Teachers ratify contract package

Marathon negotiations session brings issues to resolution

by Daria Hoffman

The Hawthorne Teachers Association voted to ratify a new two-year contract with the Board of Education yesterday, according to HTA president Peg Novicki. The move came after almost a year of negotiations.

The Board of Education will make its decision in a vote Tuesday night on whether to approve the settlement which was worked out Friday night at the end of a 23-hour bargaining session between negotiators for the two groups.

Linda Missonellie, who was chief negotiator for the board, said she is confident that the board, too, will accept the settlement.

The teacher's approval of the contract, said Novicki, is contingent upon an acceptable agreement concerning a new salary guide for the teachers.

During the marathon talks last week, which began at 7 pm last Thursday and ended 6 pm on Friday, both sides finally came to an agreement on the issues of salary increase and contract language. Revision of the 15 steps of the teachers salary guide has not yet been worked out. During the next two weeks, the board and the teachers will submit written proposals for changes in the guide.

If an agreement is reached, the contract will be finalized. If not, Public Employment Relations Commission fact-finder Monsignor James Healy will return to Hawthorne September 15 for another session.

Both sides have agreed to make Healy's judgment binding on the salary guide. But even then, a final agreement could be overturned by full membership on the HTA or the board.

Healy, who is chairman of the New York State Mediation Board, was called into the negotiations after the PERC mediator determined after two sessions that fact-finding was necessary because the two groups were "so far apart" on contract issues, especially the salary increase.

After the first fact-finding session last Wednesday night, the group agreed to give mediation another try. With the help of Healy's mediation, there was much bargaining and compromising and the differences were resolved.

Both sides heaped praise on Healy for the outstanding job he did in bringing teachers' negotiations to resolution.

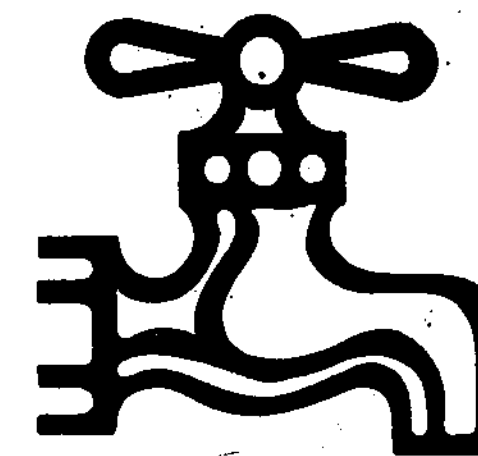

The terms of the contract will not be made public until both sides have accepted it.

The board has yet to complete contract talks with the school administrators, the secretarial staff and the maintenance/custodial workers.

Watering Ban:

Total restriction or odd/even system

A decision was expected at last night's Board of Commissioners meeting on whether or not the borough plans to continue its ban on sprinkling. The complete ban on outdoor watering was announced last Thursday after supply levels dropped in the borough.

Earlier this summer Hawthorne had initiated an odd/even days system of watering as a means of conserving as a means of conserving available supplies. Following a two-month drought and peak demand in the daily 90-degree temperatures, the total ban was deemed necessary by the borough's public works department.

Haledon youth found bludgeoned to death in woods

Haledon — A 13-year-old borough youth was found bludgeoned to death in the woods near Camp Veritans on Monday. The body of James Susan, was found by his older brother, David, about 300 yards from the nearest roadway, Mountain Avenue, which is where the family lives.

According to Sgt. Michael Del Vecchio of the Haledon Police Department, Susan was already dead when his brother found his body at 11:45 pm. The younger Susan had reportedly left his home alone at about 7 pm.

The murder weapon was a seven-foot piece of log. The first blow rendered the youth unconscious and the second one apparently caused his death. He died of multiple fractures of the skull and a brain hemorrhage.

Susan was pronounced dead Tuesday at 12:30 am.

Police confirmed information from the boy's mother that James would go to the woods during the day to pray. Del Vecchio stated that the youth was not involved in any kind of religious cult. He was described as "deeply religious and a model student" by those who knew him. Susan, his mother and a minister would go to the wooded area daily to pray.

James had left a Labor Day family gathering Monday night and his whereabouts were unknown for four hours. When last seen, he was barefoot and wearing jeans and a T-shirt.

Police investigators are canvassing neighborhood homes for information. A caretaker at the 65-acre facility run by the Jewish service organization as a day camp for underprivileged children stated that no one was seen coming or going that night. However, police are trying to locate a number of youths seen in the area.

Police are in the process of trying to obtain fingerprints from the log and are sending the murder weapon to Washington where forensic experts can study the article for more clues.

County detectives and local police are asking anyone with information that might assist in solving the crime to call Haledon police headquarters at 790-4444.

Susan graduated from the Absalom Grundy School in Haledon last June and was scheduled to start classes yesterday at Manchester Regional High School.

James is survived by his mother, Joan Mawhinney Susan, and three older brothers, Allan, John, and David, all at home. His father, Leroy H. Susan, died in 1976. The youth was the grandson of Haledon's veteran court clerk, John Mawhinney.

The murder marks the first one in this community in over 10 years.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Vander Platt Funeral Home in Wyckoff.

Lower speed limit for Rea Ave. Ext.

An ordinance lowering the speed limit on Rea avenue Extension between Old Orchard Drive and North Watching Drive was introduced last night by the Board of Commissioners. Known as ordinance 1352, the new law designates that area of Rea avenue Extension a school zone and sets a speed limit of 25 mph.

The maximum speed limit shall be in effect while children are going to or leaving school during opening and closing hours for the purpose of facilitating crossing of school children.

Lowering the speed limit in the Blasberg Heights area is one of the recommendations that Mayor Louis Bay, 2nd, as commissioner of public safety, had stated would be given consideration after parents from the new development protested the discontinuance of bus service by the Board of Education. About 78 residents from the 52-home development on the site of the former Blasberg Farms signed a petition urging reinstatement of bus service.

The present speed limit on the county road is 40 mph and the commissioners will have to receive approval from the state before the ordinance can take effect. A public hearing on the new regulation is scheduled for Wednesday September 17th at 8 pm. If final passage is secured on that date and once the necessary approval is received from higher authority, the ordinance will take effect within 10 days.

The borough's public works department painted crosswalks at the intersection of Rea avenue Extension and Faber Drive last week. When school opens today, it is expected that a policeman, rather than a crossing guard, will be on duty to supervise the crossing of children who will walk to Jefferson School.

Back-to-school safety tips outlined

DRIVE CAREFULLY

"Child pedestrian accident involvement peaks at ages five and six," reminds Donald L. Hughes, AAA club president as he launched the North Jersey Automobile Club's annual "School's Open — Drive Carefully" campaign. "This statistic alone indicates that we evaluate our efforts towards safeguarding a beginning student's journey to and from school."

Why are so many children involved in traffic accidents? Hughes cited recent research suggesting that:

...children's small stature makes it difficult for them to see a traffic situation as it appears to an adult, and also prevents drivers from seeing them.

...the visual development of youngsters is not yet complete, lacking in the ability to focus clearly.

...children often have little experience in traffic environments, and frequently misunderstand instructions given to them by others.

"While young people tend to be at a disadvantage in moving traffic situations, accidents are not always their fault," continued the AAA spokesman. "Citations describing the actions of 1980 AAA school safety patrol life-saving medal recipients reveal that the careless behavior of motorists can contribute to an accident situation. The problem is often a two-edged sword."

Hughes encouraged vehicle operators to slow down in the vicinity of schools, exercise caution where warning signs and flashing signals are in effect, and observe safe procedures in school bus loading areas. "Remaining alert and adapting driving patterns when in the presence of young students is essential, particularly during these first hectic weeks of school," emphasized Hughes.

The local AAA Club also urged parents of school students who will be riding bicycles to and from school to review safe bicycle operating instructions with their youngsters, and to make sure that the bicycle is in top condition.

The same advice is suggested for youngsters who will be walking to school...a quick review of pedestrian safety rules and routes to and from school would be a wise precaution for parents to take.

"During the first few weeks of the resumption of school classes motorists and school children must both reacquaint themselves with the extra hazards they will face," continued Hughes. "Be extra alert, pay attention to traffic signals and school crossing guards and be especially watchful around schools," he concluded.

The North Jersey Auto Club serves more than 160,000 members in Bergen, Passaic and Hudson Counties.

Tragedy strikes too close to home

Tuesday's news that a 14-year-old Haledon boy had been murdered in the woods near Camp Veritans struck too close to home. As parents anxiously awaiting the opening of school for our own children, we share the grief of this neighboring family. It is especially sad that James Susan had just graduated from grammar school and was about to start high school at Manchester Regional this week.

Owens: right man for the job

Dear editor,
It pleased me immensely when Postmaster Frank W. Murphy appointed Frank Owens to the position of office manager, Hawthorne Branch Post Office.

Owens clerked at the Hawthorne Branch for many years while I was assistant and later superintendent of the Hawthorne P.O. Branch. He was always efficient, reliable and dependable. He became a supervisor in the main P.O. in Paterson, later manager of the South Paterson Station. He also was officer in charge of the Little Falls P.O. for six months.

His experience in all his previous positions made it possible for him to acquire skills in shooting at the Northeastern Bank robbery, serve to jolt us out of the complacency that easily settles into our lives.

In these usually quiet suburban communities, we seem to take for granted the fact that we can walk our streets at night and need not fear for our lives in our day-to-day routine.

Every time a major tragedy occurs, we start questioning whether this security isn't just some giant illusion which lulls us away from the vigilance we need to ensure the safety of our families and our homes.

The ease with which the armed robbery occurred at the bank on Goffle Road makes us aware of the vulnerability of many business establishments in this area.

We must be realistic and admit that some of the things that we think can never happen here, are happening and may continue to happen. In the end we soothe our minds with cliches about so many sick people roaming our society and drug addicts who stop at nothing to get money to feed their habits.

Seeking blame is not the solution. With the start of school, we should focus on prevention. It's a good time for parents and teachers to reinforce safety rules with our children with the hope that good sense and clear thinking will prevail.

Reflections on a pastor's move

Leavetakings have always been considered part of any clergy's usual responsibilities. Somehow, we are expected to say "good-bye" to friends more easily than other people, accept death better than other people, have all of the answers to the angrily-uttered question, "why?", at difficult times in peoples lives. We are expected to move in and out of human relationships with little or none of the trauma which these occasions bring to so many.

It is not often considered by church people how pastors receive their strength and sustenance during times of their own work. Maybe this is so because when we officiate at funerals, we appear to be so strong and confident, neatly pressed and tucked away behind our robes, liturgies and Scripture. We rarely rise to the occasion when we are asked to pray out the graduates of our community schools, bidding families to accept the loss of their children as a blessing from God, when in fact, that leavetaking is not so easily accepted. We marry our parish's children to one another. We wish them well and watch them move out of town to less expensive and more open communities where they will establish their families and come back 'home' for a visit.

No wonder it appears that we are more comfortable with the broken relationships of people than others. After all, is not the clergy responsible for specializing in the unifying of broken relationships? Did not Christ come to "reconcile" the world to itself through Him, and in our time as well through his clergy? How easy it is to say that the clergy needs so

Residents urged to support marathon

August 30, 1980

Dear editor,
Few people in Borough of Hawthorne know what the Hawthorne Jaycees did just one year ago. With just six weeks of planning, the Jaycees ran a marathon softball game for 48 hours and raised $5,000 for the arthritis foundation. This project was the largest single money maker for the arthritis foundation and as a result the Hawthorne Jaycees were awarded the foundation's distinguished service award for 1980.

Last year's marathon was played in the rain and few Hawthorne residents came out to support this worthwhile event.

This weekend starting Friday evening at 6 pm the Hawthorne Jaycees are going to do it again. The second annual Hawthorne Jaycee/Arthritis Marathon will be played rain or shine and will conclude at 6 pm on Sunday. The Jaycees are playing because arthritis is the number one cripple of young people in this country. In our small organization of 60 people we have three members whose personal health or that of a family member is affected by this crippling disease. One of them is a three-year-old child.

We urge borough residents to help us help others. Attend the marathon. Show your care.

Sincerely,
Tom Mezger
Marathon chairman '80

Pele's brother greets players at first boro soccer day

Pele's brother, Jair Arantes do Nascimento, nicknamed "Zoca" was the guest of honor at the Hawthorne Soccer Association's opening day on Sunday. Zoca and his former soccer coach, Lafayette Costa, attended the soccer group's first annual kickoff day at the invitation of their friend, local resident Bill McLean.

The picnic, organized by Soccer Association President Sal Calderone and a hard-working group of local residents, was a huge success with some 250 players, their parents and friends participating in this event held at the Li'l League complex on Wagaraw Road.

Zoca, who is the girls' soccer coach at Manhattanville College, told the group that he was impressed with their efforts to support the growth of soccer and promised to try to get his older brother to visit with him the next time.

Loudenslager and U.S. team win 'Olympics of the Air'

Good Time B League to resume

This coming Monday at 6:30 The Good Time B League gets back together for the 1980-81 season. Missing from last year's 14 team league will be Ocean Industries, The Saint Anthony Men's Club 'A' team and, the biggest surprise, Brown Chemical who was with the league for at least 15 years and more like 20.

I understand that some changes were made from last year, namely that we are going to a four point system, one for each win and one for total pins. The league average has been raised to 850 and the handicap dropped to 80% from the 85% of last year. The one dollar for each win has been dropped and the prize for first raised to $1,000.

The big money payoff brings up an interesting point, will it hold the same teams together year after year or will the league be looking for new teams every year? Looks like we may have to change the name from "Good Time" to something else after the season starts as each team will fight for each pin on the alley. Ever seen teammates fighting teammates when they miss spare that loses a game. It will get worse when a team loses total pins by one and everybody is blaming everyone else for the loss.

Does big money rear "competitiveness" or "the cut throat" approach to bowling? Must each team have a bowler who can put out when needed and dump when pins are not needed? What happens to the little bowlers who only go out for a night of fun (like Brown Chemical) and don't care whether they win or lose. Will they be sucked in for $6 a night? It might work, but only time will tell.

I can afford the increase for ships held at Wittman Field, Oshkosh, Wisconsin from August 17-30. Called "The Olympics of the Air" by aerobatic enthusiasts, this event marks the first time in the sport's 20-year world history that the championships have been held in the United States.

The team was awarded the Nesterov Trophy. Leo Loudenslager, of Sussex, won top individual honors and now has the distinction of being the No. 1 World Aerobatic Champion.

Top aviators from around the globe pushed their specially built aircraft to the limits during this competition. The world's best pilots comprised teams from nations such as Great Britain, France, West Germany, Republic of South Africa, New Zealand, Switzerland, Rumania, Canada, Italy, Spain and Australia as well as the United States. However, the Soviet and Czechoslovakia teams declined to attend and it was a disappointment to know that the Soviet and Czech pilots were denied an opportunity to compete in the championships.

Not one, but two U.S. aerobatic teams represented the Aerobatic Club of America in the championships. For the very first time, a U.S. women's team headed by current national women's champion Betty Stewart were included. With Stewart, of Rockford, Illinois, were Patti Johnson of Burlington, Texas and Paula Moore, of Brandon, Florida. The men's team led by National Men's Champion, Henry Haigh of Howell, Michigan, was comprised of Kermit Weeks, Miami, Florida; Leo Loudenslager, Sussex, N.J.; Randall Melton, Brighton, Colorado; and Tom Collier, Jonesboro, Georgia. These eight pilots won back titles captured in England in 1970 and in France in 1972, but since lost to the Soviet Union and to Czechoslovakia. The U.S. teams were selected at the U.S. National Aerobatics Championships held October 7-14, 1979 at Sherman, Texas.

Aerobatics is a sport of airplanes, as well as pilots. As the competition gets tougher, the equipment must become more specialized. Constant improvement is vital to success. The world's top professional aviators compete in solo aerobatic performances likened to Olympic figure skating, only in a three-dimensional arena stacked out in the sky.

The longest any pilot can fly in the 1980 World Aerobatic Championships is about 30 minutes, split into four flights. To prepare for this high-pressure half hour, any serious competitor will have put in at least 100 hours of practice at home, in national contests and in intensive practice prior to the competition.

For many of the U.S. team pilots, it all began years ago when flying for business, or pleasure branched out into competitive aerobatic flying. The physical and psychological strain of world competitive aerobatic flying places the pilot under tremendous pressure and each of the sequences of maneuvers is under careful observation and critiquing by expert observers.

The system for computer analysis, the Bauer/Tarasov System, developed by Hans Bauer, analyzes both scores and judges' performance, thus effectively eliminating officiating bias. This has proven to be the most effective of all previous scoring systems as it is used to mathematically determine various scoring characteristics for each judge.

Although the majority of the pilots in this international competition seem to show a preference for biplanes, the only American exception to the biplane is the Laser 200 flown to four U.S. National victories by Leo Loudenslager of the U.S. team. His 200 hp monoplane, much revamped from the Stephens Akro, has a raised turtledeck, cleaned-up rudder and enlarged horizontal stabilizer, and other changes. It weighs 1168 pounds, gross. Henry Haigh, Kermit Weeks and Leo Loudenslager all on the U.S. team, all have new aircraft designs under construction.

At the end of the competition, a man well known for the integral part he played in aviation, especially in the United States space program, presented the awards to some of the finest aviators in the world. His name... Donald K. "Deke" Slayton, one of the Mercury astronauts.

A budding career with time to smell the roses

by Daria Hoffman

Sabine (Turk) Turco of Hawthorne who has been both bouncer and bodyguard believes that people ought to take time out in this hectic world to "stop and smell the roses."

Turk, who is the Maitre D' at the famous Copacabana in New York City, has been smelling some very fragrant roses in his life's garden lately. He has completed shooting scenes with Robert DeNiro for The Raging Bull, a new movie to be released this year. The film directed by Martin Scorsese and based on the biography by Pete Savage, portrays the life story of Jake LaMotta (DeNiro) the middleweight champion in the late 1940s known as the Bronx Bull.

Getting this, his second film role, was "A case of being in the right place at the right time," said Turk. He explained that the casting director for the film happened to be in the audience of a show at the Copacabana, and approached him about reading for the part. "I guess they were looking for a certain type," said Turk. He described the character, whose name is Turk in the film, as a "gangster," a "hard-guy, bouncer-type" who works at the Copacabana.

The celluloid Turk of the big screen gets involved in a big fight which takes place both inside and outside of the Copacabana, where the real Turk feels right at home having worked at the dinner/disco/nightclub for nearly four years.

The Brooklyn native who has spent most of his life in this area, has already moved forward in his still-young screen career. He is considered "a principal" (having lines) in The Raging Bull — a step up from the very brief part he played in the 1978 film Winter Kills. In the latter movie, which starred Jeff Bridges and Elizabeth Taylor, Turk played a gangster — another role he fell into from his contacts at the renowned Copacabana.

Turk considers his current role more of a challenge. While he speaks enthusiastically of the shooting of the fight scene, the listener can understand how acting can be difficult as well as glamorous. Weighing in at a firm 200 pounds, Turk who plays racketball at least twice a week to stay in shape, lost 30 pounds during last summer's weeks of movie filming.

The typical day on the set was between 12 and 16 hours long with just a break for lunch, said Turk. Altogether, 17 takes of the fight scene were filmed. There was no air conditioning, in spite of hot July temperatures, because the motor noises would have been picked up by the microphones. To add to the oppressiveness, all the actors and actresses were dressed in heavy 1940's period costumes which had everyone sweating under the bright lighting required for movie filming.

No holds were barred in achieving realism during the fight action either. Turk reports that a stunt man broke three ribs when he fell down the stairs, and he, himself, received several bruises. Concerning the delivery of lines the rule of thumb was "Be Yourself." Turk explained that the director would tell them basically what to say, but then "you can say it any way you want, ad-libbing as much as you want. The director would say 'do it just the way you would do it. Be as natural as possible.'"

Although admittedly, being in movies can at times be hard work, Turk loves it. "It's super," he says. He adds that it's challenging, interesting, and not only financially rewarding ("You look at your pay check — you think there's been a mistake," he says), but it also gives him a feeling of accomplishment.

