion, after listening to more than a hundred expert witnesses and after the results of our research, was that the juvenile law is not in itself the cause of the problem.

The best object, we felt, should not be revenge by an aggrieved society on the offender, but rehabilitation.

It's all too easy, when public indignation rises over an outbreak of juvenile crime, to say "they ought to be put away where they can't harm anyone else."

These "youthful offenders" must be prevented from harming society again. But the only way to insure this is to successfully rehabilitate him. Because sooner or later he will be returned to society, for good or bad.

In addition, I, as chairman of the commission, and I know the other members agree, feel keenly that each youthful offender who is released into society is a terrible, lifelong threat to society. Remember, no happy, well-adjusted youth is delinquent, and, contrary to the "news" which sometimes put up, no youngster at odds with society and the law is happy.

TREATMENT REQUIRES SPECIAL SERVICES

Probing deeper into the problem of rehabilitation we found two facts which stood out:

1. In order to be effective, any youngster found guilty of a crime and not sent to a reformatory, must be placed on probation. If he is sent to an institution he is placed on parole when released. Probation and parole are probably the most effective means of rehabilitation when handled properly.

In some cases they are not handled properly. The county probation officer and the parole division are woefully understaffed and underpaid.

As a result the case load is too heavy to permit individual attention needed for each case. Low pay scales frequently mean personnel standards must be lowered.

One of the most encouraging developments in the treatment of juvenile offenders anywhere in the nation is the Highfields plan.

Food Sense - Not Nonsense

By FRANK W. SHERSHIN

It was a food sense which daily activities are had to me. I am greatly encouraged by this experiment because it shows that the law is not the cause of the problem. It is the lack of food sense which is the cause of the problem.

I have introduced a bill to create a "Food Sense" program. This program is designed to help the law-abiding citizen to understand the law and to prevent the law from being broken.

The commission recommended that this condition be remedied. I have introduced a bill to create a "Food Sense" program. This program is designed to help the law-abiding citizen to understand the law and to prevent the law from being broken.

Only in this way can a judge determine the time which is needed for the law-abiding citizen to understand the law and to prevent the law from being broken.
