What constitutes an epidemic?

Today is the final day to take advantage of a fantastic savings clinic being conducted in the borough. The tests are sponsored by the Bergen-Plains Lung Association and administered by the members of the State House of Apportionment Control. We urge everyone to take advantage of this program between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. at the municipal building parking lot.

While we consider this a worthwhile endeavor, we wonder about its perspective in the air pollution issue. In a way, it is like trying to fight a forest fire with buckets of sand. We think that the priority in the air pollution issue should be aimed at our state's vast industry concerning the matter.

National statistics showing significant problems in closing the air mean little to those of us who suffer these terrible odds in our own homes. Many of us who try to report these incidents are told that there is no problem of identifying the source. We often tell that these statistics cannot be farming from the Patterson industry across the river.

The real priority is that air pollution is a very real contributing factor to the major types of diseases that cause sickness and death in our society—heart disease, lung disease, and cancer. Consider this—the death of one soldier from our forces at Fort Dix one of a constellation to immunize every American in the imminent fear of perpetrating an epidemic in our waters.

Yet more than 40,000 New Jerseyans die each year from cancer in a state that has the highest distinction of being a leader in this area.

Isn't that an epidemic already?

Shouldn't local, state and federal officials be conducting a campaign against air pollution with the same vigor that the voice for immunization was set aside seven years ago?

There is still a long way to go.
Hawthorne Cubs plan for mayor's trophy game

Air pollution - a beginning

Here is a follow-up to last week's editorial on the problem of air pollution in our state and its role in contributing to New Jersey's cancer death rate, which is 15 per cent higher than the national average. Yesterday, a joint congressional committee met to consider amendments to the Toxic Substances Control Act that would provide $500 million in research grants to states experiencing high incidence rates of cancer.

Sponsored by Senator Harrison A. William, Senator Clifford Case and Rep. Andrew Maguire, of New Jersey's 7th district, this amendment proposes that Congress set up a comprehensive program to evaluate carcinogenic agents in the environment of areas with unusually high rates of cancer deaths or their manufacture and use toxic substances.

Our state's level, a legislative committee in Trenton is scheduled to begin hearings this week to study why our state has the highest cancer death rate in the country.

Ingem's Sunshine Law

The Hawthorne School Board had another numberless problem to solve, but this time it seems the trustees are getting it right. A case in point was last Wednesday's agenda meeting which was conducted because the project for an addition was not given. This story page 7. However, the requirements of schools have some catching up to do about the law. One thing, it's to provide the public with an opportunity to see for themselves how decisions are made. It's not just for the public, but also for the meeting at which a majority of the board is present and takes official action" as Dr. Ingem said last week.

Furthermore, his suggestion that the agenda schedule be released from Tuesday to Wednesday, with a public relations meeting to give a better opportunity to the public's participation in the law. The provisions for meeting are not designed for times when the board cannot get the agenda ready. However, the regular duty of the board is performed by a public announcement. Thus, the advance notice requirement is essential and for good reason — how else would the public know there is a meeting? We wonder under the purposes of which minimize the superintendent sound to hold that meeting. Maybe "the committee to violate the Sunshine law and replace it with Ingem's law" would be a good idea.

Support Tax Revolt rally

While neighboring towns are gathering forces to organize a "Tsunami Saturday" for a massive rally to support the state income tax, there is no organized movement in Hawthorne. In Hackensack, the mayor and council passed a resolution urging residents to go to the state capitol. Various tax reform groups and factory workers in the area have scheduled buses against the tax. The theory behind the whole idea is that it will attract commuters and can work in the Garden State. The crowd hopes to make visible the efforts of the legislature that they doled the tax out.

Yet in our borough, traditionally helmed by the state, the same fear of a tax revenue drain on hackensack and garage sales. The Young Democrats and Young Republicans groups give a tiny ray of hope that perhaps they can go on to support tax reform. But there are other groups working to support the tax. We urge everyone to support the rally on "The Chosen Few" 9:30 P.M. to 2:30 A.M. at 166 Goffle Road, Hawthorne. Your hosts - Bob and Rich Feliciano.