Other positive aspects he's discovered about show business are that "you learn a lot. It's always fun to learn. And you meet a lot of nice people — you really do."

Among them is Robert DeNiro. Turk, though usually "not a worrier" admitted that at first "I thought I'd be nervous working with DeNiro — but he's a super guy. He makes you feel so relaxed. He makes you feel like you're somebody. It's nice for a guy who's that big to be that humble." That sentiment is in line with another of Turk's feelings, "I feel I could act easily enough. God made us all the same way. Why feel self-conscious, no matter who the star is, no matter how big he is?"

Turk has met many other celebrities both from his movie jobs and from working at the Copacabana where he greets and seats numerous notables. Some of these include Bob Hope, Cary Grant, Telly Savalas, David Bowie, Barry Manilow, Redd Foxx. After Winter Kills, Turk was hired as a bodyguard for Sylvester Stallone (Rocky) during the filming of Paradise Alley.

Single now after a four-year marriage that ended in divorce recently, Turk says he also likes the attention an actor receives from spectators and the public. This can be expected from someone who says he enjoys people — one of the reasons why he likes the restaurant and nightclub business that he's been in for 16 years, and why he loves New York. Out of the many people he's been acquainted with — one of his favorites is Bridget Muir "the nicest neighbor you could have."

In his two film roles, Turk has been typecast as a tough, rough, violent character, and some of his occupations such as bouncer and bodyguard might create the impression to many that Turk is not in reality far from the characters he has portrayed in films. However, he insists that the impression is false. "When people first see me, they think I'm a wise guy — the way I look, but once they know me (they realize it's not so)," Turk often has to deal with bad-tempered patrons at the Copacabana. Rather than returning their hostility, he says he finds himself acting (and this was long before he got his first acting job) to remain very pleasant with some of the grouchy guests. When trouble breaks out, it is Turk's responsibility to avert that trouble or get it out of the club. His philosophy is "Try to talk your way out of things. That's the best way to do it. Better to be a lover than a fighter."

Aside from what actually goes on behind the scenes, what does it feel like to be in a movie? "It's great. I can't say it's a dream come true because I never thought about it." Although the thought — "how nice it would be to be up there on the screen" — did cross his mind as a youngster, "I never in my wildest imagination thought that someday I would be in a movie."

But now that he has had a taste of show business, Turk wants more. He is considering getting some formal training in the craft, has joined the Screen Actors' Guild, and enlisted the help of an agent to secure future roles. "Twenty years from now, I'd like to be doing the same thing I'm doing now, only on a larger scale," said Turk. Even in this competitive field — he might have

Haledon happenings

August 26

A Schwinn, 10-speed bicycle valued at $283 owned by Noreen DeVirgilio was stolen from the backyard at 68 Harris Street. Police were given a description of a suspect in the theft.

door, a dented passenger's side door and a hole burned in the passenger's seat with a cigarette.

False alarms continually plague borough firemen

Prospect Park - Firemen in the borough continue to be plagued with false alarms. Friday two false alarms were turned in within minutes of each other.

The first came in at 10 am from the box located at the corner of Brown Avenue and Lake Shore Drive. When police arrived at the intersection no one was at the scene.

About 10 minutes later, while firemen were still at the firehouse, completing the last call, another false alarm was turned in from the box located at the intersection of Brown Avenue and North 13th Street.

Police Chief Anthony Ver Hage said the police are investigating both alarms and "will deal severely" with the culprit, once he is apprehended.

Dennis C. McNamara was driving an unregistered, uninsured vehicle while his license was revoked. He was charged with all three violations and released on $100 bail.

Prospect Park sewers were installed over 50 years ago during the administration of the late mayor Lambertus Touw.

It happens all the time! Over a year and a half ago the borough council made application with the Passaic Valley Water Commission for the installation of a water hydrant at the intersection of Fairview Avenue and North Eighth Street.

Prospect Park Patter

by Bert Nawyn

Mayor Nicholas De Graaf won his point. There will be no sewer mains from North Haledon coming down Brown Avenue. The Brown Avenue route for North Haledon's main trunk line to the interceptor in Paterson was the primary route devised to carry North Haledon's effluent into the Passaic Valley Sewer Commission disposal system.

Borough officials vigorously opposed the route, which would have come through the Manchester Regional High School property, entering Brown Avenue at the Lakeshore Drive intersection and continue down to North Sixth Street.

The installation of sewer lines down Brown Avenue would have caused much disruption and inconvenience to citizens of the borough. There would have been blasting, there would have been disruption of services to homes along the way. Residents on the hill section of North 16th and North 17th Streets and Lake Shore and Cyril Avenues would have been required to leave their cars below Brown Avenue for at least six weeks while the two intersections leading to those homes were under excavation.

The installation of sewer mains on Brown Avenue in front of the public school would have disrupted classes and the learning process. The fire engine would have to be housed somewhere also during the duration and other municipal services would have been disrupted.

North Haledon's Mayor John Carbone recognized the problems involved in laying sewer mains down Brown Avenue. The alternate route is through Hofstra Park and down Prescott Avenue.

Prospect Park sewers were installed over 50 years ago during the administration of the late mayor Lambertus Touw.

It happens all the time! Over a year and a half ago the borough council made application with the Passaic Valley Water Commission for the installation of a water hydrant at the intersection of Fairview Avenue and North Eighth Street.

The need for a hydrant at that location was evident for a long time. The corner is at the beginning of the business section, near Eastern Christian Junior High School, and just a block away from the Prospect Park Christian Reformed Church.

So when was the hydrant installed? That's right, last week, just a week after Fairview Avenue was repaved. The road was dug up and Mayor De Graaf, upon viewing the excavation and installation of pipes, said, "They better bring this road back to the way it was or else they will be hearing from us."

Eastern Christian's Labor Day outing Monday at Terrace Lake, which signals the beginning of the school year from the 1,150 students attending the four Eastern Christian schools, was the best attended in the history of the school association.

Attendance estimates ranged from 4,500 to 5,000 persons and by six o'clock everything at the refreshment stands had been sold out. Jack De Jong, chairman of the refreshment committee, estimated that in addition to the kegs of birch beer consumed, the crowd drank 500 containers of white milk, 500 containers of chocolate milk, and 3,000 cans of soda.

Walter De Boer, formerly of North 11th Street and now a resident of the Holland Christian Home in North Haledon, marked his 81st school day. De Boer began attending the Labor Day outings in 1898 as a student in the Christian School and has attended every outing since that time. Outings have been held since 1898 with the exception of one year, during World War II, when it was cancelled due to a gasoline shortage.

Reflections on a pastor's move

support in this area. This is the clergy's task. This is the clergy's forte.

This question of pastoral support for professionals became more relevant the other day when Donald MacLeod told me that he had accepted the position of educational chaplain at the school in Georgia, confronting me with the reality of "life after MacLeod". Our friendship and the friendship between the clergy in general, came to mind, a friendship which is a precious gift to those working in the field of Christian ministry.

Don's leaving affects not only his parish, the borough and his friends, but it also has an impact upon his colleagues in a unique way. After 13 years in one parish, the public's response to his move will not be very surprising. There will be the quaint clichés of some and the genuine well-wishes of others, each reflecting in their own way their own sense of Christian commitment to the message of God through the ministry of men and women.

For my part, I will lose a good personal friend, the fellowship of an enjoyable neighboring family, and a strong professional counterpart in the borough. That represents a lot to the professional clergyman, in any community, and to me and my colleagues in Hawthorne.

This closeness was illustrated some time ago, when Don stopped into my office on a Saturday morning while walking the dog. We talked quite extemporaneously about his then recent heart attack. The experience had been survived, but the impact of the crisis was still to be worked through. We talked about family, work, job mobility. Options for vacations were talked about, and the ever present skulking fear that pervades a family of a heart attack victim. It was a short conversation, but through it all I came to know Don better than I had. I was glad we talked together in this way.

Since that time, I have come to appreciate Don's less than conventional richness and variety of life. I have seen him in different lights: in Melcon's, gesturing about some item of faith sure to shake the pillars of the most faithful, and with the sick, as he quietly uttered the words of the Lord's prayer to someone soon to be operated on. I know the depth of Don's compassion and the strength of his Christian commitment from which he constantly draws. His studiousness always reminds me of our own denomination's stand in favor of a strong and educated clergy.

These are the qualities which I will miss professionally and which will become part of the "treasure" of another work in another state. In our agreements and disagreements (and we did have our disagreements over some very substantive matters of scripture and doctrine) we challenged each other to grow and to continue toward the fullness of living in a world which so often negates the very importance of our own being. To be sure, others will fill this void. St. Clement's will not forever remain vacant. But, for those of us who know Don MacLeod, we know what a loss his move is both to the borough and to those who considered him friend and colleague.

Fuel-switching is no nickel-and-dime proposition.

Before you go to the unnecessary expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition. Not only will you have to purchase all new equipment and pay to have it installed, but you'll also be paying to have the old equipment dismantled. Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than to go to all the expense that conversion entails? Now, especially with the new 15-percent tax credit for modernization of oil-burning equipment recently authorized by Congress, modernization is a more economical option than conversion. Call your independent heating oil dealer. He'll tell you how to get more for your heating dollar, for less.

Even if nothing more comes of Turk's new-found ambition, it's obvious he won't be disappointed. He says he is happy and satisfied with his life the way things are. "God has been good to me," he said.

In addition to his other occupations, Turk plays on a softball league, umpires another, is the president of a bowling team, plays touch football, is learning karate and enjoys watching sports. Variance granted to permit use as warehouse

A variance permitting the owner of Elite Gymnastics, 75 Fifth Avenue, to rent 3600 square feet as warehouse space was granted by the Hawthorne Board of Adjustment at its August session. The warehouse space is part of a new facility at 80 Fifth Avenue, which owner Michael Sellitto hopes will cover cost overruns for a new gym.

The applicant told the board that his original construction costs were $140,000 and he hoped to use the projected $13,500 revenue to cover the deficit of $25,000 to $30,000 on the new facility.

Sellitto had previously received variances for the gym on the assumption that it would be a single-use structure. The new variance carried a stipulation which set a limit of two employees for the warehouse use. The remainder of the building, approximately 5400 square feet, will be used for the gymnasium.

In other matters, the board denied a variance to Victor Malizia, 130 Goffle Road, which had been pending for three months because Malizia had died in the interim. The application was for a 10 x 20 foot rear addition to the first floor apartment located in a two-family dwelling in an I-1 zone. The request was for extension of a non-conforming use.

The board approved a variance to permit an 11 x 12 foot addition to an existing front porch at 67 Passaic Avenue, owned by Nazzarino Collella. The addition would bring the front of the house flush with the porch.

The front setback would be 10.33 instead of the required 25 feet.

Leonard Van Den Berg of 25 Hutchinson Avenue was granted a variance to permit construction of a 12 foot wide one-story addition to the rear of an existing one-family dwelling. The southerly sideline would be six feet instead of the required 10 feet and the rear line 23 feet instead of 25 feet.

Water main hookup bids under study

Bids for the installation and supply of a six-inch water main between Hawthorne and North Haledon were received by the Board of Commissioners on August 20th. The figures ranged from a low bid of $41,870 from Joseph Mayo and Sons of Lodi to $91,246 from Burroughs Well Drilling Co. of Hawthorne. The bids were referred to the borough engineer and the town's water consultant firm.

Baby-keep-well station September 10

The Hawthorne Board of Health announces that the baby-keep-well-station for infants and pre-school children will be held on Wednesday September 10 at 9:30 am.

Parents wishing to make an appointment for their child may call the Borough Nurses, Lucy Pataki, R.N. or Catherine Gentner, R.N., at the Board of Health office, 427-4011. Dr. Joseph C. Sabella, M.D., will be the pediatrician in attendance.

Blood pressure screening Sept. 16

The Hawthorne Board of Health's hypertension screening program will be held on Tuesday, September 16 from 1:30 to 8:00 pm, at the municipal building, 15 Garfield Avenue, in Room No. 13, adjacent to the Board of Health office.

Public Health Nurses will be conducting the blood pressure screening on a monthly basis. For further information call 427-4011-12.

No snowplowing bids after two attempts

After two sessions were scheduled for bid taking on the borough's snowplowing services, Public Works Commissioner Arthur Brokaw was authorized to negotiate the contract without competitive bidding.

It's just as bad to be too thin as it is to be too fat, according to a study reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association. Lowest death rate occurs among people of average weight.

Scientists have found differences between the sexes in the physical structure of the brain, which point to biological factors in personality. Hormones can induce brain changes in animals, such testing has not been done on humans.

New studies suggest that Vitamin K is vital for strengthening bones, as well as for blood clotting. Vitamin K appears naturally in turnip greens, broccoli, lettuce, and cabbage. Some medications may interfere with the body's absorption of it, so you may have to take more.

False teeth can be kept in place with magnets by a newly patented method. One magnet is installed on a support connected to the jawbone, while another is mounted in the denture.

Board approves contract 9-0; receives state evaluation

by Daria Hoffman

The Board of Education unanimously adopted the teachers' contract settlement reached by the Hawthorne Teachers Association and the board negotiating team on August 29th. The 9-0 vote was contingent upon submission of a schedule of salary distribution that is acceptable to the school board.

Both teams were scheduled to meet yesterday to negotiate the salary guide and the coaches' salary guide. The teachers' group ratified the agreement last Wednesday, prior to the opening of school on September 4th.

The two-year package calls for an eight percent increase the first year and an eight percent increase the second year. The teachers also agreed to drop an employee incentive plan which paid $70 to $100 per year to teachers who did not use between seven and 10 illness days per year. The cost of this program, which averaged about $9000 annually to the board, will be added to the dental plan premium to improve this fringe benefit for the teachers.

Although there will be no increase in personal days (three for tenured teachers and two for non-tenured) as an incentive not to use this benefit, unused personal days will be allowed to accumulate as sick days in the following year.

Contract language has been re-written to mutual agreement for non-teaching duties, such as lunchroom and playground supervision, religious holidays, supervision periods in the high school, class coverage, teacher transfer and teacher promotions.

Linda Missonelle, chairman of board's negotiating team, thanked the committee members, Frank Petrucci and Jack Meeter plus current board president Frank Matthews and past president Fred Criscitelli for their work in the teachers' contract talks.

Matthews commended the board negotiators for their dedication and hard work.

At Tuesday night's session, the board accepted the state's classification and MBS analysis report of the borough schools. Hawthorne received superior ratings by both students' minimum basic skills, and in an overall evaluation of the quality of education at the schools based on four years of monitoring.

As a result of the evaluation, the district and all six schools within it have been classified by the state as approved.

The state board now requires that all schools and districts in the state be classified as either approved, interim approval on interim approval pending. The evaluation is based on four years of monitoring the educational plan, basic skills and compliance with law and regulation.

All six schools were given the highest of four ratings in a three-year analysis of minimum basic skills test scores "continue to maintain and improve."

More than 85% of the students in all six schools scored about the state's minimum standards in both communication and computational areas.

Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Frank P. Chiofalo said he was "extremely pleased" with the minimum basic skills analysis, and was "even more" pleased with the state's overall evaluation of the district and its schools.

Chiofalo said that in the report from the state department of education, there was "absolutely no criticism" and that "all schools received commendation."

Back to odd-even rules

Passaic County was excluded from a mandatory ban on non-essential water use ordered Tuesday by the state Board of Public Utilities for drought-like conditions in northern Jersey. In Hawthorne, a total sprinkling ban was lifted last Wednesday night and the odd-even restrictions resumed as a means of conserving water.

The odd-even method allows sprinkling on odd-numbered residences on odd-numbered calendar days and vice versa.

According to Hawthorne's Public Works Supervisor Frank Lembo, the present situation can be handled with the partial ban. "As long as residents observe the odd-even rules, the condition is not critical," he said, "but when residents abuse the partial ban, we have problems."

Penalties for anyone convicted of violating the borough ordinance which regulates water use in the borough include a fine not to exceed $200 and a jail term not to exceed 90 days.

The report read, in part, "The citizens of Hawthorne can be truly proud of the educational system and the professional staff who deal with their children on a daily basis."

The district on the whole was also cited for "outstanding progress in the area of career education," employment of a "wide variety of teaching approaches," "smooth implementation and utilization of additional special education staff members and educational programs," "ongoing curriculum review and revision," "evident quality of public involvement" and the establishment of good lines of communication between school and home regarding pupil development and skills attainment.

On an individual school basis, the high school was commended for its efforts in "exploring, developing and articulating a program with William Paterson College" and "infusing career awareness into all subject areas."

The other schools were cited for positive atmosphere, preventive and remedial programs and communication between home and schools.

Reward posted for murder case

by Daria Hoffman

A $1,000 reward has been posted by PBA local 14 (police union for Haledon, North Haledon and Prospect Park) for any information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons involved in the September 1 murder of a Haledon youth.

According to Haledon police Sgt. Michael Del Vecchio, there are still "no concrete suspects" in the bludgeoning death of 13-year-old James Susan.

Susan's body was found at 11:45 pm last Monday night in the woods of Camp Veritans by his older brother David, several hours after he had left a family gathering. He died of multiple fractures of the skull and a brain hemorrhage after being struck twice with a 7-foot log fence post.

In an attempt to pick up any possible clues, police have been investigating Susan's background. Friday, a group of about 30 children who knew Susan at the Grace Methodist Church in Wyckoff were gathered together and questioned by police.

Del Vecchio said that as a result, "nothing new" was discovered, "nothing we didn't already know." He said the boy was "well-liked" and there were "no flaws in his background."

Variance denied for conversion of Hawthorne Tank to apartments

An application for permission to turn the Hawthorne Tank and Welding Works site into garden apartments was denied by the Board of Adjustment Monday night. Albert Esoldi is the applicant who sought a use variance to building a 36 unit complex on the 2.4 acre site at 50 Rock Road.

The September 8th session was a continuation of the August 11th hearing held on the matter. The case, as first heard on June 3rd, included plans for 48 apartments. This number was reduced to 36 by the July session along with revisions of the drainage plan.

The majority's decision to deny the variance by a 5-2 vote was explained by Board Chairman Albert La Barre, who said approval would set a precedent for other developers who might wish to convert industrial space to residential use.

"I have never felt comfortable converting industrial property to residential use," said La Barre. "The reasons for a change on this site can be used on every single industrial site. If it's granted, it would be a first step for others who challenge the zone."

The board's decision paralleled an argument by an attorney for one of the objectors that the applicant did not provide substantial reasons for a change in the zone. The attorney, Michael Rendo represented Jaygo Inc., whose owner is interested in the site for industrial purposes. Rendo refuted the applicant's contention that the property could not be used as an industrial site because the welding works has been at that site for more than 30 years. He stated that the applicant had presented no testimony to support the argument that the land cannot be used for its designated purpose.

Ronald Fraioli, Esoldi's attorney, argued that the apartments would be an improvement over the noise and tractor-trailer traffic associated with the industrial use. He had also presented testimony in previous hearings that pointed to the need for apartments in Hawthorne.

A petition signed by several neighboring residents had also been presented to support the neighbors' desire for apartments at that site.

Esoldi's option to purchase the property expires on October 1st. Fraioli said that he did not know whether his client planned to appeal the board's decision.

Paterson man sentenced in factory outlet shoplifting

A Paterson man convicted of shoplifting from the Factory Warehouse Outlet last month, returned to Hawthorne Municipal Court last Thursday night for sentencing. Walter M. Oliva, 17 Van Houten Street, was sentenced to 30 days in jail, the minimum mandatory sentence for a third offender. He was also fined $350 as part of the penalty.

The defendant's attorney, Michael Kessler, had argued that Oliva should not be considered a third offender because the other two offenses occurred under the old criminal code. The recent conviction fell under the shoplifting statute in the new criminal code, which carries more stringent penalties. His point was that since the statute has been revised, Oliva is really a first offender of the statute and should receive the lesser penalty.

Judge Donald Reenstra said the argument was invalid because the shoplifting statutes in both the old and new codes are "basically the same" and ruled that Oliva was a third offender.

Three Paterson men were found guilty of trespassing on the property of B and S Sheetmetal, 51 Fourth Avenue.

Aslon Goow, 437 Edmond Avenue, Kenneth Snow, 432 Edmond Avenue, and Edward Hendricks, 111 Ryerson Avenue, were each fined $100 and $15 court costs for the offense.

Hendricks was also found guilty of another charge against him — giving false information about his identity to police officers when he was apprehended. He was fined an additional $100 and placed on probation for a year.

Decision was reserved for two weeks in a case against two borough residents accused of disorderly conduct. Reenstra said he wanted the time to review the statute involved and the evidence presented.

Amer Lee, of 21 Westervelt Avenue, and David C. Weir, of 34 Macfarlan Avenue, were both charged with "creating a disturbance, annoyance and public inconvenience by yelling and screaming in a loud voice."

According to testimony in the case, the incident occurred at about 1 a.m. Lee, Weir and two other friends had been dropped off by another friend on Diamond Bridge Avenue and were walking home. Ptl. John Bechtle and Ptl. George Metzler said that the four were very loud and were asked to move on. According to their testimony two of the group walked right away, but Lee and Weir walked out into the street and began yelling and screaming insulting obscenities at the police officers.

Lee and Weir testified that when asked by police to move on, they did. They admitted to talking loudly but denied yelling obscenities at police.

A 32-year-old woman, who is a tractor-trailer driver for UPS lost her license for six months in municipal court last Thursday when she was found guilty of driving an uninsured vehicle.

Karen Nelson, of 8 N. 16th Street, Prospect Park, was stopped by police on June 18 for driving a 1972 Pontiac which was overdue for inspection. Ptl. Thomas Pomroy testified that upon asking Nelson for her driving credentials, she said the car was not insured. The car had been sitting idle on her property for several months and she was driving it to Saddle Brook to sell it to someone there. Pomroy added that the car was also not registered.

During the trial Nelson claimed that she thought her Pontiac was covered. In 1979 she bought a Toyota and called her insurance agent to have it covered. The insurance agent transferred the policy to the new car and dropped the Pontiac, which he said was the normal procedure when someone buys a new car, since a single person does not usually own two cars.

Although testimony was lacking as to whether Nelson had requested or known that the Pontiac was dropped from the policy, the insurance agent on questioning from Prosecutor Walter Dewey, said that he didn't ordinarily remove a vehicle from a policy unless requested to do so.

under the gavel

Nelson's automobile insurance policy covers her while driving a substitute vehicle under certain circumstances. However fine print on the policy stipulates that the individual will be insured while driving an uninsured motor vehicle not owned by the policy holder.

Since Nelson owned the Pontiac, she was not insured under this provision.

Under questioning by Nelson's attorney Marvin Sunshine, Nelson's insurance agent said that most people probably don't realize that distinction on the substitute vehicle.

Sunshine contended that "it's reasonable to assume she did not know she was not covered" and pointed out that that statute stipulates that to be guilty of the violation, a driver of an uninsured vehicle must know or should have known it was not insured.

Reenstra found Nelson guilty of the charge. He said he found her testimony to be not credible, and was convinced that she knew or should have known she was not insured.

He added that being a tractor-trailer driver, whose livelihood depends on driving Nelson had more of a responsibility than the average driver to be certain as to whether she was in accordance with all driving regulations.

In his decision, he noted that the testimony from Ptl. Pomroy — that Nelson told him the car was not insured when she was stopped — was not contradicted in the trial. He also took into consideration the insurance agent's testimony that he does not ordinarily drop a vehicle from a policy unless requested to do so.

In addition to the revocation of her license, Nelson was fined $50 and $15 costs for the offense. The license suspension was stayed for 10 days to permit appeal of the decision.

Aksam Osman, 71 Planten Avenue, Prospect Park, was found not guilty of a careless driving charge filed against him by William Conroy, 181 Wagaraw Road.

Conroy testified that between 6:30-9 pm, he heard the sound of tires screeching on the pavement. At 9 pm, he walked down to the Shell service station and saw the defendant in the station's lot "burning rubber" in a vehicle.

The witness said he assumed the noise had been coming from Osman all evening. Osman claimed he had been at the service station for 15 or 20 minutes test driving a friend's car he was considering buying.

He said the car did have a big engine and big tires and made a lot of noise. However he testified that he had only been there for a short time. He said he stayed on the service station property because the car had a standard transmission, which he wasn't used to driving.

Osman said he stopped driving the car after only a few times and apologized to Conroy for the annoyance.

Reenstra said the careless driving statute concerns driving on a highway or public street. Since Osman was on the gas station property he was found not guilty.

Medat Doko, 193 E. 25th Avenue, was found guilty of three motor vehicle violations. He was fined $25 for careless driving, $50 for exhibiting someone else's driver's license and $10 for driving without a license in his possession.

Rocco D. Menna, also of Paterson, received a $35 fine for lending his driver's license to someone else.

Timothy P. Culhane, 448 Goffle Road, received a $200 fine for driving while his license was suspended.

Fuel-switching is no nickel-and-dime proposition.

Before you go to the unnecessary expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition. Not only will you have to purchase all new equipment and pay to have it installed, but you'll also be paying to have the old equipment dismantled. Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than to go to all the expense that conversion entails? Now, especially with the new 15-percent tax credit for modernization of oil-burning equipment recently authorized by Congress, modernization is a more economical option than conversion. Call your independent heating oil dealer. He'll tell you how to get more for your heating dollar, for less.

A Ridgewood nurse, Doris Avola, reported that she was assaulted by her employer, Valdemar Madis of 40 Park Slope Terrace. She had been providing nursing care for Madis' wife an invalid.

Madis allegedly pushed and knocked Avola down when she failed to leave immediately after being told her services were no longer wanted.

Chief Vincent Mangiafico of the Hawthorne Police Department urges all citizens in the borough to be aware and alert concerning solicitors for driveway paving and chimney and house repairs.

dimmer side

One Hawthorne resident told police that he believes he was tricked by a man claiming to be in the business of coating and resurfacing driveways.

The resident paid the man, who was driving a pick-up truck, $600 — half the payment. The solicitor, who police believe to be G. Nicholas of Jackson, sprayed some substance on the driveway, but according to police, the resident was not satisfied that this constituted resurfacing, and stopped payment on the check.

September 5

A snow plow valued at $800 was reported stolen from the rear lot of the Goffle Brook Shell Station, 902 Goffle Road. The theft may have occurred sometime during the week prior to when the plow was discovered missing.

Two tires, wheels and fender skirts were stolen from a car owned by Glen Rock resident, Mildred Turpan, while it was left for repairs at Don's Auto Repair, 199 Goffle Road.

An employee of the Party Hut, 62 Goffle Road, reported that at 9:15 pm a man entered the store wearing only a tee-shirt and sneakers.

A similar incident, apparently involving the same individual, reportedly occurred at the Krauszer's store on Braen Avenue in Wyckoff at 4:10 am.

September 6

The Hair Groom barber shop, 265 Hawthorne Avenue, was broken into during the night. According to police, $85 was stolen from the register. Entry to the building was gained by forcing a rear window and screen. Neighbors of the area heard nothing.

Joseph Gaetano, of 306 Hawthorne Avenue, reported that two of his car's tires were slashed during the night.

September 7

Two men were arrested and charged with criminal attempt of burglary at Wine Imports, Loretta Avenue. Twenty-nine-year-old Kenneth F. Blackmar of 29 Washington Place, Ridgewood and 26-year-old Daniel K. Swager, of 3450 Wayne Avenue, Bronx were both sent to the Passaic County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bail each.

Police responded to the rear of the company's building at 1:04 am after receiving a report that an alert Hawthorne boy heard noises that sounded like hammering coming from that area.

When police arrived, Blackmar and Swager were allegedly attempting to chisel through a cinder block wall.

Karen Groos reported that while her car was parked in front of her 144 Pasadena Avenue home, the windshield was broken by a large rock thrown at the vehicle.

Jane Blaney of 186 N. Ethel Avenue also reported vandalism to her car. During the night, a tire was cut and the bucket seats were punctured with a sharp instrument.

September 8

Three cars owned by Joseph Woods, of 33 N. 13th Street, were vandalized during the night. Ignition wires and radiator hoses were cut and damaged.

September 9

Nour Varaua of 14 N. 8th Street, reported that while he was at the Triangle Diner, his 12-speed Huffy bicycle valued at $130 was stolen from the lot.

A $60 pocket camera, hanging from a handle bar was stolen along with the bike.

Bernadette Weiman, of 255 Rea Avenue, reported that a cassette tape player and a spare tire and wheel were stolen from her car in the early hours of the morning.

An assault complaint was filed against 35-year-old James P. Dalto. Peter Stern, 102 Pasadena Place, was allegedly assaulted by Dalto while visiting at 522 Goffle Road.

Police received a report that after hearing a tapping on the window, a woman working in the kitchen of St. Anthony's School, looked up and saw a middle-aged man drop his pants and underwear, exposing himself.

Two people were injured when a Conrail crane smashed into the bridge at the Conrail overpass intersection on Wagaraw Road Monday afternoon. The driver, Domingo Goyat of New York City and a passenger, Aaron Ball of Jersey City were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital and Medical Center, Paterson, where they were treated and released. The 1978 Ford dump truck to which the crane was attached was towed to Andy Turco's Lincoln Car Care following the 3:25 pm accident. The vehicle apparently cleared the first part of the bridge, then struck some telephone wires and was unable to clear the second part of the structure.

Forward-moving changes improve local schools

A new blue and white school calendar arrived in the mail last week. The journal lists the high school schedule of sports events, PTO meetings and fundraisers, student activity happenings such as dances and car washes, even the scheduled dates of standardized tests. It also has shaded boxes to indicate the days when school is closed.

The feature we like best about the new schedule is that it replaces the archaic "handbook for schools" that provided parents with information about the district. These handbook regulations are now printed on the flip side of each calendar page for easy access and continual reinforcement.

The 1980-81 calendar is just one of many modifications that have taken place in the district this past year. In February a new superintendent was hired, Dr. Frank Chiofalo, whose dynamic leadership style promises more improvements to the district. This summer the board created the position of assistant superintendent, who will be responsible for curriculum coordination, public relations and the endless paperwork required by the state in its T & E mandate.

Since the person hired for assistant superintendent was a promotion from within — a vacancy was created at one of the elementary schools. Dr. Richard Nazzari, formerly the Lincoln School principal, moved to the central office. He was replaced at Lincoln by Mr. Robert Masiello, principal of Franklin School. Now there is a new administrator at Franklin — Dr. Gerald McDonnell, a former vice principal of Wyckoff's middle school.

The faces aren't the only things changing. This academic year, the school board instituted a closed lunch program for all elementary schools.

In an effort to provide better lunchroom and playground supervision, the lunch period is shorter.

Another development is the reorganization of the Franklin and Washington Schools to house all fifth through eighth grades at the May Street plant and all students, kindergarten through grade four at the school on Mohawk Avenue. Although the move was not an easy decision, the plan seems to be proceeding smoothly.

Other improvements are in the area of curriculum. Hawthorne High School has a new career awareness program and a college boards review course to highlight some of the additions. A pilot reading program is also going to be tried in the elementary schools this year.

The preceding list is, by no means, a comprehensive one. It merely relates some of the more salient features about forward-moving changes in the local district. Let's hope for more of the same.

comment

One of the reasons this country has been faced with rising inflation, record interest rates, and energy shortages in recent months is that too many in Congress ignore the protests of taxpayers and continue to create larger and more costly government.

In many cases, the citizen-legislator has been replaced by the career politician who considers Washington, D.C. home and loses touch with the real world outside Washington. Concern for reelection has overshadowed the desire to make the hard decisions needed to solve the nation's problems.

Incumbents have provided themselves with the most sophisticated tools to insure reelection; such as TV studios, free mailing, a large and expensive staff, and sophisticated computers.

In the Congressional elections held since 1962, an average of 94 percent of the incumbents who sought reelection were returned to Washington. The average years of service for powerful committee chairmen is more than twenty-one.

That is why many thoughtful people are proposing a Constitutional amendment to limit Congressional terms. The most frequently mentioned idea is three four-year terms for the House of Representatives and two six-year terms for the Senate. One six-year term for President is also being discussed.

Term limitation will help restore citizen-legislators to government. When that occurs, those who pass the laws will be part of their local communities again and be required to live with those laws. A citizen-legislator expects lawmaking to be a temporary occupation, remaining active in or returning soon to a private career.

Momentum is building for such a plan. A Gallup survey indicates 66 percent of the American people support limiting Congressional terms.

A responsible, truly representative Congress, composed of citizen-legislators, would be an important step toward bringing inflation under control and a means of encouraging greater personal freedom and individual opportunity.

A special thanks to some special people

September 6, 1980

Dear editor,

This is a letter of appreciation and thanks to some special people in this community.

I would like to publicly thank the following police officers: Ptl. Fred Soder, Ptl. Richard Leyman, Ptl. Peter Vandervelde, Ptl. Thomas Pomroy and the members of the ambulance corps who were there on September 3 to help with the delivery of my twins at home.

I know there has been some controversy about these services in the past, but my experience proved that when an emergency situation arises, there are people who answer the calls and know what they're doing. It's good to know that the members of these public service departments can help in times of need.

A special "thank you" to those who were there and also to all of my friends and neighbors for their kind thoughts and words.

Playhouse On The Mall presents "The Gazebo"

"The Gazebo," Alec Coppel's hilarious mystery, will be the upcoming attraction by Center Stage, the professional theatre company in residence at The Playhouse On The Mall, Bergen Mall, Paramus. The play is scheduled to run from September 25 through October 12, with ticket prices remaining at $5.50 to $8.50.

This comedy/mystery is not a "whodunit", but a "who did it to who?" The story of "The Gazebo" follows a television mystery writer spinning through a ludicrous series of murderous events. Elliot Nash can create the perfect murder for his television audiences, but finds that in real life the task is not so easy. He discovers this when he does away with a blackmailer. Nash accomplishes his mission in the dark, and once the body is buried beneath the gazebo behind the Long Island home, he realizes that he may have murdered the wrong person. One pulse-quickening, rib-tickling event follows another, leading to a very amusing, and surprising outcome. Critics have hailed "The Gazebo" as the most hilarious murder mystery since "Arsenic and Old Lace."

Jim Hillgartner, of Edgewater, will star in the role of whodunit author Elliot Nash. June Prud'homme will play his unsuspecting wife Nell.

This combination of humor and homicide will be directed by Timothy Wallace, of Englewood.

Performances are Thursday at 2:00 and 8:30 p.m.; Friday at 8:30 p.m.; Saturday at 5:30 and 9:00 p.m.; and Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Reservations for this delightful mystery, as well as the upcoming "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof" October 30 - November 16, may be made by calling (201) 368-1943. The box office is open for walk-in reservations from 12 noon to 8:00 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Master Charge and VISA welcomed. Group, senior citizen, and student discounts are available. Seating is limited, and reservations are strongly advised.

Local girl on TV show

Lisa Ann Anitti, age five, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anitti of Prescott Avenue, Prospect Park, has been chosen to appear in a segment of the new children's T.V. show "Pinwheel", airing January 1981 on HBO and on channel 5.

Lisa has also won eight trophies in local N.J. beauty pageants. She was a runner-up in the "Little Miss Half Pint" contest sponsored by Carvel. She auditioned for several TV commercials and has her own NY manager. She was also asked to join the Young Actors Guild.

Lisa studies ballet, tap and jazz with the professional children's class at Lorraine's Dance Workshop in Hawthorne. She has appeared in such shows as "I Love N.Y."

Storyhours set at library

Registration for the fall story hour programs at the Louis Bay 2nd Library will begin September 15. The story hours are open to four and five year olds, preschoolers or kindergartners. Groups will meet for 45 minutes on Tuesdays, at 10 am or 1:30 pm, beginning October 7 and continuing through the month of October.

A month of creative crafts is planned for children in the first grade and older. This group will meet for 45 minutes on Wednesdays, at 3:45 p.m., beginning October 8 and continuing through the month of October.

Advance registration for these programs, by phone (427-5745) or in person at the library, is required.

Hawthorne residents now have two ways of borrowing books from their area library in Paterson. The Paterson Library has announced that, under the terms of its urban grant, borrowers from Hawthorne may borrow directly from Paterson, using their local library card. This new service is highly recommended to people who need the desired books immediately. For those residents who may not find it convenient to go to Paterson, the Louis Bay 2nd Library will continue to offer interlibrary loan service.

The next meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Louis Bay 2nd Library will be held on Tuesday, September 16, at 8 p.m. at the library instead of the announced date of September 23.

The North Jersey Male Chorus begins rehearsal for winter concert

The North Jersey Male Chorus (formerly the Wyckoff Male chorus) has begun rehearsals for their 33rd annual Winter concert.

Proceeds of the concert will go towards a music scholarship at William Paterson College. The chorus pioneered the first music scholarship at WPC in 1970 and has donated $1000 each year which helps to pay approximately three semesters tuition for music students.

The North Jersey Male Chorus presents two concerts each year at the Marion Shea Auditorium on the campus at WPC in December and May. The programs reflect a blend of contemporary music, show tunes, hymns and old favorites.

Rehearsals are held each Wednesday at 8:00 pm at the First Reformed Church at 259 Lafayette Avenue in Hawthorne. New members are welcome to join at a rehearsal or may contact Andrew LaSalle in Wayne.

The '80-'81 bowling season for the Good Time 'B' League began Monday evening at the Lakeview Bowl-O-Mat in Paterson, four point winners were Saint Anthony over Parker Inn, Stoney Roaders over Brass, S & R Masons over Gizzi Heating, and Cadillac over Englehardt's. The Hawthorne Press took three point from Ferguson while La Vie En Rose was doing likewise to DeLuccia's. Passaic Citizen and Bernardo's split the four points down the middle. Leo Higgins picked right up where he left off last year by banging out a 226-237-631. Other two hundreds went to Kamil Farris (216), Harold Keck (213), Tony Zisa (200), Port Richardson (200-216-599), Duke Krilow (200), and Sal Marino (211).

Of sad news to the league was the fact that Jules Sirvidio passed away during the summer. Jules was a member of the Paterson Elk #60 team for many years and was one of the mainstays of the league. He will be sorely missed by his constituents.

Also missing is John Bruggeman who suffered a stroke. Without John around, I had nobody to fight with on Monday.

That's all for this week, see you at the alleys.

Haw. Pee Wee A ties Oakland at 0-0

Sunday afternoon at Franklin Field the Hawthorne Pee Wee A squad battled Oakland to a 0-0 tie. Strong defenses on both squads dominated the game. Untimely penalties may have cost Hawthorne a touchdown in the second quarter. However forced to punt, the defense again held Oakland deep in Hawthorne territory.

The second half was dominated again by both defensive squads. Although no one won the game Hawthorne did pick up one point for the tie in the league standings for its fine defensive effort.

The B team continued from last year by defeating Oakland 16-0. Strong offensive line enabled Jeff Herman and Todd Kenny to score two touchdowns and two, twopoint conversions from the five yard line. The defense led by Tom Trybulec and Billy Clare stopped Oakland dead in their tracks.

Over 400 hours of football to be telecast

UA-Columbia Cablevision (UACC) will cablecast over 400 hours of NCAA college football this fall. The games will be cablecast over UACC's Channel 1, the entertainment and sports programming network (ESPN).

Since ESPN is expanded its programming to 24 hours-a-day on September 1st, UACC subscribers will be able to see more college football and all the excitement that surrounds it, than ever before.

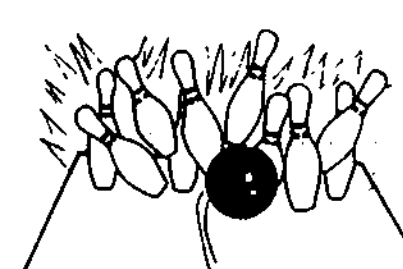

In all, 66 games will be cablecast, 15 more than last season, for an average of five games a weekend from September 6 through November 29.