Good luck, 1976 Bears

If the interest of people who paid for full-sized advertisements in this week's Press are any indication, there's going to be a record crowd at the opening game of the Bears' 1976 season this year, the action was underway under the lights at Eastwood Park on Monday, September 27.

All the talk in our borough is pointing to a successful season for the squad, but we are something more than winning in the discussions. We are having a refreshment attitude toward football, Hawthorne's favorite sport. It's a case of dedication, respect, and filled with fun and positive reinforcement.

This pro-active mood is in a reflection on our head coach Tom DeMaio and the assistant coaches, all newcomers, except one. No one expects a state championship this year, but the sports writers are predicting that Hawthorne will finish near the top of the league. So though the leaves are yet turning and there are not as many fans yesterday was the first day of fall and there's no doubt that football season is here and a fine time for sports.

We'd like to add our best wishes for a successful season to Tom DeMaio, the entire coaching staff and all the Hawthorne High School varsity teams.

Get your rebate

The only good news we've heard so far about the new state tax law is that homeowners can now rebate forms are now readily available.

We went to alert our readers to one thing: it's your responsibility to obtain a form, fill it out, and mail it to the local assessor if you want to receive a rebate. No one is going to cross the mail to you or take advantage of whatever rebate you deserve.

From what we've heard, the law will mean a major change in the way New Jersey's tax system operates. After all, it's a new combination of events that will make the tunnel tax rebate forms ever more popular.

Tenure: Academic Freedom or Educational Obstacle?

On September 20, 1974, the New Jersey Supreme Court overturned the tenure system in New Jersey's State University System, stating that the tenure system is a violation of academic freedom and that it is not in the best interest of the State's educational progress.

The main objective of the tenure system is to protect tenured faculty from unnecessary dismissal, but the court ruled that the system is not necessary to protect academic freedom and that it can be achieved through full and open debate and the establishment of effective grievance procedures.

The court's ruling also states that the tenure system is a barrier to educational progress, as it limits the ability of universities to attract and retain the best teachers and researchers.

The court's decision has sparked a debate about the role of tenure in higher education and the balance between academic freedom and institutional control.
Cubs looking like champs

By Joe Zhang

The Hawthorne Cubs soared to the top of the Greater Elizabeth League, and as they cruised to the top of the standings, their popularity soared as well, with fans gathering to support their favorite team.

The Cubs' impressive performance was evident in their recent game against the rival team. With a series of powerful hits and agile defense, the Cubs won the game by a decisive margin, cementing their lead in the league.

The team's star performer, Tom Dr. Maha, contributed a crucial home run to secure the victory. His impressive display of skills earned him accolades from fans and teammates alike.

The Cubs' success has not gone unnoticed, as the team is now regarded as a formidable force in the league. Their next challenge is a key match against the top team, and fans are eagerly awaiting the outcome.

Cross country makes comeback

The Hawthorne cross country team continued their remarkable turnaround, showcasing their resilience and determination as they made a strong comeback.

After a series of challenging races, the team emerged victorious, with several runners setting personal bests and gaining valuable experience. The team's dedication and hard work paid off, as they closed the gap on their opponents and secured a well-deserved win.

Coach Mike Johnson praised his team's efforts, highlighting their spirit and teamwork. "We've come a long way, and these victories prove that we're a force to be reckoned with," he said.

Almost anything can happen in semi-finals

The Vanilla Beans, a popular local band, have entered the semi-finals of a prestigious music competition. The band's performance on Saturday night was a卖点, their unique blend of genres and soulful vocals captivating the audience.

Manager Tommy Montoya said, "We're thrilled to be in the semi-finals. We've worked hard for this opportunity, and we're ready to show what we're made of." The band's semi-final performance will take place on Sunday evening, and tickets are now available.

Hawthorne Ladies Bowling

The Ladies' Bowling Team from Hawthorne faced tough competition in their recent match, but they emerged victorious with a hard-fought win. Captain Glory McKnight attributed the team's success to their strategy and teamwork.

"We've been practicing hard, and our efforts paid off," McKnight said. "It's a great feeling to win, and we're looking forward to the next game." The team's next match is scheduled for next week, and fans are encouraged to support them.