September's schedule includes two home games with Alabama, the nation's number one team the last two seasons, and important early games such as USC at Tennessee, Penn State at Texas A & M, and Iowa at Nebraska.

Second Annual Jaycee/Arthritis Marathon nets $4000 after 48 hrs.

The Second Annual Jaycee/Arthritis Marathon which was played on the Wagaraw Road Field this weekend netted $4000 after 48 hours of play. Featured during the event was a display given by the New Jersey National Guard and the drawing of the raffle winner for three days and two nights donated by the Playboy Club at Great Gorge in McAlfee. The winner of the trip was Joseph Rose of Elmwood Park.

Many fire departments, Jaycee chapters and local businesses sponsored teams to play in this event. The highlight of play came on Saturday evening when a team of Li'l League Mothers defeated the Hawthorne Jaycees in two hours of play.

Present at the opening ceremony was Mayor Louis Bay of Hawthorne who threw out the official game ball. The same ball was presented to Stacey Chesam the 1980 poster child for the Arthritis Foundation at the closing ceremony 48 hours later by Jaycee President Frank Ferriola and Jaycee chairman Tom Metzler and Ken Smith.

Miners shovel nine goals past Mahwah in soccer action

The Cosmoettes played a fine game to win by 3-1 in Hawthorne Soccer League action over the weekend. Nicole Taube scored two and teammate Susie Bauer, one for the season opener in the girls' division.

Division 5 teams split the honors with the Huskies who dominated the action, but scored no goals. Great defensive work limited the score with Fred Zoeller doing a great job in goal for this Hawthorne boys' team.

The Polar Bears played well with young Sal (Jay) La Rosa getting a goal and the Ridgewood team giving up an 'own goal.' The Miners, unlike those in Poland, were definitely not on strike as they shovelled nine goals past the Mahwah keeper. Five players shared the goals, a real team effort with Eric Wolf netting a fine hat trick.

Next Weekend

Saturday September 13, the girls kick-off at 9:15 am at the Diamond Bridge field, where the Ravens will be hosting the Fair Lawn Whirlwinds. The Pumas will travel to Oakland and the Sparks, to Mahwah. The Rockettes will be at home against the Mahwah Crickets at Franklin School with kick-off 11 am. The Cosmoettes are scheduled to play at North Haledon.

On Sunday September 14, the borough will be represented at Walldwick by the under 19 team, the Hawthornes. Kick-off is at 1:15 pm at which time, the Division 2 entry, the Lumberjacks, will entertain Mahwah United at Diamond Bridge field, followed at 3 pm by a Division 3 game between the Solarites and the Mahwah Gladiators.

At 1:15 pm at Lincoln in Wyckoff, the Knockouts play the Rowdies, while at 3 pm also in Wyckoff at Sicomac field, the Nuggets meet the Impalas. In Division 4, the North Stars will be away against the Montvale Cowboys (3 pm) hosting the Wyckoff Comets and the Fair Lawn Medicinemen in a double-header at Franklin School.

At Wagaraw field at 1:15 pm the Division 5 Miners host the Ridgewood Harpys followed by the Huskies against the Walldwick Star Warriors at 3: pm. The Polar Bears travel to Allendale and play Pele at 3 pm.

Brett Hearn breezed to an overpowering victory in the opener of the 100-lap Northeastern Dirt Track Championship series at Middletown's Orange County Fair Speedway Saturday night. Forced to start back in 24th spot after winning the consi, Kinnelon's Hearn, just named by the fans as their most popular driver in addition to being track champ for the second year in a row, methodically threaded his way through traffic to take the lead from Richie Eurich on a 37th lap restart. Once out front, Hearn's Van Iderstine #20, enroute to its third 100-lap win this year, was invincible, building up a better than half lap advantage over Eurich before a late race caution brought him back in sight.

Eurich had another strong outing, but again was forced to settle for second money. Harry Behrent wound up third in his new, untested #3, after Bob Matzahn, who had taken the checkered flag in third place, was penalized two laps for pitting under a previous red flag. Midland Park's Larry Brolsma and C.D. Coville rounded out the top five. The three track series moves to Flemington this Saturday night at 5:30. Sportsman champion Jeff Heotzler captured the 30-lap headliner. The next scheduled event at the 3/8 mile speedway will be the October 18 and 19 Eastern States weekend finale.

On Sunday the NASCAR Grand National stock cars return north to Dover Downs International Speedway for the $158,900 CRC Chemicals 500. Scheduled activities begin on Friday with practice runs followed by Saturday's qualifying events and the International Sedan Series 100-mile race. Then at 12:05 Sunday, the gruelling 500 mile endurance run will take the green flag at the famous Route 13 raceplant.

Continuing on his winning rampage, Ramsey's Bill Wilson extended his winning streak to three August 30th, capturing the finale of the four 100-lap modified stock car race series at Middletown's Orange County Fair Speedway.

Sharing the spotlight with Wilson, who took home $1800 for the win, was Midland Park's Larry Brolsma, driving the Hawthorne Chevrolet #5, who edged Billy Osmun for the overall special series point championship. In addition to collecting $1000 of the series point fund, Brolsma earned the coveted pole position for the prestigious October 19th Eastern States 200.

Although he started on the pole by virtue of his first heat win, Wilson had to work hard for this one. Kevin Collins, the only other race leader, led briefly for a five-lap stint until a 42nd lap restart when Wilson regained command for good. Collins kept up the relentless pressure until he spun with seven to go, giving Billy Osmun a shot at Wilson. Osmun, driving the Everitt 4Jr., was forced to settle for a fine runnerup spot, unable to overtake the high flying Wilson. Track champion Brett Hearn finished third followed by Danny Mitchell, Richie Eurich, Buzzie Reutimann, Brolsma, Collins, Charlie Shire and Richie Smith.

Mike Petruska, of Wayne, captured his third sportsman 20-lap main event, but fell just one point short of the point championship which went to eight time feature winner, Jeff Heotzler. Defending champion Ralph Heotzler, leading the chase going into Saturday night's fray, fell to third spot in the final season point tally. John Strupp second generation driver, finished a solid second in the feature after leading several laps before giving way to Petruska. Jeff Heotzler was third followed by Randy Zuidema, Carl Pittenger and Bruce Quinn.

Garbage bids show increase of nearly 30 percent

Prospect Park - The bids received by the borough council for garbage collection represent an increase of almost 30 percent over the current contract. For the past three years the firm of De Faria Brothers of Newark, has been the scavenger at a cost of $165,000 for the period which ends on December 31st.

This year De Faria was the high bidder. The council asked for specifications for bringing garbage to the P&M landfill in Kearny and for transporting garbage to the HMDC Baler or Compactor in Hudson County.

According to Councilman Robert Mulder, a member of the Passaic County Engineering Department, bids must be solicited for both methods of garbage disposal "since it is conceivable that Prospect Park garbage within the next three year period would have to go to a compactor."

Mulder said that Passaic County government decides where the local garbage will go and that if the county decides after the contract is in force that "our garbage must be compacted, we must be prepared for that eventuality."

For the P&M landfill, the De Faria bids come in at $69,000 for one year and $235,000 for three years. For the HMDC Baler, the bids were $86,500 for one year and $292,000 for three years.

The low bidder, Modern Installation Waste Inc., of Saddle Brook, bid $62,700 for one year for the P&M landfill and $209,100 for three years. The bids for the HMDC baler were $78,900 for one year and $263,700 for three years.

All bids were referred to the borough attorney for review. The contract is expected to be awarded at the next council meeting. Should the council award the bid to the low bidder, it would reflect an increase of $7,000, the equivalent of a little over two tax point.

Police Chief Peene retiring

Police Chief John Peene will retire from the borough police force this Friday. Peene, who has served with the department for 26 years, has decided to leave his job as head of the 18-man force and return to the private sector. The 55-year-old chief reportedly has some job offers, but has not yet made definite plans.

North Haledon notes

pick ups will end on September 12 and the regular weekly schedule will resume.

The leaf-collection schedule may be obtained from the Borough Clerk's Office. The schedule will also be posted on the municipal building bulletin board and at the public library.

Former Borough Attorney James Segreto filed suit Tuesday against former School Board President Joseph Medici claiming he filed false ethics complaints against him with the state Supreme Court. Segreto is seeking monetary damages to compensate him for harm done to his reputation by Medici's charges accusing Segreto of conflict of interest.

Segreto was exonerated of any wrongdoing in a report issued on January 28 of this year. The opinion, issued by the ethics committee of the Supreme Court's Passaic County District, also gave Medici 30 days to appeal the decision, but no appeal has been filed.

Medici's complaint alleged that Segreto was in conflict because he was borough attorney and also represented two individuals who were suing the Board of Education.

There will be a special meeting of the North Haledon Council on Wednesday, September 17 at 8 pm in the municipal building. The purpose of this session is to continue review of revision and codification of the borough ordinances.

Graves to address apt. owners

Senator Frank X. Graves, Jr., Democratic senator from Passaic County, will speak to members of the Apartment House Council on September 18 at the Sheraton Inn, on Route 18 in East Brunswick.

Senator Graves will address the group concerning his bill, S-1067, which would exempt new rental construction from rent control from a 10 year period. He will also discuss with the group other pieces of legislation pending in the state house which will effect their industry.

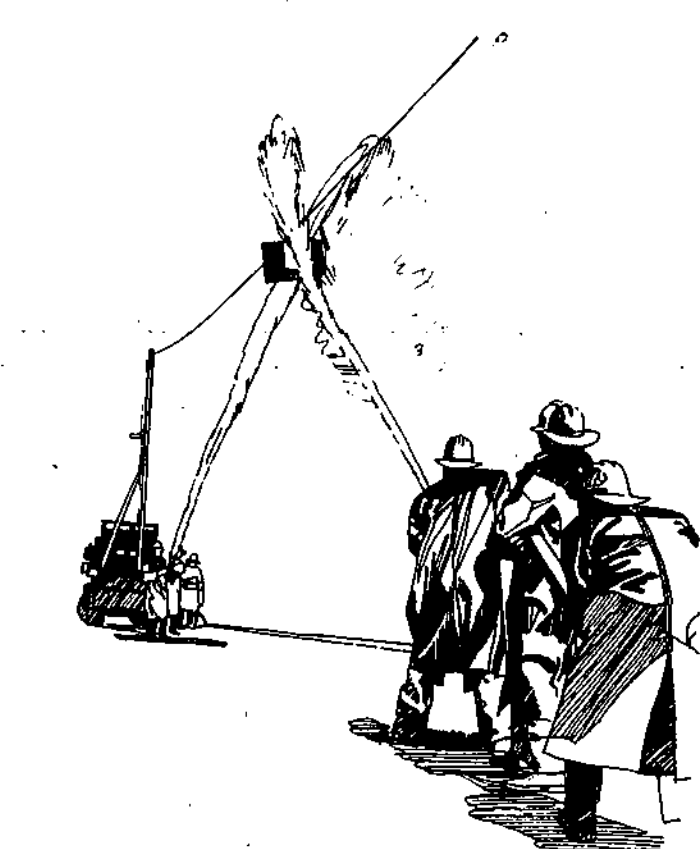

Early morning snackers keep local firemen hopping

Prospect Park - It could only happen in this borough. At 3 o'clock Saturday morning the fire alarm sounded, shattering the night calm. Firemen jumped out of bed, donned their trousers, slipped into their shoes, and rushed to the fire at 88 Struyk Avenue.

It seems that somebody at that house was hungry and was warming a pot of food on the stove. The food overheated, there was lots of smoke, and the alarm box at the intersection was pulled. Firemen arrived at the scene and within seconds had everything under control.

Back to the firehouse, back to that warm bed. Half an hour later . . . there goes the fire alarm again. Let's see, what time is it . . . 3:30 in the morning.

Out of bed, back into the pants and shoes and this time to answer a fire at 255 North

9th Street. This time it wasn't a pot of food, it was Taylor filled the house. Firemen

A battery and a carburetor valued at $200 were stolen from a car owned by Brian Fischer, 66 Cedar Cliff Avenue, while it was parked in the lot at the Morningside Florist, 554 West Broadway, sometime during the night.

Fischer's brother Ben saw the car with the hood opened and reported the theft to police.

Police received reports of four incidents of vandalism to automobiles which all occurred in the early hours of the morning. A 1978 Dodge owned by the borough of Haledon, a 1974 Ford station wagon owned by Virginia Hadrys of New York, a 1972 Toyota owned by Barbara Samelli, of 531 West Broadway, and a 1979 Pontiac owned by Emilia Frank all had windows broken. Two of the car owners said they saw a vehicle speed past their cars and throw something to break the window.

The Haledon Fire Department extinguished a small brush fire along the fence at the south end of the Foodtown parking lot on Haledon Avenue.

Another fire in the borough — a car fire at Haledon Avenue and Zabriske Street — was extinguished by the time authorities arrived.

According to police, an electrical problem in the engine compartment was the cause of the fire in the 1969 Sunbeam owned by John

Two tires of a 1973 Oldsmobile owned by Marlene Canning, 137 Barbour Street, were reported punctured with an ice pick or similar tool sometime during the night.

Fourteen-year-old Dale Robinson, of 489 Belmont Avenue, was taken to the hospital for treatment of injuries he received when he was hit by a car on Haledon Avenue in front of the Foodtown parking lot.

Robinson was riding a bicycle. According to the police report of the accident, the driver of the 1969 Buick proceeding south on Haledon Avenue, Kathleen Brown of Paterson, said that the vehicle in front of her was turning left into the parking lot. At the same time, Robinson reportedly passed her on the right and turned left in front of her vehicle.

John and Nellie Tanis to celebrate 69th anniversary

by Bert Nawyn

Everybody sends an anniversary card once in a while... and this is the week for everybody to send an anniversary card to John and Nellie Tanis of 362 North 10th Street.

On September 16 this fine couple will be married 69 years, longer than anyone else in the borough... longer than many people live. The unique feature about this anniversary is that during the first year of their marriage they moved into their home on North 10th Street and have resided there ever since.

Prospect Park Patter

Both of the celebrants were born in Paterson. The April after their marriage they decided they wanted to settle in that new borough, up the hill, Prospect Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Tanis bought property on a narrow dirt road, North 10th Street, and watched the borough grow up. "It certainly has changed since those days," says Mr. Tanis, who for years served on the fire department and is a former marshal of the community.

During his early years John Tanis was a member of the Paterson Athletic Club and his athletic prowess as a runner came in mighty handy when he helped in the fire department. In those days, the fire truck was a contraption on two wheels, drawn by men, who would run to the firehouse from their homes and pull the truck to the fire at a trotting pace.

Mr. and Mrs. Tanis were married by the late Rev. Thomas Vernoll, then pastor of the First Reformed Church of Paterson. They have, for many years, been members of the Second Reformed Church in Wyckoff and are able to attend worship services every Sunday.

Mr. Tanis retired in 1957 from the Horman Seitz Manufacturing Co., in Newark. Mrs. Tanis is the former Nellie Curving. The celebrants have one daughter, Marie Steingaa, of second place and a handsome trophy for having the second best Midland Park. They also have nine grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Now that we've told you the story, don't forget to send the card. Let's all make this a memorable occasion for John and Nellie Tanis. After all, who else do you know that's married 69 years?

Notch up a trophy for the fire department. At the Boonton anniversary parade last Saturday the local fire department won looking fire truck in the parade, in the five to 10 year old category. The trophy was given for "best appearance."

Keeping the fire trucks in shape is another aspect of being a member of the first department. It's not the exciting part like riding the fire engine and fighting the fire. The time involved and the elbow grease expended in keeping equipment in tip-top shape is certainly evident when trophies are awarded. Congratulations to the fire department.

Second Christian Reformed Church on North 11th Street has its annual church outing Saturday at Terrace Lake. The following Saturday Bethel Christian Reformed Church has their annual outing at the Terrace Lake grounds.

You've probably seen that the stores across Haledon Avenue at North 10th Street have been demolished. The property is owned by the Bethel Christian Reformed Church and before long, the tract will be macadamized, lights installed, and used as a parking area for church members.

The Haledon Emergency Ambulance is conducting its annual fund drive in the borough. Residents have received the coin cards. Now's the time to turn them in with donations. The Ambulance Association deserves the support of the community. They stand ready at all hours of the day and night to offer assistance to those who need it. So give generously.

Sunday we were visiting with people in the borough and next door a dog was barking continually. The host asked, "Isn't there something we can do about this barking dog?" I replied "Yes", and for those who have similar problems Ordinance 35-13 relates to barking dogs. It says, "No person shall keep, harbor or maintain any dog in the Borough of Prospect Park which shall habitually disturb the peace and quiet of the neighborhood by continuous barking, crying or uttering other disturbing sounds."

It's up to the person being disturbed to make the complaint. Once the complaint is made and signed, a summons will be given to the dog owner. The fine is not more than $25 if found guilty in court.

Ptl. David Scott promoted to sergeant

Prospect Park - Ptl. Donald Scott, 12-year veteran of the police department, was promoted to sergeant Monday night by Mayor Nicholas De Graaf. Scott, who resides in the borough on Fairview Avenue, joined the police force in September, 1968.

The recent promotion brings the number of sergeants in the police department to three men. In addition to Scott, officers holding the rank of sergeant are Glenn Saltenberger and Howard Zuidema.

Monday's action is viewed as a move to promote a new police chief from within when Chief Anthony Ver Hage retires at the end of the year.

Designers' Showcase '80 opens at Barbour Estate

Formerly Benedictine Academy

For the first time in New Jersey showcase history, the state's most prestigious design group, the American Society of Interior Designers, will co-sponsor Designers' Showcase '80 — opening to the public at the Barbour Estate, 39th Street and Broadway in Paterson this Sunday.

This event also marks the first time that a showcase mansion is being used as a focal point in bringing public attention to the revitalization of a community which has industrial history, grandeur and stately architecture.

At Designers' Showcase '80, the elegance of the past will be captured along with innovative design directions for the future. Focusing on the theme "Paterson: A Legacy of Linen in Silk City" — both industries were founded there during the late 1800's — the designers will incorporate these luxury fabrics into their decorating schemes throughout the mansion. They will also be previewing the latest color concepts, furniture collections, wall and window treatments, floor coverings, lighting and accessorizing ideas.

A unique feature of this showcase is that the participating designers will be readily available to its visitors. Specifically, the designers will offer private 1/2 hour consultations for individuals seeking decorating advice for a $25 fee. You are asked to bring your floor plans, fabrics, wall coverings and colors to the consultation. Contact Irene Ann Blewis, ASID at 201-233-2021 for advance appointments. Decorating seminars conducted by ASID professionals will be another highlight at the showcase. Designers will review new trends in home furnishings Monday through Friday from 9:30 to 10:30 am.

The Estate's majestic 42 rooms — many with wood paneled walls, marble fireplaces and beveled glass windows — will provide the background for the creative efforts of New Jersey's top decorating talent. The 20 ASID designers participating are professionals who have met the highest standards in the business and their work reflects years of experience. Each has qualified for ASID membership by education, experience and by passing an extensive examination.

Designer's Showcase will run through Sunday October 19. The hours are 9:30 am to 4 pm Monday through Saturday and noon to 5:00 pm on Sunday. No guests will be admitted one hour prior to closing time. Regular admission price is $5.00 and tickets will be available at the door. Special reduced group rates including admission, lunch, decorating seminar and Paterson Historic Tour are also available. Ample free parking will be provided. For more information about Designers' Showcase '80, call 201-742-1980.

Gala preview Saturday evening

A 43 room Edwardian house called Kilbarchen and a tent set on its surrounding lawns at the Barbour Estate in Paterson, will be the setting on September 13 for a gala and preview of Designers' Showcase '80, this city's first designer showcase house and the first in the state in an urban center.

Guests will have the opportunity to attend a supper dance at 9 pm following cocktails at 7 pm and the first public glimpse of the 27 rooms furnished and decorated by 20 members of the New Jersey Chapter ASID. Tax deductible tickets for the gala and preview are $125 for two, $65 for one. Black tie is suggested but is optional. For further information call the Barbour Estate at (201) 742-1980.

The house and grounds, at the corner of Broadway and East 39th Street, will open to the general public the next day, September 14 and remain open through October 19 for the benefit of the Eastside Neighborhood Association, the N.J. Chapter of the A.S.I.D., and the Paterson Regional Catholic High School of the Paterson Diocese which operates the Barbour Estate.

The Eastside Neighborhood Association, which developed the showcase idea in order to focus attention on and raise funds for the promotion and preservation of this distinguished older urban neighborhood, and the Paterson Regional Catholic High School will be the beneficiaries of the gala and preview.

"The entire concept of the gala, as well as the showcase house, is one of people working together for a desired goal, in a city that understands its human and economic importance, in historical terms and neighborhood preservation," says Frances C. Barsh of Paterson, chairman of the event. The honorary chairmen are Paterson Mayor Lawrence F. Kramer and Mary Ellen Kramer who are being honored for their work in creating the Great Falls Historic District which became a National Landmark in 1976.

School repair referendum Tuesday

Next Tuesday, Hawthorne voters will be asked to go to the polls to vote on a $194,000 referendum for school repairs. The plan covers renovations to the borough's five elementary schools, which cannot be included in the annual budget because of cap restrictions.

The proposed referendum includes eight areas of renovation. These are: exterior repair and brick pointing for waterproofing of walls for the prevention of leaks at the Roosevelt, Franklin and Washington Schools; sidewalks and curbing at the Roosevelt, Franklin and Lincoln School; lighting upgrades at the Roosevelt, Franklin and Washington Schools; electrical panels required as new installations at the Roosevelt, Franklin and Washington Schools; plumbing work on the lavatories at the Roosevelt School; a complete boiler heating renovation at the Roosevelt School involving unit ventilators and steam traps to reduce the amount of fuel burned at that school which is far exceeding the averages in the other schools; required renovation to two existing resource rooms at the Roosevelt School which are to be put into compliance with regulations involving ventilation and magnetic smoke doors based upon the construction of these rooms; and finally, areas of repair at the Lincoln School and Jefferson School cited in the master plan.

review. The total work includes architectural and engineering fees plus legal and bonding costs.

When the master plan was originally presented to the school board by the Harsen and Johns Partnership architectural firm, it included almost $750,000 in work to be done on the various schools. The board expansion committee reviewed the proposal and pared the project down to the essential renovations. The committee's review took approximately 12 months due to the fact that approvals had to be received from the NJ State Planning and Facilities Division. State approval was received this summer and the referendum scheduled for September.

The renovation work addresses the most pressing needs for repair. The plan calls for $141,160 to be spent at Roosevelt School; $24,950 at Franklin School; $6,750 at Lincoln School; $19,300 at Washington School and $1,400 at Jefferson School.

The money to implement the work will come from the issuance of bonds and will become part of the debt service for the school district. It is expected that the sale of bonds will take place about one month from the time the referendum is approved. The financial impact of this work will amount to one to one and a half tax points per year with a 10 to 15 year repayment period.

This will cost the homeowner of a $50,000 house about $5 per year.

If the referendum does not pass next Tuesday, the school board will have to put the issue up for a vote a second time, possibly in conjunction with the next school election. However, since that will not occur until next May, the costs can be expected to escalate within a six month period.

John Pasquale, chairman of the school board's expansion committee, stated that the repairs are essential work that must be done. One of the projects like brick pointing will prevent deterioration of the exterior of the buildings and eventual water seepage. Some of the electrical work is essential to replace wiring and prevent overloading of the system. He added that no major amount of money will be put into schools that may need future expansion or where a closing is considered in the years ahead.

Ongoing repairs are scheduled each year in the budget. For example, all of the school system's boiler repair to increase fuel consumption efficiency has been done through the past four years' budgets.

Voting for this referendum will take place at all Hawthorne's five elementary schools and the high school between the hours of 2 and 9 p.m.

Driver leaves scene after car crashes into Klepper's

A car that went out of control early Sunday morning near Klepper's Auto Parts run into the building, damaged a boat on the property before bursting into flames at the 23 Goffle Road location. The driver fled the scene and police have not yet identified who was driving the 1968 Buick which is registered to Curtis White, 13 Barnert Place, Paterson. Attempts to contact White have, so far, been unsuccessful.

A passenger in the car, Jerry Black, 28, of 402 Ellison Street, Paterson, also wandered from the scene and pulled two fire alarms after borough trucks had already arrived at the scene. One alarm was pulled at the corner of May Street and Wagaraw Road and another at Thomas Road, before police apprehended Black and realized that he was the passenger in the car which struck the building.

Black was transported to Valley Hospital, Ridgewood by the William B. Mawhinney VFW Ambulance.

The accident occurred at 3:43 a.m. while the vehicle was travelling north on Goffle Road. The car went out of control, struck a boat and a trailer owned by Klepper employee Frank Hoffman, 679 Doremus Avenue, Glen Rock and landed underneath the building before catching fire. That section of the building is on columns and has an opening underneath. The flames travelled from the car up the side of the building and singed the roof. Exterior damage to Klepper's building is minimal, but the boat was totally destroyed.

Investigation is continuing into this incident. No charges have been filed as yet.

JM Lounge open again

The JM Lounge, downstairs at Macaluso's Restaurant, was reopened last Friday after the owner Joseph Macaluso received site plan approval from the borough's planning board. At the September 9th hearing, the planners approved the use of the basement level as a cocktail lounge, provided that the top floor be used as private offices only. The other contingencies were that the basement area be constructed in accordance with the building code and that all exit lights and accessories conform to the fire prevention code.

According to Fire Prevention Chief Louis J. Bay, emergency lights, exit lights and self-closing doors had to be installed. One door that was obstructing another door had to be removed to provide proper passage. Bay said that he inspected the premises on Friday and found all requirements to have been satisfactorily completed.

At last Tuesday's planning board session, site plan approval was also granted to Bert Realty Company, 296 Lafayette Avenue for construction of an office building. The approval was contingent on the parking spaces being 12 by 20 feet and on the drainage plan meeting the approval of the borough engineer. Immediate application must be made for a minor subdivision to merge lot 19 with lot 14A.

Shoplifting charge brings $200 fine for Hinostroza

by Daria Hoffman

Juan Hinostroza, of 114 Spruce Street, Paterson, who had been found guilty of conspiracy in a shoplifting charge from the Factory Warehouse Outlet, 111 Wagaraw Road, returned to court for sentencing Thursday night. Judge Donald Reenstra took into consideration the fact that Hinostroza's record has been clear for the last five years and imposed a penalty of a $200 fine.

The probable cause hearing scheduled to be heard regarding Daniel Swager of Bronx, NY and Kenneth Blackmar of Ridgewood, who are charged with the attempted burglary of Wine Imports, were referred to another court, since Reenstra in private practice represents the owner of the property.

Richard J. Mullenberg of Totowa was found guilty of damaging someone else's vehicle. He had been involved in a fight in the parking lot of the Hawthorne Pub, 610 Lafayette Avenue. Mullenberg reportedly kicked someone's car, damaging the side molding. He was fined $250 for the offense.

Vincent Capaci III, of 292 Goffle Road, received a $50 fine when he was found guilty of speeding on Lafayette Avenue (60 mph in a 30 mph zone).

under the gavel

A Paterson man, Jorge Tipiano, of 100 E. 17th Street, was also found guilty of speeding on Lafayette Avenue. According to police, Tipiano was traveling 50 mph in a 30 mph zone. He received a $25 fine. Tipiano was also fined $10 for driving without an automobile insurance identification card in his possession.

David Dzula, of 54 Charles Street, Clifton, was fined $50 and had his license revoked for six months when he was found guilty of driving an uninsured vehicle.

Dzula explained that he was driving his father's motorcycle, which he did not know was not insured.

Mary Clancy, of 15 Governor Street, Paterson, was found guilty of driving an unregistered vehicle. She was driving her husband's car and claimed to have no knowledge that it had expired. She received a $25 fine. The trial for two other charges against Clancy — driving without insurance and while her license was suspended — was postponed to allow the prosecution time to obtain documents from the State Division of Motor Vehicles.

Ricky English, of 444 Lincoln Avenue, was found guilty of two motor vehicle violations — leaving the scene of an accident (in which he struck a fence post, knocking it out of the ground), and not having insurance identification in his possession.

George T. Kessery Jr., of 50 North 8th Street, received a $10 fine for driving without a driver's license.

Arthur DeNully, of Fourth Avenue, was found guilty of two violations of blocking driveways. He was fined a total of $20 for the violations, and an additional $20 for not appearing in court in spite of notices sent to his home.

When the silent alarm sounded at Northeastern Bank late Tuesday afternoon, police responded with shotguns ready. Last month the bank was the site of an armed robbery in which the culprit fired shots at police as they made their get-away. Tuesday's call was a false alarm.

Fuel-switching is no nickel-and-dime proposition.

Before you go to the unnecessary expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember, converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition. Not only will you have to purchase all new equipment and pay to have it installed, but you'll also be paying to have the old equipment dismantled. Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil-burning equipment than to go to all the expense that conversion entails? Now, especially with the new 15-percent tax credit for modernization of oil-burning equipment recently authorized by Congress, modernization is a more economical option than conversion. Call your independent heating oil dealer. He'll tell you how to get more for your heating dollar, for less.

Injured while surfing in Hawaii:

Fund started for Jay Cupo, paralyzed in mishap

While Cupo was hospitalized in Hawaii, doctors performed an operation in which they removed a piece of bone from his hip and wired it to his vertebrae to provide support for his spine. Two weeks ago, Cupo returned home with his parents who had gone to Hawaii to make arrangements for his care. The young man is now in New York University Hospital, New York City, for treatment of an internal infection. Round the clock care is needed to prevent a build-up of fluid in his lungs. Once his condition is stabilized, he expects to be transferred to the Rehabilitation Center of the NYU complex.

Cupo's ordeal has been a costly experience. Although his medical insurance is covering the surgery and hospital stay, the expenses are beginning to soar. The trip home cost about $9,000, but the biggest expenditure is going to be the rehabilitation program, which is not covered by his medical insurance.

At NYU, payment in advance or a guarantee of payment for three-four months is needed before he can be admitted to the rehabilitation center. Cupo faces 18-24 months in the center at a cost of over $10,000 per month. Even after treatment, there are no guarantees that the therapy will improve his condition.

Because of these insurmountable costs, borough residents and members of local service clubs have already begun to target Cupo's cause for their fundraising efforts. The first such event will be a roller skating party planning by the Junior Woman's Club on September 22.

The Jay Cupo fund is being coordinated by Jerry Thomson, at whose arts of self defense school, the young man has been learning karate for the past two and a half years. Thomson has set up the fund at the following address: P.O. Box 8155, Haledon, NJ 07508. Anyone who wishes to make an individual donation may mail it directly to that address.

Any club or service group that would like to plan a fund-raiser for this project should contact Thomson at 423-5555 or 427-2522.

Thomson described Jay as "a good competitor," a student of national caliber with "a fantastic attitude." Cupo has a green belt in karate and had represented The Arts of Self Defense School at the national championships held in Virginia Beach earlier this year.

In addition to karate, Cupo was active in Hawthorne's recreational and high school athletics program. He graduated Hawthorne High School and was a member of the Boys' Club. He also helped coach the borough's junior wrestling program.

The 22-year-old was employed at Web Publications, a web printing plant on Fifth Avenue in Hawthorne. His parents, Flo and Joe have resided in the borough for 29 years. His father is a self-employed carpet distributor. Jay has four brothers — Tim, 24; Tom, 23, who has a black belt in karate; Jimmy, 18 and Dean, 13.

Friends who wish to send get-well greetings to Jay may do so in care of New Bellevue Hospital, NYU, Room 7E, 1st and East 27th Streets, New York City, NY.

Roller skating party next Monday kicks off fund raising efforts

The first fundraiser to benefit the Jay Cupo Fund will be sponsored by the Hawthorne Women's Club.

A roller skating party will be held at the Oakland Skating rink on Monday, September 22 for the benefit of the Jay Cupo Fund. The rink will be closed to the general public from 6:30-9 pm at which time, the facility will be open for family skating for participants in this event.

Nancy La Forge, club president, and Janice Lavorgna, program chairperson, report that tickets are on sale at Jamie's Florist or at Frank's Deli, both located on Lafayette Avenue. Tickets are $2 per person and may also be obtained from any junior. No tickets will be sold at the door.

A vote in Tuesday's referendum will help schools

Special elections aren't noted for large voter turnouts and this Tuesday's referendum will probably be no exception. We're not bringing up this issue in hopes of getting out an unusually large number at the polls on September 23rd. Human nature, being what it is, we realize that less than one percent of the borough's registered voters can be expected to find a few minutes between 2 and 9 pm to voice their opinion on the proposed school referendum.

It's this informed and dedicated group that we address. There may be many questions about why this referendum is needed or why the schools ever got to this state, but they're not the issue.

The crux of the upcoming vote is whether or not borough residents will give the school board the authority to spend additional funds for essential repairs to the borough's five elementary facilities.

With the project planned as a bond issue, the work will account for only one or one and a half tax points each year in the next 10-15 school budgets. It doesn't sound like much, but faced with runaway inflation, we realize it won't be easy for some people to pull a lever to increase spending, no matter what the reason.

However, the past few years we've seen a reversal of the old Hawthorne trend to vote against any increase in school spending. Unlike the early 70's, the past four years have seen three school budgets passed in the borough. The only defeat in 1978 went down by 2 votes.

This is an optimistic note on which to base next Tuesday's outcome. We hope it provides the impetus for citizens who are concerned about the condition of our schools to vote in favor of the $194,000 in repairs.

There's no question that exterior work, like brick-pointing, left undone will only increase the need for future expenditures. It's also a known fact that any cost projection of today, put off for even a few months, will escalate out of sight.

It's an exercise in futility to oppose a plan such as this. We urge the voters to make an effort to get next Tuesday's referendum passed. This is one way for citizens to do their part to keep the Hawthorne school system on the right track.

Praise for ambulance corps

The following letter was sent to the Board of Commissioners. A copy was forwarded to The Press.

September 15, 1980

Dear Sirs:

Occasionally affairs of government stray far from the will of the people. On these occasions it is necessary for the people to express and continue to express their will to bring the actions of their representatives in line with the will of the people.

There is no question that converting Hawthorne Tank property to residential use is the will of the people. A petition to this effect gained over 50 signatures, virtually all the neighbors on Rock Road.

Many of us feel that the tank works, besides being an eyesore, is a potential danger to our children, an attraction to vandals, and a source of pounding and noise throughout the day.

You can imagine my dismay, and that of my neighbors, when we heard of the board's decision to let the boiler works property remain an industrial zone, a decision which will doom our beautiful area to coping with these problems indefinitely.

I consider the industrial zoning of this property outdated, since the tank works was built before Rock Road was ever developed. Since then the area has blossomed into a neighborhood of well-manicured homes and young families of people who love Hawthorne, an area that is truly an asset to the borough.

It is appalling (to say the least) that Board Chairman Albert LaBarre can cite his "discomfort" in converting industrial property as the reason for disregarding the will of the people. We are not seeking change for the sake of change. We merely want a chance to make a good neighborhood better, while the opportunity presents itself. Now that the land is for sale there is a priceless opportunity to right the wrong that has been done for many years.

I therefore plead with you gentlemen to use your powers to reverse their negative decision, recognize the will of the people, and the obvious benefit of beautiful dwellings, by zoning the Rock Road area residential as soon as possible.

Sincerely,
Carolyn Biondo

Sincere thanks

Dear Editor,

We, at Kleppers Auto Service, would like to express our sincere appreciation to the Hawthorne Fire and Police Departments for their quick action at the recent accident and fire outside our building at 23 Goffle Road. The promptness and experience of both these departments prevented a very serious fire.

Thank you again from all of us at Kleppers Auto Service.

Sincerely,
W. (Bill) Klepper

Disagrees with Tank decision

September 15, 1980

Dear Editor,

I sincerely thank the William B. Mahwinney Ambulance Corps for the prompt response for assistance at the time of my husband's fall.

Each member gave so generously of his valuable time, and demonstrated an admirable ability to cope with unforeseeable circumstances.

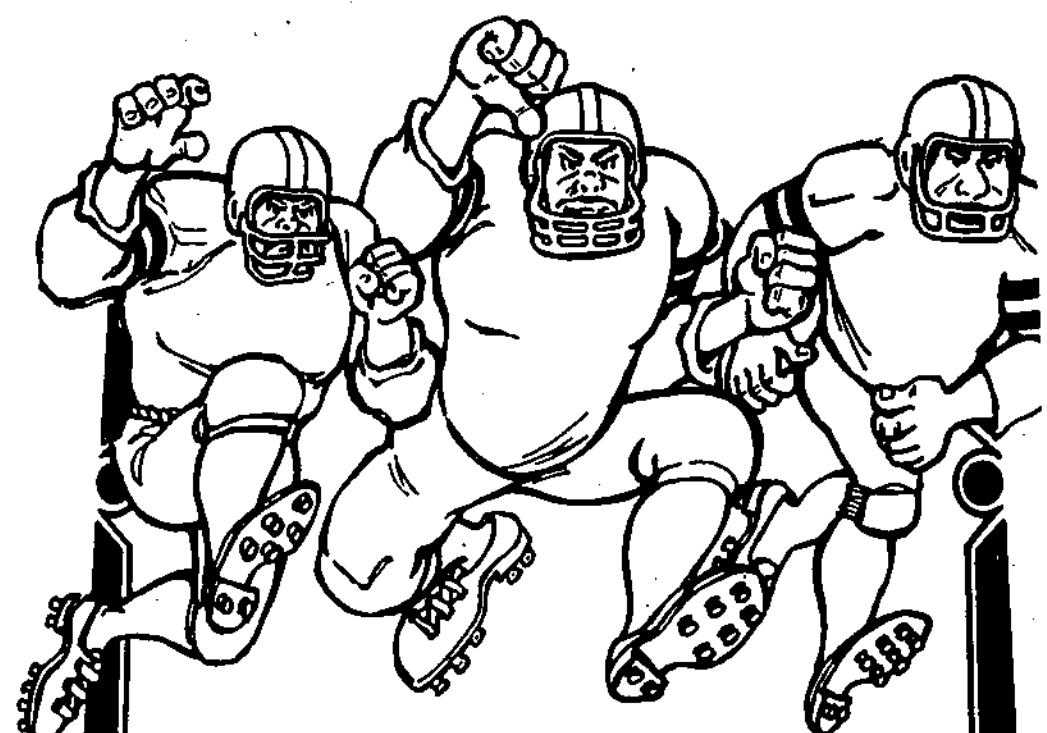

The true concern and skilled care displayed when rendering services is most commendable. My husband, Walter Ryerson, fell down the basement stairs and broke his hip. Upon the corps' last arrival, he was immediately placed on a stretcher, carried up the narrow stairs, around the corner and out to the waiting ambulance. This was very skillfully and quickly accomplished.

In retrospect, I find it difficult to believe that Walter was in the Valley Hospital emergency room less than 30 minutes after the call was made.

Hawthornites are in very competent hands when they solicit emergency aid. The ambulance corps performs its services with pride, skill, dedication and unselfish devotion.

Thank you from a very grateful heart.
Sincerely,
Hazel Ryerson

Blues edged out Greens in all star contest

by Steve Nuiver

Fred Novack of Hook Supply drove home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth inning with an RBI-single into left field as Team Blue defeated Team Green, 8-7, in the Hawthorne Softball Association All-Star game Sunday at Goffle Brook Park.

Novack's single was the culmination of a three-run rally which brought the winners back from a 7-5 deficit. Jim Ciro, also of Hook Supply, scored on his teammate's line drive hit.

The final inning comeback began on Fred Suter's single. Suter, a member of Hook Supply, which won the association championship, raced to second on a single by Chip DeNully of Arthur Groom & Co.

Ciro followed with a single, scoring Suter, while an error on the same play allowed DeNully to race home with the tying run, setting the stage for Novack.

Team Green had developed a 7-5 advantage with two runs in the top of the ninth. Consecutive singles by Steve Wassel of Rolling Hills, Mark Neri of Artwork &

Graphis and Tony Ventrella of Rolling Hills loaded the bases.

Vic Tamburro of the Jaycees lofted a sacrifice fly to knock across the first run. Roger Post of Rolling Hills singled to account for the second tally.

Team Blue, coached by John Passano of Hook Supply, jumped to an early 3-0 spread, before Team Green roared back to wrab a 5-3 advantage after seven frames.

A walk to Hook Supply's Cliff Conkleton, together with singles by Joe DesLauries of Minicozzi Construction, Tony Miniaci of Arthur Groom and Ed Miniaci of Arthur Groom spearheaded the inning's offense. Ken George of Minicozzi Construction had a sacrifice fly in the frame for Team Blue.

Singles by Ed Miniaci, Chris Megalos of Arthur Groom, Suter and DeNully keyed a three-run second inning for the winners.

A two-run single by Bruce Nelleson, of Artwork Graphics provided the punch in the fourth for Team Green. Kevin Fitzpatrick of Rolling Hills, Mark Neri of Artwork & of Rolling Hills scored on the hit.

Neri's two-run home run put Team Green, coached by Frank Hollis of Artwork & Graphics, up 4-3. Wassel, who went three-for-three, scored on the play. Tamburro, who singled, scored that team's fifth run in the seventh.

Team Blue consisted of Hook Supply, Minicozzi Construction, Arthur Groom & Co., McGill's Express, Late Bunch and Hawthorne Deli. Comprising Team Green was Rolling Hills, Artwork & Graphics, Johnny & Hanges, Van Beuzekom, Raiders and Jaycees.

Ray's Liquors defeats Upfront to win men's softball title

In an excellent defensive battle, Ray's Eastside Liquors (14-6) handed Upfront Textiles (18-1) its only loss of the year 3-2, to win the 1980 North Haledon Men's Softball League Championship. Relying on its superior outfield of Glen Graham in left, Cal Graham in center, Lou Pesoli in right and John Lejava in shortfield, Ray's Eastside constantly thwarted the usually awesome Upfront attack from ever getting started.

Added to this, the stellar play of Ray's Eastside shortstop Bob Favocci and third baseman John Driesse had the Upfront batters totally disenchanted as time after time their apparent basehits turned into ground outs.

In the top of the first inning, Ray's struck for two quick runs on an error by Upfront third baseman Bob Studer and singles by Favocci, Cal Graham and Glen Graham. Upfront came back to tie the score in the bottom of the second inning and then both B squad wins 16-0.

A strong Wayne A squad defeated the Hawthorne Pee Wee Cubs 19-0 on Sunday afternoon at Wayne. After Wayne scored a first quarter touchdown and a two point conversion for a 8-0 lead, Hawthorne drove to the opposition's three yard line only to be stopped by an untimely penalty and the strong defense. In the second half, Wayne scored two more touchdowns on a punt return and a long pass play. Hawthorne will be on the road next Sunday to meet Ringwood.

Hawthorne "B" squad rolled again defeating Wayne 16-0. Outstanding offensive line play enabled Brian Murphy and Todd Kenny to score. A well tunned defense kept Wayne inside their own 40 yard line throughout the game.

Boys under 19 team defeats Waldwick

In soccer action last weekend, the Ravens lost to the Whirlwind of Franklin Lakes. The Hawthorne girls were much better than the 6-0 score suggests. With the Pumas 5-0 loss at Oakland and the Sparks 10-0 loss at Mahwah, it was left to the Rockettes to bring home the pennant with a 2-1 win over Fair Lawn. The Cosmoettes lost a 2-1 thriller to North Haledon.

Boys action

A goal each by Bob Zwier and Tom Lupo gave Hawthorne a 2-1 win over Waldwick in the boys under 19 division.

In division 2, the Lumberjacks, playing three men short, held a strong team from Mahwah to only five goals with Bob Dockray playing a great game as goaltender.

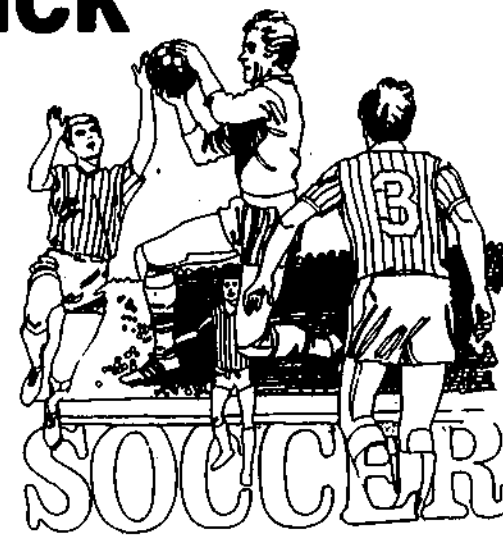

The Solarites sent a Mahwah team into orbit with eight big ones — three from David Driesse, two from Eric Dockray and one each from Jim Stark, Mike Stasso and Mike Wolf.

The Knockouts lost 4-0 to Wyckoff while the Nuggets beat another Wyckoff team 4-2. Joe Calderone scored two goals and Bob Doran and Tony Morano, one a piece. Good defensive play from Roeder, Martin and Koenig kept Wyckoff at bay.

In division 4, the Northstars bowed to Montvale 3-1 while the Mounties tied Wyckoff 2-2. The Trappers came under the spell of the Franklin Lakes Medicine Men 11-2.

The Miners, in division 5, put seven goals past the Ridgewood Harpies. Sinning and Wolf scored two goals each while Schuster, Ryan, Dockray and Chamberlin had one each.

The Huskies felt the force of the Waldwick Star Warriors, 7-3. Zoeller and Kaghado scored some of the goals. The Polar Bears lost 2-0 to Allendale.

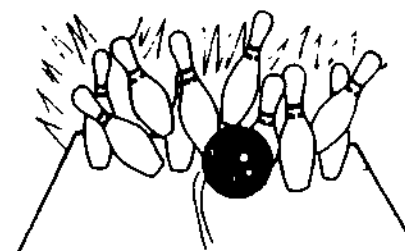

Auto Racing Scene

For years Darrell Waltrip chased an elusive win at Dover Downs International Speedway. Waltrip, driving the Digard Gatorade Chevrolet, held off a hard-charging Harry Gant to change his luck and win the CRC Chemicals "500" by one car length.

"The first five times I came here I broke a crankshaft. I've only finished two or three races here. This track has been my Waterloo

Beattie bowls 657

by Turk

Dave Beattie on only the second night of the season bowled like he was in midseason form. With games of 201-214-242 and a nice 657 series, he led all bowlers and paced the G.M.C. Lanes team to a three game win over Smiley's Five. Tony Delallo had 220-224-635 and Ed Lacardo had 222-611 as they led Gertrude's Beauty Salon to a three game win over E.G. Vending.

C & G Tavern used a 247-609 series by Neil Natoli to take two games from the Golden Steer Restaurant. Lakeview Farms took all three games from Pearson Trucking to round out the Monday night action. Gertrude's Beauty Salon, G.M.C. Lanes and Lakeview Farms are on top all with 5-1 records.

for so long. I can't tell you how it feels to win here ... finally," he said with a smile.

Waltrip may have won the race, but Harry Gant stole the hearts of the fans. In only his second season of Winston Cup racing, Gant seemed headed for victory when a caution appeared with 59 miles remaining. The Race Hill Farms driver had a 13-second lead on second place Buddy Baker's Rainer Racing Chevy and was within three seconds of lapping Waltrip.

The largest September race crowd at Dover Downs, 35,500 fans, witnessed an exciting final 30 lap battle between Waltrip and Gant. "I put on four tires on the last caution and the car worked perfectly. I could cling to the inside of the track. Gant couldn't," said Waltrip. The pit for tires proved to be the edge for Waltrip, but he had to earn his money as Gant pushed him right to the checkered flag.

Out-of-towners in borough schools causing concern

Out-of-town residents must find the public school on North 10th Street and Brown Avenue a desirable educational facility for their children. Education at the local school has been enhanced throughout the years by an improved curriculum and by dedicated personnel. So, why wouldn't parents living in Passaic, Paterson, and other surrounding towns want to send their kids to the local school?

It seems that many parents, who live in other communities and send their children to the local school, apparently have no concept of school districts. And then again, maybe they do since they give local street numbers as their addresses.

If a new family moves into the borough, the parents should present an occupancy permit for their apartment before the kids are admitted to school. But who can turn kids away when they come to school. When asked to show such permits, parents often say that the occupancy permit has either been misplaced or the landlord has it is his possession.

prospect park patter

In September, three students entered the public school and gave their address as lower Hopper Street. Investigation proved that the family lived in Passaic and the parents dropped the kids off at the Hopper Street address every morning and then picked them up at night.

In another case in which the address was listed as a residence a few doors from the school, there were six kids enrolled from an upstairs apartment. Investigation proved that three of the kids lived in Paterson and three others had come from Syria during the summer months and were living with relatives.

These kids can come to school since they are temporary residents of the borough, but the apartment is overcrowded with about nine living in an area which provides housing space for only six, at most.

There is also another mother who drops her child off every morning, and picks him up, every afternoon, in front of a house on Brown Avenue. The mother has listed the address of the house as her residence. If she lives there, who drops the child off in front of the house and picks the kid up again in the afternoon. What does the landlord say? He lives in another town and it's difficult to get him at home.

While a measure of sympathy can be given to parents who do not want their children influenced by the environment of inner city schools, these people must understand that each municipality has its own school district which is supported by the taxpayers of that community.

Maybe, someday the issue will be resolved with the voucher system. In this process, each child will be given an educational voucher for the cost of his schooling and be allowed to apply for entry at the school of his choice, rather than be relegated to a school of inferior quality.

Haledon happenings

by Daria Hoffman

September 8

John Pinto, of 226 Garside Avenue, the driver of a 1972 Pontiac which struck two parked cars on Belmont Avenue, was treated for injuries at Paterson General Hospital. The accident occurred at about 11:30 pm, and according to the police report, Pinto had apparently fallen asleep at the wheel.

The two parked vehicles which he struck were a 1975 Chevrolet owned by Ruth E. Staeg, 34 Ravine Drive, Hawthorne, and a 1979 Toyota owned by Catherine Lowery of New Milford.

September 9

George J. Shershanovich of Elmwood Park was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and released on $250 bail. A police officer on patrol signaled to the 33-year-old Shershanovich to stop after observing him cross over twice into the oncoming lane of Haledon Avenue.

A 17-year-old moped driver, John A. Peano, of 100 Tilt Street, was taken to Paterson General Hospital after he was involved in an accident at the intersection of Belmont and Haledon Avenues.

According to the police report, Peano was driving his moped straight on Belmont Avenue when Irene Kranevich, of 54 John Ryle Avenue, driving a 1978 Chevrolet struck him as she began to turn left onto Haledon Avenue. According to the report Kranevich claims she did not see the moped. The accident occurred at 8 pm.

September 9

Michael Barnickie, of 369 Southside Avenue, reported that the windshield of his 1973 Volkswagen was cracked when someone whipped the antenna back and released it. Damage is estimated at $25. A witness reported that juveniles were responsible. One youth was identified but no complaints have yet been signed.

September 10

Police responded to 46 Avenue B, the home of Joseph Del Monico, after receiving a report of a fight in progress there.

Upon arrival, Del Monico had already left the scene. Thomas Domin, of 32 Halsey Avenue, who was bleeding from the nose reportedly told police that the fight between him and Del Monico started because of two broken record albums.

Later both men came to headquarters to sign complaints, and were both released on $150 R.O.R.

About five percent voter turnout:

School repair referendum approved 395-131

About five percent of the borough's voters went to the polls Tuesday and approved a referendum calling for $194,000 in school repairs. The total was 531 residents, including two who voted absentee, out of a possible 9930 registered voters (eligible as of June's primary).

The vote was 395 for the proposal and 131 against. At least five residents signed in to vote, but did not cast ballots.

The issue won easily in all districts except the Lincoln School, where the referendum passed by a slight margin of 48 to 35, out of a possible 84 votes cast.

Results in the remaining districts were as follows: Roosevelt, Hutchinson, 55 to 11; Roosevelt, Alexandria, 98 to 18; Jefferson, 60 to 18; Franklin, 36 to 9; Washington, 37 to 20 and the high school, 60 to 19. One absentee ballot was affirmative; the other, negative.

Expansion chairman John Pasquale expressed the sentiments of the board when he stated that he was happy about the outcome. "Even those districts that will not receive a bulk of the money turned out in good numbers to support it," he stated.

The next step, now that approval has been received, will be to issue bonds to finance the repair work over a 10 to 15 year period. This is expected to account for one to one and half tax points per year in the annual school budget. This means a yearly cost of $5 to $7.50 for a homeowner, whose residence is assessed at $50,000.

More than half of the $194,000 allocation will be used to renovate Roosevelt. The $141,160 to be spent there will cover exterior repair and brick pointing for waterproofing walls, lighting upgrade, installation of new electrical panels, plumbing work in the lavatories, a complete boiler heating renovation involving unit ventilators and steam traps to reduce the amount of fuel burned, which far exceeds the averages in the other schools and renovation of two existing resource rooms to put them into compliance with regulations for ventilation and magnetic smoke doors.

The $24,950 to be spent at Franklin and the $19,300 to be spent at Washington are for brick pointing, exterior repair and lighting

Bids for water hook-up awarded

The project to hookup eight North Haledon homes to Hawthorne's water system neared the final stages with the awarding of bids at last Wednesday's meeting of the borough's Board of Commissioners. The board awarded the bid to Joseph Mayo and Sons of Lodi at a cost of $18,100, which represents to lowest bid.

According to Public Works Supervisor Frank Lembo, the contracts are ready to be signed. The work must be done before winter because the temporary hookup has an exposed pipe going up a cliff, which could freeze once cold weather sets in.

Last week's bidding, which included six contractors from the area, was the second time that the borough had solicited bids on their project. All of the initial bids received on August 20th were thrown out because the range from $41,870 to $91,246 was considered too high.

None of the second bids, opened on September 17th, even came close to the lowest August figure. The four remaining bidders were as follows: Della Penna Building Corporation of Pompton Lakes, $21,850; LBS Construction Company, Inc., of Waldwick, $22,570; Sanitary Construction Company of Paterson, $23,560 and Uthell Construction Company of Newark, $28,400.

The project will provide for the construction of a six inch water main extension from the new borough water tank on Peach Tree court to connect to the 2-inch line which feeds the eight North Haledon upgrade.

The remaining two elementary schools — Lincoln, $6,750 and Jefferson, $1,400 will receive minor, but essential work cited in the master plan review. The total dollar amount includes architectural engineering, legal and bonding fees.

The school board called the planned repairs necessary work that must be done to keep the facilities from deteriorating. When the master

Haledon police HQ dedication Saturday

This Saturday morning at 10, the borough will dedicate its police headquarters in an official ceremony. The building, located at 411 Belmont Avenue becomes the Chester Brandio Safety Complex.

Brandio who died several months ago lived on Kossuth Street in Haledon for most of his life. According to Mayor Sam Sibilo, who called Brandio "very deserving" and a very, very good individual. Brandio served Haledon in police work for 40 years, as marshal, special police officer, crossing guard and truant officer.

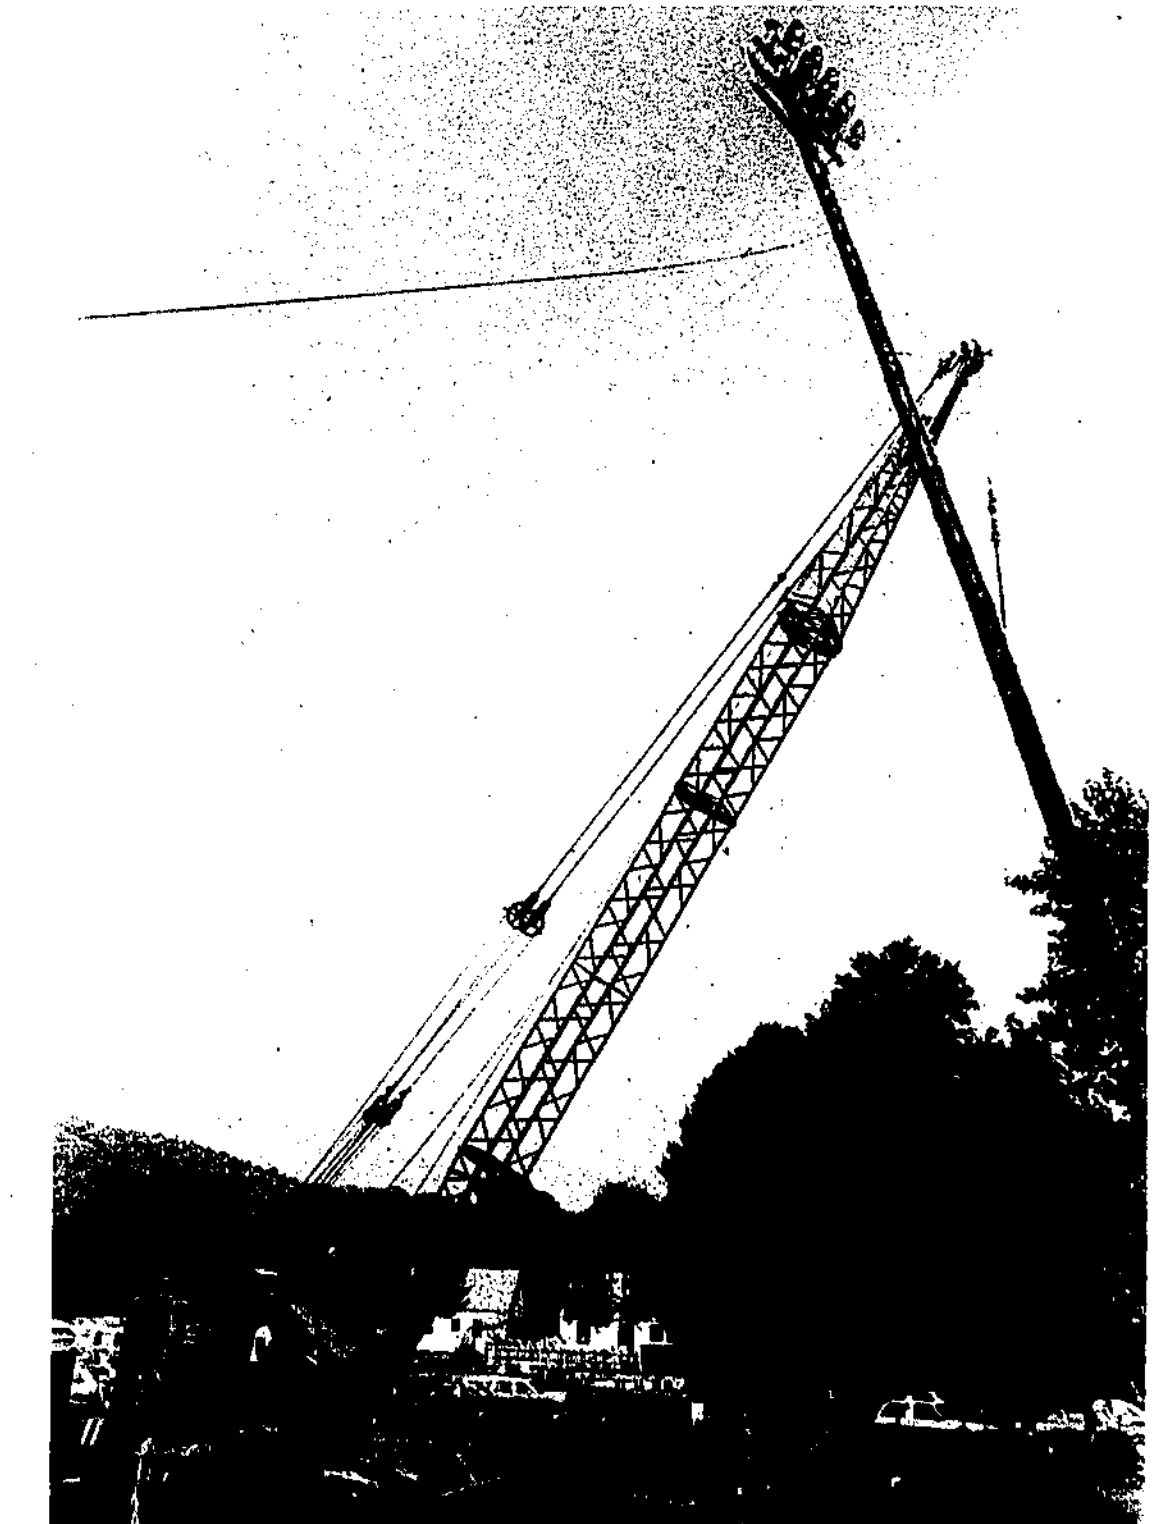

plan was presented to the board nearly two years ago, it listed almost $750,000 in work to be done at the various schools.

This amount was whittled down to the $194,000 approved in Tuesday's referendum. The remaining work is already in progress or will be scheduled as part of the ongoing repairs planned as part of the maintenance costs of the annual budget.

Brandio was a very active man with many awards and achievements to his credit. "He related to all the people in town — youth and adults. This was the least we could do for him," said Sibilo.

Brandio's widow, Florence, will unveil a memorial plaque honoring her late husband which will be inserted into an exterior wall of the building.

Special and regular police officers, firemen and other borough officials will be present for the dedication in addition to Brandio's relatives. The public is invited to attend.

The lights for Franklin Field were erected Saturday with the help of a crane from Otillo and Sons of Paterson. Although the poles and fixtures are now in place, the underground wiring has yet to be completed. The borough allocated $20,000 for the lights and the poles with the remaining funds and work coming from volunteers from the JD League and the Cubs Football Association.

Fighting charges against Richard Mc Kenstry, 258 Haledon Avenue, Prospect Park, were referred to the Grand Jury Thursday night in municipal court. The county prosecutor's office recommended the referral because one of the companion complaints involved is an indictable offense.

Gregory Mc Gowan, of 11 Washington Street, was granted a conditional discharge from a 1979 charge of possession of marijuana. It was his first offense and he was placed on one year probation.

John James Hawthorne, 218 Van Winkle Avenue, was also granted a conditional discharge from a charge against him of possession of under 25 grams of marijuana. Since it was his first offense, he was placed on one year of probation.

James D'Angelo, of Riverdale was found guilty of careless driving and fined $20 and $10 court costs.

which was submitted into evidence.

A question was raised during the proceedings concerning a positive identification of the defendant, Michelle Booker, of 382 17th Avenue, who is charged with stealing 17 pairs of designer jeans (valued at $498) from the Factory Warehouse Outlet, 111 Wagaraw Road.

Testimony from Janice Sconza, manager of the store, who positively identified Booker as one of two women who ran out the back of the store with stolen jeans, conflicted with descriptions of the shoplifters included in the police report.

According to Sconza's testimony, three black women carrying big bags came into the store on July 15 at about 11:30 a.m. The same three had been in the night before, she said. The women went to the back of the store and began to separate. Sconza said she sent a salesgirl back to watch them. Shortly thereafter, there was a commotion in the rear of the store as the women began taking jeans. Sconza continued that two women carrying jeans ran out the back door and the other left through the front door. Sconza, who was calling the police, dropped the phone to run after the woman who had left through the front door said that although Weir's conduct was "grossly antisocial and somewhat of an inconvenience to the police officers," testimony in the case showed that there was no one else around at the time and no evidence that neighboring residents were inconvenienced.

Francesco Catalano of Paterson was fined $15 for being an unlicensed driver. Catalano explained that he thought his regular license covered him for driving a motorcycle.

Counter complaints which stemmed from an automobile accident resulted in not guilty verdicts for each party.

David B. Yolles of Fair Lawn was charged with making an improper left turn and Thomas Scangarella of Caldwell was charged with careless driving. Reenstra said there was insufficient proof for a guilty finding on either charge.

Louis Mastrolillo, of 291 Rea Avenue, was found guilty of driving while his license was suspended. He was fined $250 for the offense.

An official at Tri-Dim Filter, 104 Wagaraw

When she approached the "heavy-set" woman in front of the store the woman reportedly said "I don't know why they did that. I told them not to."

At that point a car came from behind the building and the woman jumped in. Sconza testified she saw the defendant (one of the two who left through the rear of the building) in the car with jeans in her hand.

Lieutenant Richard Short of the Hawthorne Police Department testified that the license number of the vehicle was traced to Frank Booker, Michelle's brother, also of Paterson.

Short said that a check with the Passaic County Identification Bureau revealed the names of two Bookers with prior criminal involvement — Michelle and Mona, sisters. Short obtained photos of Michelle and Mona Booker and seven other women from the Paterson Identification Bureau and showed a photo line-up of nine photos to Sconza.

Sconza picked out two of the photos as women who had been involved in the theft. Short said the two she identified were Michelle and Mona Booker.

In court the store manager identified the defendant Michelle Booker as one of the women who ran out the back door with jeans. The controversy over identification arose because Short's police report indicates that Sconza identified the photo of Michelle Booker as the woman she spoke with in front of the store.

Short said that to the best of his knowledge, the report was accurate. He filed it out when he returned from showing the photo line-up to Sconza at the store, using his notes and his memory.

Booker's attorney, Matthew Summa in requesting the charge be dismissed, declared, "The information in the police report is entirely contrary to everything Sconza said."

Prosecutor Walter Dewey pointed out that in Sconza's testimony she "very precisely" identified Booker as one of the women who ran out the rear of the store with jeans. He added that when she selected the two photographs from the line-up she was unaware of their names, as the photos were labeled only by number. Furthermore Sconza did not see or ratify the police report. He said that the report was "double hearsay" — Short's interpretation of what Sconza said.

In her defense, Booker testified that on July 15 she was at home until 10:30 a.m. At that time she left with her two children (relatives) and walked to the doctor's office. They stopped at a pharmacy on the way home for a prescription and returned to the house at about 12:30.

The bottle of medicine she allegedly got that day, which had the name and date on it, but no time or year, was submitted as evidence.

Booker's mother, who lives in the same house, also testified. She confirmed the testimony that Michelle and the children had left at about 10:30 that day to go to the doctor and returned at about 12:30.

Trial of a shoplifting charge against Mona Booker was postponed to allow time to be assigned an attorney.

Restitution for murder makes a mockery of the judicial system

While watching the nightly news on TV Tuesday, we were jolted out of our seats when the coverage turned to the protest by police officers which took place earlier that day outside the Bergen County courthouse in Hackensack. Hundreds of grim-faced officers were marching to oppose the pending parole of convicted killer Thomas Trantino.

Seventeen years ago, Trantino was sentenced to death for the murder of two Lodi police officers, Sgt. Peter Voto and 22-year-old rookie, Ptl. Gary Tedesco. When the death penalty was abolished by the U.S. Supreme Court, Trantino's sentence was commuted to life imprisonment and he is now being considered for parole.

Under new parole standards, judges are now required to fix an amount in restitution that a criminal must make for a crime. This unprecedented case marks the first time that this condition is being applied to murder.

Like the more than 600 members of law enforcement agencies, we are outraged at Trantino's expected release from prison. Even more horrendous is the fact that legal arguments are being held to determine a monetary amount in restitution which must be set before that parole.

A frightening way to have fun

335 Hawthorne Avenue
Hawthorne, NJ
September 21, 1980

Dear editor,

Last Saturday evening a very frightening prank was played by five or six teenagers who stole a 1300 pound tire from the Lincoln School playground. The teens rolled the tire, which is part of a new playground at the school, down Post Avenue toward Lincoln. Due to divine providence, a catastrophe was avoided. Luckily no one was out walking a dog or taking a stroll at that time of night. What is so frightening is that some parents allow their children to roam the streets at 2 am. Secondly, these teens seem to have a complete disregard for life or property. As a concerned parent and as co-chairman of the playground committee, I am writing this letter to persuade parents to take note of where their children are at night and to find out what they are doing to have fun.

Sincerely,
Paul Allen

Presidential Candidates

How They Stand: On Energy

• "There is a limit on energy reserves. We've never had to face that before. And we're going into a new period where there can be just as much excitement and innovation and achievement and innovation as we ever before, but with a much more careful stewardship and a much more responsible approach to conservation and the elimination of waste than Americans have ever had to face in the past."

• "The high level of the nation's consumption of gasoline is the single most important cause of our dependence on foreign oil. Our consumption of gasoline can be reduced with less serious consequences to our economy than if similar action were taken with respect to other petroleum products, such as home heating oil."

• "We must never forget that conservation is the cheapest and cleanest source of energy we have."

• "I have also proposed incentives for the development of energy from solar and biomass sources and have asked Congress for authority to create an Energy Security Corporation to provide incentives and assistance on a business-like basis for the accelerated development of synthetic fuels."

• "We do not have the luxury of abandoning nuclear power or imposing a lengthy moratorium on its use... Once we have instituted the necessary reforms to assure safety, we must resume the licensing process promptly so that the new plants which we need to reduce our dependence on foreign oil can be built and operated. Nuclear power is an option that we should keep open."

• "There are no easy answers, there are only difficult choices. Reducing our dependence on foreign oil will be costly, not just in terms of dollars, but in terms of our basic life-styles."

• "Perhaps now is the time to consider a higher gasoline tax. A 50-cent-a-gallon 'energy-conservation tax' on all motor fuels could reduce our gasoline consumption by five to 10 percent... Some safeguards would, however, have to accompany any hike in the gasoline tax. Special provision would have to be made for business use of motor fuels... The impact on the elderly could be softened by using some of the gas tax revenues to finance an increase in Social Security retirement benefits."

• "I have definitely been converted to

• "We are not troubled so much by a shortage of energy as we are by a surplus of government... Eliminating the Department of Energy and its allocation rules would be an important step toward solving the energy crisis."

• "I favor immediate elimination of all federal price controls on oil and natural gas, because their primary effect has been to hold down domestic energy production... Elimination of controls could increase oil production by up to two to four million barrels per day, and could double natural gas production. In addition, by reducing our dependence on OPEC oil, decontrol would help stabilize ever-rising energy prices."

• "Those who preside over the worst energy shortage in our history tell us to use less, so that we will run out of oil, gasoline and natural gas a little more slowly. Conservation is desirable, of course, for we must not waste energy. But conservation is not the sole answer to our energy needs."

• "The most serious problems with producing and using coal are solvable: there is thus no reason to allow unnecessarily restrictive federal rules to deprive the American people of this valuable energy source."

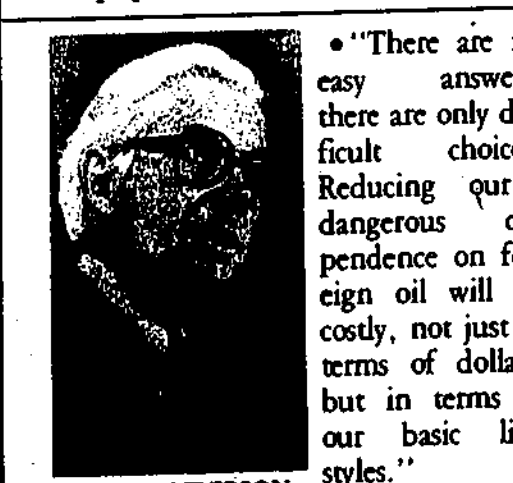

• "Properly operated, nuclear plants are among the safest means of energy production. We must ensure that nuclear power plants possess the utmost in protective measures and operate within strict safety standards... We have no choice but to continue to operate and construct nuclear power plants if we are to meet the energy and job needs of Americans."

much more destructive to the environment than the soft-path technologies—renewable forms of energy."

• "I've said that we cannot ignore 300 years' worth of coal reserves... but we must do it in a way that is consistent with environmental values. We simply cannot build huge plants that spew noxious fumes, in the process of converting coal to liquid hydrocarbons... without environmental concerns."

• "I supported the development of the nuclear industry, and I remain committed to preserving nuclear power as an option in the decade ahead. Unless, however, we can achieve and maintain adequate safeguards for the operation of reactors and the management of nuclear wastes, the further expansion of nuclear power must be halted."

This issue profile is part of a series titled, "How They Stand," compiled by Common Cause from materials released by the frontrunning Presidential contenders and from statements reported by major news media since January 1, 1980.

Movie posters now on display

Movie fans will not want to miss the display of original stills and posters currently on display at the Louis Bay 2nd Library. The collection belongs to Joe Vandeveld, a long-time borough resident, who has been collecting movie memorabilia for the past three years. The stills and posters were used in movie houses to advertise the film that was being shown at the time.

Vandeveld's collection, covering nearly 40 years of movie-making, constitutes a history of the American cinema. One of the earliest stills is from the 1941 production "How Green Was My Valley," starring Walter Pidgeon and Maureen O'Sullivan, while one of the more recent publicizes "Saturday Night Fever" of 1977, featuring John Travolta and Karen Gorney.

Children's film on Friday
"Otto: Zoo Gorilla" will be featured at the last Friday film series on September 26 at 3:45 pm. Children and animal lovers of all ages will enjoy this true story of Otto, one of the great apes of Chicago's Lincoln Park Zoo. The film details the delicate and dangerous process of moving the apes to larger quarters. The movie is a success, and Otto is apparently happy with his new home.

'Superman' heads list of HBO's October features

UA-Columbia Cablevision ushers in October with an exciting harvest of block-busting film fare from Home Box Office (HBO). Superman: The Movie, a thrilling romantic adventure starring Christopher Reeve as the man of steel who fights against evil and injustice and Margot Kidder as Lois Lane. Every Which Way But Loose, is an action-packed comedy with Clint Eastwood and a scene stealing orangutan named Clyde. Time After Time, a romantic-thriller set in modern day San Francisco, stars Malcolm McDowell as famed 19th century scholar and inventor H.G. Wells.

You Only Live Twice, has Sean Connery returning as the indefatigable James Bond. A comedy classic, It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World, has an all-star cast headed by Spencer Tracy, Mickey Rooney, Jimmy Durante and The Three Stooges; and David Lean's Academy Award-winning spectacle, Lawrence of Arabia, stars Peter O'Tool, Omar Sharif and Alec Guinness.

Also in HBO's October spotlight, in addition to innovative documentary programming, are exclusive in-concert music and comedy specials starring Glen Campbell and Tanya Tucker, the Beach Boys, and Steve Allen's satirical spoof of the 1980 presidential race, On Location: A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the White House.

Male Chorus seeks members

The North Jersey Male Chorus (formerly the Wyckoff Male chorus) now in its 33rd season is seeking additional members. Rehearsals are in progress for the group's winter concert.

Proceeds of the concert will go towards a music scholarship at William Paterson College. The chorus pioneered the first music scholarship at WPC in 1970 and has donated $1000 each year which helps to pay approximately three semesters tuition for music students.

The North Jersey Male Chorus presents two concerts each year at the Marion Shea Auditorium on the campus at WPC in December and May. The programs reflect a blend of contemporary music, show tunes, hymns and old favorites.

Rehearsals are held each Wednesday at 8:00 pm at the First Reformed Church at 259 Lafayette Avenue in Hawthorne. New members are welcome to join at a rehearsal or may contact Ronald Brain of Hawthorne at 477-4479.

A girl wins soap box derby

The first soap box derby to be sponsored locally in many years was held Saturday by the Hawthorne Jaycees. Despite a small number of entrants, there were many spectators on hand to view the contest which was won by Tracey Marshall.

The weather was beautiful and the track clear and dry as heats of two cars each were conducted down Braen Avenue. One by one the field of competitors narrowed until only two remained — the red #7 driven by Tracey Marshall and the black #44 driven by Glen Falone.

Marshall took an early lead but Falone held his own. At the finish line it was the girl who crossing first, followed by Falone. Steven Elwood won third place and the trophy for best looking car in the show to Butch Marks.

Girls volleyball match tonight

The first of three night volleyball matches for the high school girls' varsity will be held this evening. Hawthorne will host Passaic County Vo Tech in the gym at 7:30 pm. The other two night matches will be home and away against Manchester. This season Coach Julie Zimmerman's squad will host a county tournament, the first one ever in Passaic County.

After reigning as league champions for four consecutive years, the HHS girls can be expected to retain the title, having lost only two of last season's starters. Returning senior starters, Lisa Minnema and Lauren Van Der Eems, are considered two of the best spikers in the county. Minnema averages 18 killer spikes per game and Van Der Eems, 11.

Starting as setters will be seniors Lisa Brannigan, Sue Pratt and Gina Tamburro. Besides a powerful offense, the Bears have an excellent defense. Sophomores Diane Dewey and Heather Spreen will alternately start in the sixth position.

by Warren Olsen, Jr.

The Stoney Roaders pulled into sole possession of first place with a four point win over Parker Inn. Tony Marino (200-578) and Sal Marino Sr. (203-537) led the Roaders to victory. Jim Brindley (211-591) and Jim Ferrigno (211-572) led Gizzi Heating to a four point sweep over Cadillac. La Vie En Rose took four points from S & R Masons.

Passaic Citizen took three points from Englehardt's even though Bobo Vitale had a 222-567. DeLucia's Funeral Home was also awarded three points by beating Ferguson's. Dave Wares had a 200 for Ferguson's.

The Back Trackers and Bernardo's Bananas each earned two points in their competition. Marty Zollo (216-566) and John Mott (211) were high men for the Trackers while Stan "Dreamer" Bernardo (204-584) and Tom "Bomber" Baker (201-544) were the high men for Bernardo's. Phil Lembo (210-556) led St. Anthony's C.C. to a two point win over the Hawthorne Press.

For the third consecutive week, Parker Inn has shot a 2314 team series, which is quite an achievement for anyone to do.

Keep on bowling.

Soccer teams split honors with 7 wins, 8 losses

The Hawthorne soccer teams split the honors last weekend with seven wins, eight losses and a tie.

In the boys' division 1, Hawthorne lost narrowly to a strong Montvale team. In division 2, the Lumberjacks visited Park Ridge and survived an early blitz, including a penalty kick which goalie Bob Dockray saved in fine style. The Jacks went on to slot 12 goals past their opponent's goalie.

A pair of goals by John Caamano helped the Nuggets to a 4-0 sweep of Ridgewood in division 3. The Solarites were shut out by Hohokus 3-0 while the Knockouts, despite a goal by Geoff Gallo, lost 5-1.

The Northstars, in division 4 competition, tied Wyckoff 1-1 with Bob Beattie netting the equalizer. The Mounties defeated a strong Franklin Lakes team 4-3 while the Trappers lost their pelts at Glen Rock 5-0.

In division 5, the Miners struck gold in Wyckoff 2-1 with Eric Wolf scoring both goals. The Huskies came away from Saddle River with a 5-0 loss, but the North Haledon team was frozen out by the Polar Bears 2-1. The outcome was in doubt up to the end as goalie Tony D'Alessandro saved two penalties in the closing minutes.

The girls' teams achieved very respectable scores with one of the best performances coming from the Pumas. In a division 3 contest, after giving up three first half goals, the Pumas dominated the second half only an outstanding display by the Franklin Lakes goalkeeper robbed the spirited Hawthorne team of a deserved victory. The final score was 3-0.

The division 2 Ravens lost a tough one to North Haledon 3-0 and it was left to division 4 to put Hawthorne in the winner's circle.

Holly Stratton scored a goal to give the Sparks the decision over Ridgewood. The defense played well.

The Rockettes beat Ridgewood 2-1 with Pam Hovey and Kim Schoppert scoring the goals.

In division 5, the Cosmoettes got stung by the Walldwick Bees 4-0.

Trophy game tomorrow

The Hawthorne Football Cubs will hold the mayor's trophy game at the Hawthorne High School athletic field on Friday, September 26. The action will begin at 5:30 pm with the Pee Wee team versus Fair Lawn. Junior and Senior Cub contests will follow against Wyckoff.

Tickets are one dollar for adults and 75 cents for senior citizens and children.

The Hawthorne Junior Cubs evened their record at 1-1 with a 7-0 victory over Paramus last Saturday.

Cub quarterback Andy Vita scored Hawthorne's only touchdown going over from four yards out early in the second quarter. The score was set up when Chet Radwan recovered a fumble followed by runs from Ken Scanlon and Vita. The quarterback also scored the extra point to give the Cubs the only score of the game.

Hawthorne's ground game was in full gear as the team rolled up 115 yards with 57 of them going to Scanlon, 25 to Vita and 13 each by Mike Boldezar and Jeff Collier. Richie Nehrings had the Cubs only pass reception gaining 10 yards on the play.

The Cubs played ball control throughout much of the second half limiting Paramus to just 44 total yards. Leading the way on defense were Collier, Dave Wilkerson, Craig Donalewski and P.J. Petricone.

The offensive line which includes Wilkerson, Domalewski, Petricone, Don Haas, Glenn Swafford, and Mark Michalski played an important role in the victory opening up giant sized holes for Cub backs to run through.

On Sunday the Cub "B" team won their second straight defeating Wayne 2-0. Chet Radwan tackled Wayne's runner in the end zone following a tremendous punt by Nick D'Alessio. The defense was led by Alan Lombardi and Anthony Limone. Lombardi had 10 tackles.

Pee Wees combine for 30-6 win

Ringwood proved to be no match for the Hawthorne Cubs pee Wee Football Team on Sunday afternoon as the "A" squad and "B" squad joined in a 30-6 romp. The first half of the game saw the Hawthorne "A" squad build a 22-0 lead. A strong defense, led by Chris Bender stopped Ringwood for minus seven yards gained, while the offense scored each time they had possession of the football. Standouts on offense were Mike O'Keefe, Jeff Herman, Matt Stansfield and John O'Hagen, plus the offensive line.

The second half was turned over to the Hawthorne "B" squad. Tom Kenny, Keith Kientopp and Timmy Hart added another eight points to Hawthorne's efforts. Ringwood finally got on the scoreboard with two seconds left in the game.

Hawthorne's next game will be against Fair Lawn at Hawthorne High School field tomorrow night.

Haledon happenings

September 15
Jeff Matchett, of 254 No. 10th Street, Prospect Park, reported that his portable radio/cassette player was stolen from the counter top at Blimpie's, 472 Haledon Avenue. He left it there at 8:30 pm and when he returned at 9:15 pm it was gone. The radio is valued at $100.

September 16
John Townsley, of 140 Belmont Avenue, Paterson was arrested at 4:30 pm and charged with consuming an alcoholic beverage in public. He had been drinking a bottle of wine on a bench at Roe Street Field, 411 Belmont Avenue.

Decision time for E.C.

Prospect Park - The Eastern Christian School Association constituency, which in the past 15 years has seen its enrollment decreased from 1850 students to 1100, will meet to decide the future course of the association.

The membership of the school association will decide whether they want their Wyckoff Christian School converted into a facility for kindergarten through grade five, the Midland Park Christian school converted into a facility to house grades six through eight and the high school in North Haledon remain as a secondary school. The Midland Park school on Baldwin Drive currently houses a kindergarten through grade three and the Wyckoff school, on Sicomac Road, grades four through six.

The plan calls for phasing out the Eastern Christian Junior High school on North Eighth Street in Prospect Park which served the association, first as the Eastern Academy and then as a junior high school, since 1927.

The proposal also calls for an expenditure of $758,205 which includes $99,000 for conversion of the Midland Park school and $659,205 for conversion of the Wyckoff school.

The large expenditure for the Wyckoff school includes the addition of seven classrooms, a music room, and the expansion of the all-purpose room at a cost of $511,515. The remaining costs are attributed to fixture and modernization to the existing structure to effect energy savings.

The expenditures for the Midland Park school includes a portable classroom for industrial arts, furniture and fixtures, and revamping of the athletic field to provide a combination softball-soccer field and outdoor basketball courts.

Edmond Youngsman, president of the Association, stated that the funding needed for the proposed conversions of the Midland Park and Wyckoff schools could be obtained from two sources. He stated that $250,000 is expected to be realized from the sale of present assets, such as the North Eighth Street property in Prospect Park, and from reserve funds, and the remainder, $500,000, from a combination cash drive and the sale of bonds.

"Inflation continues in the construction area at the rate of 12 percent a year. That equates to $61,381 on the classroom portion of this project each year...or almost one classroom. There is nothing to be gained by waiting. The enrollment appears to have stabilized at 1000 students, plus or minus 100 students," Youngsman stated.

"This proposal involves not only bricks and mortar, but also the continuing role of Eastern Christian educating the next generation who will replace us."

Twinkle twinkle little car

How would you like to have a car that stayed shiny and repelled dirt?

A car that looked like it just sailed out of the showroom, month after month.

A car that required no work from you, other than the occasional wash.

Sound good? Call Tidy Car.

If your car is brand new, we'll keep it looking that way. If it's showing its years, we'll clean and shine the years away. And best of all, we'll do the work where you want and when you want.

Never wax your car again

Tidy Car's Preserv-A-Shine can do just that—give your car a showroom shine and preserve it for the life of the car.

Preserv-A-Shine is not a wax. It's an exclusive formula that's actually buffed into the surface of the car to give a protective glass-like shine that seals out the harmful effects of oxidation, salt, snow and sun.

The Preserv-A-Shine process includes initial treatment and an annual cleaning and reapplication job. And it means you'll never have to wax your car again.

The inside story

Tidy Car will also shampoo everything inside your car from the floor mats up. And we can give the seats and carpets a special treatment to water and stain-proof them.

Nobody tops our tops

If your vinyl roof is dingy, Tidy Car will clean it and restore the original lustre. We'll also apply a special dressing to seal and protect the vinyl for months, making it virtually impossible for dust and dirt to stick.

Police chase to Paterson ends with arrest

Prospect Park - A Paterson man was arrested Saturday night following a chase through the borough and into Paterson which ended on the banks of the Passaic River. The man, Jessie Jamison, of 167 North Third Street, was charged with operating an unregistered and uninsured vehicle and eluding police when an arrest was attempted.

Ptl. Leonard Breure, who made the arrest, said he observed Jamison at the intersection of Haledon Avenue and North Sixth Street in a vehicle with an expired inspection sticker. When Breure attempted to pull the Jamison car to the side of the road, the chase began, down North Sixth Street, into Fairview Avenue to Hopper, then down Halpine and into North Second Street in Paterson.

Jamison was chased down Presidential Boulevard into Lee Avenue in her 1969 Chevrolet. Issa Abdallah, the moped driver exited the school parking lot on Henry Street and struck Young's vehicle at the intersection.

September 23

Haledon Ptl. David Sutton was injured when assaulted by a trespasser resisting arrest. Sutton was treated and released at Greater Paterson General Hospital in Wayne. He suffered a bruised mouth, a broken bridge, a sprained right shoulder and injuries to his right arm and rib cage.

Sutton and Ptl. Frank Atherton responded to Dunkin Donuts after receiving a report of a trespasser Nouredin Elkawar, 489 Belmont Avenue, and knew there was already a warrant out for his arrest from a September 15th trespassing complaint from the manager of Dunkin Donuts.

When Atherton advised Elkawar he was under arrest, the accused resisted arrest and "became violent," said police.

Atherton also received cuts on his fingers in the scuffle when Elkawar pushed him into the police car.

Police said that Elkawar was also injured and an ambulance was contacted — but he refused medical treatment.

A total of six complaints were signed against Elkawar — two complaints of assault, two of making threats against officers, one of resisting arrest and one of trespassing.

He was taken to Passaic County Jail in lieu of $7,000 bail.

Breure climbed over the barbed wire fence, cut his hand and tore his shirt on the barbs before he found the driver hiding in the bushes along the river bank.

The local police were assisted by several Paterson police units.

Just in case you didn't hear the news Monday, this borough is included in the ban of water for non-essential uses. Gov. Byrne signed the edict Monday and Borough Clerk Judy Critchley was so informed.

This means that car washing and lawn watering is prohibited. Remember the experience a few weeks ago when we were completely without water.

Even then while only air gushed forth from the tap in my house, a property owner on North 16th Street between Fairview Avenue and Haledon Avenue was watering his lawn. He had water. If we all take a part in this conservation effort, water will be available to all.

In North Haledon some of the wells have run dry. We heard of one resident on Stanley Court, in that borough, whose well had run dry while he was without water, his next door neighbor, with a well considerably deeper, continued to water his lawn a couple of times a week.

To enforce the watering ban, police have the authority to issue summonses to those who violate the conservation law.

Finally, after five grandsons, we have a granddaughter... and the new granddaughter just proves that doctors can be wrong. Our daughter Marjorie and her husband, Marion, who live in Kalamazoo, MI, have been married almost 14 years. After two operations in the first five years of their marriage which "proved" she could never become pregnant, they adopted a six-week old baby boy. Three years later they adopted another baby boy and about a year ago they began making plans to adopt another child.

And then, all of a sudden Marjorie became pregnant. Saturday, at the age of 35, she delivered a nine pound, six ounce baby girl and Marjorie, Marion, Michael and Matthew are now joined by Michelle.

Betty flew out to Kalamazoo Saturday for two weeks and my sacrifice in this happy event is to get along as best I can by myself. Mother and baby are feeling fine and Marge's comment to me early Sunday morning was, "It's so much easier to adopt children."

Most people think Molly Ann's brook is the dividing line between the borough of Prospect Park and Haledon and for much of its course between Fairview Avenue and Haledon Avenue, it is.

However, there's a small piece of property which for years has been owned by the borough which is supposed to be on the Haledon side.

The borough acquired this property during the depression years on a tax sale. It's even paved as part of the Gulf Service Station area.

Well, the property has been sold, for $1,000, to round off the tract being purchased by the Prospect Park Savings and Loan Association. So, there's an extra $1,000 in the coffers of the borough and beginning next year the savings and loan will be paying real estate taxes to the borough.

On September 30th, a preschool story hour will begin at Bethel Christian Reformed Church, at 193 Haledon Avenue. All children ages three to five are invited to come for singing, Bible stories, crafts and games. Mothers are invited to remain for coffee, informal discussion, and meeting new friends. There is a nursery for children under three years. After next week the story hour will be the second and fourth Tuesday of every month from 9:45 to 11 a.m.

Notes of Interest, both on Saturday. There's a Calvinette paper drive in the morning until noon at the Second Christian Reformed Church on North 11th Street. A dumpster will be located in the parking lot.

From 5 to 7 p.m. there will be a fish and chips dinner at Eastern Christian High School, sponsored by the Prospect Park Christian Reformed Booster Club. Tickets can be purchased at the door.

Then, at 7 p.m. there's a testimonial dinner for our good friend Manuel Lagos, former president of the Board of Trustees of Passaic County Community College. The dinner is at the college and tickets can be secured from Guido Rocco of Paterson. Manny is the brother of Glen Rocco Mayor Charlie Lagos.

It's a happy week in the Foster family of North 12th Street. Mother Joyce celebrated her birthday Tuesday and son Mark blows out the candles on Sunday.

Fuel-switching is no nickel-and-dime proposition.

Before you go to the unnecessary expense of changing your heating system from fuel oil to natural gas, remember: converting an entire heating system is an expensive proposition. Not only will you have to purchase all new equipment and pay to have it installed, but you'll also be paying to have the old equipment dismantled. Sure you're worried that your old equipment is wasting fuel. But doesn't it make more sense to modernize your existing oil burning equipment than to go to all the expense that conversion entails? Now, especially with the new 15-percent tax credit for modernization of oil-burning equipment recently authorized by Congress, modernization is a more economical option than conversion. Call your independent heating oil dealer. He'll tell you how to get more for your heating dollar, for less.

Decision reserved on half of case involving off-duty policeman

by Daria Hoffman

Only one half of a case involving a woman accused of shouting obscenities at an off-duty Prospect Park police officer and he accused of slapping her in the face was resolved when a lengthy court session came to a close at 1:15 a.m. Friday morning.

Gina Nicholas of 251 Burhans Avenue, Haledon, was found not guilty of the harassment charge; decision was reserved on the assault complaint against Sgt. Howard Zuideima of North Haledon. Judge Donald Reenstra postponed judgment to allow Zuideima's attorney John Carbone to submit a brief on his "technical defense" which is a "novel issue in the case."

The counter-complaints were tried separately, although testimony in each overlapped.

The July 21 encounter between Nicholas and Zuideima began at the intersection of North 11th Street and Brown Avenue in Prospect Park where there is a four-way stop. Each testified that they had the right of way.

According to Zuideima, he was traveling on North 11th Street toward Haledon Avenue. He stopped at the intersection allowed a car, which was stopped on Brown Avenue, to go, and then proceeded into the intersection straight ahead.

At the same time, he said, Nicholas who had been behind the first vehicle on Brown Avenue pulled out and began making a left turn onto North 11th Street.

He said that since he was already in the intersection and ahead of Nicholas, he continued and she "leaned out and gave me the finger."

He ignored this, he said because he was off-duty and had his three children in the car.

He claimed that Nicholas now behind him on North 11th Street, was honking her horn "vigorously" for about half a block before they reached the next intersection at Fairview Avenue.

Zuideima said that he looked in his mirror and saw Nicholas give him the finger again. He stopped his car, approached Nicholas' vehicle, asked her what her problem was. Nicholas began shouting obscenities "loud and hysterical," said Zuideima. Although he was not in uniform, he told Nicholas he was a police officer. "She continued shouting obscenities," said Zuideima, who also testified the profanity was loud enough to be heard by his children. The policeman said that after repeatedly trying to quiet Nicholas down without success, he reached his hand in through the window to cover her mouth to minimize the effect of the obscenities, on his children.

After this Nicholas did quiet down. He went to his car for his wallet and came back to show Nicholas his police badge. He asked for her driving credentials, she produced them and "she said nothing after that," said Zuideima.

According to Nicholas, she said the right of way at the four-way stop. She claimed Zuideima rolled through the stop sign as she started making her turn.

He cut her off, she said, and made a hand waving motion as if to say, "I'm going before you."

She denied giving him the finger, admitted she was somewhat mad that Zuideima had pulled out in front of her new car, but only commented about this to her friend in the passenger seat.

She claimed that when they approached the next stop sign, she beeped her horn once because, she said, "I wanted him to know that he made a mistake." Nicholas said that at the next stop sign when Zuideima got out of his car and came over to hers, he "looked mad."

She rolled down her window about halfway and said that Zuideima shouted, "Do you have a problem?" She said that she responded "Yeah, I got a problem. Why did you pull out in front of me?"

Nicholas said that Zuideima did not say he was a police officer, and she did not use any profanity, but that he reached his hand into the car and slapped her.

She added that she "saw stars" for 30 seconds or a minute and later went to a doctor for pain in her ear.

Nicholas' attorney Marc J. Turner stated that said, "Wait here lady," went to his car, came back and showed her his badge.

She said that at this point she may have said "I don't give a * if you are a police officer. It gives you no right to smack me in my face."

A passenger in Nicholas' car, Eileen Dunkerly, gave basically the same testimony. At the conclusion of the testimony, Nicholas' attorney Marc J. Turner stated that he felt the court should be guided by previous case law interpretation of the harassment statute which requires that the language used be likely to incite a riot or breach of peace.

Prosecutor Robert Passero argued that in the statute under the new penal code there is a "special provision for those private annoyances involving offensively coarse language not to the public in general, but if the purpose is to alarm or seriously annoy another person." He held that there is no longer any requirement to prove that the language would provoke a riot or breach of peace.

Reenstra said that he found that "some type of altercation occurred, both got a little hot, and some vulgarities were used."

He said that while Nicholas was "certainly out of order and wrong," her conduct would not have constituted an offense under the prior disorderly persons statute which requires that the language must be likely to incite a breach of peace. He said that a police officer hears profanity often and is used to that language.

The judge found that the language of the new statute was so similar to that of the prior statute, that the accepted interpretation of the previous statute should be followed.

She was found not guilty.

In reference to the assault charge, Zuideima's attorney brought up several issues. He held that the police officer putting his hand over Nicholas' mouth was not assault but "offensive touching, nothing more."

He said the section of the statute notes that "mere offensive touching is not sufficiently serious to be made criminal." He also held that under the law a police officer is justified in using appropriate force to prevent commission of a crime. He also said that "specific intent to cause injury" was not present.

Decision was reserved to allow Carbone to submit a brief to the court.

Three injured in police car accident

Prospect Park - Three persons received minor injuries last Friday when the police car, on an emergency call, was involved in an accident with another vehicle at the intersection of Haledon Avenue and North 14th Street.

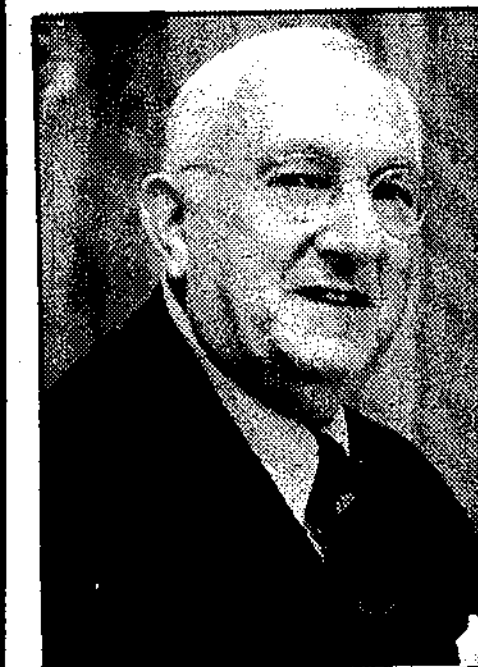

The driver of the car involved, Gilma R. Segura, of 1456 River Edge Drive, Pompton Lakes, was issued summonses for failure to yield the right of way to an emergency vehicle and for failing to have an insurance certificate in her possession. The driver, along with passengers Anibal Segura and Stella Segura, both of the same address, were treated for minor injuries at the Greater Paterson General Hospital and released.

According to Ptl. Leonard Breure, driver of the police car, he was responding to a possible accident and was turning into Haledon Avenue from North 14th Street. Segura was traveling north on Haledon Avenue and told police she applied her brakes "but too late."

The red flashers on the police car were in operation.

Film series focuses on family

A series of films dealing with problems in family living entitled, "Focus On The Family" will be presented at the Bethany Church. A schedule has been set up to show a different film on Sunday evenings as follows: "The Strong-Willed Child," September 28; "Shaping the Will Without Breaking the Spirit," October 5; "Christian Fathering," October 19; "Preparing for Adolescence: The Origins of Self-Doubt," October 26; "Preparing for Adolescence: Peer Pressure and Sexuality," November 9; and "What Wives Wish Their Husbands Knew About Woman," November 16.

The films feature family expert James Dobson, Ph.D., an associate clinical professor of pediatrics at the University of Southern California, a husband, a father and the author of several best-selling books. He also speaks on a radio series "Focus on the Family" which is syndicated to 134 stations.

After the film has been viewed each Sunday evening, there will be time for questions and answers, group discussions or panel presentations. Nursery care is provided for parents with small children. Refreshments will be served after some of the discussion periods. Admission is free; an offering will be taken.

Otto Wegner, Pastor of Bethany Church invites everyone to participate in this program. If further information is needed, please call at 891-7494. The church is located at Route 208 between Russell and Ewing Avenues in Wyckoff.

Long-distance electrocardiogram is made possible by a new little device that is held to the chest and connected to a telephone mouthpiece. It's designed for patients who would otherwise have to come to the hospital every time they felt pain.

Spread-on bandage that lets air and medication through but keeps bacteria out is in use for severely burned patients, and may be generally available soon. It's transparent, so you can watch wound heal without removing it.

After discharge, he began working with the Flower House, in Hawthorne, assuming the proprietorship in 1976.

In the past, he has received gold medals at the International Flower Show, and the Metropolitan Retailers Flower Show in NYC and has worked with the team of Everett Conklin Co., at the Hess Department Store, in Allentown, PA designing center-top and store displays.

He is a member of Teleflora and F.T.D. Wire Services, the N.J. State Florists Association and the Bergen-Passaic Florists Association. Teleflora is the sponsor of tonight's show.
